Equipped with the bigger, much more powerful new motor, these new prices make for greater value throughout the entire line. The greatest sales and largest production in the history of the Willys-Overland company has made it possible to pass this price reduction on to the American automobile buying public. This price reduction follows closely on the heels of the reduction in prices in the Willys-Knight line recently announced by Mr. Willys.

Each succeeding month breaks new records at Willys-Overland in both sales and production. The first and second quarters of the present year were the largest in the history of the company. July and August topped any similar months of the past and September has started out to continue the record breaking habit. Public acceptance has made these records possible.

Life of Moses in Moving Pictures.

The fascinating Bible story of the great "Law Giver," Moses, will be told in moving pictures at the local Young Men's Christian Association at 4 o'clock on the coming Sunday, when the first of three parts of this wonderful picture story will be shown, and both men and women, and boys and girls if accompanied by adults, will be cordially welcomed. With the passing of the years, this story of what is considered in many ways the greatest of all human characters is ever more interesting and impressive, and carries with it an unusual lesson. It is expected that many will take advantage of this real opportunity. Hugh Kinder will render vocal solos during the service, and a brief address appropriate to the occasion will be given.

First German Lutheran Church.

The fall conference of the Connecticut district of the Lutheran church will be held in Naugatuck, Sept. 17-19. The Norwich church will be represented by the pastor, H. Hunzinger.

Meeting of the male chorus Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. All members of the chorus are requested to be present. Thursday night at 7.30 rehearsal of the church choir and Bible class. Saturday morning, Religious school and German instruction. The school is absolutely free for the children of members. Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock instruction in the basement of the church.

Service For Young People.

The Sunday evening service at the Central Baptist church will be especially devoted to the young people. The pastor's message will be on "One of the Three Big Questions of Youth." At the close of the opening service there will be a social hour in Bushnell chapel, especially in honor of those who are about to start off for school and college. Deacon Charles S. Storms and Mrs. Henrietta Tefft will be in charge of the social hour. Attorney Charles L. Stewart will speak the word of good-bye for the church.

HIGH QUALITY

FURNITURE

AT LOW PRICES

It is one thing to quote low or sensational prices, but it is quite another to quote such prices on merchandise of high quality. It is our belief that the only real bargain is that one which gives you dependable quality at a price that is really low. We are sure that if you put this test to anything in our stock, you will have the superiority of our values impressed upon you in a most convincing fashion.

SOUSA'S BAND WILL PLAY SEASON'S NEW MARCHES

Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa's new marches this season will include "The Nobles of the Mystic Shrine," which was dedicated to the members of the order in America, and played for the first time by the Shriners themselves during the national convention in

MISS RACHEL SENIOR
Violin Soloist with Sousa's Band.

Washington, in June. The Shriner band which played its own march for the first time consisted of 6,000 men and the great band was formed from all of the Shrine bands in America. Sousa, of course, directed. His other march is "The Dauntless Battalion," dedicated to the Pennsylvania Military Academy, located at Chester, Pa. The honorary degree of Doctor of Music was recently conferred upon Sousa by that school. At the same time, the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon President Harding.

Sousa and his band are to include Norwich in their itinerary this year, and tickets are already on sale at Cranston's.

Justin Holden, the oldest market man in Norwich, is retiring from business and through the William F. Hill Agency the store occupied by Mr. Holden at 35 Franklin street has been leased to the Belt Bros., who will take possession September 21st.

Williams Street House Sold.

Archa W. Coit has sold for Myron D. Pratt to Horace Woodmansee of Norwich Town the fine two family house situated at the corner of Williams and Oneco streets. The house has all modern improvements and an additional house lot fronting on Williams street is included with the property, which is located in one of the most desirable residential sections of the city. The new owner purchased the property for a home.

Sells Lafayette Street Property.

Mrs. Jennie H. Wilson has sold through the agency of Francis B. Donohue her property located at the corner of Sachem and Lafayette streets to John and Mary Kocal of this city. It is a two-story frame building occupied as a barber shop and dwelling house. The new owners intend to make improvements to the property.

Miss Perkins Resumes Teaching.

Miss Helen L. Perkins, teacher of singing, has resumed instruction at her studio in the Alice building. Those considering study with Miss Perkins may be sure of a thorough technical foundation, which includes deep breathing, tone placement and diction; all of which are essential to the correct rendering and interpretation of song.

Sale of Garfield Avenue Residence.

Real Estate Broker John A. Morano sold for the estate of Hollis H. Palmer the modern two-apartment house located on 8410 Garfield avenue. The house has an extra lot on Garfield avenue. The new owner, John A. Zagulewicz, will occupy one of the apartments as his home.

Why Marie Laughed.

Marie was naughty while visiting with her aunt and she was slapped on the hand. After drying her eyes she began to laugh, which puzzled her aunt, who asked why she acted like that. The child replied: "It was this hand you slapped, and t'other that did it."

Good Model.

Tommy entered the village store with an assumed air and said to the man: "I want a lamp globe, and mother says she would like it as strong as the bacon she bought here yesterday."—Good Hardware.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS STRONG.

New York, Sept. 14.—Selling pressure was again exerted against today's stock market but better resistance was offered and net losses as a rule were held to a point or less. A few feeble rallies took place during the day in which some stocks climbed one to three points above yesterday's final figures but these gains were either cancelled or substantially reduced by the flood of offerings in the last half hour.

The market moved in seeming disregard of outside news developments. The rate for Spanish pesetas showed a slight gain despite news that the military revolt had been successful. Declaration of the regular dividends on Pan-American stocks was in line with the predictions made by officials of the company, both issues, however, recording a slight fractional loss.

Mariand Oil, the dividend on which was passed yesterday, dropped 2 1-2 points to 22, a new low record for the year.

Net losses of a point or so were established by Baldwin, American Woolen, Corn Products, American Can, Famous Players, International Paper and Allis Chalmers. Dupont broke 5 1-2 points to 123 1-2. Mexican Petroleum, making its first appearance on the tape in about six weeks, sold at 182, off 2% points.

Davison Chemical again moved against the current trend, crossing 53 and then falling back to 50 1-2, where it was up 1 1-2 on the day. Gulf States Steel touched 80 3-8 but eased later to 77 5-8, up 5-8.

U. S. Steel was again in supply, touching 93 1-2, a new low on the movement. Heaviness of Bethlehem Steel was attributed to speculative expectations that the earnings for the third quarter may not be as high as those for the quarter before. The break in Dupont was ascribed in some quarters to the official denial that a distribution of its General Motors holdings was contemplated.

Coppers, Rubbers and Tobaccos held relatively firm.

Railroad shares showed mixed changes with the active issues recording only fractional variations from last night's closing figures.

Heavy buying of French and Belgian francs and Italian lire, all of which registered substantial gains, was the feature of the foreign exchange market. French francs jumped 10 points to 5.84 1-2 cents and Belgian francs, quoted at 4.85 1-2 cents, recorded a similar gain. Italian lire sold around 4.45 1-2 cents, up 8 1-2 points. Demand sterling held steady around $4.54.

Call money opened at 5 1-2 per cent., eased to 5, and thence to 5 1-2, where it closed. Time funds were quoted at 5 3-4 per cent. for the first time this year, but all bids were still being made at 5 1-2 per cent. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Sept. 14.—Prices pointed lower in today's trading in bonds which continued relatively active. Net changes, however, were generally limited to fractions, and there were numerous individual exceptions to the general trend.

Active United States governments held comparatively steady, fluctuating within 3-32 of a point. These issues were benefited by the ready oversubscription of $200,000,000 4 1-4 per cent. treasury certificates. Cuban 5 1-2s continued to sag but the closing quotation was only fractionally under yesterday's final figure. Lyons 6s and Czecho Slovakian 8s each advanced a point.

Railroad mortgages were mixed. Hudson and Manhattan adjustment income 5s and Third Avenue adjustment 5s each moved up 1, while losses of a point or more were recorded by New York, Westchester and Boston 4 1-2s, St. Paul 4s of 1925, Kansas City Terminal 4s and Southern Railway 5s.

Industrial liens held fairly firm, a drop of 1 by Armour & Co. 4 1-2s being the only outstanding change.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Notwithstanding numerous upturns, wheat averaged lower in price today largely as a result of increasing arrivals of new wheat at Winnipeg. The market here closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to half cent down, with December $1.02 5-8 to $1.02 3-4 and May $1.08 to $1.08 1-8. Corn finished at a range varying from 1-8@1-4c decline to 1-4c advance, oats 1-8 to 1-4c up, and provisions at 5c to 22c gain.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Sept. 14.—Opening prices in today's curb market were heavy as a result of a large over-night accumulation of selling orders, but the offerings were well absorbed and a number of stocks showed rallying qualities which carried them above yesterday's final figures.

Oils were mixed. Prairie Oil and Gas ranged between 162 and 168, closing at 165 for a net loss of 3 points. Standard Oils of Indiana, New York, Kansas and Kentucky, Vacuum, Mutual and Cities Service closed fractionally lower, while Mountain and Salt Creek Producers and International Petroleum moved slightly higher.

Industrials exhibited a better tone. Gillette Safety Razor rallied 3 points to 265 and Ford Motors of Canada recorded a similar gain at 423 on odd lot buying. Midvale Steel of Delaware closed nearly a point higher. Motors were heavy, Durant and Reo each dropping about a point.

Norwich, Saturday, Sept. 15, 1923.

THE WEATHER.

Winds.

North of Sandy Hook: Gentle, variable; mostly north and northwest and weather fair Saturday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Moderate north and northeast and weather fair Saturday.

Conditions.

The area of high barometer referred to in previous reports was central Friday night over the region of the Great Lakes and advancing east, southeastward. There were frosts Friday morning in northern New England, northern New York, Ohio, Indiana, northern and central Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota. The lowest temperatures of record so early in the season were reported Friday morning from La Crosse, Wis., Milwaukee, and Cincinnati.

The outlook is for generally fair weather Saturday and Sunday in the Washington forecast district. The weather will remain cool through Saturday in the Atlantic states, followed by somewhat warmer weather on Sunday in the middle states and New England.

Forecast.

For New England: Fair and continued cool Saturday; Sunday fair with slowly rising temperature.

East New York: Fair and continued cool Saturday; Sunday fair and warmer.

Observations in Norwich.

The Bulletin's observations show the following temperature changes and changes in barometer Friday:

Six hours after high water it is low water, which is followed by flood tide.

TAFTVILLE

Miss Margaret McHugh, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Nolan for the past few days has returned to Providence, R. I.

Arthur Edwards of Norwich avenue and Edward Zuerner of Maennerchor avenue were in New York to witness the Dempsey-Firpo bout.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dufresne of North A street moved Friday to Norwich to make their home with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Desire J. Dufresne of Platt avenue.

Troop 3, Boy Scouts, met Friday evening in the recreation rooms of the Taftville Congregational church, with Scoutmaster Victor H. Davis in charge.

The radio owned and operated by Richard Krauss of Lisbon furnished an account of the fight to a large audience at the Maennerchor club Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sotnik and family, of Norwich avenue, have moved to Central Falls, R. I.

George Adams of Occum road is spending a few days in New York.

Louise Williams at Pasadena.

After passing the greater part of the summer with relatives in Norwich, Miss Louise Williams left last week for her home in Pasadena, Cal., having arrived there Monday of this week. Miss Williams was accompanied as far as Chicago by her father, Julian L. Williams. She spent August at Lord's Point with her grandmother, Mrs. C. Morgan Williams and other relatives, returning to Norwich Labor day. Miss Williams, upon her arrival in Pasadena entered high school Tuesday morning, for the first year course.

COUGHS DISTURB SCHOOL WORK

School teachers should give the same advice to children who have coughs as did this Florida teacher. "I recommended Foley's Honey and Tar to the children in my school who had the 'flu' and good results came whenever it was used," writes Mrs. L. Armstrong, Okeechobee, Florida. Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates. Ingredients printed on the wrapper. Quickly relieves colds, coughs and croup. The Lee & Osgood Co.

GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE AND IS EXPECTED TO CHANGE RESIDENCE

Augusto Pelligrini of New London went on trial before Judge Allyn L. Brown in the superior court here Friday afternoon on the charge of assault with intent to murder Leo and Mary Bartolucci at 23 East street, Fort Neck, New London, on July 9. He was charged with having used a knife and a pistol.

After Mrs. Bartolucci had given her testimony for the state, Judge Brown ordered a short recess while he called State Attorney Hadlai A. Hull and Attorney Clayton B. Smith, counsel for the accused man, into his room for a consultation.

When court came in again, Pelligrini was put to plea on the charge of simple assault, to which he said "guilty," and Judge Brown gave him a sentence of a year in jail which is suspended and the man is to be under supervision of Probation Officer Mansfield. Judge Brown told Pelligrini that the court's understanding is that he is to change his residence and to keep out of trouble.

Mrs. Bartolucci, who was the only witness called, gave her testimony through George Nicolari, interpreter. She said that she was on the front porch of her home holding a small child in her arms when Pelligrini, who is a neighbor, insulted her. She told him not to talk to her that way and he repeated his insult. She picked up an empty soda water box and threw it at him. The witness said that her husband came out of the house and Pelligrini pulled a knife and went after her husband but he didn't use it. She then went in the house.

Later when she came out of the house, the accused came there again and this time he drew a revolver and shot at her but he missed her. She saw a cut on her husband's hand.

When Attorney Smith asked her to show how Pilligrini held the gun, she pointed it up in the air.

COATS AND JACQUETTES CATCH SHOPPERS' FANCY

The tang of Autumn in Friday's air was a sharp reminder that coat-buying cannot be put off much longer.

Looking about among the elegant stocks in the stores, appealing offerings displayed unite comfort and style to a marked degree.

"Wrappy" designs, in the latest and smartest materials—lustria, marvella, gerona, panvelaine, velverette, Mandelay—tie or button at the sides.

Some among these have rich fur finish, shawl collars and wide cuffs, while others are ornamented in velvet or braids, the border in vertical lines of braid being very good.

For early Fall wear, the curltex jacquette will catch the fancy of many shoppers. These modish little garments come in fur as well as fabric, and are hip length. Tans and grays are best liked and the natty little coats are priced from $11.50 to $27.50.

But look over the big stocks of these smart garments today. Pointers for intending buyers are given by the enterprising advertisers in The Bulletin's columns this morning.

$2,839.51 RECEIVED FOR JAPANESE RELIEF FUND

Additional contributions received by Norwich chapter of the Red Cross have sent the total to $2,839.51 in the response to the appeal for the Japanese relief fund.

Clark-Peck Wedding.

Elam Tracy Clark, assistant superintendent of the Ponemah Mills in Taftville, was married in Fairhaven, Tuesday afternoon to Miss Alice Peck of Honor, Mich. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frederick H. Von der Sump.

Miss Peck was attended by Miss Pauline C. Clark, of New Bedford, and Jason Clark was his brother's best man. On their return from a short honeymoon the newly weds will reside in Taftville.

Returns to North Waterford.

Mrs. Maurice Gay has returned to North Waterford, after passing nearly two weeks at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright of Medford Heights, Mass., who with their children motored to Norwich and remained over the recent holiday, at the home of Mrs. Wright's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Hitchon of Washington street, Mrs. Gay having returned with them.

Swedish Pastor's Installation.

Rev. Henning L. Johnson, the new pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church on Hickory street, is to be installed next Wednesday evening when a mission meeting will be held.

Home From Pleasant View.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Hitchon and family of Julian street, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Hitchon of Washington street, have been passing a week at Pleasant View.

AUGUST WORST MONTH FOR AUTOMOBILE FATALITIES

Thirty-three fatal motor vehicle accidents occurred in Connecticut during the month of August making the worst record of any month this year and exceeding this number of such deaths for August 1922 by ten. It brought the total of such accidents for the period from January 1 to September 1 to 141 whereas the number the corresponding period last year was 112.

Starting out with four fatalities in January each month as seen a steady increase July holding the previous high record, with thirty-one deaths. The Motor Vehicle Department is seeking the cooperation of all agencies to keep down the death rate in automobile accidents during September, October and November, usually the three worst months in the year in this respect.

For all of last year there were 220 fatal motor vehicle accidents, as against 235 the previous year, and Connecticut and Massachusetts stood out as the only states in the country in which such accidents had decreased. At the present rate, Connecticut will have an increase this year in such accidents.

BATTERY B WINS CUP OFFERED BY REGIMENT

Battery B., 192nd Field Artillery, of this city, has won the cup at Camp Eustis which was donated by the regiment for the best drilled 155 gun crew at this year's encampment. Sergt. Cummings had charge of the gun crew. The battery was also credited with 10 points which gave them first honors in firing data.

Kid Miller, the local pugilist, who is a member of the battery, has a challenge for a bout open to all but up to date it has not been accepted.

Sergt. Leo Bonin has returned here as his enlistment expired Friday.

LEDYARD REPUBLICANS HAVE NAMED TICKET

Ledyard republicans have nominated the following ticket:

Selectmen, Frederick W. Burton, Edmund Norman; board of relief, Carroll Huributt, Asa J. Sheldon; assessors, Isaac G. Geer, Andrew M. Avery; town clerk, William I. Allyn; member of town school committee, Billings G. Avery; tax collector, John W. Finnegan.

Walter M. Buckingham was moderator of the caucus and William I. Allyn clerk.

FLETCHER POST DANCE DRAWS HILLTOP CROWD

Fletcher Post No. 4 American Legion held a very successful dance Friday night at Hill Top. The crowd numbered 600 and the dance program was provided by a Paul Whiteman orchestra. The arrangements for the dance were in charge of Stewart Wilson of Fletcher Post and the Hill Top management. Charles W. Cassidy was chairman of the dance committee. The dance will net a neat sum for the Fletcher Post treasury.

A Prophecy!

Ten thousand people will enter the New York show on opening day—January 5th.

This is what they will see:—Many new four door broughams.

This is what they will say: "well the crawling over days are gone".

Body manufacturers know of the rush to duplicate the most popular closed job in America—the Jordan Four Door Brougham.

It's a shame we can't build enough before the other fellow arrives.

NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Fifty years ago this week St. James' lodge, No. 23, F. and A. M., was instituted at a meeting in Masonic hall by Right Worshipful Edward B. Howe, acting by special authority of the most worshipful grand master of the lodge. R. M. Ladd was installed as worshipful master of the lodge. The Norwich Bleaching and Calendering company were erecting a new building that week and had plans in the works for still another building to take care of their increasing business. It is interesting to note that half a century ago the Hopkins & Allen company, now gone out of existence, were then located at the Falls in a building owned by C. A. Converse.

Extracts from the files of The Bulletin of September, 1873, are as follows:

Monday, Sept. 8, 1873.—In the Norwich Town vicinity it seems as if, in the absence of any other excitement, a large portion of the population burglarized for amusement. On Thursday night they visited George D. Fuller again—this time at his house, and on Friday night stole S. B. Case's ladder and entered the meat market of S. R. Dodge and the Yantic mill store. It is said they secured nothing of value during the above recorded visitations.

We have just learned of a case of coercion to which we wish to call the attention of the woman's rights societies. A man from this place didn't want his wife to go to the yacht ball at the Pequot house and was mean enough to hide her clothes. We simply call attention to the animus of the thing; for the base attempt didn't succeed as the infatuated man left a few odds and ends which he supposed were handkerchiefs, and the poor martyr to a system of social reform went, and was considered the best dressed woman at the ball.

The mud-digger and the ocean screw steamer Fannie departed for the Hub of the Universe Saturday.

More fall overcoats were brushed last night than for quite a while previous.

Tuesday, Sept. 9, 1873.—We notice in an exchange the death of Joseph Marvin at Atwater, O., in the 102d year of his age. Mr. Marvin was born, we believe, at Niantic, and lived there for a number of years.

William Chapman of Ledyard, formerly of Groton, was in the service of Uncle Sam in the war of 1812, stationed at Groton. He settles a recently pending question by stating that it was in that war, and not during the Revolution, that old Mother Bailey gave her flannel skirt for cartridges, for the garrison at New London.

Columbian commandery, No. 4, K. T., of this city, has received an invitation to be present at the institution of the new Masonic temple at Philadelphia on the 30th inst.

Wednesday, Sept. 10, 1873.—One of the enterprising and prosperous manufacturing establishments in this city at the present time is the Hopkins & Allen Manufacturing company, whose works are located at the Falls in the building of C. A. Converse, which is known to our readers as the Commonwealth mills. Perhaps not much stir is made in this immediate vicinity by the company, other than giving employment to a large number of men; nevertheless their goods are sent to nearly all parts of the civilized world and sent away in immense quantities, the establishment being a strong rival of the largest firms in the country for their kind of goods.

Ralph Somers of this city recently sailed from Montreal to New Haven alone, and would have completed the trip to Norwich but for the excessive leaking of his boat. He thinks now of applying for passage as able seaman in the Graphic balloon.

On Friday next the steamer Ella will make what will doubtless be the last excursion of the season. She will leave her dock at 9 o'clock and proceed to Osbrook grove.

Thursday, Sept. 11, 1873.—The Norwich Bleaching and Calendering company are now erecting a new building at the same time the one which was partially burned is being repaired. Immediately upon the completion of their present labors we understand that it is their intention to construct still another edifice for the accommodation of their increasing business.

We are informed that a match has been made at New Haven between St. Elmo and a Norwich horse. The trot is to come off next week at the track of the New London County Agricultural society.

Yesterday East Main street, near the residence of Governor Buckingham, underwent the process of rolling with the recently arrived roller belonging to the city, which weighs a fabulous number of tons and requires four horses for its tractive power. This roller will probably reduce the macadam to a desirable condition forthwith.

Friday, Sept. 12, 1873.—People complain that an excavation for a culvert at the corner of Elizabeth and West Main streets is left unlighted at night. Wednesday night two teams driven by people from the country were stopped just as they were on the point of furnishing us and our contemporary an item and the city with a bill.

St. James' lodge, No. 23, F. and A. M.—This lodge was instituted on Thursday evening, Sept. 11, at Masonic hall, by R. W. Edward B. Rowe, acting by special authority of the M. W. grand master. The grand master installed the officers as follows: R. M. Ladd, W. M.; J. J. Waite, S. W.; J. L. Devotion, J. W.; H. H. Roath, treasurer; S. A. Gilbert, secretary; Allen Tenney, S. D.; William H. Hovey, J. D.; James Kirker, S. S.; Charles Webb, J. S.; A. D. Smith, marshal; H. Clay Albro, tyler.

The sensation of the week in Windham county is a meeting of the teachers of eastern Connecticut at Putnam, on the call of Prof. Birdsey Grant Northrop, secretary of the state board of education.

Saturday, Sept. 13, 1873.—Columbian commandery will not go to Philadelphia on the 30th as a commandery, but many of its members will attend, however.

The hatters of the city have agreed to close their stores at 8 o'clock p. m. Saturdays and holidays excepted, until April 1, 1874.

A Lebanon church has sued a man for pew rent!

We are requested to call the attention of the street commissioner to the wretched condition of some parts of the road and sidewalks on Peck and Elizabeth streets.

SEVEN DEATHS SUNDAY IN JERSEY CITY TENEMENT FIRE

Six Were Either Suffocated or Burned to Death—A Fireman Died Following a Fall From a Fire Escape—Sixteen Families Occupied the Building—Those on the Upper Floors Were Cut off From Escape by the Flames—Firemen Made Many Thrilling Rescues.

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 16.—Seven persons were killed and a score or more injured early today when fire swept through a tenement thickly populated district. The blaze started in a hallway and darted quickly to the upper floors cutting off the escape of many of the sixteen families in the building. Firemen made many thrilling rescues.

Those killed were:

Fireman Bernard Feehan, 35.

Mrs. Pearl Thomas, 35, and son, Edward, eight.

Edward Breen, 34.

Sophia Kolasienski, 14; Regina Kolasienski, 9, and Helen Kolasienski, 7.

All those killed were either suffocated by smoke or burned to death, except the fireman who died following a fall from a fire escape in rescuing occupants of the house.

The injured: Patrolman Sullivan, unconscious from a fall.

Dr. Bernard, Feinberg, of the City hospital staff, slightly burned about head and face.

Margaret Perkins, 15, shock.

John Perkins, 19, overcome by smoke.

Catherine Breen and Anna Breen, overcome by smoke.

Stephen Wiesowski, burns.

Joseph Wiesowski, 4 years old, right arm burned, overcome.

Joseph Kolasienski, burns.

Anna Breszny, burned saving three children.

Ernest A. Lamken, fireman of Truck No. 1, right hand sprained.

Firemen made thrilling rescues by way of the fire escapes and from ladders. All the occupants were taken out by the firemen, with the exception of one woman and her three children, on the first floor, who had escaped before the firemen arrived.

Flames were first discovered about three o'clock this morning spurting from the first floor hallway, by Walter Cummings, a trainman on the Lehigh Valley railroad. Cummings was passing on a locomotive on the Lehigh tracks.

When the firemen arrived the fire had been under way fully 15 minutes and had gained considerable headway. They declare the dead were mostly found burned to death or suffocated.

Fireman Feehan was found unconscious and with a gash in his head on a fire escape. It is believed he fell from the fire escape on the floor above.

The tenants were trapped by the blazing hallways and also by flames which prevented their exits at the fire escapes.

The fire, which was extinguished at six o'clock this morning, burned out the interior of the brick building, but none of the wooden floors collapsed.

One fireman reported that there had been an odor of kerosene in the hallway, but police are uncertain whether the fire was incendiary or accidental, there being large accumulations of rubbish and paper in the halls.

THE GOVERNMENT OF FIUME HAS RESIGNED

Rome, Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—The government of the independent state of Fiume resigned today.

The Italian government today received from Signor Depoli, Vive President of the Assembly of Fiume, a letter complaining of the delay in settling the Fiume question. He said the situation had caused much discontent. The populace was suffering greatly through unemployment and he had repeatedly called the attention of the Italian government to the dangerous effect of delay in settling the questions at issue. Signor DePoli added now that the negotiations had failed he felt that it would be useless to remain in office although when he resigned there would be no authority in Fiume and by the end of the month the city would be completely deprived of any means of subsistence.

Signor DePoli since March 1922 has been in charge of the Fiume government. His letter of resignation gives the history of events since that time. He says Fiume had hoped the Genoa conference would arrange a settlement of the situation under which Fiume's desire to be allowed to exist as an Italian city would be recognized and "on my part I awaited to be thus relieved from my functions." He declares that the hopes of Fiume were thwarted by the Santa Margherita Agreement but that she remained confident that Italy would support her rights in the Italian-Jugoslav Commission. The delay continued, however, and "if Italy's generous help, and especially the efficient benevolence of your government kept Fiume from perishing, the conditions in the city always grew worse."

Signor DePoli dilates on the fact that lack of authority on the part of his government has had serious political consequences, encouraging local groups to methods of violence, while the proper administration of justice was flouted. "Any action on my part" he says, "was completely annuled by the direct interference of the political parties with the city officials, and the situation has become intolerable."

"The city is lost," says Signor DePoli in his letter, "unless the Italian government takes its destiny to heart. Fiume turns to Italy with anxious hope, because it is she that garrisons Fiume with her valiant soldiers."

Declaring that Fiume cannot become the ground for hopeless experiments but has the right to live, Signor DePoli expresses the firm conviction that his withdrawal will serve the purpose of putting the situation right before the whole world. He calls attention to the fact that the day he leaves office no authority will remain except the staff of royal troops.

GEORGE EVANS BURNED TO DEATH IN STARTFORD

Stratford, Conn., Sept. 16.—George Evans, aged 42, former deep sea diver for the Lake Submarine Boat company, and employed for the past years as watchman for the Sunshine Homes company at the Housatonic Shipbuilding yards, Stratford, was burned to death today in a fire which completely destroyed the former hospital building which he used as living quarters.

The fire had gained headway before it was discovered and when firemen reached the scene Evans was already dead.

A brisk wind which was blowing at the time the fire was discovered was coming from the direction of the river, the only fact which presented the entire shipbuilding plant from being consumed. The wind blew the flames away from the next building instead of toward it and firemen were able to get it under control before it had spread.

DIVED OVERBOARD AS PLANE FELL IN RIVER

New York, Sept. 16.—Stuart Chadwick, pilot of an airplane used for advertising purposes, narrowly escaped death tonight when his engine went dead over Manhattan, by nose diving into the East river near Hell Gate.

Just before his plane struck the water, Chadwick dived overboard. The heaviest current of the harbor rushes through Hell Gate and the aviator was forced to fight against this for some time before he reached shore, more than a mile below the spot where the machine landed.

QUESTIONED ABOUT MURDER, MAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Brockton, Mass., Sept. 16.—William F. Bowen, of East Bridgewater, one of the persons questioned in connection with the death of Mrs. Alice M. Wolschendorf, of that place, parts of whose body were found floating in the Merrimac River at Tyngsboro in two suit cases two weeks ago, swallowed poison and slashed his throat with a razor today. He is at a hospital here believed to be dying.

Dr. William M. Robu, of Boston performing an illegal operation on the woman, causing her death, and Dr. Dalva Swope, of this city, was charged with being an accessary.

Members of Bowen's family told the authorities that the man had been despondent since he was questioned by State police and by District Attorney Arthur K. Reading, of Middlesex county on the Wolschendorf case. Mrs. Wolschendorf was employed by Bowen to drive his automobile for about a year and a half. Witnesses told the district attorney that the last seen of Mrs. Wolschendorf was when her son Harold, and Bowen drove her to the Back Bay district of Boston in the vicinity of Dr. Robb's office on August 17.

Charles E. Jackson, whose home in East Bridgewate adjoins that of Bowen, found Bowen in an apparently dying condition. He had swallowed the contents of a two ounce phial of poison and afterward cut his throat with a razor. When Chief of Police Russell, of East Bridgewater, arrived at Jackson's summons, Bowen said: "Chief, they lied about me. Let me die."

State officer Stokes who had been working on the "suit case mystery" came here from Boston as soon as he learned of Bowen's attempt.

Bowen, a real estate dealer is 53 years old, married, and father of seven children.

DUCK HUNTER ACCIDENTALLY KILLED BY HIS COMPANION

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The first fatality of the duck hunting season which opened today was reported from Dexter, Jefferson county. The victim was Earl Walrath of Dexter and he was accidentally shot and killed by his companion, C. A. Hunt of Watertown. As the two entered a boat to hunt for duck they made an agreement that both were to crouch in the boat when shooting. According to Hunt, Walrath, when ducks appeared, changed his position and received the full charge. The victim was killed instantly.

SISTINE CHAPEL CHOIR OF ROME TO ARRIVE OCT. 18

New York, Sept. 16.—The Sistine chapel choir of Rome will arrive in America on Oct. 18 for a concert tour, it was announced today by Frank W. Healy, San Francisco concert manager, who said the singers had obtained special permission from Pope Pius XI to make the trip. The first concert will be given in New York on Oct. 18.

The choir will be under the direction of Monsignor Don Antonio Relia, perpetual vice director of the Pontifical chapel, and who has been in full charge of music in the Sistine chapel since the illness of Monsignor Lorenzo Perosi.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE OF AUTO PARTY OF FOUR

Providence, R. I., Sept. 16.—Two men and two women miraculously escaped death today when a sedan in which they were riding crashed through a sea wall in Barrington, dropped 10 feet and landed bottom side up in the water. All four occupants extricated themselves and were only slightly injured. Had the tide been high they would probably have been drowned. Albert H. Richardson of 128 Walnut street, Springfield, Mass., was the owner and driver of the car.

SENATOR KING CONFINED TO HIS BED IN MOSCOW

Moscow, Sept. 16.—United States Senator William H. King of Utah is confined to his bed here because of a slight illness. He may not be able to leave Moscow with the others of his party, who have been investigating conditions in Russia, early this week.

Henry F. Hart, 79, of Southington, died Saturday in Meriden hospital.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

End of Daylight Time in England.

London, Sept. 16.—Daylight saving in England ended at 3 o'clock this morning.

Russia Shipping Furs To America

Moscow, Sept. 16.—The newspapers announce that $1,300,000 worth of furs are being shipped to America.

Communists Wounded

Siena, Italy, Sept. 16.—A large number of Communists were wounded, some seriously, in a fight last night between Fascisti and Communists. The fight was an outgrowth of an attack on Cesare Peti, secretary of the Fascisti, while returning to his home. Peti escaped without injury.

ANTHRACITE MINERS TO RESUME WORK WEDNESDAY

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 16.—Delegates representing local unions of the United Mine Workers in the anthracite fields were gathering here tonight for the opening tomorrow of a convention called to act on the terms of the proposed new wage contract, agreed upon by their officers and representatives of the operators in Harrisburg September 8.

Resumption of mining operations, at a standstill since August 31, when the previous wage contract expired and the men were ordered to stop work, awaits favorable action by the convention. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and officers of the three union districts in the hard coal fields tonight were confident the new agreement would be ratified with little delay and that the men would go back to work on Wednesday.

The new wage agreement provides for a two year contract, expiring August 31, 1925, and grants a flat ten per cent increase in wages to all workers, the eight-hour day and recognition of the union and the principles of collective bargaining.

The only objections which, it was said tonight, have been raised by any of the miners have been to the fact that the wage advance to day laborers was limited to ten per cent instead of a rate more nearly approaching the $2 a day increase which had been asked under the union's original demands.

The convention is expected to be comparatively short possibly ending tomorrow night.

NEW IRISH PARLIAMENT WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

Dublin, Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—The new parliament will meet Wednesday. All the members elected have been summoned to attend. The notices to republicans were addressed, not to the prisons where most of them are confined, but to their private houses. Their friends readdressed them to Eamon De Valera and his twenty-eight colleagues in the jails.

Some republicans who are at large in the country came up to Dublin and were supposed to be planning a demonstration when Parliament assembles similar to that registered by Lawrence Ginnell at the opening of the Dail. This plan, however, will be frustrated by a standing order passed toward the end of the last session, and not yet out of the printer's hands. It prescribes that no member can be admitted to the Dail Eireann unless he is a member according to law. This means that the oath of allegiance is essential; the preliminary oath will not be taken, as in the British Parliament, on the floor of the House, but beforehand privately in the clerk's office. This is expected to remove all opportunity for a demonstration, and members who are not sworn could be stopped at the outer gate.

The business of the opening day will be the election of a speaker and a deputy speaker, and probably also a president, who may make a statement of his parliamentary programme and nominate his cabinet for the Dail's approval. In the absence of the republican members, President Cosgrave's power will be exactly the same in the new parliament as in the old.

FOUND HYDROPLANE BOTTOM-SIDE UP TWO MILES AT SEA

Belmar, N. J., Sept. 16.—A capsized hydorplane with two broken wings was found floating bottom-side up two miles off shore here tonight. Coast guards who investigated the wreck reported there were no signs of life about the plane and that in the darkness they could find no identifying marks.

The plane was discovered by David E. Moore, of Belmar, at seven o'clock. He reported to the police that he had circled it in his motor boat but had seen no signs of life.

When the coast guards went out in lifeboats, both from Avon and Manasquan, darkness was setting on the upturned hydroplane. The coast guards were unable to right the plane for tow here because of its waterlogged condition.

They had no implements with which to break in the sides of the hull to ascertain the contents, and said that the hydroplane would be towed ashore tomorrow morning.

Inquiries revealed that no one had seen the plane fall and it was believed it might have fallen at sea and drifted in, although the coast guards reported that the damage appeared to be very recent. Two wings were broken and the hull stove in at one point. The plane was painted white with a red bottom.

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF MRS. HANNAH SEELEY

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 16.—Mrs. May MacNeill of this city was arrested today charged with the murder of Mrs. Hannah Seeley of Egg Harbor Sept. 22, 1922.

Mrs. Seeley's body, with the throat cut, was discovered on the front porch of her home by neighbors who, according to the police, had gone to the house at the request of Mrs. MacNeill. After an investigation, a certificate of suicide was issued.

Prosecutor Repetto was not satisfied with the verdict and caused a new investigation, which resulted in Mrs. MacNeill's indictment and arrest.

It is alleged a quarrel over property belonging to Mrs. Seeley, who had adopted the woman arrested today, brought the attack.

FARMER-LABOR PARTY BRANCH IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 16.—A New York city branch of the Federated Farmer-Labor party was organized tonight at a meeting of delegates from many workers' organizations of the city. Candidates for the assembly and board of aldermen were nominated from eleven city districts.

Rose Pastor Stokes was nominated an alderman from a Manhattan district.

King of Spain Has Dissolved Parliament

No Disturbances and Little Excitement Has Resulted From Revolt.

Madrid Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—King Alfonso has signed a decree dissolving parliament.

No disturbances and little excitement have been caused by the establishment of the new military regime and the publication of decrees by the new government. For the present General Primo Rivera is the only responsible minister. He has the power to publish decrees which thereby become laws.

As the country is now governed by a military directorate Primo Rivera's title appears to be President of the Military Directorate, instead of President of the Council of Ministers. The Foreign Ministry and Ministry of War will be retained, but it is understood that all other ministries and sub-secretaryships have been suppressed. The various departments will be under control of a higher government official, to be chosen by seniority; he must, however, submit all matters to the President of the Directorate for decision.

The Military Directorate will begin rigid economies in the national expenses, but without prejudicing the functions of the administration. Primo Rivera has notified all Captains and Commanding General and Sub-General Staff of the Army that he has taken oath of office as President of the Directorate, and has appealed to the patriotism of the people, the army and navy, that they maintain discipline and loyalty to the new government. The government, he declares, will propose and develop a policy of security (regarded as indispensable for the welfare of the country. He has also appealed to the free citizens to make the political parties more progressive, and thhus enrich the Spanish race.

ECONOMIC LIFE IN SPAIN NOT DISTURBED

Barcelona, Sept. 16 (By the A. P.).—Order continues throughout Spain. The railroads and the public utilities are functioning normally.

The economic life of the country has not been disturbed by the military colup d' etat.

BOLSHEVIK LEADERS IN BARCELONA UNDER ARREST

Barcelona, Sept. 16 (By the A. P.).—The principal communist and bolshevik leaders have been arrested and placed in jail. Other members of the organizations are declared to be in flight toward the French border, which is being closely watched.

The chiefs of the liberal party in Catalonia, Senators Alfonso Sala and Count De Caralt, have been called to the headquarters of General Primo Rivera in Madrid, where they announced their party's adherence to the new governmental policy.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO NAT'L SECURITY LEAGUE

New York, Sept. 16.—To live under the American constitution "is the greatest political privilege that was ever accorded to the human race," it was declared by President Coolidge in a message made public today by the National Security League in connection with its plans for the celebration tomorrow of the 136th anniversary of the signing of the constitution.

"It is an inspiration to know that the members of the National Security League are to observe Constitution Day," said the president's message. "The constitution is not self-perpetuating. If it will survive it will be because it has public support. It means making adequate sacrifice to maintain what is of public benefit.

"The constitution of the United States is the final refuge of every right that is enjoyed by any American citizen. So long as it is observed, those rights will be secure. Whenever it falls into disrespect, or dispute, the end of orderly organized government, as we have known it for more than one hundred and twenty-five years, will be at hand. The constitution represents a government of law. There is only one other form of authority, and that is a government by force. Americans must make their choice between these two. One signifies justice and liberty; the other tyranny and oppression. To live under the American constitution is the greatest political privilege that was ever accorded to the human race."

OFFICERS NAMED BY THE UNITARIAN LEAGUE

New Haven Sept. 16.—While on every hand there is a demand for a religious solution of the difficulties that confront the world today the practical trouble is man's loss of faith in man rather than his loss of faith in God declared the Rev. Horace J. Bridges of Chicago, preaching this morning in Battell chapel, Yale university, to the delegates to the annual convention of the Unitarian Laymen's league and General Unitarian conference of the United States and Canada.

The council of the Unitarian Laymen's league, elected by mail ballot, met at the close of the convention and named the following officers:

President, Charles H. Strong, New York, (re-elected).

Vice president, Chief Judge Frank H. Hiscock, of New York state court of appeals; Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Florida, (re-elected); Hiram Wadsworth, Pasadena, Calif.; Dr. John E. Oechsner, New Orleans; William L. Barnard, Boston; George G. Davis, Waltham, Mass.; Kenneth McDougall, North Abingdon, Mass.

Treasurer, Henry D. Sharpe, Providence, R. I.

Secretary, William L. Barnard, Boston.

THREW MATCH INTO A PILE OF GASOLINE

New York, Sept. 16.—Ten persons were burned in an odd accident today when a pool of gasoline, released in an automobile collision in an East Side street was ignited by a carelessly thrown match.

A rush of flame from curb to curb enveloped the crowd of onlookers, who fled in panic. An accompanying explosion startled the thickly populated neighborhood and ambulances, police reserves and fire apparatus, were hurried to the spot.

One badly injured boy was taken to a hospital. The others injured were treated and sent to their homes.

Business Prospects Are Satisfactory

Practically All the News Bearing on Industries is Favorable.

New York, Sept. 16 (By the A. P.)—The principal markets of the past week presented a somewhat anomalous appearance in that, with practically all the news bearing on them of a favorable nature, they developed a reactionary tendency, but this was not looked upon in financial quarters as any cause for alarm. It is an old story for the markets after holding steady or even advancing in the face of bad news, to suffer a temporary setback when unsatisfactory situations are finally righted.

During the past week, with the coal strike settled, with the extent of the Japanese damage known and discounted and with the European situation easier, the markets have either lost ground or failed to gain appreciably. All of which points to professional operations on the bear side.

Most of the business barometers, meanwhile, indicate that domestic business is proceeding satisfactorily. Car loadings continue to break all records, a factor which points not only to improved earnings for the railroads but to large purchasing power and consuming demand on the part of the public. Commodity prices are holding firm and labor is fully employed. In fact, there seems to be nothing in sight indicating that autumn business will fall below the normal necessities of the nation and the capacity of the labor supply to produce.

A further substantial shrinkage in the volume of unfilled orders on the books of the United States Steel Corporation during August, while predicted, was nevertheless disappointing. A falling off in forward business since March has brought it down to about a third of what it was at that time. This is explained in part by general readjustment of commodity prices and in part by the adoption of the eight-hour day. Operations are now being carried on at around 80 per cent. which is twice as great as pre-war capacity.

Another favorite index of business was the census bureau's report on cotton consumed during August, the volume exceeding that of the previous month and the same month a year ago. The cotton market, meanwhile, closed the week at practically last week's level, being under the influence of profit taking, southern hedge selling and reaction on the stock exchange. The statistics of the trade point to a good market.

The large oversubscription to the treasury's short term note offering points to comparatively easy money conditions for some time yet, although the time money rate was temporarily firmer on September tax payment requirements.

PLANE WAS CARRYING 5,500,000,000,000 PAPER MARKS

Brussels, Sept. 16.—Paper marks of a value of five trillion five hundred billion comprised the cargo of a German airplane which was forced to make a landing at Knocke-Sur-mer, Belgium, today. The crew of the plane, consisting of three Germans announced that they thought the cargo of the machine consisted of mail and newspapers. They refused, however, to say whether the machine was bound or whence it came.

The authorities here are of the opinion that the money was destined to aid the passive resistance program in the Ruhr but they are puzzled as to why the airplane was so far out of its course, Knocke being on the direct line of the air route between Berlin and London.

GLOOMEY VIEW OF CONDITIONS IN GERMANY AND ENGLAND

New York, Sept. 16.—Anthony J. Chlopek, president of the International Longshoremen's association, returned from Europe today extremely pessimistic over labor conditions in Germany and England.

"Three are 1,600,000 unemployed in England at the present time," said Mr. Chlopek, who was a delegate from the American Federation of Labor to the British trades union congress, "and this number is growing at the rate of 23,000 weekly. In Germany unemployment is general, wages are insufficient, and as a result tuberculosis is increasing rapidly in the industrial center. No relief is in sight."

HEAVY GOLD RESERVE IN THE RUSSIAN STATE BANK

Moscow, Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—A number of foreign missions recently have had an opportunity to learn whether the Russian State Bank really has a gold reserve. Piloted by a director of the bank they are said to have seen a big vault containing sacks and boxes of gold bullion valued at 93 million gold rubles and also safes in the Central Bank which contained foreign money worth 24 million gold rubles in addition to numbers of sacks filled with Russian gold coin.

GRATIFICATION EXPRESSED BY PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

Message to the People of Appreciation of the Generous Response to the Appeals from the Sufferers in Japan—Returns to the Red Cross Headquarters in Washington Last Night Totalled $8,000,000 in Cash and Pledges $513,000 from the New England Division, Which Does Not Include Connecticut.

Washington, Sept. 16.—President Coolidge in a message addressed to the people of the United States today expressed his deep gratification at their generous response to the appeals from the sufferers in earthquake-stricken Japan.

"The prompt and generous response of the American people to the urgent needs of a friendly nation in time of great distress has been most gratifying," the message said. "When the news of the tragedy in Japan first reached us the American Red Cross, pursuant to a proclamation, asked the country for five million dollars to meet this great emergency. The answer to this appeal was prompt and generous; in less than two weeks a sum far in excess of the original goal was given.

"At the close of this successful campaign I wish to extend to the people of the United States my deep appreciation for this manifestation of their generosity and their willingness at all times to answer the call of suffering humanity."

Although the American people originally were asked for only $5,000,000, returns to Red Cross headquarters tonight totalled $8,000,000 in cash and pledges and a great jump in the fund is expected from collections taken in churches throughout the country today.

Of the fund received up to yesterday, it was announced, almost $4,000,000 had been expended for relief supplies now loading on ships for Japan.

Chairman John Barton Payne of the Red Cross again called attention to the fact that every dollar is to be utilized for actual relief in Japan and that there would be no expenditures for the administration of the fund.

The contributions by divisions to date follow:

| | |
|---|---|
| Washington division | $1,400,000 |
| New England division | 513,000 |
| Southern division | 306,500 |
| Central division | 1,141,000 |
| Southwestern division | 450,000 |
| Pacific division | 1,088,400 |
| Insular and foreign | 202,500 |
| Totals | $4,000,900 |

STORMY SESSION OF THE COUNCIL OF THE L. OF N.

Geneva, Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—"Stormy" was the word employed today in summarizing the session of the Council of the League of Nations which was hurriedly convoked Saturday night and which did not adjourn until early this morning. The session was devoted to the delicate question of how to deal with Italy.

The Greco-Italian conflict now has been happily settled, say the delegates who have foregathered in Geneva, but they declare Italy has defied the League and that the assembly should take some action to reinforce the prestige of the League.

The Council is said to be well aware of the fact that some report or later it must render some report to the assembly of the League and dispose of the matter to the satisfaction of a majority of the delegates. Some of the members of the council of the League favored last night an immediate statement to the assembly. Others, who fear that brusque treatment of Italy might risk Rome's retirement from the League, counselled patience and delay.

The issue at stake is generally deemed to have been reduced to the question of the Italian occupation and bombardment of Corfu, as the opinion is growing that the first phase of the Greco-Italian conflict properly belonged to the main of the Council of Ambassadors and not to the League of Nations. But the conviction is growing that the assembly must pass on the Corfu affair in order to safeguard the prestige of the Geneva organization.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NEW ENGLAND ACTIVE

Boston, Sept. 16.—Active building operations continue to play an important part in the employment situation in New England, says the monthly survey issued tonight from the employment service of the federal Department of Labor. Slackening in activity in many manufacturing lines is described as largely seasonal and as offset to some extent by overtime operations in certain industries. The shortage of farm labor is still noticeable. The survey for Connecticut follows:

"Slight curtailment in industrial activity noted during the month due to vacation periods. Practically all plants are operating with some on part time basis. Shortage of specialists in the metal and allied lines. Shortage also of skilled and unskilled labor in certain section of the state. Woolen industry on overtime basis. Housing shortage exists in certain sections of the state."

AVIATOR AND THREE MECHANICS MISSING

Washington Sept. 16.—Lieutenant Cole and three mechanics of Langley Field, Va., who left Bolling Field here at 10.35 a. m. yesterday for St. Louis by way of Moundsville, W. Va., were reported missing tonight after efforts had been made by officers throughout the day to get word of them.

Lieutenant Cole was piloting a Martin bomber entered in the Pulitzer race at St. Louis. A report through the naval air service that a ship on sea had sighted such a machine was being traced, but officers said it was unlikely the pilot could lose his course so completely as to land in the west.

It was pointed out that forced landing in sparsely settled country between Washington and Moundsville might have left the missing aviators without means of communication their plight.

$300,000 FIRE IN BUSINESS SECTION OF FREDONIA, N. Y.

Fredonia, N. Y., Sept. 16.—A fire in the business section here today caused a loss estimated at $300,000.

The fire started in the boiler room of the Fredonia Laundry which with a pool room, a shoe store and a residence were destroyed.

The valuable law libraries in adjoining buildings of Justice John S. Lambert and the late Supreme Court Justice Warren B. Hooker, were also damaged by the smoke and water.

Two firemen were slightly injured when a roof caved in.

Dr. Lounsbury at one time pastor of the First Baptist church of Canton, Ohio, was a neighbor and close friend of the late President William McKinley.

ENTIRE STATE OF OKLAHOMA IS UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Oklahoma City Okla., Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—Oklahoma, under a peacetime edict of martial law, today awaited the next move in the fight being waged by Governor J. C. Walton on the Ku Klux Klan.

Although the proclamation placing the entire state under the control of the military became effective simultaneous with its announcement at midnight last night, no move had been made up to noon today to supplant the civil authority in any part of the state.

The state headquarters of the National Guard here were deserted today as was the Governor's office. The National Guard armory was likewise locked. Not a trooper was to be seen in any of the cities commonly referred to by the Governor as centers of Klan activity.

Brigadier General Alva G. Niles of Tulsa, directing enforcement of martial law in Oklahoma City, had not made public as soon the regulations under which the city will be governed. It was announced last night that the rules would be promulgated by 9 o'clock today.

Governor Walton could not be located today. Adjutant General B. E. Markham remained in Tulsa, where he has been for several weeks directing the military inquiry into masked floggings.

Governor Walton in his proclamation last night made it plain that his action was directed against the Ku Klux Klan. The Governor declared "the power of this criminal organization must be destroyed." Early in his campaign against floggers the executive denied emphatically that he was fighting the Klan and branded as false charges that he was attempting to stamp out the organization because it opposed his election last year.

OKLAHOMA CITY PLACED UNDER MILITARY RULE

Oklahoma City, Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—State-wide martial law took a definite form tonight when Oklahoma City leading the way for the remainder of the state passed under the virtually complete control of the military.

General orders embodying the essential regulations under which the state capital will live during the suspension of civil authority, were issued by Lieutenant Colonel W. S. Key, in command of local troops.

GUBERNATORIAL BOOM FOR HIRAM BINGHAM

New Haven, Sept. 16.—Lieutenant Governor Hiram Bingham's boom for the governorship was formally launched at the West Haven Republican outing at Wilcox's pier restaurant yesterday afternoon the many pointed references to the harmony existing between the Rearback interests and the Vare man, the pleasant verbal pats in the back from the speakers and the cheering for "our next governor" leaving no doubt in the minds of the nearly 300 present that Mr. Bingham will be the choice of the state machine for the next political free-for-all in Connecticut.

The get-together was one of the most successful ever held in this section, the "big guns" of the Republican party and especially those with a Rearback roar holding down places at the honored guests' table. All the speeches were in a light and pleasant vein and there were no cranks taken at anybody or anything, except in the subtlest manner.

AVERAGED 200 MILES AN HOUR IN CURTIS RACING PLANE

Mitchel Field, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Lieutenant "Al" Williams claimed today to have established a new unofficial world's speed record averaging 250 miles an hour in a navy Curtis racing plane. He depended entirely upon his indicator, not flying over a measured course.

The speed record was twice broken last week over measured distances, on Monday Lieutenant L. H. Sanderson, who flew 234 miles on hour at Roosevelt Field, and on Thursday by Lieutenant Harold J. Brow, who made 244.15 miles an hour at Mitchell Field. Lieutenant Brow's record was also made in a Navy Curtiss racer, while Lieutenant Sanderson flew in a Wright Navy fighter.

PROVIDENCE WOMAN GORED IN STOMACH BY ANGRY COW.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 16.—Mary Samia, 58, while walking along a lane off Wales street today was gored in the stomach by an angry cow. A wound 10 inches long was inflicted. The woman was taken to the hospital where it is said her condition is serious.

Francis H. Lynn was fined $25 and costs in Columbia town court Saturday morning when he feaded guilty on the charge of reckless driving Aug. 11 on the Hartford-Willimantic highway. Judge Hubert P. Collins was on the bench and Grand Juror D. A. Lyons prosecuted. State Policeman Harold I. Kaith who made the arrest, gave testimony that Lynn tried to run him off another machine and caused Officer Kaith to ditch the motorcycle which he was driving. Fifteen dollars of the fine was remitted and Lynn settled for $10.53.

Dwight W. Ide and E. Byrd Freeman were re-elected to the board of trust of the local Methodist church. Lyman Nichols has been chosen trustee to fill the unexpired term of Dewitt W. Conant who resigned recently.

Saturday evening, many attended the dance at the new Al Pierro Tabernacle on Valley street where music was by a Hartford orchestra. A large crowd was at the prize fox trot held by the members of Company C, 169th Connecticut Infantry, at the state armory.

For the second time within a week the town building was done dry Saturday. Another two-inch lead pipe main in the cellar wall of the boiler room burst in the forenoon and as on the previous occurrence, flooded the floor before being discovered. The break was directly back of the spot where the first break occurred.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre.

The French Doll opened at the Breed theatre last night with Mae Murray as the star. In excellence and story as well as in Miss Murray's individual characterization it follows close upon Miss Murray's recent photoplays, which were the highest examples of screen art.

The French Doll is the story of a little joyous French maiden who is brought to this country by her unscrupulous parents to aid them in disposing of false antique furniture. Her exquisite charm is to be the chief aid. Miss Murray, quite unconscious of what the real business of her parents may be, really helps to dispose of many dollars' worth of "antiques" —until one day, walking in the park, her dog runs after a squirrel, dragging her violently after, so that she is almost seriously injured, when in the nick of time there appears—Wellington Wick, a wealthy fish packer.

From this point on, The French Doll, already vivid and alive with Miss Murray's exquisite charm, takes on a swiftness of action and a delicious humor. The various adventures that befall Georgine, that is, Miss Murray, and her various admirers, all of whom become lovers of antique furniture, form an evening of enchanting entertainment.

The French Doll is a Metro picture presented by Robert Z. Leonard, incidentally, Miss Murray's husband, through Tiffany Productions, of which Mr. Leonard is director general and M. H. Hoffman general manager.

Other pictures on the bill include the Pathe News and an Educational comedy.

The Strand Theatre.

Another excellent show of B. F. Keith vaudeville and photoplay special will be seen at the Strand theatre for the first half of this week, starting today.

The main attraction is Lola Bravo & Co., consisting of four people in a song and dance revue. Special scenic effects will enhance this offering.

The other three acts consist of Bob Zito, the eccentric comedian; Dave Newlin and Gertrude St. Clair in Nutalian Opera and Burnesque Drama, and last, but not least, comes Laura Ordway & Co. in comedy song recitations.

When a brute gets to be powerful among his people it is certain that a woman will come into the situation somewhere. Give a brute power and the first thing he thinks of is possessing by force the most beautiful woman in sight. Bavu was no different. The human monster of Bavu, the Universal-Jewel mystery feature at the Strand theatre, got what he wanted when he wanted it until a man clever enough and brave enough to successfully oppose him stepped into the fight, Wallace Beery is Bavu.

Bavu—Bavu—Bavooooo! The name of the Universal-Jewel mystery photodrama at the Strand theatre has a weird sound, but it is no more weird than the actions of its characters, who move grimly about their mystifying deeds. The inimitable Wallace Beery is Bavu, the brutal monster of the story, and Estelle Taylor and Forrest Stanley are the romantic leading players. Stuart Paton directed from a scenario by Raymond L. Schrock and Albert G. Kenyon of the Earl Carroll New York stage success.

Norwich Music Association.

The Norwich Music Association is announcing the opening of its ninth season on Monday evening, Oct. 1st, in the Slater Hall annex.

The course, arranged is an interesting one and in the opinion of the management one of the best that has been presented by the association.

To ensure possession of membership cards before the evening of the opening concert, application should be made promptly to Robert C. Johnson, 170 Broadway, accompanied by the membership fee.

The course announced is outlined as follows:

Monday, Oct. 1—A violin and piano recital. Herbert Ditller, violinist; Mrs. Herbert Ditller, pianiste, of New York city.

Monday, Nov. 5—A Slavic program of folksongs, dances and piano numbers in costume. Miss Ellenor Cook of Hartford, with Miss Ruth Baun at the piano.

Monday, Dec. 3—A violoncello recital. Miss Gladys A. Berry of Boston with (Mrs.) Margaret Gorham Glaser at the piano.

Monday, Jan. 7—A piano and song recital. Henry J. La Fontaine.

Monday, Feb. 4, at the Central Baptist church, an organ recital on the new Charles W. Gale memorial organ.

Monday, March 3, a song recital, Miss Doris Emerson, soprano, of Boston.

Monday, April 7—The annual meeting and a miscellaneous program with Henry J. La Fontaine in charge.

Boston School of Music.

Several local musicians have opened a school for the instruction of music under the name of The Boston School of Music. The school will have private and class instruction and the "conservatory system" will be used.

The school will specialize in the violin, 'cello, piano and saxophone. There will be special examinations every six months by Boston and New York professors of music for students who desire to pursue the study of music in the larger cities. The Melody Land Trio, well known to local people, is connected with the school and is making plans for a recital some time in the near future.

Reason of Education.

Education is the constraining and directing of youth toward that right reason which the law affirms and which the experience of the best of our elders has agreed to be truly right. —Plato.

POETRY FOR THE WIDEAWAKES

The Boy and the Sparrow.

Once a sweet boy sat and swung on a limb;
On the ground stood a sparrow-bird looking at him.
Now the boy was good, but the sparrow was bad,
So it shied a big stone at the head of the lad.
And it killed the poor boy, and the sparrow was glad.
Then the little boy's mother flew over the trees,
"Tell me, where is my little boy, Sparrow-bird, please."
"He is safe in my pocket," the sparrow-bird said;
And another stone shied at the fond mother's head,
And she fell at the feet of the wicked bird, dead.
You imagine, no doubt, that the tale I have mixed,
But it wasn't by me that the story was fixed.
'Twas a dream a boy had after killing a bird,
And he dreamed it so loud that I heard every word.
And I jotted it down as it really occurred.

The Little Girl Who Wouldn't Say Please.

There was once a small child who would never say please,
I believe, if you even went down on your knees.
But, her arms on the table, would sit at her ease,
And call to her mother in words such as these;
"I want some potatoes!" "Give me some peas!"
"Hand me the butter!" "Cut me some cheese!"
So the fairies, this very rude daughter to tease,
Once blew her away in a powerful breeze
Over the mountains, and over the seas,
To a valley, where never a dinner she sees,
But down with the ants, the wasps, and the bees;
In the woods she must live until she learns to say please.
—St. Nicholas.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO WIDE-AWAKES.

If we hadn't realized it before we know, now that school has opened, that summer has really gone. After weeks and weeks of carefree life, or weeks devoted to duties other than studying, browner and fatter, probably, and full of the joy of living, we ought to feel like working very hard indeed in our schools.

Yet sometimes boys and girls say, "Oh, I hate school—I wish I never had to learn anything." Of course they don't really mean that. Nobody in the world really wants to be ignorant only sometimes when we don't understand things we believe that we dislike them. That is the way with many school children and their studies. They never make any effort to understand what the teacher is trying to explain, and instead they are thinking, "I hate arithmetic" or "I hate grammar."

Studying is one of the greatest pleasures in the world, if you can find out the secret joy that lies in it. Nobody can show it to you—you have to find it out for yourself. It is a pleasure made up of feeling that you know something that you did not know before and of realising that a great world is opening before you; you feel that you have a new power and you begin to be anxious to use that power to the full extent.

Of course it is true that some subjects appeal more to some children than they do to others. But the different subjects are necessary to a happy and useful life. If you only studied the things you liked your life would not be quite as full as it should be; there would always be certain paths that would be closed to you. Study hardest the things you like best, if you will, but do not try to neglect the things you think you dislike—give them a fair trial, too.

LETTERS OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Harriett Belter of West Willington: Thank you very much for my book. It is very nice and I read every night to my brother.

Ida M. Roode, of Voluntown: I received the prize book you sent me, entitled Struggling Upward. I have just started reading it and find it very interesting. Many thanks for it.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES.

Sidney Made a Hit.

Dear Uncle Jed: Sister Muriel had been to London on a visit. When she returned she brought Barbara a pretty tea set. The very next day Barbara decided to have a tea party and invite her friend Charlotte.

"Cousin Sidney wanted to come," said Charlotte, "but I told him you didn't want boys."

Just then the children heard a low whistle and seated in the branches of a tree they saw a small boy.

"Oh, Syd," said Charlotte, "why are you here?"

The boy looked so ashamed that Barbara said, "You may take tea with us if you wish."

"Thank you," said Sidney. "I like parties."

It was a merry party and Sidney told so many funny stories that Barbara was glad he came.

Stoning a Hornets' Nest.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am telling you about how two of my friends and I threw stones at a white faced hornets' nest. We threw about ten stones and then laid down flat on the ground so the hornets would not sting us. We destroyed the nest. I was not as lucky as the other boys, as they did not get stung. I got stung only once.

CLIFFORD MASON.

Jack.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter. I want to tell you about a dog that my cousin had. His name was Jack. About six weeks ago we butchered a hog and papa told Jack, just for fun, "Don't you touch that meat." Jack seemed to know what he meant, and stayed around all afternoon and kept the other dogs away. After we took the meat into the house he still watched, and when papa came home late at night he growled at him and wanted to fight him. Papa had to coax him in order to get into the house. He stayed at our house three or four days and then went home. I think he is just fine. This is all I will write today.

Faithfull Friends.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to send you a story. It was a fine spring day when Mr. and Mrs. Brown and their little daughter, Maxine, were on their summer vacation. Maxine was about 4 years old.

They were quite far from home and were having a good time as they were visiting some of their friends. Maxine's mother told her she could go out and play on the seashore. So she and her big dog, Rollo, went down to the seaside and started to play. She had played quite a while when forgetting what she was doing fell asleep. The dog being afraid she would roll in the sea, stood close by her. Finally her mother came and got her and took her to the house and laid her on the bed. When she awoke she was greatly surprised to see her dog Rollo beside her.

Ted and Ned.

Dear Uncle Jed: Ted from the city came to visit his cousin Ned who lived on a farm. They were so glad to meet that they hugged each other and danced around gaily.

Then Ned took Ted out to see the farm. A nice fat piggie was standing wiggling his tail. Ted caught the tail and before he knew it "Old Grunta" dashed off, and Ted, too frightened to let go, had a quick trip around the barnyard.

Just when he could hold on no longer, Mr. Grunta ran through a puddle and Ted got a mud bath.

Mud baths may be good for the health but they do not improve the looks of a new suit.

Ned had a good luagh and said he didn't know Old Grunta was such a speed king.

Ted said after that he always kept his distance when he saw a pig unless it was served to him at breakfast in the form of bacon.

Fairy Sunshine

Dear Uncle Jed: Once upon a time there lived a little girl named Martha. She was very poor. One day she was out in the woods gathering wood and all of a sudden there sprang forth a terrible monster, growling and slashing a large whip. "Oh! What shall I do?" yelled Martha. Then the monster cried, "Oh! Only save me from the hunters. Oh! Oh!" "All right, I will," and she jumped in back of the monster and said, "Stop right there." and it obeyed her and went home. That night she saw a fairy come into the room. Then all of a sudden many small, round pebbles hit her and after a while she saw they were all gold and on each there was a picture of a beautiful lady, but that instant a lovely lady appeared and said in a soft voice, "You saved me from the hunters, so you will have all this gold. My name is Fairy Sunshine."

The Best Help.

Dear Uncle Jed: Roy's family was moving. Of course he liked that. He watched the men carry things and put them in the big van. He was sure that he would like to work with a moving van when he grew big. He coaxed a ride to the new house with the men. Roy stood on the front walk to watch them unload. How he did want to help. Father had said he might carry some of the smaller things that came on the car. I could have carried that little chair, thought Roy. Maybe there is something else small enough for me to take. The men are paid by the hour. It would save us money if I carry things. Nobody saw him walk up the little board hill and step inside the van. Away back in the corner he saw a basket. Oh, I can carry that easy, he said. The basket was heavier than Roy thought it would be. When he got to the back of the van the handle slipped out of his fingers. The basket fell only a few inches. But Roy heard a noise inside that made him wish he had let it alone. Some of their prettiest china dishes were packed in that basket. The men had been told to handle it with great care.

Everything would have been all right if Roy had left the basket alone. He felt very sorry when mother showed him the broken bits of the dish he liked most. I didn't mean to break anything. I just wanted to help, he whispered. To obey is the best help, said his mother slowly. Roy does not forget. I guess mother knows best, after all.

Pirates.

Dear Uncle Jed: "Mother, what is a pirate?" asked small Bobby Bats, one evening at the dinner table.

"Why," replied his mother, "a pirate is a very bad man who takes things away from people."

"But aren't there good pirates, too?" queried Bobby.

"Yes, there are some, but not many," was the response.

"Well, I'm going to be a good pirate when I grow up," declared the little lad.

Right here it is best to explain that 5-year-old Bobby was just at that adventurous age which everybody must pass.

That night in bed our little hero began to formulate plans for a pirate cruise on land. He, of course, would take Billie and Lasie, twins, along. Yes. And he would see to it that his sister, Norma, would not tag along. They would go to the cliffs, overlooking his home, which were an ideal spot for pirate purposes. He would be the leader, for didn't he plan it all out himself?

On the day set for the sally, three amateur pirates could be seen trudging along the road leading to their destination, armed with short wooden swords. Bobby was in the lead and he brandished his sword with great gusto.

The chieftain was quite satisfied with himself, as tantalising Norma had been left behind. This, indeed, the well-meaning girl had found out later, much to her chagrin.

In the meantime our pirate troupe were having the time of their lives. They poked here and there with their home-made weapons as if looking for treasure. Again they would look under ledges or lift up stones for an inspection. All the time frolicking and capering with youthful vigor, they enjoyed themselves immensely.

Finally, tired out, a quick retreat to home was made by all three of our newly created pirates.

They had found no treasure, only happiness, but the captain of the band, Bobby Bats, had the greatest fun and enjoyment in teasing his small sister and gloating over the fact that she could not go along with them.

The Kidnapped Girl.

Dear Uncle Jed: Once upon a time in a little village there lived two small girls who helped their poor parents with the work in order to earn a living. One night a band of Indian warriors came and destroyed the happy little home, with its occupants, leaving only the youngest girl, which they took. Taking her to their squaws, they kept her, making her obey them. She was never allowed to leave the tent. But one day she was told to leave for a while. She went toward the road to pick flowers. She was busy picking when suddenly she heard a loud noise. Looking up she saw a runaway team with a wagon. She stopped the team and the scared man who was in the wagon asked what she wanted for a reward. "Oh," she said, "nothing would please me but leaving these Indians." So the man took her away and though the Indians hunted, they never found her again, and she lived contented during the rest of her life.

A Visit to the Putnam Wolf Den.

Dear Uncle Jed: While I was at my cousin's the first Sunday I went to the wolf den in Putnam. We started about 11 o'clock and we went over a bridge under which the cars run. We went across a tract of land which was all hills.

We went through a forest and came to an old house where no one lived. We took a look all around the old house. There was a piazza that went all the way around the house.

The house was a little way back from the road. When we came to the road we turned to a path at the right and came to another path we were to take.

We went down the second path and came to the well that is a little way from the wolf den. We drew a pail of water. And after we quenched our thirst we went down the path until we came to some benches on which we sat. There was a box which said on the outside, "Please Register." I opened the door to the box and found a book inside. Then I wrote my name in the book. I went down the hill to the den. As I passed the hole in the rock I saw a dog in the den.

I stopped and looked but it was only a stuffed dog someone had put in there to scare the people.

After I had seen all I wanted to about the den I went to see goat rock. The goat rock is a large rock. It has many names cut on the under side.

When we got home it was about 6 o'clock. We had a pleasant time.

The Fairy Shoes.

Dear Uncle Jed: Once upon a time there was a little boy and his name was Tom.

Tom was always late to school and his mother didn't know what to do. One day she went to town and she complained and the people all said, "Why get a pair of fairy shoes." So she did. She went home very well pleased. Tom came home and the next morning he put on the new fairy shoes and started for school. Just as he was but half way he saw a rabbit over in the other field. He said he was going to get it so he crawled over the fence and his new fairy shoes started to pinch his feet but he didn't care. The fairy shoes knew it was near school time.

He started still farther in the field, so his little fairy shoes got off of his feet and went on to the school house and tip-tap, tip-tap, the little shoes went right up in front where Tom should have been.

Tom finally came to school. He put on the fairy shoes and next morning he was the first one there. The fairy shoes had taught Tom a lesson. Tom was never late any more. So let's all take up this and you won't be late to school.

I must close, good night Wide-Awakes.

Gracie and the Indians.

Dear Uncle Jed: One summer morning little Gracie was in the woods playing when some Indian girls came and played with her until Gracie said her play hour was up. The little Indian girls said, "Come home with us."

Gracie said their father would beat her and make a slave out of her.

The Indian girls said he would not, so Gracie went home with the Indian girls. Little Gracie got supper. She made the corn bread so crisp and light and stewed the reindeer meat and made the other eatables so good. But best of all, she made an apple pie. When the father came he grumbled and grumbled. The good mother said: "You ought not to be cross, this little white girl made us this good supper." "Oh! I did not know white people were so good."

The good Indian talked with Gracie kindly. When supper was over Gracie washed dishes and said she had to go home. The Indian father gave Gracie a pearl necklace. She thanked him and went home. Her mother never said anything about Gracie staying so late. Gracie never told her mother where she had been. Next day Gracie went over to the Indians. She got supper and washed dishes. This time the Indian father gave her a pair of moccasins, all colors on them. Gracie said, "Whenever you need me send for me."

That night when Gracie got home she told her mother and showed her the gifts. Her mother said, "You cannot go any more."

The next day a little Indian girl came and wanted Gracie to help them. Gracie did the work as before and helped to carry in the wood. This time the Indians gave her a little Indian doll and many other things for her mother and father. Gracie and her folks became great friends with the Indians.

THE LITTLE JACK RABBIT PICTURE FOR COLORING

As Peter Possum sat in Uncle Lucky's little house on the corner of Lettuce avenue and Carrot street, Rabbitville, U. S. A., waiting for the dear old gentleman bunny's return, all of a sudden, just like that, quick as the wind that blows off your hat, Mrs. Sparrow from her little house under the roof of the front porch began to sing:

"Yes, home's the dearest place of all;
From there you hear the sweetest call;
A twitter from a leafy nest
Of birdling under mother's breast
The clack of Mrs. Yellow Hen
To add her brood of downy ten;
Or, from the farm house, snug and warm,
The lullaby of mother's song."

And in a few minutes the honk! honk! of the Luckymobile horn told Peter Possum he had but a little longer to wait.

"Hello!" exclaimed dear Uncle Lucky, taking off his old wedding stovepipe hat, "been waiting long?"

"Not too long," answered Peter Possum, with a grin, laying down a book called "Little Journeys to Happyland." "I guess I was taking a trip in the Wind Wagon."

Just then, Little Miss Mousie came into the room and said in a whisper:

"Old Man Weasel is peeping behind the woodpile."

"Heavens!" exclaimed the old gentleman rabbit, flick the back door and pull down the shade and say to yourself, 'Who's afraid, who's afraid?'"

"I can say it all right," sighed Peter Possum, "but I am just the same."

"Say it over till you're brave," answered the dear, old gentleman rabbit, although his left hind leg trembled and his nose twinkled as Little Miss Mousie, who was peering out through the window, gave a squeak of terror.

"He's coming over to the house," she whispered.

"Don't get nervous," said Uncle Lucky.

"Dear, dear," muttered Peter Possum, "what shall we do?"

Just then there arose a clatter and a chatter in the yard and the next minute someone shouted "Whoa!"

"It's the Stage Coach," laughed Uncle Lucky, hopefully, and pulling up the shade, looked out of the window. There stood the Old Brown Horse, all dressed up, with his hat in his hand bowing to Uncle Lucky. The dear old gentleman then rushed out to the front door to greet his friend, forgetting all about Old Man Weasel who was hiding behind the woodpile.

"Be careful," twittered Mrs. Sparrow, from her nest. "Old Man Weasel knows how to play hide and seek."

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Unless present plans fail, Jack Johnson, the famous former heavyweight champion of the world, will give a sparring exhibition of eight rounds here later, when the boxing season at the town hall is reopened, with two of his boxing partners. This announcement wa made Sunday by Frank Barber, promoter of the Casino A. C., after his return from New York, where he sat close to the ringside while Jack Dempsey and Luis Angel Firpo exchanged cataclysmic wallops while a world's championship hung in the balance. Jack Johnson has agreed to come to Danielson with two sparring partners for the opening of a boxing season that promises to surpass anything seen in this section of the state. He does not come here as a fighter, but as exponent of cleverness in the ring. He will box four rounds each with his two sparring partners, and while plenty of action is promised, there will be nothing of the crash and crush of a real championship go.

Promoter Barber said Sunday that he had seen Johnson go nine rounds Saturday at Madison Square Garden with some big and husky stable mates, and that the former champion seems in excellent condition and showed no signs of exertion at the end of the milling.

Asked by Barber how he would like to have been in the ring at the Polo Grounds with Champion Dempsey on Friday night, Johnson ejaculated, "Oh, Boy!" which may mean anything or nothing, but that will not distract in the slightest degree from the interest that will be shown in the big fellow's appearance here near the end of the month, for he is one of the greatest battlers of all time and a figure of supreme interest to all followers of the boxing game.

In addition to the interest in the Johnson boxing exhibition, which will cost Promoter Barber more money than he has been in the habit of paying, for a full card at any of his shows, there will be much to hold the attention of the fans over the outcome of the other events that Barber has planned for the evening—greatest set that Danielson has been promised since boxing was introduced here about a year ago.

At all the masses at St. James' church Sunday, the pastor, Rev. John Roux, S. J., included in his announcements and remarks mention of the collection of the day and the object for which it was taken—the first in a series to extend through 24 months—once a month—and to be applied for the construction of a new school building.

Father Roux, making mention in an incidental way, in the departure of the state of Oregon, some time since, in passing legislation practically prohibiting private schools, which includes parochial schools, in that commonwealth, said that the building and maintaining of parochial schools is not only against the constitutional provisions on which this government is founded, guaranteeing religious liberty to all, but is in line with the supreme destiny of the nation for building a structure of civil and religious liberty under which all may live in peace and contentment is, in fact, in defense of that fundamental programme of this government, for parochial schools teach not only loyalty to country and native land, but as well provide a spiritual training that is the strongest background for patriotism, as evidenced by the manner in which the young men of St. James' parish responded to the call for service in the World war, establishing a memorial to the parish not surpassed, or equalled, by any group inside or outside the church.

The response to the appeal was very generous. Many of the 1,500 wage-earning members of the parish will undertake to give as much as $2 each month for the next two years. This done, the school can be brought into being without straining in any great degree financial resources of the parish, which generosity has never been found wanting, in the more than half century since St. James' church was established in Danielson.

Vigorous action is promised by Chief John McFarland against all who go to the public playgrounds, near the Danielson graded school on School street, and make a nuisance of themselves. Complaints against the ribald manner in which young people—the majority of them not school children—during the past few weeks has stirred the police department to action. Chief McFarland said Sunday that he has the assurance of the cooperation of the town school committee in whatever action he may take in bringing an end to the conditions complained about. At the week end, the chief, unexpected and unannounced, walked into the midst of a group who were rough housing about the playgrounds. His appearance put a damper on the show for the evening, such a damped as will be effective from now on.

The police will have no patience with those who hereafter, after all the warnings, continue to go to the playgrounds and yell and whoop like a band of Comanche Indians. No further warnings will be given. Those who make a nuisance of themselves hereafter at the playgrounds will be ordered to come into court and tell their troubles to the judge.

Nearly half a hundred employes of the Southern New England Telephone company in divisions hereabouts were at Wildwood park Saturday afternoon for an outing arranged under the auspices of the Putnam council of the Employes' association of the big corporation. Included in the gathering were a number of guests. A delightful day in delightful surroundings helped contribute to the success of the affair. Chowder was served shortly after the noon hour and later in the afternoon a fine clam dinner was served by King George Jacques of East Killingly. In the interval between the chowder service and the eating of the big dinner there was boating and various other amusements to hold the attention of the party. A bit of dancing after the dinner brought to an end one of the fine outings for which the employes' council is famous. The majority of those in attendance were representatives of the Danielson, Putnam and Moosup divisions of the company.

There were light frosts Saturday and Sunday nights and some nipping of flowers and tender vegetables in all the territory hereabouts, but no serious damage was done to crops. A minimum temperature of 36 above was registered at a number of recording stations about town.

Tomorrow (Tuesday) will be entry day for the 74th exhibition of the Windham County Agricultural society at Brooklyn. The big days come Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

To enable as many as possible to attend the Brooklyn Fair, The Windham National County bank will close Wednesday, September 19th, at 1.30 p. m. for the balance of the day. The Windham County National Bank.—adv.

Strictly fresh eggs have hit a top price of 60 cents per dozen in Danielson and the surrounding territory, and it is predicted that the price will go higher within the next few weeks, to be followed by a decline that will continue until spring.

This is the week of the annual flower show to be held in East Killingly, this event promising to be better than ever before.

James Kent, well known resident of Elmville, is at his home again after recently having undergone a surgical operation for a throat trouble at a Boston hospital. Mr. Kent is doing very well.

Beginning at 9 a. m. Wednesday and Thursday there will be hourly bus service on the even hour, between Danielson Center and Brooklyn fair grounds by the Danielson garage.—adv.

Joseph LaBonte, son of Joseph LaBonte, of this place, has begun another year of study at La Salette college, Hartford, where he is preparing for the priest hood.

John A. Severin of Pawtucket was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Sunday.

The policical cinvass is assuming more activity in all parts of the town of Killingly, giving assurance of a lively election on October 1, the date of the annual town election.

Mrs. C. W. Flag, a resident of Pleasure Beach and Norwich for several years, is to make her home in Danielson during the winter season.

The headlights of 100 or more cars glared along the route of dangerous dark Lantern Hill, early Sunday evening as the heavy traffic on the Danielson-Providence road halted, after a closed Buick with a Rhode Island registration skidded on the wet surface of the state highway, following a shower, and plunged through a fence going down the embankment after turning completely around. A woman passenger in the car is said to have thrown out the speed when she felt the car going out of control and instead of helping, made matters worse. No one was injured in the accident over and above sustaining some bruises and a shaking up. The matter was investigated by the police.

PUTNAM

Eleven Putnam men, whom the state alleges have been dealing in the forbidden juice of certain grains and malt, contrary to the law in such case made and provided, will leave either by automobile over the state highway or by the nine-o'clock train over the New Haven railroad's right of way this (Monday) morning. Their destination will be in Willimantic, one of Windham county's two county seats. When they leave the Thread City their destination is not so certain, for, if convicted of the charges the state has made, they may not return immediately to this little city.

If convictions are secured by the state, there is the possibility that these men will pay fines and return at once. On the other hand, those who have watched the proceedings in various sessions of the superior court, especially during the past week in New London county, and noted that even first offenders have been given short term jail sentences, are not so sure that the payment of money will satisfy the ends of justice in these cases. The accused themselves apparently have some doubt as to the final outcome of their cases if convictions are secured and there is a certain uneasiness manifested as to what Monday holds in store.

Ever since the men were arrested Thursday last on bench warrants there has been speculation as to what the proceedings will develop. Most of the men are well known in Putnam.

Dyson Wilcox has returned for his second year at Bates college, Lewiston, Me.

Miss Lorena Gallant, a student nurse in Hartford hospital, is spending two weeks' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Gallant.

Louis F. Battey, who is taking the enumeration of school children, is about half through the work and states that so far the enumeration shows an increase over last year but this may possibly be offset when the remainder of the town is taken.

Rev. Simeon E. Cozad preached a special educational sermon at the Congregational church, Sunday morning, taking for his subject, The Soul of American Education. The service was attended by teachers and by pupils who are leaving this week for college.

Malcolm M. Willes will leave Putnam this (Monday) morning for Hanover, N. H., to take up his new appointment as instructor in sociology at Dartmouth college. Mr. Willey is a graduate of Putnam high school, Clark University, Worcester, and received his Ph. D. at Columbia university. He is the son of Mrs. Helen M. Willey.

Miss Katherine Burns returned to Worcester, Saturday, after being the guest of Mrs. A. S. Macdonald, for several days.

Ralph P. Durfee of Oneida, N. Y., has been the guest of his sister, Mrs. S. Nikoloff, of Pomfret road. Mr. Durfee lived in Putnam as a young man and for a number of years was a member of the state constabulary of New York state. He is now a steward in the Elks' club, in Oneida.

Miss Ruth Child, daughter of Mrs. Annie Child, leaves this week for Ann Arbor, Michigan, where she will do graduate work in English at Ann Arbor University. Miss Child is a graduate of Putnam High school and of Mt. Holyoke college.

Misses Sylvia and Elizabeth Wheelock, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Silas M. Wheelock, have returned to Boston for their senior year at Simmons college.

Miss Bertha Child, daughter of Mrs. Annie Child, has entered Simmons college. Miss Child was graduated from Putnam High school last June.

Miss Hazel Converse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Converse, resumes this week her studies at Connecticut College for Women, New London.

Alexander S. Klots of New York, a sophomore at Yale, who makes his summer home on Putnam Heights, appeared before Justice of the Peace Thomas Ryan of Thompson, Saturday morning to answer to a charge of reckless driving. Through his counsel, Charles L. Torrey of Putnam, a demurrer to the complaint was entered. The demurrer was overruled and a fine of $25 was imposed. An appeal was taken. The arrest grew out of an accident Thursday evening while Klots was returning from Portland, Me. According to Klots' story he was driving along the road entering Thompson when a car approached from the opposite direction. The headlights of this car blinded him for a moment and the hub caps on the cars grazed, so that the cars were turned to the side of the road. The injury to the cars was slight.

Work is to be started at once on the new concrete bridge on Pomfret street over the Little river. The contract has been awarded to the Holbrook company of Wes brook, this state. The new bridge will be some distance south of the present bridge and is a part of the reconstructed state road from Putnam to Pomfret.

Mrs. Silas M. Wheelock is chairman of a committe having in charge the duty of raising $1,000 assigned as the quota of Putnam, Pomfret, Thompson, Eastford Woodstock, and Dayville in the nationwide Red Cross drive for $5,000,000 for Japanese relief. Mrs. J. A. P. Gagne is vice chairman of the committee. It is planned to have a tag day as the first step in the campaign.

The Congregational church of Putnam is to install moving pictures. The subjects to be shown will be of a religious nature, instructive and entertaining depicting the life of Christ and other Biblical and religious subjects. The officers of the church have voted to purchase a moving picture machine and all the necessary equipment for the use of the pastor, Rev. Simeon E. Cozad. The machine will be put in use at Sunday evening services. This is the first church in Putnam to adopt the screen as the means of teaching religious history.

Mrs. Dixie D. Owen, founder and president of Clara Barton Memorial Association of America, spoke at the evening service at the Baptist church, Sunday. Her subject was, "Clara Barton and other great people." Mrs. Owen, who is 70 years old and of slight stature, weighing but 96 pounds, is touring the country speaking in behalf of the association which she founded.

Mrs. Walter N. Phillips left Friday to spend two weeks in Greenfield, Mass.

E. L. Davis and son Harry have returned from Lord's Point where they spent the summer and where Mr. Davis has a store and acts as postmaster.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thurber are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Thurber of Clinton, Mass.

Allen Thayer has been unanimously elected president of Putnam High School Athletic Association. Mr. Thayer is a senior and captain-elect of the basketball team. He was a football letter man last year but will be unable to play this year because of outside work. Mary Child and Dorothy Ames, seniors, were elected vice president and secretary of the organization respectively and Leroy Thompson, sophomore, treasurer. About thirty candidates have appeared for the football squad. Two of last year's letter men are the only seasoned players and about them the team will be formed. The squad is about a third freshmen. There will be daily practice from now until the first game, which is with Plainfield High late in September.

LEONARD BRIDGE

WESTERLY

Dr. and Mrs. William Thompson and Mrs. Allan Thompson chaperoned to a sailing party given by Miss Grace Thompson in the "Lucy Smith" to Fishers Island, Saturday. Members of the party were Misses Mary Conway, Honor Randall, Marjorie Chapman, Nan Scanlon, also Harry Lawton, Robert Sparge, Harold Nichols, Joseph Gervasini and Carl Danforth. A picnic lunch was carried and when Fishers Island was reached a thorough inspection was made by the youthful sailors of Coast Guard Station, No. 59, East Harbor.

Frank Turano, 12, son of Demitro Turano, 72 Perkins avenue, suffered serious burns Saturday afternoon at the Sceony gas filling station of Armando Rossi, 31 Railroad avenue. At 3.15 o'clock, while a bonfire was burning, the young man took a milk bottle with a small quantity of gasoline and poured it on the fire. The flame followed up, setting fire to the boy's coat sleeve. The flesh of his right arm was burned and the boy ran screaming about. His cries were mistaken by several bystanders for those of a boy at play until the side of his body became enveloped in flame when the contents of two fire extinguishers were emptied upon him with seeming little result. Taximan Edward Eisson rushed from his stand at the New Haven railroad station with an automobile blanket and this being thrown around the boy the flames were smothered. The suffering lad was taken to the office of Dr. M. H. Scanlon where the burns were dressed. He was then taken to his home and later sent in the ambulance of the Westerly Sanitary Corps to Lawrence hospital, New London. The young man's right hand was very badly burned, all of his right arm, the back of his neck, the hair was burned off the back of his head and his right shoulder and the right side of his body down to his hips were burned.

A stated communication of Franklin lodge, No. 20, A. F. & A. M., is to be held in Masonic hall Tuesday evening. A Masonic Home Fund is being contributed to for the grand lodge of Rhode Island, also an educational fund, to provide college scholarships to sons or daughters of Masons and to be administered by a board of trustees.

The first game in the championship series of the Interstate Amateur Baseball League was played at Hope Valley Saturday afternoon. The game resulted in a victory for Hope Valley of the northern section when the Westerly Textile team of the southern division was defeated, 7 to 6. Main and Hollander were the battery for Hope Valley and Main and Dion operated for the Westerly Textile nine. The umpires were Schackley and Myers, the game going eleven innings before the issue was decided. The next game between these teams will be played Saturday next at the Westerly Playground diamond. In a post-season series, the Westerly Independent defeated the Bradford nine Saturday afternoon, at the playground diamond, Westerly, 16 to 3.

The last long distance race on Long Island sound this season was a six-yacht contest from Port Washington to and around Cornfield light vessel Saturday. One of the contestants was the sloop Zingara, owned by J. H. Duys, Jr., from Larchmont. The Zingara is remembered as the racing yacht which lost her bearings in a Block Island race last August and was brought in by the coast guard men of station No. 58 at Watch Hill.

Miss Edith Louise Krebs and Miss Margaret L. Crockett returned to Westerly Sunday after passing their vacation at North Conway, N. H.

Miss Marjorie D. Barber of North Attleboro, Mass., spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Larber in Westerly.

Miss Fanny L. Sutcliffe, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sutcliffe of the West Side, has returned to her duties as a student nurse in St. Luke's hospital, New York, after three weeks' vacation.

Miss Mary Scanlon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Scanlon, left Westerly Sunday for St. Elizabeth's College, Convent Station, N. J., to resume her studies.

The board of assessors, Samuel M. Sharpe, Howard E. Thorp and Walter C. Hiscox, of Westerly, having completed the work of valuation of the accessible property in the town of Westerly, the figures have been checked up and the results stand approximately as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Land | $3,813,734 |
| Buildings | 7,847,952 |
| Tangible personal | 1,821,600 |
| Intangible personal | 5,171,100 |
| Total | $18,658,486 |
| Less exemptions | 234,000 |
| Total assessed valuation | $18,419,486 |

Exemptions represent the property of widows of deceased Civil War soldiers, the assessment of the George C. Moore company, Clyde Mills and Westerly Silk Mill company.

The first baseball game in a series of three, to be played between the Narragansett Pier and Shannock teams, which were tied for second place in the South County league was played at Narragansett Pier Sunday afternoon, resulting in a score of 10 to 6 in favor of the Pier team. The batteries for Shannock were Sherman and Shields for Narragansett Pier, Triggs and McDermott. A very large crowd was present necessitating the establishment of ground rules, which later resulted in much discussion and nearly ended the game. A hit to the automobiles parked on each base line was only good for a two-baser and over the automobiles in center field as many bases as could be run. In the eighth inning a hit by a Shannock player through a gap in the auto line would have added four runs if the players who had crossed the plate were allowed to score; however, the last two runners were sent back and did not score. Shannock failed to score in the rest of the game, while the Pier added two runs in the last eighth. The score by innings:

| | |
|---|---|
| Shannock | 2 1 1 0 0 0 0 3 0— 6 |
| Narragan. Pier | 0 1 0 3 1 0 3 2 x—10 |

Saturday evening at 6.30 o'clock in the Seventh Day Baptist church, Miss Emma Marguerite Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Saunders of 126 Franklin street, and Edwin Clark Whitford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan S. Whitford of Brookfield, N. Y., were married by Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, the double ring service being used. The bride was attended by Miss Helen Maxson of Waterford. George Arthur Whitford of Hartford, a brother of the groom, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Whitford are to make their home in Brookfield, N. Y.

Archie Reid of Clinton, Mass., returned home Sunday, after being the guest of Westerly relatives and friends.

Andrew Greene and Carl Hebb were week-end automobile visitors with relatives in South Manchester.

William Nichols returned to Providence Sunday, having been the week end guest of relatives in Westerly.

Merton Lewis of Bridgeport, Conn., visited over the week-end with relatives and friends on the West Side.

Elsior Mettivier, Henry Haven, Albert Albermonti and George Vardillos returned to Westerly Sunday night from an automobile trip to Canada.

Sometime late Saturday night or early Sunday morning a Buick 1917 touring automobile with registration 122-373 Conn., was reported to the Westerly police as parked on the north side of the west bound train shelter at the Westerly station of the New Haven railroad. The registration No. 122-373 is listed in the automobile register under the name of Frank A. Warden, 177 Williams avenue, Mystic.

INCREASING GOVERNOR'S VETO POWER.

Changes in the state constitution call for approval by the people as well as by the legislature. At the last session of the general assembly there was advocated, adopted and signed by the governor a proposed change in the constitution giving to the governor the necessary authority to apply his veto to any particular item of an appropriation bill which failed to meet his approval.

Hitherto the governor has had the option of vetoing the entire measure or accepting it, and the instances have been many where bills have received approval rather than to knock out those portions of the bill which were needed and which would have had to gone with the rest had the veto been applied.

Not infrequent have been the cases where matters have been attached to necessary appropriation measures for no other good reason than that it was as near certain as anything could be that the appropriation bill would go through, and the importance of the measure was considered sufficient to carry anything that might be attached to it.

Likewise there has been recognized the injustice of facing the governor with many items, the most of which deserve approval and yet forcing him to accept the undesirable in order to obtain that which is necessary. Giving the governor the authority to veto what he does not favor and permitting the passage of only such as he approves, unless the general assembly is willing to pass it over his veto, is what is aimed at by the proposed change in the constitution and which comes before the people at the town election next month.

Such a matter unquestionably is in the interest of the state and better legislative action. It is a move in the right direction that could have been taken with good results a long time ago, and there is no reason for believing but what the people of the state will take the same view of it that has been taken already by the members of the general assembly.

THE NAVY FOR DRY ENFORCEMENT.

In order to cope with the extensive violation of the Volstead act and to shut off the activities of the rum runners who do business by water, the question was raised some time ago about the use of naval vessels for the purpose of aiding in the enforcement.

Raised just before President Harding left for Alaska the attorney general has but recently rendered his decision on such use. That seems conclusive. The use of the navy by the president seems to be clearly defined. Under the rights conferred upon him by congress the navy can be employed for the suppression of the slave or coolie trade. Otherwise it seems to be restricted to purposes of national defense, insofar as any action has been taken up to the present time, except of course that the president has power to utilize the various instrumentalities of the government in case of a national emergency.

It thus becomes apparent that the use of the navy for such a purpose depends upon whether a national emergency exists in the sense that is meant by the provision, and it is the opinion of the attorney general that an emergency is not created by the violations of the Volstead act.

The situation therefore simmers down to the fact that it does not lie within the authority of the president to employ the navy to enforce the dry law, whatever other steps might be taken to such an end, and that if naval vessels are to be used such action must come as the result of legislation on the part of congress in those hands the matter really rests.

It is recognized that the navy is for war and defense purposes and that in spite of it there are instances where congress has seen fit to direct the president to use it otherwise. Suppressing the slave or coolie trade is not so different from the suppression of the liquor trade or the drug trade for that matter. Authority for such use has not as yet been conferred upon the president and therefore any use for that purpose must depend upon what congress may decide at some future date.

THE HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION.

The big fight has come and gone and that portion of the public which delights in them is waiting for the next.

There was no disguising the fact that it was a contest of big men in fistic circles. There was no end of confidence in the power of Dempsey to retain his championship honors. There were some who believed that Firpo could wrest them from him. That number was small, but it is needless to say that there are many more admirers of the South American pugilist today than there were early last week.

Firpo is a big, powerful fighter possessing the punch but lacking the science, and yet in spite of that handicap he was not only able to stand frightful punishment, since Dempsey's punches are not to be rated as light, but he succeeded in flooring the champion once and in knocking him through the ropes another time. It was the closest Dempsey ever came to losing the title, and yet there were plenty of experts who figured that Firpo had very little chance, that Dempsey could toy with him and incur little danger of being punished for it.

Fast and furious was the contest while it lasted, so much so that it was apparent that it was destined to be short lived. The outcome was in keeping with expectations but what preceded was quite to the contrary. It was far from being a one sided battle and there is nothing surprising in the talk of another match between the principals next year. There couldn't be any better drawing card from the standpoint of gate receipts and with Firpo given the benefit of a year's training for the perfection of his fighting tactics there would be more confidence in his chance than there was in the match when he came very close to putting Dempsey away for the count. Firpo lost as expected but not by the wide margin that had been figured.

PASSING STREET CARS.

There are those who are always endeavoring to have exceptions made in the application of laws. There are times when there is good and sufficient reason for it, but such doesn't appear to be the case concerning those who would have the law concerning the passing of street cars by autoists modified.

When it is not possible for an auto driver to go past a standing trolley car, and do so without danger to those getting on or off, at a distance of ten feet, the machine must be brought to a stop ten feet at least from the car and remain until the trolley patrons are out of the way. There are places where it might be possible to proceed on the left of the car and there are those who have sought the opinion of the motor vehicles commissioner to ascertain whether this could not be done. When the commissioner replies that it cannot, he not only gives good reasone for his interpretation but as should settle the matter.

For an auto driver to go on the left of a standing car would be to take away the right that belongs to the traffic going in the opposite direction, a fact which should have been obvious to those seeking an interpretation, while it would also be endangering those going around the other end of the car to the sidewalk. There are of course those who use the left side of the street in total disregard of the rights of others under such circumstances quite the same as there are those who honk the people out of the way right at the street car steps, but it is in violation of the rules of the road and the law concerning the passing of street railway cars.

A BAD DEMONSTRATION.

Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, is causing the legislature, through his leadership, to act like an incorrigible child. His object is not to cooperate with the governor general but to embarrass him, just because the governor general in looking after the best interests of the islands and in administering the duties of this government, does not see fit to comply entirely with the demands of the Philippine leaders.

Quezon and his followers are striving for independence. In that effort no one will blame them as long as they do so in a manner that can bring commendation but when they display defiance, give evidence of ingratitude and indicate that they are determined to punish the governor general because he will not let them run wild, it only emphasizes anew the claim that has been repeatedly made to the effect that the Filipinos are not as yet in a position where they should be allowed to launch out for themselves.

When Quezon announces that the Philippine legislature will deal with the budget as it wishes regardless of the instructions of the governor general and declares at the same time that there is a filibuster in the legislature he probably understands that the governor general has authority to continue necessary appropriations, but it represents an attitude so rebellious and obstructive that it can only cause harm to the Filipinos and put off to the more distant day the time when they can be rated as being able to safely and sanely handle their own affairs. They are making such an unfavorable demonstration of their ability to handle the islands that it reflects upon their capacity to do business properly even under such acts of congress as have been adopted in their favor.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The man on the corner says: Cheer up, chestnuts will soon be ripe.

There is still a sizeable part of the population which likes a fight.

The peach crop is about to be harvested and distributed. How many bushels will have to be fed to the hogs?

More and more organizations are figuring that the Volstead act happened too long ago to need resolutions at this date.

Now that there seems to be so much question about what the league of nations can or cannot do why not refer it to Mussolini?

What has become of that fellow who used to take delight in telling us about this time how big the chestnut crop was going to be?

Those who have been over to study conditions in Russia seem to come home with much the same opinion with which they started.

It seems to have taken a long time for it to be found out by the miners that communists were responsible for the massacre at Herrin.

Just why a drunken auto driver should be given any more freedom than the drunken engineer is difficulty for most people to understand.

The representative of Sweden at Geneva considers the league a failure. He has joined a considerable crowd that has held that opinion for some time.

Massachusetts is endeavoring to have the motor trucks and buses better regulated and taxed more. Our neighbor has been giving some thought to the Connecticut example.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Barley is very nourishing and may be used instead of flour to thicken soups.

Paris is inclining toward the straight and narrow silhouet, with flares to make it interesting.

A vegetable that is not kept up to the boiling point while cooking will be watersoaked and of poor flavor.

Rice should be washed in at least three waters, rubbing the grains between the hands.

Keep your meat drippings and clarified fats in a cool, dry place.

A roller window shade makes a good curtain for a cupboard or set of shelves that cannot accommodate a regular door.

A good general rule for baking batters and doughs is to have a very moderate oven for the thinnest batters increasing the heat as the batters thicken.

Wrought iron candlesticks become very gray and lusterless unless you clean them occasionally with a stiff brush and ammonia soapsuds; then rub with sweet oil.

Silver knives or forks, stained with egg or vegetables, are easily cleaned by wetting in water, dipping in fine salt and rubbing with a wet cloth.

Carrots, parsnips and salsify should always be scraped, never pared.

Never use coarse yellow soap to wash glasses, as this will make them cloudy. Use a pure white soap.

When washing shell china or very fine glassware put a folded towel in the bottom of the dishpan to protect the delicate surface.

Enamel-finished furniture should be washed in clean warm water and dried with flannel cloth, rubbing it very hard.

When buying meat insist that the butcher give you the bone and trimmings for which you pay. The fat can be rendered and used in cooking; the bone and trimmings can go into soup or stew.

If the potatoes must wait before serving, cover them with several folds of cheesecloth and let the stew pan stand on a warm part of the range. The cloth allows the moisture to escape but protects the vegetable from the cold air.

REMOVING WALL PAPER.

To remove old wallpaper, if there is only one layer, washing in hot water will be sufficient. But in the case of several layers the hot water will soak through and loosen up only one layer at a time. A strong solution of sal-soda and water is necessary to remove several thicknesses. The mixture should be boiled and applied while hot. After four applications the soda will eat through the glue size—something hot water alone will not do.

OLD SHOES.

Bury your old shoes — near to a tree if possible. Put them at least two feet down. Nature and the tree roots will convert them into fruit and green leaves. With a layer of coal, old shoes will make a hot fire in the kitchen range.

FLOOR COVERINGS.

Rugs and floor coverings should usually be several shades darker than the walls and should either be in plain colors or have small, indefinite designs. This makes it much easier to select the hangings and colors to be used in the room.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Dry salt is a remedy for hands that get wrinkled after washing. It is also a very economical tooth powder.

To improve the skin nothing is better than starch paste. This can be either the cold water paste made with laundry starch, spread on and allowed to stay half an hour or so, or else the cooked starch used the same way. The cold water kind is a little better.

When poison has been accidentally swallowed no emetic is better than mustard. Mix three teaspoons with a cup of warm water and swallow. At once the stimulative action upon the stomach causes that organ to reject all its contents, the poisonous ingredients with the rest. It is one of the quickest of all emetics, and the most harmless.

If you are overweight or underweight, you must try to become normally fleshy again. This takes time, of course, so in the meanwhile, by way of improvement, you can massage and exercise the arms to make them pretty. If you are 50 pounds overweight, no amount of arm exercise will take away the "leg of mutton" shape at the shoulders; if you are below weight, exercise can't put flesh on the bones above the elbow. But you vary ten to twenty pounds either way, and, by exercise, still achieve beautiful arms.

CARE OF SHOES.

Boots and shoes, however, damp, will polish in a few minutes if a drop or two of kerosene oil be added to the blacking. It also prevents the leather from cracking.

Your rubbers will last longer if you put a half-inch layer of crushed tissue paper into the heels. The paper forms a soft cushion for the hard heel of the shoe and thus lessens the wear of the rubber.

MAY BE USED AGAIN.

Housekeepers should keep a box where the paraffin which is removed from the top of home-made jelly can be placed. This paraffin is usually thrown away, but if saved it can be washed, melted and used on the jelly glasses in the fall.

EASY TO PEEL.

Before skinning tomatoes for salad place them in a basin, and pour boiling water over them. The skin will then peel off without any trouble, and the tomatoes be far nicer than if they were added to the salad without being peeled.

PICTURES HANG LEVEL.

To prevent pictures from slipping and hanging unevenly, hang them first with their face to the wall, and then twist around so that the wires cross. This will prevent them from slipping.

USE PAPER ON TABLE.

When baking or cooking always spread a large sheet of newspaper on the kitchen table and floor. This saves a lot of trouble, as any grease or flour which has been spilt can then be taken up bodily and emptied.

PRETTY HAT TRIM.

The plaited mode in ribbon trimming is youthfully interpreted on a little girl's hat. Three rows of lanvin green vet ribbon one and one-half inch wide, box plaited, form the sole trimming of the hat and are put on by stitching the rows one above the other, starting at the narrow little brim and ending with two long streamers in the Land. "The Floor," "Things to Sew," charming clothes created for the modback.

DICTATES OF FASHION.

Extreme length promises to be the dominant note in fall coats. Favor runs to the flare models.

The wood shades, flame and blending metallic hues will be used in evening gowns this fall.

A smart suit of tan wool has a collar, cuffs and a wide border on the skirt of heavily brushed wool.

The frill front is one of the most sought after blouses for wear with the sleeveless sweater or coatee.

Some of the smartest overblouses for fall are made of duvetyn, adorned with braiding or embroidery.

The vogue for felt continues. One of the chic fall tams is made of narrow strips of felt.

A stunning coat for winter is of brown bolivia cloth, with a deep shawl collar of cinnamon colored fox.

Jacquettes of brocaded chiffon velvet are shown in the most glowing colors, and occasionally they are trimmed rich fur.

Two-tone effects are emphasized for the coming season. Dark and light shades of the same color are favored.

Chiffon linings in rainbow tints will add to the beauty of the winter's fur wraps. Rich brocades will also be used.

Felt with satin and felt with leather are two very popular combinations in fall millinery. Velvet, too, is greatly in evidence.

Paris is affecting flesh, coral, yellow and blue in tuck-ins. The sleeves are long and the collar generous enough to be worn over the collar.

The afternoon gown is at present distinguished by the treatment of its sleeves. These are long and flowing, some caught at the wrist, some slashed, others left to drift. Evening and dinner gowns are sleeveless.

Since short sleeve dresses are being featured for fall wear, the long glove is expected to lead in demand for hand covering. Colors most stressed will be various shades of brown.

Interesting embroideries executed in ribbon are seen on many of the fall frocks. One frock shows the low waist line emphasized by a belt made of fold upon fold of satin-edged grosgrain ribbon alternated with ribbon which had a gold edge.

LARGE HAT MODISH.

Now that the rays of the sun are less to be feared, hats have grown larger until some of the cape-line models have assumed to proportions of small parasols. In nearly every instance these droop well over the right shoulder with plumes, tulle scarfs or ribbons dangling still farther down the right side.

The "cape line" has not entirely preempted the field, however, for the "cloche" and "beret" types still are favorite materials for these types, with many bright colors in evidence, especially the so-called Chinese reds and blues. With the berets the chief adornment sometimes is found in hatpin of jet and crystal.

THE NEW STREET FROCK.

In its newest version the street frock of navy blue is, if anything, smarter than ever. It has all the practical qualities of the old blue serge dress, but is given greater charm and decidedly more originality by the various materials used in its development. One sees the most alluring models fashioned of repcloth, of twill and of the new supple material called charmeen. Then there are stunning frocks of knitted fabrics designed for country wear. They are as becoming as they are smart.

LAUNDRY HINTS.

Keep two ironholders in use and change each time a fresh iron is used. This prevents the hand from becoming drawn and tired.

After each washing day dampen the rollers of the wringing machine with ordinary paraffin. This prevents them from wearing out, and the water from soaking into the wood. It will not harm the clothes.

Fruit stains can be removed from table linen by rubbing with camphor. Do this before wetting stains with water.

Art muslin curtains should never be washed in warm water. Make a lather with hot water, and when it is nearly cold wash the curtains. If these are green, add a little vinegar; if lilac or pink, a little ammonia.

Cheap table linen may be made to look as glossy as fine damask if ironed in the following way: After it has been washed, boiled and rinsed, wring as dry as possible, and roll it up in a dry sheet. Leave it for an hour, then iron it until it is thoroughly dry. When treated in this manner the linen escapes the wear and tear of hanging on a line, and keeps a good shape.

IMPROVES STARCH.

While starch is still hot drop into it a lump of alum and stir slowly until it is dissolved. A lump of the size of the end of your little finger to a quart of starch is about the right proportion. Your irons will not stick and aprons and blouses and so forth will keep clean longer, as the starch gives the fabric somewhat of a waterproof nature. Spots can often be rubbed off before the material has had time to absorb the dirt.

TO GO WITH ANTIQUES.

What kind of curtains did our great-grandmothers use to go with their four-post beds, Windsor chairs, grandfather clocks and all the rest of the things which now delight the collector of antique furniture? A few lucky persons inherit candlewick bedspreads and hand-made rugs and quilts, but where, or where, and what, oh what, were the curtains of our ancestors?

Plain starched muslin, in many cases —one fears. Of course, nobody in this day wants anything so heavy and ugly at a window. So, to keep company with furniture of antique style, the modern woman selects dainty curtains of sampler lace, a net which wears quaint bits of design in self-color, exactly like the prim little designs that used to be worked on samplers.

While of modern make, this sampler lace, which comes by the yard, is absolutely in keeping with the spirit of the antique, and such curtains add the last harmonious note to the room of home furnished with lovely old furniture or modern copies of old styles.

MANY BRACELETS WORN.

One bracelet looks awfully lonesome these times. To be correct today there should be five or six bracelets, each different in color from the others and all as brightly colored as an African sunset.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

The number of women in the ministry has more than doubled in the last ten years.

The farmer girls in Holland wash their faces with whey to improve their complexions.

According to the latest census figures, five women in the United States earn a living by coopering barrels.

Wages of women workers throughout German industry are between 70 and 80 percent of those for male workers.

In Ohio girls of 18 will no longer be able to marry without their parents' consent, as the legal age of women has been raised from 18 to 21 years.

South American coffee and cotton planters say that women and children work better than men, though their labor is rewarded with a lower rate of compensation.

WASTE BASKET DE LUXE.

With the assistance of the best quality liquid glue and a few yards of silk ribbon an ordinary waste-paper basket may be made so artistic that it will be worthy of a prettier name. Glue strips of ribbon to the sides of the basket and edge it all around the top with ribbon, tying a large bow at one corner and allowing streamers to hang down. The glue will not discolor the ribbon.

ALUM FOR BRUSHES.

Old hair brushes which have become soft can be made quite hard and firm by dipping them in a strong solution of alum. Put a little alum in some hot water. A few cents' worth of alum will last for months.

RECIPES.

Watermelon Marble.—Cut out with a potato scoop from the center of a firm but ripe watermelon enough pink balls to fill a quart can. Prepare a heavy sirup, adding a slice or two of lemon and a piece of ginger root, drop in the melon marbles and cook until well scalded. Drop the balls into a can and pour over the sirup and seal. These are delicious preserves to use as pudding garnish or for ice cream.

Frozen Tomato Salad. — Take six medium sized tomatoes, skin the tomatoes and scoop out all the pulp and juice. Turn upside down and drain.

Place on ice until ready to use. To the pulp and juice add one teaspoonful onion juice, three tablespoonfuls of finely chopped cucumber and season well. Add to the juice one cup of mayonnaise, one cup of whipped cream. Freeze to the consistency of mush, fill the tomato shells, and serve on lettuce.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Eighty-five years old today, General Valerino Weyler is still in the fighting game, this time directing the Spanish warfare against the Miroccan rebels. The name of Gen. Weyler is a familiar one to Americans. He was Governor of Cuba just prior to the Spanish-American war, and his harshness of manner in dealing with the Cubans, especially the forcing of the rural population into concentration camps, has been regarded as having had much to do with bringing on the war between the United States and Spain. After his return to Spain following the war Gen. Weyler was made Captain General of Madrid. Later he became Minister of war, and in 1909 was appointed captain general of Catalonia, with headquarters in Barcelona. Since the early part of 1916 he has served as president of the general staff of the Spanish army. By descent Weyler is a Prussian, as his name indicates, only of Spanish ancestry on his mother's side.

Today's Birthdays

1921—Germany ratified the peace treaty with the United States.

1922—Turkey demanded that the allies quit the Dardanelles.

—Many fatalities reported in the fighting in Ireland.

Stories That Recall Others

Oh, Sugar.

He had come from a distant city and in the dining room of the boarding house was a long table which was sometimes used as a writing desk. One evening, having brought all his material for writing a letter, one of the boys sat down at the table but was in a quandary to know what to say to the girl back home. Seeing that he sat between two sugar bowls, a friend suggested that he tell her that he sat there writing between two of the sweetest things in the world. So he started the letter, but great was his dismay when he received an answer to that letter, and it took a long explanation to convince the girl that it was only two bowls of sugar that had caused the green-eyed monster to go on a rampage.

Oversight.

One afternoon Tommy happened to look up and see the moon, and as he had never before seen it in the daytime he ran into the house and excitedly claimed: "Oh, mamma, I've got a joke on the man in the moon."

"Why, what do you mean, dear?"

And then, pointing his hand skyward, he explained: "He forgot to take the moon in this morning."

HOW TO SLEEP 3-IN-A-BED

YES, it CAN be done—but not like this.

The trouble is, most people go to bed with "something" on the mind—or ON THE STOMACH!

The answer is, no matter what the day has brought forth to upset your mind and digestive organs, take Beecham's Pills when you retire.

Though in no sense a "sleeping potion," this 80-years-famous household medicine so harmonizes the system that you can sleep in quiet and perfect rest, even in two feet of bed space.

Beecham's Pills are as efficient and harmless for children as for adults—sweetening the stomach, invigorating digestion and stirring liver and bowels to natural activity.

OBITUARY.
Henry E. Prodell.

Henry E. Prodell, a resident of this city practically all his life, died Saturday at his home at 586 Boswell avenue. Mr. Prodell was born in Preston, September 11, 1878 and was the son of the late Frederick and Regina Prodell. He was united in marriage with Regina S. Levander, October 30, 1900. Mr. Prodell was an efficient member of the Greeneville Hook and Ladder Co. until its disbandment, and was employed as a carpenter in the United States Finishing Company for the past twelve years.

Surviving besides his wife are one daughter, Mrs. John W. Eaton, Westerly, three sons, Herbert, Raymond and Lawrence Prodell, Norwich; one sister, Mrs. Robert Beetham, Norwich; two brothers, Frank and Charles Prodell, Norwich; one half brother, Charles Sigman, Hartford, and two grandchildren, Melissa A. and Beverly L. Eaton of Westerly.

Mr. Prodell was a devoted and loving husband and father in his home life, always being interested in his home and family.

Major Sidney M. Gladwin

Major Sidney M. Gladwin, of Hartford, well known in this city, and a past commander of Robert O. Tyler Post, G. A. R., Hartford, died at his summer home in Haverssham, near Westerly. The war record of Major Gladwin included service in the 23d N. Y. Infantry during the invasion of Pennsylvania and service in the draft riot in New York city in 1863.

Several weeks ago he was major of the Hartford City Guard Veterans. Major Gladwin was a republican and held office as a member of the Hartford court of common council in 1889 and 1890 and was alderman in 1891 and 1892. For a time he was secretary of the Home Woolen Mills Co.

FUNERALS.
Mrs. James Horace Shinner.

The funeral of Mrs. Fannie I. Shinner, widow of James Horace Shinner of Bushnell road, was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the parlors of Undertaker C. A. Gager, Franklin street. Rev. J. Eldred Brown, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, conducted the services. The bearers were Lee Clegg, Harry Hargraves, George Scott and Albert Clayton.

Burial took place in Maplewood cemetery, a committal service being conducted by Archdeacon Brown. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, and there were many beautiful flowers.

METHODIST CHURCH GIRLS ORGANIZE STANDARD BEARERS

The girls of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church were guests on Friday evening at a banquet in the church vestry. The event was preliminary to the organization among the girls of Queen Esther Standard Bearers. The guest of honor and speaker of the evening was Mrs. Cora Downs Stevens, formerly field secretary of the State Sunday School association, now national field secretary of the Woman's Home Missionary society.

The banquet was most attractively served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Albert Boardman, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Charles Worthington, Mrs. Pendleton, Miss Pendleton, Miss Fellows, Miss Elizabeth Lane and Miss Shearer. Toasts were responded to by Mrs. J. Harlow Graham, president of the W. H. M. S., Mrs. Alvin L. Lewis, vice president of the W. F. M. S., and by four of the girls—the Misses Blanche Freeman, Alberta Boardman, Marcia Stanton and Harriet Newberry.

Mrs. Stevens spoke on the women's missionary societies. She gave incidents and observations from a recent trip in the south and middle west. Conditions in this and other lands were vividly pictured and the work of the societies in meeting these conditions was outlined. The address was characterized by the sparkle of wit, crispness of portraiture, and intense earnestness which help to make Mrs. Stevens a speaker dear to the hearts of girls. The evening closed with a ceremonial instituting the Queen Esther Standard Bearers.

SUES TWO FIRMS THAT REFUSED SUGAR SHIPMENTS

The wartime prices of sugar three years ago are recalled in two suits which have been brought by the American Sugar Refining Co. against the P. Schwartz Co. of New London and Disco Bros. of this city. The suits are for $7,000 each for breach of contract, alleging that the defendants refused to accept sugar which they had purchased under contract.

The American Sugar Refining Co. alleges in its suit against the P. Schwartz Co. that on May 28, 1920, it entered into a contract whereby the defendant agreed to buy 115 barrels of granulated sugar at 22 1-2 cents a pound, delivery to be made some time in August. On Aug. 17 the sugar was delivered and the Schwartz Co. refused to accept it, so the plaintiff resold it at a loss below the price agreed upon. On June 4 the defendant ordered 75 barrels which it also refused to accept.

In the suit against Disco Bros. it is claimed that the defendant contracted for 115 barrels of sugar at 22 1-2 cents a pound, but it was refused upon delivery.

In the suit against the New London concern the big brick building in Bank street known as the Armstrong building has been attached and in the suit against the Norwich concern a new five-story building has been placed under attachment. Both suits are returnable to the superior court the first Tuesday in October.

FORMER NORWICH MAN AMERICAN LEGION COMMANDER

Eugene Percy Armstrong of Waterbury, formerly of this city, was elected state commander of the American Legion at the state convention held Saturday at New Britain.

Other officers elected were the following: Vice commanders, George S. Lilley of Southington and Edward M. Stillman of Hartford; department treasurer, Clarence C. Scarborough of Hartford, re-elected; department chaplain, Rev. John L. Davis of New Britain; department judge advocate, Philo C. Calhoun, Bridgeport.

AUTO CLIMBS WALL AFTER CRASH ON NORWICH-WILLIMANTIC ROAD

Seven people in a six cylinder touring car owned by Fred Williams of No. 762 Main street, Willimantic, and driven by his brother, Abraham Williams, also of Willimantic, narrowly escaped death when the machine climbed a bank and shot up on top of a high stone wall on the Willimantic road about two miles north of Franklin Hill Sunday afternoon about 2.30 o'clock. The Willimantic car was headed towards Norwich and while going up a grade in front of the farm owned and occupied by William Lamb collided with a Scripps-Booth touring car said to be owned by a Norwich man which was traveling in the opposite direction.

Mr. Williams said he pulled to the right side of the road as he saw the Norwich car approaching but the Norwich driver failed to allow room enough for the machines to pass. The hub caps on the two left forward wheels came together throwing the Willimantic car around. The Willimantic driver accidently stepped on the accelerator and the machine with increased momentum shot across the road, up a bank and missing a tree by inches, piled up on top of the stone wall coming to a stop with the left side resting against the tree. Fred Williams, the owner of the car, was slightly injured about one hand and was taken to Willimantic where his injuries were dressed by Dr. A. J. Girouard. The other six in the party including two children escaped with a shaking up. No one was injured in the other car which stopped some distance down the road.

The damage to the Willimantic car consists of a badly sprung front axle, smashed mud guards, hub cap was torn off and the top ripped and torn from its fastenings. The state police at the Danielson barracks were notified of the accident and State Police Officer Harold I. Smith investigated the crash.

The wrecked machine was pulled off the stone wall late in the afternoon an was towed to a Willimantic garage.

According to Mr. Williams the number of the other car was 99-655, which is that of Anthony Banas of 149 Sachem street, this city.

NORWICH GUN SECTION SHOWED WINNING FORM

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Fort Eustis, Va., Sept. 16.—That the Norwich units, Battery B., and First Battalion Headquarters and Combat Train are holding their own at their annual encampment at Camp Eustis, is evidenced by the remarkable showing both outfits are making. They are among the best disciplined outfits in the camp and favorable comments on both outfits are heard on all sides. In infantry and artillery work the men are taking hold in good shape showing the results of painstaking efforts during the months preceding camp. The most important event is the fact that Battery B won the regimental cup in a competitive gun drill with the 155 mm. G. P. F. gun, after proving that their model gun section was the best in the First Battalion they were pitted against the best gun sections of the Second and Third Battalions and with the entire regiment as spectators after a hard drill in the broiling sun won by a wide margin the contest from their opponents. Several officers of the post and many of the regiment agreed that it was one of the prettiest drills ever witnessed. The gun section was in command of Sergeant William F. Cummings, a former gun commander of the old 56th C. A. C. His steadiness and coolness during the entire drill did much toward winning the cup. The gun was drawn on the field by their own sections, brought into position, put in firing position, and after a drill upon service of the piece was put into traveling position and the different sections withdrew. The men feel pretty proud of their battery and especially the Second Gun section.

There are the usual ball games after drill and Sunday the post trucks will transport the personnel of the regiment to Yorktown for a swim.

The men are standing up remarkably well under their sudden shift to a warmer climate, Virginia being pretty hot at this time of year. There are a few cases of minor ailments which are readily handled by the dispensary. The new recruits are having the usual experience of being sent on all sorts of unheard of errands and the different forms of initiation provide plenty of amusement after drill.

The first week is devoted entirely to artillery work, the reconnaisance and occupation of position and tomorrow the first and second battalions fire for a record. The last week will be devoted more or less to rifle and small arms firing practice and some artillery work. The boys upon their return to Norwich will be better versed in the ways of the soldier than ever before and much benefited by their 15 days of field training.

NEW DAHLIA VARIETIES DISPLAYED AT STORRS

The American Dahlia society held its annual field day at Connecticut Agricultural college at Storrs Saturday and judged the new varieties of dahlias entered for trial. There were 178 entries, three varieties each, from near every state in the union. The president of the society is Richard R. Vincent, Jr., Whitemarsh, Ind.; assistant treasurer, James Duthie, Oyster Bay, N. Y.; secretary, William J. Rathgeber, New Haven.

The judges were C. Louis Alling, West Haven; Prof. George W. Fraser, Willimantic; William J. Sweeney, Willimantic; A. E. Doty, New Haven; Mr. Wigand, New Haven; J. Kennedy, Westerly; A. W. Davidson, Ansonia; W. F. Brown, Norwich.

The 21 members present were entertained at dinner by Professor Patch. There were 40 visitors.

THREE LIQUOR TRIALS ASSIGNED FOR COURT

Three cases in which violations of the liquor law are the charges are assigned to come before Judge Allyn L. Brown for trial in the superior court here next week Tuesday. These are the cases against John S. Carney, proprietor of the Requot casino at New London, Mrs. Edna Weaver Manwaring, proprietor of the Oswegatchie casino at Oswegatchie, Waterford, and Sebastian Muscarella, proprietor of a New London saloon.

Judge Brown will also deliver the charge to the jury in the trial of the case of Charles William Smith of New London, charged with violation of the liquor law.

LOCAL MAN NAMED DELEGATE TO 'FRISCO

At the annual state convention of the Connecticut Department of the American Legion held in New Britain Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Charles W. Cassidy, a delegate from Fletcher Post, No. 4, American Legion, this city was elected a state delegate to the National American Legion convention to be held next month in San Francisco. Commander John A. Cunningham and W. Leslie Fletcher of the local post were the other Norwich delegates at the state convention.

C. E. Field Secretary Coming.

A special committee meeting was held last week at the home of Orrin Maples of Fitchville to arrange plans for a period of two weeks—from October 22 to November 6th, when Herbert W. Hicks of Hartford will be located in Norwich in the interests of Norwich Christian Endeavor Union. Mr. Hicks, who is field secretary of the C. E. Union of Connecticut, will visit the surrounding towns where there are C. E. societies, in the interest of the work.

RAN INTO BOY WHO WAS RIDING BICYCLE

John A. Johnson, 85 School street, was arrested by Officer John O'Neil Saturday evening on the charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The machine driven by Johnson struck a boy on a bicycle on North Main street. The boy received minor injuries.

CHILDREN WITH MATCHES START FIRE IN SHED

A few minutes after 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon the fire department responded to box 28, corner Central avenue and Eleventh street, for a shed fire which spread to a nearby house. The fire started in a shed owned by John Plopa in the rear of his residence, No. 268 Prospect street. The Plopa family knew nothing of the blaze until they heard someone outside call "fire." George Drescher of No. 274 Prospect street ran to box 28 and pulled in the alarm.

When the firemen arrived the shed was enveloped in flames and was beyond saving. The fire burned so fiercely that it set fire to the rear of the house occupied by William Fleming at No. 51 Tenth street. One stream was directed on the Fleming house and a second was used to squelch the blazing shed. Mr. Fleming's house was scorched considerably. Sparks landed on the house occupied by Michael Mahoney and started a small fire which was quickly extinguished, with no damage resulting.

Children with matches are believed to be to blame for starting the fire in the shed. The recall was sounded shortly after the alarm rang.

AUTOS IN COLLISION ON MILITARY HIGHWAY

An automobile driven by Daniel H. B. Starr of 124 Broadway collided about 7:45 Saturday evening with a car said to belong to Antone Zerasch of 114 Hempstead street, New London, when the New London car came out of a side road from Stoddard's wharf onto the military highway.

Mr. Starr's car had the front end badly damaged and lost a front wheel and had to be towed to the city by a wrecker, while the other car was considerably damaged.

Broken glass inflicted injuries for which he and Mrs. Charles Dow, also of 124 Broadway, who was a passenger in his car, were treated at the Backus hospital. Mr. Starr had a lacerated right eyelid and Mrs. Dow a lacerated wrist and scalp wound. They returned home after being treated at the hospital.

RALLY DAY PROGRAMME AT SUNDAY SCHOOL

Sunday was rally day for the United Congregational Church Sunday school. All departments of the school assembled in the Sunday school room at noon and in the absence of superintendent Ernest Latimer, the assistant superintendent Arthur L. Peale was in charge. Hymns were rendered and a prayer was offered by Deacon Herbert B. Cady.

An interesting address was given by Eddy Amirvatham, who has been a student at the Madura College, India, founded by William Zumbro. Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, pastor of the church, gave a short talk and the diplomas for the various departments were presented my Miss Elizabeth H. Pullen. The collection was taken for the Zumbro Memorial fund. There was a large attendance at the meeting.

STRIKES TELEGRAPH POLE NEAR NORWICH TOWN CHURCH

After the automobile of John Kornacki, 62 Eleventh street, had run into a telegraph pole near Sacred Heart church, Norwich Town, Sunday night about 9.30 o'clock, Kornacki was arrested by Constable Hoxie and brought to police headquarters, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The constable came along shortly after the accident and from what he could observe and smell decided to take Kornacki into custody. The officer had a doctor come to police headquarters to examine the man before locking him up. Kornacki admitted having had a small drink of elderberry wine.

The Kornacki car was badly smashed in at the front end.

AUTOMOBILE GETS INTO PATH OF TROLLEY CAR

A Buick automobile owned by a Norwich man collided with a trolley car, south bound, on Central avenue, at the junction of Central avenue and Fourth street Sunday morning about 7.50 o'clock. The automobile turned out of Fourth street into Central avenue right in front of the car which was in charge of Motorman Stanley Bush.

The automobile sustained a smashed right front wheel and a badly bent fender. The driver was not injured. The trolley car was bound for the West Side and was due in Franklin square at 8 o'clock.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE ON YANTIC SIDEWALK

About 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon John E. Murphy, 53, of Lebanon road, Franklin, was struck at Yantic by a Buick car owned by David Williams of No. 41 Jackson street, Willimantic. Mr. Williams claims he was forced to the side of the road by a passing machine and had to run up onto the sidewalk. After hitting the man the car shot across the road and tore off a screen door on a house.

Mr. Murphy was brought to the Backus hospital and was attended by Dr. Louis T. Cassidy. He has a bad scalp wound and bruises about the body.

ARREST FOLLOWS CRASH IN FRONT OF OCCUM SCHOOL

Stanley Baranowski of 663 N. Main street was arrested at Occum Sunday night about 10 o'clock after Baranowski's automobile had collided with a car owned and driven by George E. Hefferman of Oakland Beach, R. I. Baranowski was brought to police hearquarters where he was locked up charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated.

The machines met on the trolley track in front of the Occum school house and both were damaged.

WAS CAPTAIN'S GUEST ON HOMEWARD VOYAGE

Guest of Captain A. S. Rostrum of the Mauretania on her homeward voyage that brought her to New York on Friday, Miss Loretta Higgins of the Opera Comique, Paris, spent Sunday at her home here with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Higgins of 228 Broadway, who met her upon the arrival of the Mauretania in New York Friday morning. Miss Higgins will return this (Monday) morning to New York to keep a number of appointments with musical directors and celebrities. Later she will return here to prepare for her Connecticut concert tour which will open in Norwich. On the voyage home she sang in a concert on shipboard, rendering a selection from "Manon" and "Songs of the Open" (La Forge).

Of her recent successful debut at the Opera Comique, Paris, the New York World said Sunday in a cable dispatch from Paris:

Musical Paris has been prompt to number among its stars Miss Loretta Higgins, a young American soprano of Connecticut, who has just made her debut at the Opera Comique in Charpentier's "Louise." She gave a spirited interpretation in the role of Irma and the audience voted her a real acquisition to France's second operatic stage. Critics welcome her distinctive style, exquisite voice and personal magnetism.

Miss Higgins has only been in France two and a half years. When she arrived she knew scarcely a word of French. Now, besides rising with remarkable swiftness to the front rank of the operatic stage, she has gained a mastery of the French language diction with a lack of foreign accent that is astonishing. Miss Higgins, after her concert tour of America, will return here next February to fulfill a contract with the Opera Comique and also the opera at Monte Carlo.

The Paris edition of the New York Herald of Sept. 6 contained the following upon her debut:

The difficult American invasion of the inner citadels of French music, the Paris operas, which has been making progress in the last year or two, recorded another advance on Tuesday evening when Miss Loretta Higgins, the American soprano, made a successful debut at the Opera Comique in the part of Irma in Charpentier's "Louise." The young singer, whose stage presence apparently did not suffer at all from the circumstances of singing for the first time before a house so historic made an excellent impression in her song "Quand je suis dans la rue." Her voice disclosed an appropriate brilliance of timbre, opening out effectively as the charming climax of this song was approached.

Her performance was not only artistically correct, but gave a real impression of the rising emotion required and she played through the rest of her role with spirit. The audience included more than the customary proportion of Americans. At the end of her song Miss Higgins received much applause. She has been a pupil of Mme. Albert Wolf under the direction of M. Wolf, who conducted on Tuesday evening.

The Paris edition of the London Daily Mail of Sept. 6 said:

Miss Loretta Higgins, the young American singer who on Tuesday made her debut at the Opera Comique in the role of Irma in Charpentier's "Louise," received an ovation from a house that was almost uniquely American from the orchestra to the first balcony. Miss Higgins' voice is well balanced and sweetly modulated and synchronised exquisitely with the role of the romantic young working girl whom she personified with modest grace. Although this was the singer's first appearance at the Opera Comique in Paris, it was by no means her first appearance in the role of Irma, which she had previously sung in Switzerland. Miss Higgins came to France two and a half years ago as a pupil of the American Conservatory of Music at Fontainebleau. She gives much of the credit for her success to M. Albert Wolf, chief of Opera Comique orchestra, and to the friendly cooperation of Mme. Wolf, both of whom have taken a deep interest in her musical education.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY HAS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Senator Ernest E. Rogers of New London was elected president of the New London County Historical society at a meeting held in the Shaw mansion at New London last week.

Other officers chosen to serve for the ensuing year were George S. Palmer of New London, Leonard O. Smith of Norwich and Christopher L. Avery of Groton, vice presidents; Miss Elizabeth Gorton, secretary, and Lee S. Denison, treasurer. Those elected to the advisory committee were Prof. Colin S. Buell of New London, Miss Jane B. Perkins, P. Leroy Harwood, Frank Valentine Chappell, Lawrence W. Miner, Mrs. Benjamin L. Armstrong, William H. Reeves, President Benjamin T. Marshall of Connecticut college, Rev. Edward M. Chapman, Richard B. Wall, Miss Anna Hempstead Branch, all of New London, and Judge Arthur P. Anderson of Groton, Prof. Henry A. Tirrell of Norwich, Miss Alexandrine N. Trumbull of Norwich and Daniel L. Phillips.

A. O. H. COUNTY CONVENTION ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

The biennial county convention of the A. O. H. of New London county was held Sunday afternoon in Steiner hall with 45 delegates present. Reports of the national convention in Montreal and the state convention in New Haven were read by County President D. J. O'Neil of this city and were most interesting. Reports read by officers of the local and visiting divisions showed much progress during the last two years.

An interesting talk was given by ex-State President William T. May of New London. Practical remarks on Hibernianism were made by George M. Kennedy of New London, Patrick Barry and others.

The officers elected for the ensuing two years for the county are as follows: President, John J. Hourigan, Jewett City; vice president, George M. Kennedy, New London; secretary, M. J. O'Connor, Norwich; financial secretary, T. J. Hanlon, Taftville; treasurer, Frank J. Murtha, Norwich.

Life of Moses at Y. M. C. A.

At the 4 o'clock meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon the large parlers were overcrowded. A good number of adults were present and the boys and girls of the County Home were special guests. The occasion was the showing of the life of the great Bible character, Moses, in moving pictures. The opening exercises consisted of hymns, scripture reading and prayer and appropriate well rendered vocal solos by Hugh Kinder.

This was the first part of three showings of the life of Moses and included the picture of the little child hidden for three months and then placed in the boat of bulrushes by his mother hoping thereby to protect him from the slaughter of the male children. The picture also showed the terrible treatment of the slave workmen by the taskmaster, the slaying of an Egyptian by Moses and his flight from Egypt; also his plea to the king to free his people from bondage.

Between the reels Secretary Hill gave a brief talk and among other things said:

"God has a purpose for every life; he had a place for Moses and He wonderfully protected him that he might fulfil that place. God had a plan for the three Hebrew children and they were thrown into a fiery furnace, they were protected and saved. Daniel was a factor in God's plan and purpose and he was true to the plan, though he was persecuted, he was protected. Washington and Lincoln were definitely in the plan and purpose of the Almighty, and we all know how fully they gave themselves to that plan and purpose. Jesus Christ was sent to this earth of ours to show us the Father and behold, how beautifully, how sweetly, how tenderly he fulfilled his mission."

At this point the speaker emphasized the fact that God has a purpose for every individual in the room, even the smallest boy and girl, as well as for every man and woman. "Let no one think that he does not count, for every one is needed, and unless each one does his or her part God's plan will fail to that extent.

"The boys and young men of this generation have, by far, the greatest opportunity thus far in the world's history. The question is, will they 'make good'; will they fit in fully to the plan and purpose of God?"

Emmett J. Fritz operated the picture machine.

Death of Mrs. David W. Avery.

News was received in this city on Sunday evening of the death of Elizabeth Rudd, wife of David W. Avery, which occurred at 7 o'clock Sunday evening in Hoosick Falls, N. Y. Mrs. Avery was a former resident of this city.

Memorial Flowers at Baptist Church.

The flowers on the First Baptist church pulpit Sunday in memory of Deacon and Mrs. Charles S. Peale were donated by Mrs. Elizabeth Hulburt, Mrs. Charles Burke and Mrs. Charles Perce.

Y. M. C. A. Board of Directors.

Reports for the past month will be made by the Y. M. C. A. officers when the board of directors hold their September meeting on Tuesday.

J. B. MARTIN TEAM WINS FROM ROCKVILLE BUT LOSES CLOSE GAME TO RIVERVIEW

The Velvetmen split even in their week end ball losing a ten inning battle to the Riverview club on Saturday 5 to 4 and winning from Rockville on Sunday 15 to 10. The game at the hospital was a pitching duel between Fisher of the J. B. Martin team and West of the Riverview club, the hospital scoring the winning run in the tenth after two were out.

The game Sunday was a real old fashioned slugging match, the Velvetmen poling out 15 hits and the Rockville team connecting for sixteen, nine two base hits being made by the locals.

Riverview 3; J. B. Martin 2.

Riverview took the second game of the series with the J. E. Martin team at the State hospital grounds on Saturday winning out in the tenth inning after two were down. The game had been more or less of a pitchers' battle throughout and it was Clabby's double to centerfield that drove in Burns who had singled before him. The Hospital scored first in the last half of the second inning. Mills the first man up was an easy out, F. Gley to J. Joubert. Moore singled and West followed with a double, Moore pulling up at third from where he scored while Charron threw out Hart.

The Martin team went into the lead in the first of the third when they scored two runs, J. Joubert and DeCelles fanned in succession but F. Gley singled to deep left and Eddie Murphy followed with a double, Gley going to third. Charron drove a hit over second and Murphy and Gley scored on the throw in. In the last half of the third inning the Riverview team made the count even. With two out Burns got his second hit of the game and Clabby followed with a single, Burns scoring when Fisher intercepted Murphy's throw from the outfield to the plate.

This ended the scoring for both teams and for six innings it was a pitchers battle between Fisher and West. In the last half of the tenth with two out Burns singled and scored when Clabby doubled to center. The combination of Burns and Clabby was a prominent feature of the Riverview victory. For Taftville Eddie Joubert furnished the fielding sensation when he made a running barehand catch of Coullard's long fly in the eighth inning. The hitting of Burns and Clabby featured for Riverview. The Slugging Match

The game Sunday in which the Velvetmen were victorious was a slambang affair with the Martin boys on the long end of the hitting. It was a case of the one that hit the hardest and longest winning. Rockville used three pitchers but all were ineffective against the bludgeons of the Velvetmen. Fisher who pitched against the Riverview club on Saturday was started but was relieved early in the game by Mike Morin.

Frankie Gley led the attack for the Martin team getting three doubles and a single in four times at bat. The playing of E. Joubert featured in the field for the Martin men. The score:

GIANTS POUND ALEXANDER AND BEAT CUBS, 10 TO 6

Chicago, Sept. 16—Baseball players of a decade ago, who were here today to attend the unveiling of the memorial to Captain Adrian C. Anson, saw the New York Nationals defeat Chicago 10 to 6. Alexander, pitching for the local club, was unable to hold the world's champions after Chicago had tied the count and the visitors sent four runs across the plate by cracking out two hits behind three bases on balls and an error by Grantham. Chicago finally drove Scott off the mound.

The game was halted while the field was cleared of pop bottles, hurled at the umpires. There was no serious trouble, however. The score:

CARDINALS TAKE PITCHING DUEL FROM PHILLIES

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16—St. Louis made it three victories out of four games from Philadelphia by winning today's contest, 2 to 2. The game, which was a pitchers' battle between Ring and Sherdel, was decided in the ninth inning when the Cardinals scored the winning run on Stock's single, a sacrifice and an out and Freigau's hit. ## REDS TAKE LAST GAME FROM BRAVES

Cincinnati, Sept. 16—Although outbatted nearly two to one today, Cincinnati won the last game of the series from Boston, 7 to 4, by more effective bunching of hits and advanced to second place in the National League race, passing the Pirates, who were idle. Both Rixey and Luque were hit very hard, and were saved only by the most sensational fielding. Luque went to the box with the score tied in sixth inning and received credit for the final victory, it being his twenty-fifth of the season. The score:

East Ends Win Thriller

On the East Side battlegrounds the East Ends defeated Yantic in a thrilling baseball game by the score of 7 to 6 on Saturday, Bergen Colberg, appearing in a baseball uniform the first time since the Married Men-Single Men series, repeated his all-round brilliant performance, showing that he was still there in spite of his long layoff. Berger was recently recalled from Fisher's Island where he had been farmed out under option.

In the early innings Yantic jumped off to a four run lead due largely to errors in the infield. It looked as if the up-town boys would bring home the bacon. In the fourth and fifth however the East Ends' world famous Murderers' Row, the ruination of more than one farmer's son, who had dreams of becoming famous as a pitcher, leaned on Jerry Lamphere's shoots for hit after hit. When the smoke of battle had subsided, six runs had crossed the plate, and the game seemed to be in the well-known ice-box.

Yantic, like Firpo, however, went down fighting. Going into the ninth round two runs behind, they scored one run and had the bases full when the side was retired. Jerry Lamphere opened the frame with a sharp single to left field. The next two batters were easy Pierce fanning and Murisse going out on a weak foul to Riley. The next man was safe when Risley threw wild to first after a spectacular stop. The bases were filled when the following batter was safe on a fumble.

Things looked bad for the East Ends as Lane, who had previously got two hits, strode leisurely to the plate. Lane singled to left and one run was in. With the tying run on third, Jim Coughlin of many years' baseball experience, socked a wicked grounder through the pitcher's box and the game seemed to be flitting away on wings. But Lightnin' Andy Boyens, hero of many a diamond battle, scooted over in back of second and making a sparkling pick-up and stepped on second for the final out.

Harris pitched effectively, receiving spectacular support on the part of the outfield. No less than eight of the Yantic hitters went out on flys, several of the outs being made in a spectacular fashion. The score:

HOME RUN DRIVES BEAT INDIANS TWICE

New York, Sept. 16—Home run drives enabled the New York Yankees to defeat the Cleveland Indians in both sections of today's double header, by scores of 4 to 2 and 2 to 0.

New York's lead increased to eighteen and a half games, and one more Yankee victory over Cleveland will clinch the pennant for New York.

In the first game, Ruth tied the score in the sixth inning with his thirty-seventh homer of the year, and again Irving Cy Williams of the Philadelphia Nationals for the 1923 home run record. Score:

PRINCETON FOOTBALL CANDIDATES NUMBER SEVENTY

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 16—Some 70 football candidates are expected to report to Head Coach Bill Roper for the initial practice tomorrow. Thirteen letter men are expected to be among those taking the first workout. The football practice season is a week shorter this year than heretofore due to the recent agreement of the "Big Three"—Harvard, Yale and Princeton—providing for only a week's drill before the opening of college.

Members of last year's squad who are expected here tomorrow include Captain Snively, Howard, sub-guard; Stout, Tilson and Smith, from the wing positions; Gelman, Dinsmore and Wingate quarterbacks and Caldwell, Crum, Beattie and Neby from the backfield.

MANCHESTER SLAMS MULRENNAN HARD AND SWAMPS LOCAL BASEBALL CLUB

In a weird contest at the Fairgrounds diamond on Sunday the Manchester team walked through the Norwich club roughshod and gave the locals the worst trimming of the season, 17 to 4, with the exception of the Pittsfield club early in the year. This was the final and deciding game of the series between Norwich and Manchester and the honors are accorded to Manchester without reservation. Mulrennan, former White Sox and Eastern Leaguer, was in the box for the locals and if he pitched as he did for Norwich when he was with the big show the reason why he was dropped is perfectly obvious.

One unfortunate accident came in the seventh inning when Danny Siva, former Pittsfield player, fell in running for a drive and broke his collar bone. Danny was sent in to play center for Mills and had played one inning but in the seventh he endeavored to make a shoestring catch of Lamprecht's drive and tripped and fell landing heavily on his shoulder. He played out the inning although in great pain. Dr. Paul F. Gadie attended Him and Danny went to his home in Boston.

From the start of the game there was nothing to it but Manchester and they certainly paid on the ball getting 19 hits for a total of 31 bases. Mulrennan pitched a listless game having nothing on the ball and fielding his position in a half-hearted manner.

Big hitting however was his one and only redeeming feature for once he hit out a long drive to centerfield that went for three bases and would have been a home run had he taken enough interest in the game to show a little speed on the base paths. It was a disgusted crowd that saw his exhibition of pitching and not a few showed no hesitation in expressing their feelings to the world in general.

Manchester scored four runs in the first frame when Mulrennan all two men, passed two more and then allowed three doubles. The fifth inning was the worst of all when seven runs piled up. A base on balls, three successive singles, another base on balls a single and a home run by Kotsen with only one down accounted for the slaughter in this frame. After this only four runs were scored, Mulrennan tightening up a little—very little. Thompson who held Norwich to nine hits also spoiled out a home run.

Frye, Clabby and Reddy were the hitting stars of the locals.

Olsen Goes to Yanks

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 16—Announcement has been made by the local Western League baseball club of the sale of C. R. "Pat" Olsen to the New York American league team. The amount of money involved was not disclosed. Olsen will report to the Yanks next spring. This is Olsen's first year in professional baseball. He came to Des Moines from the Texas A. and M. College.

FISK RED TOPS HAVE EASY TIME AT WILLIMANTIC

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic, Sept. 16—The Fisk Red Tops of Chicopee Falls, Mass., had an easy time disposing of the American Thread Athletic Association team at Recreation Park Sunday afternoon, the score at the end of a slow and uninteresting game reading 8 to 1. Condon who started in the box for the locals had little but his glove and a prayer and these availed him little against the heavy hitting Red Tops. The visitors whaled the offerings of the New Departure second string twirler for 11 safeties in seven innings and made six runs during his tenure of office on the mound. Mathewson took up the pitching burden in the eighth and two more hits and a couple of bobbles brought the visitors' total up to eight. The Condon's credit be it said that he was accorded anything but encouraging support, his team-mates making eight bobbles, Dowling at short making half of them.

Ancient "Rube" Richards in the box for the visitors had the local hitsmiths completely at his mercy after the first inning when they scored their lone run. A double by Normandin and Rowman's single scored the Thread Makers' only tally. Thereafter they were unable to make more than one hit an inning and their total number of safe bingles was six.

The Red Tops evened the count in the second inning when a balk by Condon allowed Moge to

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

SATURDAY'S MARKET.

New York, Sept. 15.—For the fourth consecutive day, stock prices moved to lower ground in today's half holiday session. United States Steel common, Baldwin, Studebaker and American Can, generally recognized as market leaders, closed 4 1-2 to 8 1-2 points below last week's final figures.

Short-covering operations, ostensibly for the purpose of evening up commitments made earlier in the week, resulted in a number of stocks being run up 1 to 2 points in the first half hour, but when these buying orders had been disposed of the market turned reactionary again and continued that way until the close. The heavy offerings of speculators for the decline were augmented by those of traders on the long side, who were apparently discouraged by the market's lack of effective resistance.

News and trade developments are generally believed to have had little influence on prices, which apparently were governed by technical market conditions. Both Dun's and Bradstreet's weekly mercantile reviews reported a broadening fall demand for basic commodities.

U. S. Steel sagged below 88 but rallied later to 88 1-8, where it was off 1-8 on the day. Baldwin closed at 115 3-4 and Studebaker at 100 7-8, off 1 5-8 and 1 1-4, respectively. Dupont broke 3 1-2 points to 120, or approximately 25 points below the high of last week.

5,000 PERSONS PERISHED IN FLOODS FOLLOWING TYPHOON

London, Sept. 16.—Five thousand persons are reported to have perished in the floods which followed upon the typhoon at Tottori, northwest of Kobe, Japan, Saturday, according to an Osaka dispatch to the Central News.

The rivers Fukure, Chiyo and Takini burst their banks, destroying many villages. The terrific downpour of rain has been general. Both Tokio and Yokohama have suffered greatly from the deluge and railways are crippled by the floods.

The Imperial Princes have decided to return to Tokio.

AUCTIONS

SALE AT PUBLIC AUCTION AT LAUREL GLEN, CONN.
Several tracts of land together with a wood lot and with a dwelling house, reservoir, dam, water wheels, and other mill improvements thereon, lying in the towns of North Stonington and Voluntown, Connecticut, and being all of the property of the Laurel Glen Line Company, Incorporated, of North Stonington, Connecticut, the land estimated to total seventy (70) acres. For many years there stood a factory building on the premises which was successfully operated, until forced to suspend by the burning down of the building a short while ago. The site is an ideal one for almost any kind of operations involving plentiful water power and other advantages, the natural resources being nearly inexhaustible and the improvements very numerous. Among other things there is the Laurel Glen Dam built of stone with cement top, about one hundred (100) feet wide and Thirteen and one half (13 1-2) feet high. Reinforced cement Penn Stock, Three Hundred and Sixty (360) feet long running to the mill site, three (3) feet in diameter inside measurement. Twenty-three and one half (23 1-2) feet fall from top of dam to water wheels. Double water wheels set in wheel pit that can be made ready to run at a very small expense and produce about seventy-five (75) h. p. If new water wheels were installed the horse power would be greater. There is a forty-two (42) horse power boiler all set at the mill site believed by the Boiler Inspector to be in good condition. This company owns the controlling flowing rights of the Laurel Glen property located in North Stonington and the controling flowing rights of the Green Falls Reservoir located in Voluntown. This dam is one hundred (100) feet wide, thirty-nine (39) feet deep and is built of solid masonry with gate valve in bottom to control supply. There is one cottage house located at Laurel Glen recently remodeled and all in good condition. There is a wood lot of about sixty (60) acres included in this property. The ponds are ideal for bathing and fishing; and all the premises are much suited to hunting, there being plenty of game. The premises are located eight and three-quarters (8 3-4) miles from Westerly and three and three-quarters (3 3-4) miles from Ashaway, R. I., and may be reached by improved highways. Parties wishing to see the site call Mr. C. P. Eccleston at his office on Oak Street, Westerly, and be taken to the property.

The sale will take place September 20, 1923, at 3 p. m., standard time, in front of the dwelling house on the premises at Laurel Glen.

Said Real Estate is to be positively sold on said date to the highest bidder. May be

TAFTVILLE

Miss Elsie Heap of South Second avenue is spending a few days in Stratford, Conn., the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heap.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gley and daughter Hazel and Mr. and Mrs. George J. Meyer of Lisbon motored to Narragansett Pier, R. I., Sunday.

Miss Mary Malone, Miss Agnes Malone, Miss Katherine Malone and Miss Annie Lafleur of South B street and Mrs. Wilfred Gaucher of Dion street have been recent visitors in Hartford.

The fair conducted by the St. Louis society opened Saturday night at the Casino on Dion street. The booths all reported a good business and dancing, for which the Ideal orchestra played, was enjoyed until midnight.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor at the Taftville Congregational church met with the Norwich Town society Sunday evening and listened to an address by Eddy Asirvatham of Madura, India.

Joseph Kershaw of the Ponemah house was slightly injured last week when his shirt sleeve caught in a shaft at his work in the Ponemah mills and twisted his arm. He was attended by Dr. George M. Thompson of North Second avenue.

HAT TRIMMINGS IN VARIETY TO SUIT ALL REQUIREMENTS

Hat trimmings this season come in great variety. The shopper will not go wrong who selects any of the modish quills, fancies, above all pheasant tails or plumage, pompons, shaded plumes, metallic effects, ostrich bands, fruit or flowers of shaded velvet.

Coque is very strong this fall, and is seen on many smart hats. Burnt ostrich and burnt goose, in many hues, hold their own.

Kid trimmings are new and are greatly favored. Chenille embroidery continues to play an important part in fashionable hat trimming.

Milliners will tell one that hats are either very large or very small. For early wear many women incline toward the close hat and some beauties are offered for just such demands. King's blue is one of the well liked shades, and red hats retain their popularity, although the real leaders are of the highly employed tints of tan, notably the pheasant shade called "Coolidge."

Taupe and cocoa are strong shades also. Naturally, black never goes out of fashion and makes a strong bid for favor this season.

The short back characterizes many of the leading shapes. A novelty is the "pie crown" and many elegant hats come with a scalloped edge.

Weather conditions are favorable for prompt selecting of the fall hat. Where the latest millinery is on view is explained today by The Bulletin's advertisers.

OFFICERS ENGINEERED CRASH TO STOP LIQUOR LADEN AUTOMOBILE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 16.—Tony Arionchuk, 362 Main street, Nick Shepio, Montville, Joe Dinusky, 62 Douglass street, Alex Chaplinski, Montville and John Wawricsick, 73 John street, were arrested here late Saturday afternoon by Sergeant Nelson Smith, charged with violation of the liquor law. They were held for trial in the police court tomorrow morning in bonds of $1,000 each, but Arionchuk was the only one who could furnish a surety on his bond. When taken into custody, in front of the residence of State Attorney Hadlai A. Hull, on Vauxhall street, the automobile in which the quintet were passengers, contained a quantity of corn whiskey, about 10 gallons, carried in bottles in a hand bag and in demijohns. It is claimed that Arionchuk has been an agent for several Polish saloons in supplying liquor and that the liquor seized Saturday was the output of a farmhouse in Chesterfield which was intended for sale at saloons in the vicinity of the New London police station.

Sergeant Smith had knowledge of the frequent trips made to Chesterfield by Arionchuk for the home-made whiskey and securing a search warrant by which the car of Arionchuk could be halted, the officer started out yesterday afternoon to hold up the car and its driver. The automobile of Joseph Forman, a public service operator, was hired, and Forman was instructed by Sergeant Smith to drive to Fire street, Chesterfield. Arriving at Chesterfield Forman was ordered to operate the machine to a point on the highway where the passing of automobiles could be viewed without detection. After a long wait Arionchuk's car was observed to pass, with Shepo, Dennisky, Chaplinski and Wawricsick as passengers. Forman was ordered to follow the bootleg car and did so, but because of the round about course that Arionchuk followed and owing to Forman not being familiar with the road, Arionchuk's car managed to keep well ahead of the public service machine. However, when Vauxhall street was reached, Sergeant Smith ordered Forman to pass the bootleg car if possible and giving his machine additional gas, the bootleg car was quickly overtaken. Once ahead, Sergeant Smith instructed Forman to stop the car directly in the path of the bootleg machine and as Forman applied his brakes, the bootleg machine crashed into the rear of the car ahead and as a result both came to a standstill. Smith jumped out and at a glance observed the receptacles containing the corn whiskey. All five of the occupants of the automobile were placed under arrest and another public service car was obtained and conveyed Smith and prisoners to the police station. Both automobiles as a result of the crash were put out of commission.

ORDERS FINAL DIVIDEND IN LUMBER CO. CASE

Judge Isaac Wolfe presided in New London Friday at noon at the first short calendar session for the September term of the superior court which opens in New London Tuesday.

The following motions were disposed of:

Order passed to pay final dividend in Thames River Lumber Co. receivership. The report of the receiver, Richard Warner, showed a balance on hand as of Sept. 10 of $23,526.93, which is available for distribution among the common creditors, making a dividend of 15 41-100 per cent. on the dollar.

The granting of a motion to place the case of George Arthur DuBois vs. Hope Perry DuBois on the ex parte list for failure to answer.

A motion that the case of Sechse vs. R. W. Perkins, receiver, go on the jury list.

An allowance of $50 to defend was granted in the case of William J. Sylvia vs. Margaret W. Sylvia.

Permission was granted to the Savings Bank of New London to bring suit against the Arnold Electric Tool Co. and against J. N. Lapointe as its receiver in the case of Lapointe vs. the Arnold Electric Tool Co.

A demurrer was argued in the case of Markoff vs. Armstrong and it was overruled.

Cases Assigned For Trial.

The following cases for trial by the court were assigned for next week:

Tuesday—Cottrell et al. vs. Cottrell et al. exrs.; appeal from probate. Walsh vs. Thomas, et al.; Williams vs Cylde et al.

Wednesday—Goldstein vs. Alpert. Buffum vs. Foran; John Andrews vs. J. J. Andrews, Pyne vs. Sawyer.

TWO AUTOMOBILE CASES BRING FINES IN COURT

In the police court Saturday morning Harry Redhead of Greeneville was fined $200 and costs, a total of $214.74, on the charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. A jail sentence of 30 days was suspended. He paid the fine and costs.

Redhead was arrested shortly after 1 o'clock Saturday morning after the car he was driving had run into another that was parked on North Main street. This car which belongs to a sailor named Doyon, had the spokes torn out of one wheel and the mudguard torn off.

Peter Carbray, who was before the court on a charge of reckless driving in Shetucket street earlier in the week, when it is claimed he ran into another machine, was fined $75 and costs, amounting to $89.79, which he paid.

One man was fined by the court for intoxication.

FELL WITH IRON BEAM HURTING ARM AND BACK

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, Sept. 16.—John Haas, 31, of Willimantic, in the employ of Truson Iron Co. of Youngstown, Ohio, had a bad fall at the new plant being erected for Elia Monti, near the Westerly town farm. Haas took hold of an iron beam which had not been fastened and which gave way. In the fall he sustained injuries to his right arm at the wrist, also to his hips and back. On being taken to his room at the Clyde House, Main street, he was given medical attention by Dr. M. H. Scanlon and Saturday was removed to his home in Willimantic.

FATHER GUERRIERO PREACHES AT EARLY MASS SUNDAY

Preaching at the 7.30 mass in St. Patrick's church Sunday morning Rev. Rocco J. Guerriero, the junior assistant pastor, considered the justice of worship of God, from whom all things come and to whom all things will ultimately return. It was the 17th Sunday after Pentecost, the epistle read in all the masses being Ephesians 4: 1-6, and the gospel Matt. 22: 35-46. Father Guerriero emphasized the worship man can give God, not alone through prayer, but by beginning each day with the offering of acts, words and works to Him, by bearing with patience the various little trials of the day, by following Christ, in resignation to sufferings and denials. Especially did he stress the duty of parents to set their children the example of such daily prayer and patience and conformity to the will of God.

As usual, the low mass was read by the rector, Rev. M. H. May. The numerous communicants included the members of the parish Rosary society. In giving holy communion Father May was assisted by Father Guerriero.

FOUR WESTERLY RUM RUNNERS CAUGHT AT STONINGTON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, R. I., Sept. 16.—Joseph Barcellaio, 76 1-2 Pierce street; Salvatore Paldum, 76 1-2 Pierce street; Cerrea LaPetis, 70 Pleasant street; and Frank Stellita, 76 Pierce street, four Westerly men, were arrested in Stonington borough early Sunday morning, by Patrolman C. J. Ledwith, assisted by Patrolmen McWilliams and Charles Connors, charged with the illegal transportation of liquor and carrying concealed weapons. The arrest occurred near the Watch Hill dock at 1.30 a. m., when a cabin cruiser was found landing 20 five-gallon cans of alcohol with the apparent intention of loading the same into a waiting Reo truck, to be carried to Westerly. The men were lodged in Stonington lockup until brought before Judge William A. Willcox, who fixed their bail in the sum of $4,000 each, with the exception of LaPetis who was held in $3,000 bonds. Their cases are to be tried Tuesday morning at Stonington.

Removing Illegal Signs on Highways.

On the ground that they are a menace to the safety of the traveling public, the state highway department has ordered removal of all signs abutting the highways in an illegal way. Cooperating with the state police department and the motor vehicle department, steps have been taken to immediately remove many new advertising signs which have come to the attention of the state officials.

Statutes prohibit the use of any sign, large or small, within the highway limits. In this class is included the great variety of posters which are frequently seen tacked to telephone poles and trees. The state police department estimates that no less than 5,000 signs of all descriptions were removed during the last year for various causes.

Howard Rogers of Montville, employed by the Babcock Printing Press Manufacturing company, who married Miss Mary Lenihan of Montville a week ago, received Friday a chest of silver which was presented Mr. Rogers by his associate workmen. The presentation was made at the plant and was a surprise to Mr. Rogers.

W. T. Neilan has returned to Jersey City, N. J., after spending several days with his aunt, Mrs. James Gilmartin.

Philip Hausey of Detroit, Mich., and his cousin, Michael Shasha of Hill street, New London, were arrested Saturday night, charged with assault with intent to kill when the two young men attacked Walter Murphy of Cottage street, conductor in the employ of the Connecticut company, following an altercation Hausey and Shasha and Murphy engaged in on an Ocean Beach-bound car, in charge of Murphy. Hausey and Shasha were held prisoners over night, but today they obtained a surety on their respective bonds of $1,000 for their appearance in the police court tomorrow morning.

Hausey and Shasha boarded the 8 o'clock car on State street for Ocean Beach, apparently for the purpose of attending a dance. When the car was passing through Bank street the passengers became so numerous that many were standing in the aisle and Murphy is said to have requested Hausey and Shasha to move backward so that other passengers might enter. Hausey and Shasha refused and became involved in a wordy argument with Murphy. When the car reached the carbarn on Montauk avenue a stop was made to make repairs to a fender which had become dislodged. While Murphy was standing at the head end of the car observing the repair work, Hausey and Shasha alighted and the former is accused of attacking Murphy with a pocket knife, the blade penetrating the conductor's clothing and making a deep wound in his neck but a fraction of an inch from the jugular vein. Murphy did not realize that he had been cut and proceeded with his car to Ocean Beach, but Hausey and Shasha did not continue on the trip. On the way to the beach Murphy discovered blood on his neck and, making an examination, discovered the wound. Murphy telephoned Inspector William Donovan what had occurred and upon the arrival of the car at the State street terminal Murphy was relieved of duty and went to the office of Dr. William D. Cronin, where two stitches were necessary to close the wound, which was deep but not of great length. In the meantime Hausey and Shasha had been taken into custody by Motorcycle Officer William Babcock. Hausey attempted to assume full responsibility for the attack, stating that he wielded the knife, but both Hausey and Shasha were held for trial. The knife could not be found in the vicinity of where the attack occurred. Hausey declared that he did not remember what he did with the knife following the cutting, although admitting that he had attacked the conductor.

Saturday a machine owned and operated by Thomas Connors, 21 Berkley avenue, killed the dog owned by Dr. Edward Prentis of Vauxhall street when the dog was run down on Berkley avenue, and a machine owned and driven by Lieut. J. E. Boak, 51 Pacific street, attached to the submarine base, killed an unidentified animal on Pequot avenue.

A detachment of 56 sailors from the submarine base participated in the American Legion parade in New Britain Saturday afternoon.

Two liquor law violators are to come to trial in the police court Monday. They are Rocco Gentilella and Joseph Pozella, the latter in business on Shaw street and the former the keeper of a little restaurant on Bank street. They are said both to entertain the delusion that they can sell and not be caught at it. A stool pigeon, hired for the purpose, is alleged to have gone to the places kept by these men and to have asked for and been sold liquor.

The burglar alarm in the Bank of Commerce gave the police and others a scare Friday by sounding a call for assistance—not a call that was warranted, but a call that came from a disarrangement of wires that operate it. Now the bank has an expert from Boston adjusting the wires.

The children of the Learned mission were given an outing Saturday, probably the last of the season for them. They were treated to chowder at the mission building and then were taken to Ocean Beach for a frolic by Supt. Mansfield.

The throng on the principal business streets of the city Saturday evening was one of the largest of the year. A few of the stores were closed at 6 o'clock for the first time on Saturday evening in the recollection of the oldest clerks in the city, and the fact sent much trade to the stores that sought it by remaining open for business.

Walter H. Coe of Bayonet street, who suffered a shock while at work Friday evening, is reported as being somewhat improved today at Home Memorial hospital. Mr. Coe is engine dispatcher for the New Haven railroad at Midway.

Patrolman Walter Rehn has resumed his beat on State street after his vacation, the greater part of which was spent in the middle west. Patrolman Braxton Hill started on his two weeks' recess today.

Miss Maude M. Graves, stenographer in the office of City Clerk Julian D. Moran, terminated her duties Saturday. Miss Grave and Walter Platt of Springfield, Mass., will be married next month. Miss Ruth Lundgren succeeds Miss Graves' resignation.

The fire department was called out shortly before 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon for a fire in the home of Anthony Irlandi at 2 Ocean avenue when a blaze of unknown origin threatened serious damage. Mrs. Irlandi had left the house a short time before the fire was discovered and had placed several loaves of bread that she had taken from the oven on a shelf. A few minutes following, smoke was seen issuing from the upper part of the house and an alarm was rung in from Box 46, corner of Ocean and Lee avenues. A door was forced in order to permit the firemen to gain admission and it was then revealed that the fire was in the closet where the bread had been placed. The blaze was extinguished by chemicals. It is believed that the hot pans containing the bread caused clothing in the closet to become ignited as there were no occupants in the building when the fire occurred.

City Manager Barlow Saturday noon turned over his administrative affairs to his successor, William A. Holt. Mr. Barlow is yet undecided as to his future, but expressed himself as desiring to locate in this vicinity.

A sailor from U. S. S. Bushnell, at anchor in the lower harbor got hold of alcoholic drinks this evening and started to make his bed on the porch of the residence No. 106 Green street. The presence of the sailor aroused occupants of the house and a naval patrol officer was sent to the place and took charge of the "gob," the fellow being taken to the municipal pier and sent aboard ship.

About 150 members of New London lodge of Elks enjoyed an outing today, going to Greenport where they spent about eight hours. The trip was made on steamer Nelseco. A brass band accompanied the wearers of the antlers.

Thieves who have operated with frequency at Ocean Beach this season made another haul there within a few days for it was discovered this afternoon that the summer home, 70 Park street, owned by William Vogel, of 144 Edgewood street, Hartford, had been entered and a quantity of silverware stolen. The plunder obtained includes a woolen blanket, valued at $15; two table covers, value $20; clock, value $68.50; two candlesticks, value $6; silver bread tray, value $7.50; silver bowl, value $25; and a silver service, value not stated.

Mr. Vogel and family, who spent the summer there, left for Hartford, Thursday, intending to return here later and take charge of the articles of value. Mr. Vogel returned here this afternoon and upon going to the house discovered that entrance had been gained by forcing a window and that considerable silver and furnishings were missing. He reported the burglary to Patrolman John Sullivan.

The automobile owned and operated by A. S. Matthews, 115 Broad street, and a machine owned and driven by Lewis T. Leakmont, of Meriden, were in collision this evening at the corner of Truman and Blinman streets. Both cars were damaged.

That the Connecticut company intends to operate cars in New London at a minimum expense was demonstrated today when the double truck type of cars, heretofore operated by motorman and conductor, were operated on the one-man system. The cars have been equipped with the money depositing register at the front end and with the rear entrance closed. Push buttons, operated by the passengers, provide the signal for the motorman to stop and as egress from the front entrance, as is the ingress of passengers, the motorman has sole charge of the car.

The huge tank of the Gulf Refining company on Trumbull street, became in a leaking condition this noon and as a result the several thousand gallons of gasoline stored there was emptied from the tank. The fuel, at least a large quantity of it did not go to waste, however, for when the leak became known a hundred or more automobilists gathered with receptacles ranging in size from a tin pail to a barrel, all eager to obtain free gasoline. In one instance a resident in that section obtained several barrels each barrel of fifty gallons capacity. So great did the throng become the officials of the company called upon the police to send officers there as it was feared that smokers might cause the gasoline fumes to become ignited and the tank to become ablaze. How the tank came to leak is not known, but it is believed that the ground on which it is located settled, causing the big connection pipe to be dislodged from the base of the tank.

POETRY

OUR CAPTAIN'S CALL.

Just once for each the White Ship touches port;
Though none behold the sails, nor sound is heard;
Yet while one waits,
Friend after friend goes silently aboard
The unseen ship, and onward sail toward The Gold Gates.

We trust the future in Thy hands, O Lord;
We who draw near unto this feast of Thine,
Given for us,
Kneel there, and pray, and take The Bread and Wine,
Find in Thy Sacrament the Love Divine Upholding us.

The presence of our Saviour nearer seems;
And heaven and earth closer to blend and shape
Our destiny.
Faith, love, deep peace burn strong the while we wait
Our Captain's call to sail—not soon or late—
Across the sea.

—A. K. H., in The Churchman.

THE ROMPING EGOIST

I love to hear a man orate
In accents that are thunderful,
And boldly undertake to state
That he is simply wonderful.

I love to hear him twist a fact
So simple and statistical
To statements that are inexact
And rather egotistical.

We still have genius here below,
Though poets lamely tune a verse.
I love a man who claims to show
The workings of the universe.

I love his condescending tone,
He seems to have the best of us,
He has no troubles of his own
And cannot help the rest of us.

CONFLAGRATIONS RAGING IN WIDELY SCATTERED SECTIONS OF CALIFORNIA

Hundreds of Homes Were Burned in Berkeley—Two University of California Students Were Killed by Falling Through Roof—Fire Consumed Millions of Dollars Worth of Property—A Shift in the Wind Saved the Business Section—Town of Eldorado is Surrounded by Fire and the People Are Fleeing—In Twelve Counties Brush and Forest Fires Have Burned Over Thousands of Acres and Destroyed Ranch Houses.

Berkeley, Calif., Sept. 17.—Two persons are dead, hundreds of homes are burned millions of dollars worth of property was consumed and the entire city of Berkeley was threatened by fire, which, borne on a north wind swooped through the Cragmont district this afternoon and swept into the more crowded residential districts.

Two University of California students, unidentified are known to have fallen through the roof of a burning building.

A third person also unidentified is believed to have been lost in the resident district near the hills.

The section of the conflagration that threatened the business district was brought under control at University avenue and Alteon way at 5.30 o'clock this evening.

At 4.30 vast columns of flames gave forebodings that the entire Berkeley business district would go. Merchants moved out their valuables. Officials of the University of California, directly opposite the line of flames, prepared for a determined fight. The streets and avenues of Berkeley were thronged with marchers leaving their homes. Then it all changed.

The direction of the wind was one cause. The vicious northern became a westerly zephyr. Batteries of fire engines from Alameda, Oakland and San Francisco arrived and with the aid of thousands of workmen, the combined efforts saved the situation.

All the street car lines were paralyzed as soon as the fire started and still were out of commission in Berkeley late tonight.

The University of California was threatened from two sides at once, north and west. The flames were at one time sweeping directly on the campus.

From the Berryman reservoir south everything was burning for six blocks. Houses on both sides of Euclid avenue avenue and Buena Vista avenue were burned. La Loma Park also was destroyed. Every house on Euclid avenue from Shasta south to Hilgard went up in flames.

Half of the faculty of the University of California was rendered homeless. Sporadic fires broke out from Hilgard south to University campus.

A quarter mile square extending from Cedar to Shasta streets to the east of Euclid avenue was in ashes. In this sector about ninety homes were consumed. Another area south of Cedar street and west of Euclid avenue was razed and forty homes destroyed.

Homes in another area extending to Spring street were burned.

The path of the flames has been generally southeast and southwest from the Berryman reservoir, the seat of the conflagration. From this source it extended to the business section at University avenue.

Reinforced by members of the student body at the university and by citizens pressed into service the police threw a guard about the whole burned area shortly after 4 o'clock.

In North Berkeley every kind of vehicle that could be pressed into service carried salvage from the burning houses. Baby buggies, wheel barrows and even children's coasters were trundled about the sereets. Refugees crowded all streets leading out of the burned area at about 4.30 when a shift in the wind hurled the smoke and flames back on them.

Men, women and children, driven out of their homes in the fashionable residential section, appeared in processions, many of them carrying their cherished possessions, making their way to places of refuge and safety. Some of them were in automobiles, some of them on foot until they could get to street cars.

Scores of motorists hovered about the edges of the burning belt, making frequent runs on foot among the blazing buildings that they might be of assistance to those striving to get away.

Ten injured were brought into the Berkeley general hospital but only two remained there. They are elderly women whose homes were destroyed. They are suffering from shock.

FURTHER SPREAD OF THE FLAMES NOT LOOKED FOR

Berkeley, Sept. 17.—At 7.15 p. m. it was announced the fire was under control although several houses were burning in the Hill Side district. The wind had died down and further spread of the flames was not looked for.

TOWN OF ELDORADO SURROUNDED BY FIRE

San Francisco, Sept. 17.—Berkeley, seat of the University of California, and widely scattered areas in northern, central and southwestern California, were swept today by forest, grass and brush fires that in some instances did great damage. Abnormal high temperature and a stiff wind aided the flames in spreading and caused fire departments and fire wardens to call on volunteers to assist them.

In Berkeley hundreds of houses were burned and dynamiting has been resorted to late today in an effort to check the flames. The Oakland fire department had to refuse a request from Berkeley for aid because of a threatening fire near Mills college which destroyed three residences.

The University of California buildings were in the path of the flames in Berkeley.

In Placer, Eldorado, Solano, Napa, and eight other counties brush and forest fires burned over thousands of acres and destroyed ranch houses. The town of Eldorado was virtually surrounded ate today by a fire that destroyed the Hill hotel and several other buildings. The people of Eldorado, numbering about 150 were in flight.

269 MILES AN HOUR IN NAVY WRIGHT FIGHTER

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 17—Lieut. L. H. Sanderson of the marines, one of the trio of navy aviators who smashed the world's speed record three times last week, hung up another unofficial mark today when he traveled at the rate of 269 miles an hour in a navy Wright fighter.

Lieutenant Sanderson was helped slightly by a northeast wind. If his time was figured accurately he travelled faster than any man has ever travelled before.

The official record was first passed last week by Lieutenant Sanderson, who travelled over a measured course, clocked by an electric timer, at 236 miles an hour. A few days later Lieutenant Harold S. Brow broke that record, and yesterday Lieutenant Alford J. Williams attained a speed of 256 miles an hour.

The navy Wright fighter will be given a final trial tomorrow by Lieutenant Stephen Calloway, who will try to surpass his brother officers in speed. The ship is entered for the Pulitzer race to be held at St. Louis, October 5.

Lieutenant Sanderson's feat was regarded as especially remarkable because he travelled at such a tremendous speed while flying only seventy-five feet from the ground. The reason given for this was that the machine, in dropping from a high altitude and straightened out just before reaching the ground, attained greater velocity before starting the speed test.

COTTON PRICES ROSE 150 POINTS YESTERDAY

New York, Sept. 17.—In one of the most active and excited markets of the year, cotton prices were lifted from 150 to 152 points today, equivalent to about $7.50 per bale. On the last government estimate of the crop, this represents an addition of approximately $75,000,000 to the wealth of the south.

The advance followed reports of heavy rainfall in Texas and Oklahoma where cotton is open in the fields, threatening both grade and movement, and reviving fears that crop estimates, already perilously low, may have to be still further reduced.

The upturn carried October contracts to 29.43, December to 29.10 and January to 28.48, from which levels there were slight closing reactions, although final prices were still 106 to 136 points net higher.

Feature of the day was the export shipment of fully 177,000 bales from two Texas ports to Europe, or one of the heaviest single day's exports on record. On the basis of today's prices this shipment represents a value of over $26,000,000. Mills both in this countr yand Europe were large buyers of cotton on the advance.

STATISTICS SHOW LARGE INCREASE IN CHILD LABOR

Washington, Sept. 17.—An apparent increase of 38.6 per cent. in child labor over the corresponding period last year was shown in statistics made public today by the children's bureau of the Department of Labor, covering the first six months of the current year in thirty selected cities.

The survey was based on the number of miners between the ages of 14 and 16 years who received working permits.

The largest jump was in Waterbury, Conn., where 217, or almost eight times as many children received permission to work as during the first six moths of 1922. Other Connecticut cities reported increases of from 98 to 178 per cent. in Manchester, Milwaukee and Louisville from four to five times as many certificates were issued as during the corresponding months a year ago. Other cities reporting large gains were Springfield, Mass., 215 per cent.; Pittsburgh, 127 per cent.; San Francisco, 85 per cent.; Indianapolis, 75 per cent.; Birmingham, 63 per cent.; Baltimore, 56 per cent.; and Philadelphia, 75 per cent. New York City with 18,992 permits, showed an increase of 17.4 per cent.

POLICEMEN USED SPONGES TO OBTAIN LIQUOR EVIDENCE

Washington, Sept. 17.—Dragged from the saturated depths of its ocean home, the lowly sponge has been impressed into service to help the American nation bone dry.

As a consequence, a Washington bootlegger who was trapped with a gallon of "white lightning" today in the lobby of an apartment house resorted in vain to the familiar device of destroying the evidence by demolishing its glass container. The two policemen making the arrest whipped out a pair of sponges, salvaged a quart or more of the fluid, and carted both prisoners and evidence triumphantly to the station.

CONTESTING THE WILL OF AUSTIN S. FLETCHER

New York, Sept. 17.—Four cousins, contesting the will of Austin S. Fletcher, who left most of a $4,000,000 estate to Tufts College, were directed today by Surrogate O'Brien to show cause why Charles S. Chadwick, of Nutley, N. J., and Hiram A. Tuttle, of Brooklyn, should not be appointed temporary administrators.

Charles B. Fletcher, of Mendon, Mass., who, with the other contestants, was disinherited, opposed probate of the will, alleging undue influence.

Denying the charges, Chadwick said the bequest to Tufts resulted from Fletcher's "life-long ambition to do something to perpetuate his alma mater."

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Princess Mafalda Seriously Ill

London, Sept. 17—An untimed despatch from Rome to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that Princess Mafalda's condition had suddenly become worse; the temperature was alarmingly high, and it was believed the end was near.

Revolutionary Tribesmen Routed

Jerusalem, Sept. 17—(By the A. P.)—The latest accounts reaching Jerusalem concerning the attack by tribesmen on the camp of Emir Abdullah in Trans-Jordania are to the effect that revolutionists surrounded Amman early Sunday morning and cut the telephone and telegraph lines. After a fierce engagement the revolutionary tribesmen were routed. They fled southward toward Medaba, leaving 82 dead behind them, including some of their chiefs.

BUSY SESSION OF COUNCIL OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Geneva, Sept. 17.—(By the A. P.)—The machinery of the League of Nations whirled today as never before. The delegates attacked problems of vast interest, and the Council of the League in a noteworthy public session frankly debated the question of Italy's refusal to recognize the competency of the League in the Greco-Italian crisis.

The famous article X of the covenant, which was the main subject of debate in the United States Senate when the question of American adherence was before the American public, furnished renewed interest before the commission on amendments to the covenant when Senor Alvarez, the Chilean diplomat, presented a powerful defense of the Monroe Doctrine, which he declared was worth more to the American states than article X of the covenant ever could be. And this was so, he emphasized, because the American naval and military forces stood ready to enforce this doctrine, which forbade any European state from interfering in a territorial sense in the affairs of the American continent.

No decision was taken today on the issue of the competency of the covenant, which Italy had defied. Signor Salandra asked for time in which to reply, but Lord Robert Cecil, while insisting that this question must be settled to avoid a future misunderstanding, declared he wanted the world to know that the council had fulfilled its full duty in the Italian affair.

Chile's support of the Monroe Doctrine came when the sub-committee presented a resolution founded on the Canadian amendment and calculated to interpret precisely the celebrated article X, which Chile Venezulan delegate said during the course of the debate constituted the real reason why the United States Senate did not subscribe to the League covenant.

PROSECUTION OPENS IN THE WARD MURDER CASE

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 17.—After one year and four months of effort the prosecuting officials of Westchester county late today began prosecution of Walter S. Ward, son of the millionaire baker of Brooklyn, on the charge of murdering Clarence C. Peters, of Haverhill, Mass.

Once the task of selecting a jury was finished, it began last Wednesday and the final two talesmen were not examined until today. Attorney general Sherman opened the case for the state with the announcement that the prosecution thinks it can establish beyond a shadow of a doubt that Ward killed Peters in "cold-blooded, deliberate murder."

When Mr. Sherman had finished his presentation with the declaration that the state would "disprove every essential part of Ward's self-defense statement," Isaac N. Mills, Ward's chief counsel, moved for dismissal of the indictment, a motion which Justice Wagner immediately denied. The court granted Attorney Mills' request that "in the introduction of certain evidence witnesses who found the body of Peters leave the room." Court adjourned for the day.

CLEARED OF COMPLICITY IN THE CHARLES W. MORSE CASE

New York, Sept. 17.—William A. Barber, former attorney general of South Carolina, today was cleared of complicity in the Charles W. Morse case, when Federal Judge Hutcheson dismissed the indictment, which charged specifically using the mails to defraud, was requested by Edgar T. Brackett, special assistant attorney general of the United States and was endorsed by District Attorney Hayward.

"A more complete examination of the evidence available upon the trial than was possible at the time of the presentation of the case to the jury," Mr. Brackett's petition said, "satisfied me that the government is unable to establish a prima facia case as Barber."

Mr. Barber was indicted with Morse and 22 others when the department of justice began its prosecution of the fraud it alleged were perpetrated in organizing the war fleet and which ended unsuccessfully in Washington recently. Attorneys for Mr. Barber obtained a separate trial and today's decision was the result.

NEW JERSEY RAILWAYS MUST OPERATE THEIR LINES

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 17.—Chancellor Walker today granted the application of the attorney general for mandatory injunctions compelling the Public Service Railway company and the Public Service railroad to operate their lines, on which trolleys have not been run since a strike began Aug. 1. The injunctive roders, unless otherwise stayed, will become operative immediately, upon their issuance after the signing of a decree. It is anticipated that both the state and the public service will be accorded a hearing as to the form of the decree.

Chancellor Walker held in effect that a mandatory injunction, because of the widespread injury to the public, was a proper form of relief in support of actions at law now pending in the supreme court, one seeking to compel the resumption of service by mandamus and the other to determine by what right the company continues to hold its franchise though failing to operate.

Three Men Buried in River Under Concrete

Wooden Scaffolding of Bridge Near Schenectady, N. Y., Gave Way.

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Dredges tonight were tearing their way though 230 cubic yards of soft concrete in the bed of the Mohawk river, seeking the bodies of three men buried when the wooden frame supporting construction work on the 24th span of the Great Western Gateway, gave way. A fourth man was taken to a hospital with injuries which, doctors said, would cause his death. Three other men suffered minor injuries.

The dead are:

Kenneth Davidson, superintendent of construction; Joseph Miller; Joseph Masecco.

The seriously injured man is Vincent Polsini, whose skull and both legs were fractured.

According to James C. Bell, state inspector, the men today had poured some 230 yards of concrete into half the span, expecting to complete the arch tomorrow. Bell said he heard a sound as of splintering wood, called a warning to the men and then saw the mass of concrete sink into the river, 13 feet deep at this point. Davidson and the three men went down with the concrete and wood. Fellow laborers pulled the injured man to safety, but the others disappeared in the water.

The cause of the collapse had not been determined tonight, but it is thought that quicksand may have caused the adjoining abutment to settle, tearing away the support for the wooden fromework into which the concrete had been pouod.

TO CONSIDER THE CASE OF DR. WILLIAM M. ROBB

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 17.—A special session of the Middlesex county grand jury has been summoned for tomorrow by District Attorney Arthur K. Reading to consider the case of Dr. William M. Robb of Boston, charged with illegal surgery in connection with the death of Mrs. Alice M. Wolschendorf of East Bridgewater, parts of whose body were found in the Merrimack river at Tyngsboro two weeks ago contained in two suit cases.

Dr. Robb, who returned from Philadelphia last Friday and gave himself up, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Lowell on Saturday and was released today on $8,000 bail. Dr. Delva Swope of Brockton, charged with being an accessory before the fact, also pleaded not guilty and was admitted to bail. William F. Bowen of East Bridgewater, formerly Mrs. Wolschendorf's employer, who took poison and slashed his throat with a razor yesterday, is said to be recovering at a Brockton hospital. He is guarded by a policeman but has not been arrested.

FIRE MENACED HOSPITAL PATIENTS AT SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 17—One hundred and forty six patients, including fifty infants, were carried to safety within ten minutes this morning when fire threatened destruction to the Grouse Irving hospital. Three firemen and a nurse were slightly injured. The firemen were blown off a ladder by the force of an explosion.

Rescuers, who included nurses And Syracuse university students, forced their way through smoke-filled corridors, and so efficiently and speedily did they go at their task that within ten minutes after the fire started a complete check of the patients showed there was not one missing or suffering from the effects of the fire All were carried to nearby buildings. The flames were quickly brought under control and most of the sick were returned to their quarters.

COST WAS 1,200 TIMES THE AMOUNT OF THE BEQUEST

Strasbourg, Sept. 17—Laurent Meyer, living at Soultz-Sous-Foret, near here, inherited during the war 2,000 marks from a relative. The law grinds slowly so the estate was not wound up until yesterday when Meyer was summoned to "touch" his money, as the French say, and notified to bring with him 31 francs as the cost of making out the papers. As the cost amounts to 1,200 times the amount of the bequest, Meyer told the court officials to keep the money.

PEAT BOGS IN GERMANY WORKED TO CAPACITY

Leipsig, Sept. 17.—Peat bogs everywhere in Germany are being worked to capacity this fall with a view to helping out in the fuel shortage due to the complications brought about in the Ruhr by the French and Belgian occupation.

Peat, mixed with a certain amount of coal, may be used in the furnaces at the various manufacturies.

STEADY IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITION OF MAYOR HYLAN

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Steady improvement in the condition of Mayor Hylan, of New York City, ill here with pneumonia, will permit his removal within two weeks to Atlantic City for convalescence, the attending physicians declared today. At the present time, it was said, there is every indication that the mayor will by that time have recovered sufficiently to undertake the trip. Bulletins issued today by the physicians were regarded as most encouraging.

JAMES WALLACE FRANKLIN SHOT AND KILLED HIMSELF

Bristol, R. I., Sept. 17.—James Wallace Franklin, for many years assistant to the vice president of the National India Rubber Company of Bristol, shot and killed himself with a revolver at his home here tonight. Family troubles, the police say, was the reason for his suicide. He served one term in the state legislature as representative and was a member of the council of this town for many years.

PRIMARIES IN NEW YORK PROMISE TO BE QUIET

New York, Sept. 17.—The primaries tomorrow promise to be tranquil affairs in New York city, with few contests of importance arising. Democrats and none among the Republicans. Both sides predicted a light vote generally.

Statement From Italy About Fiume

Appointment of Italian Military Governor Does Not Signify Annexation.

Rome, Sept. 17.—(By the A. P.)—Appointment of an Italian military governor in Fiume does not in any way signify annexation by this country, it was authoritatively stated today, and any moves made by Italy up to the present have been for the purpose of bringing Jugo Slavia to see the need for a satisfactory arrangement concerning the disposition of the free city.

It is held that Premier Mussolini did everything in his power to avoid the situation as it is today when he asked the Joint Italo-Jugo-Slav commission considering the Fiume question to finish its work on August 31 and begged the Belgrade government to make a definite decision on the commission's report by September 15. Jugo-Slavia, however, let the date pass without coming to any agreement, and this it is contended threw the entire responsibility for Fiume on Italy, which for five years had been maintaining the city at her own expense.

Government circles declare reports spread abroad have emphasized and exaggerated the military preparations on the part of Italy. The truth is, according to these quarters, that reinforcements were sent to the Jugo-Slav frontier and to Zaru because Mussolini wished to be ready for eventualities should Jugo-Slavia reply in an unfriendly manner.

Mussolini is represented a having been placed in a most delicate position by the delay with regard to Fiume. He had no wish to question the rights of another state arising from treaty obligations, say the Italians, but on the other hand he could not stand aside and see Fiume threatened with hunger and anarchy.

It is emphatically declared that the Italian premier has no wish to violate the jurisdicial clauses of the treaty of Rapallo, in substantiation of which it is pointed out that he has registered the treaty with the league of nations.

NEW MILITARY GOVERNOR GREETED ENTHUSIASTICALLY

Rome, Sept. 17.—(By the A. P.)—General Giardino, the newly appointed military governor of Fiume, arrived in the Free City at 5 o'clock this afternoon. According to dispatches received in Rome he was greeted enthusiastically.

The military Governor appeared on the balcony at Government House and in an address exhorted the people to remain calm and thereby restify their confidence in the Italian government.

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER LINKS LIBERTY AND PROGRESS

Boston, Sept. 17—President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia university, addressing a constitution day gathering in Faneuil Hall today, said that when it was proposed to strike down the safeguards of the constitution it was "a program of reaction, not of progress."

"There is no progress in abandoning liberty," he said. "The only hope of progress is to make mankind more worthy of liberty, more understanding of liberty, more competent for liberty. That way progress lies, and not in a great series of compulsions, limitations, prohibitions of one sort and another, that put the life of the individual and society in a straitjacket at the behest of opinion."

BRIEF Telegrams

MET HUSBAND AFTER IDENTIFYING HIS BODY

Hoboken, N. J., Sept. 17.—Coming direct from a morgue in Long Island City where she had identified the body of a murdered man, as that of her husband, Mrs. Bertha Devries, of 324 Clinton street, Hoboken, fainted when she met her husband tonight at police headquarters.

The body of the murdered man was said to resemble that of her husband even to small details. She identified it by protruding teeth and a dented tooth on the right side, a war on the ring finger of the right hand, a bald head in front and a dent on the nose caused by eyy glasses.

Robert Devries, the supposedly dead husband was located at a hotel, in Hoboken by the police.

PRINCE OF WALES AT WORK ON HIS RANCH

High River, Alberta, Sept. 17—Lord Renfrew, known in England as the Prince of Wales, today became a rancher.

Although it's his own ranch, Lord Renfrew didn't pick himself an easy job and was at work at 8 o'clock this morning, helping a crew of husky farm hands fill silos with chopped sunflowers. He didn't stand around and watch the boys do it. Wearing the same kind of clothes as his companion laborers, Lord Renfrew did the same kind of work. He took the lead in chopping the silage for the blooded livestock on the ranch.

FELL FORTY FEET AND STRUCK ON HIS HEAD

Ansonia, Sept. 17.—James Worthington, 40, of Ansonia, struck on his head when he dropped a distance of 40 feet from a scaffold on the Turner block in Maple street here this afternoon. He was painting when a rope attached to the scaffold broke.

Griffin hospital, Derby, where Worthington was taken, it was said late tonight the man's skull was fractured and that he is not exected to live.

Worthington's wife lives in Marlden.

ANTHRACITE MINERS TO RESUME WORK TOMORROW

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 17—The anthracite mine workers in convention late today ratified the new wage agreement entered into between representatives of the United Mine Workers and the coal operators, and voted to return to work Wednesday morning. Anthracite mining has been suspended since September 1, when the old wage contract expired.

BRANDS THE KU KLUX KLAN AS AN ANARCHISTIC FORCE

Gov. J. C. Walton of Oklahoma Declares the Klan Must be Driven From the State—Asserts That "the Fight on the Klan is No Longer a Religious Affair"—Claims That the Organization is Attempting to Control the Government of the "Entire State"—State Passed Second Day Under Martial Law Without Disturbance.

Henryetta Okla., Sept. 17.—(By the A. P.)—The Ku Klux Klan constitutes an anarchistic force in Oklahoma and must be driven from the state, Governor J. C. Walton told an audience of perhaps 1,000 persons, many of them delegates to the state labor convention here today.

"The fight on the Klan is no longer a religious affair. The organization is attempting to control the government of the 'entire state'" the governor declared.

The Tulsa World is backing him in his fight against the invisible empire, though "nearly all the others, reporters and newspapermen in Oklahoma are members of the Klan," the governor asserted.

Explaining his Saturday night declaration of "absolute martial law" for Oklahoma City he said that such action was necessary to "stop the klan grand jury that had been called" to convene today.

CLASH BETWEEN MILITARY AND CIVIL AUTHORITIES

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 17—District Judge Albert C. Hunt today ordered Adjutant General Markham to appear in court here Wednesday morning with Ben and Grover Sikes and Earl Sack, confessed whippers under sentence to the penitentiary but now held as military prisoners. At that time arguments upon writs of habeas corpus will be heard. Applications for their release were filed late Saturday. The allegations being that they are held illegally by the military authorities.

Under Governor Walton's proclamation declaring martial law, the military was ordered to supercede the civil courts.

Each of the three men received two year sentences in district court here after confessing to participation in a flogging.

KLAN INITIATION IN A ROOM OF STATE CAPITOL

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 17—The Ku Klux Klan initiated several new members at a ceremonial held in a room of the state capitol here the closing night of the recent Georgia legislatures session. Louis P. Marquardt, an attache of Attorney general John A. Boyken's office testified in Fulton superior court today.

OKLAHOMA IS QUIET UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept 17.—(By the A. P.)—Its two largest cities actually occupied by the military, Oklahoma passed its second day under martial law today without disturbance.

Nowhere in the state except at Tulsa and Oklahoma City was martial activity visible.

At these places, however, military courts of inquiry were in session and proceeding with investigations ordered by Governor J. C. Walton into alleged masked depredations, and regulations were in effect clearing the streets of traffic and pedestrians between midnight and five a. m. Armed guards paced the entrance to the state capitol here, permitting only those to pass who had official business within.

Early tonight, word was received from Coalgate that Judge J. H. Linebaugh had adjourned the regular session of district court there until next Monday, explaining that he wished to avoid any question as to the legality of the court's right to proceed. This, with the orders issued preventing the convening of special district court grand jury here this morning, is the only instance of military interference with the courts.

Civil authorities here tonight held undisputed police powers following Mayor Cargill's threat to withdraw the entire police department from duty unless the military relinquished control over it. Colonel W. S. Key, commanding the loca troops, immediately ordered the re-instatement of Police Chief Ray Fraxier and machine guns which had been trained on the city hall and county courthouse were removed.

Although Creek county, with Oklahoma and Tulsa counties, fell under Governor Walton's decree of "absolute martial law" no troops have been stationed here.

The belief is current that military rule actually will be extended to only a few sections of the state and this opinion has been strengthened by the fact that only a small part of the strength of the state's National Guard forces has been mobilized.

The military investigation into acts of mob violence undoubtedly will center in Oklahoma City, whence, the Governor charged in his proclamation of martial law, the organization of the Ku Klux Klan emanates to all parts of the state.

The National Guard court of the quiry which has been in session continuously since August 16, when martial law was first declared in Tulsa, has adduced thousands of pages of floggers and four men already have been sentenced to the penitentiary on the strength of this evidence.

Adjourning late today after interrogating only a few witnesses, the military court here is expected to begin tomorrow an extensive investigation into masked activities either directed or executed at Oklahoma City.

CONVENTION SOVEREIGN GRAND LODGE, I. O. O. F.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 17.—A permanent meeting place for its sessions and the erection of a magnificent edifice that would prove an inspiration to Odd Fellows, was recommended today at the opening session of the convention of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., in the annual report of Judge Lucien J. Bastin of St. Joseph, Mo., Grand Sire and Commander-in-Chief of the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

The report of J. Ed. Krah, Grand Secretary showed that during the year the Order spent $7,708,132 for relief an increase of nearly $50,000 over the amount spent the year before. The grand total of receipts amounted to $26,706,000.

It was estimated that sixty thousand Odd Fellows and Rebekahs representing every state in the union and every province in Canada were in Cincinnati.

$300,000 DREDGE BURNED IN PROVIDENCE HARBOR

Providence, R. I., Sept. 17.—One man was slightly burned and a $300,000 dredge, owned by Morris and Cummings, of New York was burned to the water line and sank when fire, originating from an unknown cause, enveloped the vessel early today while she was at work in the middle of the harbor off the plant of the Gulf Refining company.

Five tugs, two of them owned by the dredge company, attempted to extinguish the flames, after the crew of 15 men, failing to put out the blaze with the boat's own hose, had to flee in small boats, for safety. The dredge, number 5, was engaged in deepening the channel, under federal government contract and was one of a fleet at work in the harbor.

WATERBURY PAINTER TAKES POISON ON STREET

Waterbury, Sept. 17.—William M. Diggle, 37, a painter, of 11 Liberty street, died in St. Mary's hospital at 6 o'clock tonight, after drinking the contents of a bottle of poison on the street.

He leaves a wife and three children. Diggle is said to have been despondent because of his wife's poor health and because he could not make enough money to live on in this part of the country. Relatives of the man said that he has acted queerly since his return from Chicago, where he was last employed, about three weeks ago, and is said to have told his daughter Sunday that when he died she would get $25,000. It is not known whether or not he was insured for that amount.

TROLLEY RAN WILD ON FARMINGTON AVE., HARTFORD

Hartford, Sept. 17.—Four persons narrowly escaped injury when at 10 o'clock tonight, a west-bound Prospect avenue trolley car ran wild on Farmington avenue, was finally stopped near Laurel street, and after its passengers had alighted, burst into flames. The fire was caused by a short circuit.

WOULD HALT COMPETITION IN AIRCRAFT BUILDING

Washington, Sept. 17.—A world conference to halt competition in aircraft building again was urged by Alvin Owsley, Commander of the American Legion in a statement tonight which said that with conditions as they are "America must either work for peace or prepare for war."

"Let no man," Commander Owsley said, "charge a Legionnaire with being a pacifist, but there must be a check on the big air fleets of Great Britain and France or we, the people of the United States, must proceed at once to build a fleet of war planes equal to that of any nation."

The Commander obtained from President Coolidge today a message to be read at the San Francisco National Convention and discussed with the executive the Legion's legislative problem.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF BETTER BUSINESS BUREAUS

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 17.—Most advertising is honest, Edward L. Greene, manager of the Boston Better Business bureau, told delegates here today at the annual convention of Better Business bureaus under auspices of the Associated Advertising clubs of the world.

"It is better to reform an improper advertiser than to prosecute," Mr. Green said. "Most advertising is honest. We find after investigation only about 5 per cent. is open to suspicion, and part of that is due to ignorance or carelessness in preparing advertisements."

Known to delegates as the creator of the slogan "Before You Invest, Investigate," Mr Green urged the bureaus to use truthful publicity to kill untruthful business practices.

ANSWERS DESCRIPTION OF KIDNAPPED M'KENZIE BABY

New York, Sept. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Peter McKenzie, whose three months old daughter Lillian was kidnapped from a baby carriage while her mother was shopping Aug. 18, left tonight for Morgantown, W. Va., where the body of an infant answering Lillian's description has been found. The parents of the kidnapped child were accompanied by a detective who participated in the search for the missing infant.

SOUSA IS PLANNING TO GLORIFY CHORUS

The chorus is glorified by Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa in one of the novelty arrangements which he has made for this thirty-first annual tour of the band which bears his name and which is scheduled for Norwich (concert on Sept. 25. "The Merrie, Merrie Chorus," a collection of melodies from grand opera and light opera has been put together into a lively medley and Mr. Sousa expects that the number will glorify the chorus over the country quite as much as certain New York theatrical producer has glorified the American girl. Some of the best writing in all musical history has gone into the choruses of the operas and the grand operas. The choruses have been selected for various reasons. The chief reason is that our operas are principally organizations for the exploitation of stars. That means that the arias, the duets, the trios and the quartets are best remembered, and because operatic records are largely sold upon the reputation of the soloist, rather than upon the merits of the composition, the choruses have not received their due there.

"To my mind, some of the most inspiring music in the world is contained in the Kermesse Scene from 'Faust,' the Pilgrims' Chorus from 'Tannhauser,' the Anvil Chorus from 'Travatore' and the Elopement Chorus from 'Pinafore.' The band is essentially an organization of soloists formed into a chorus organization, and it is my hope that my band, singing the great choruses up and down the land for a season, will bring a greater degree of popularity to this form of music."

Tickets for the Norwich concert are now on sale at Cranston's.

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN
Willimantic Office
31 Church Street Telephone 1002

Jail sentences were imposed on violators of the liquor law arrested last Tuesday on bench warrants issued by State's Attorney Charles E. Searls and whose cases were continued Thursday to Monday. Fifteen of the seventeen accused were put to plea before Judge Newell A. Jennings in the superior court and all entered pleas of nolo contendere with the exception of Solomon Isaacs, proprietor of the Johnson house, this city. Isaacs pleaded not guilty and chose to have his case heard by a jury.

Those from Willimantic who pleaded nolo were Raymond Desrosiers, Joseph Kannell, Mrs. Birdie Ostrich and Mrs. Molly Krug.

Putnam violators who entered the same plea were James Barnes, William Killian, Jan Zachariadis, Samuel Smith, Charles Miron, Eugene Miller, Omer Millard, Alexis Baudreault, Alfonso DiCarlo and Julius LaFlamme.

Solomon Isaacs later was in conference with his attorneys and upon returning changed his plea to that of nolo.

All the violators were represented by attorneys and pleas for leniency were made to the court in each case.

Raymond Desrosier and Joseph Kannall were found guilty and each was fined $500 and costs and given 15 days in Brooklyn jail.

Mrs. Birdie Ostrich was fined $300 and costs and given a 15-day jail sentence. A strong appeal was made by her attorney on the grounds that she was a sick woman and the support of three children. Dr. Louis L. Mason testified as to her physical condition. It was stated that a few days in jail would not harm the woman to any appreciable extent.

No loopholes were overlooked in an attempt to avoid a jail sentence by the attorneys representing Mrs. Mollie Krug. It was contended that she was the mother of eight small children, the oldest 16 and the youngest but 19 months. Mrs. Krug is a very frail woman and the support of her entire family, including her husband, who has undergone several serious operations. Judge Jennings expressed his sorrow that circumstances were such. He imposed a 10-day jail sentence without costs of court and suspended the imposing of a fine.

All the Putnam men were fined $100 and costs and sentenced to spend 15 days in jail. Pleas were made on behalf of the defendants that in the case of Samuel Smith being that he was suffering from illness and under the care of a physician.

At 1.20 o'clock Solomon Isaacs had changed his plea to that of nolo contendere and he explained to the court that if liquor sales were made in his hotel they were made by an employe. He pleaded that a jail sentence would ruin his reputation, which has gone unblemished up to the present time. He had planned to dismantle the bars in his hotel but had delayed too long. He promised that this would be done at once. Judge Jennings waived to have time to consider the case and suspended execution of sentence until 2.45 o'clock. Judge Jennings then informed Mr. Isaacs that in view of his excellent reputation he would nolle two of the charges against him. He then imposed a 15-day jail sentence and a fine of $100 and costs on the charge of actual selling.

Court recessed at 3.05 o'clock without day.

The serving of bench warrants on liquor dealers is a procedure tried for the first time in Windham county last week and is in conformity with similar action taken in other counties throughout the state. The imposing of jail sentences is in accordance with a vote recently taken by the judges and prosecuting attorneys at Hartford.

Of the 17 cases, that of George Bricault of Putnam remains to be heard. Bricault dishonored himself when given a chance to secure a bondsman last Tuesday night in Putnam, after returning from this city, and disappeared.

The sum of $2,622.83 in costs and fines was imposed Monday morning in the superior court by Judge Jennings. Added to that is the fine of $100 and costs imposed on Henry Potvin of Willimantic last Thursday morning, which brings the grand total to $2,622.83.

There were from two to five charges in most all the cases Monday morning, including sales, possession with intent to sell and reputation. The sentences and fines were imposed on the charges of sale of liquor, the remaining charges being nolled.

Following the court session, the 13 convicted men, also Mrs. Ostrich and Mrs. Krug, were taken to jail in automobiles. A pathetic member in the group was Mrs. Krug's 19 months old baby huddled in its mother's arms. Spectators crowded the gallery during the court session and included a delegation of the local branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, who appeared satisfied with the court proceedings.

As told on the Norwich page of The Bulletin Monday, seven local people, including Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams of 762 Main street, the former's brothers, Abraham and Frank Williams, 25 Walnut street, and Salim Haddad and two children, narrowly escaped serious injuries about 2.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the state highway near the Lamb farm, half a mile west of Franklin Hill, when the car in which they were riding plunged between two large trees and became wedged, after striking another machine. The Willimantic party was headed toward Norwich and a Scripps-Booth touring car owned by Anthony Banas of 148 Sachem street, Norwich, was coming in the direction of this city. Abraham Williams was learning to drive the local machine, which was a Maldohm six-cylinder touring, and his brother Haddad sat by his side to give him instructions. The local machine sideswiped the rear of the Norwich car and Williams became confused and his foot slipped on the accelerator. The car then shot across the road, climbed a bank and came to a stop between two trees with the bottom of the machine resting on a pile of rocks. Fred Williams sat on the outside of the front seat and he received a deep cut in one hand and another cut on his neck when the machine came in contact with the trees. His injuries were dressed by Dr. Arthur J. Gitouard of this city. The other occupants escaped injury. The state police barracks in Danielson were notified and State Policeman Harold I. Keith came over and took measurements of the road. The owners of the cars agreed to settle for the damages and no arrests were made. The body of the Williams machine was practically demolished and it was later hauled to this city for repairs.

Mrs. Demerise Lessard died in Montreal Sunday evening, according to word received here early Monday morning by her daughter, Mrs. Alphonse Chagnon. Mrs. Lessard had been a resident of this city for about 25 years. She was the widow of David Lessard. The body will be brought to Willimantic for burial.

Frank King of Eastford was possibly fatally injured Thursday when he was run over and trampled by a pair of team horses. Mr. King is a resident of the East Hill section of Eastford and he drove to the home of John Kaletchets for a load of grain. While returning home, a trace broke on the harness and frightened the animals, which pranced about and threw Mr. King to the ground, trampling on him. The horses then broke loose and ran home. Residents of the village ran out and assisted Mr. King. He was rushed to a hospital, where he was found to have sustained a broken arm, a broken leg, a bad cut on the head and internal injuries. At the republican caucus Tuesday evening he was nominated for second selectman.

Burning refuse in a barrel in the rear of the building owned by Joseph Astmann on Center street endangered the house and an alarm was rung in to Engine Co. No. 1 Sunday. Several of the clapboards were beginning to blaze. The fire was extinguished with a few pails of water.

Oscar Jacobs was recently tendered a surprise party in honor of his 73d birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Brown. Musical selections were rendered and a luncheon was served. Mr. Jacobs was presented a number of handsome and useful gifts.

Clad in a bathrobe and light house slippers and bareheaded, Oscar Johnson made his way out of St. Joseph's hospital on a recent afternoon and was strolling up Jackson street when overtaken by a nurse and returned to the institution where he is a patient.

A meeting of the parish members has been called by Emile Bernet, clerk of St. Paul's Episcopal church, to appoint someone to fill the unexpired term of David L. Mason, treasurer of the church, and to arrange ways and means for raising money for current expenses.

Miss Ito Yamanoue of Tokio, who has been the guest of Misses Jennie and Lucy Chandler this summer, has received the joyful news that her family in Japan has been saved. She left over the week end with Miss Jennie Chandler for Boston, where Miss Yamanoue is to enter Wellesley college.

Seven boys born in succession at St. Joseph's hospital since Sept. 1st is the unusual record registered at the institution, according to a statement made Monday by the superintendent.

Laurence Galliot of East Hartford was before the local police court Monday morning on the charge of reckless driving. Galliot was arrested Sept. 11 by Motorcycle Officer Grant Bombria on Windham road while driving his automobile at a rate of 45 to 48 miles an hour. Judge Foss fined the man $25 and costs, amounting to $31.25, which was paid.

JEWETT CITY

Harriet H. Sanderson, 69, wife of John Edwin Phillips, died Monday morning, at the home of her son-in-law, Arthur M. Brown. Mrs. Phillips was the daughter of Cyrus and Harriet Spencer Mills. She was born in Thompson, Conn. Feb. 16, 1854. September 1, 1875, she was united in marriage with George Henry Sanderson of Moosup, who died in 1896. November 23, 1901, she married John Edwin Phillips of Jewett City, who survives her. She leaves a daughter Mrs. A. M. Brown of Jewett City, and two grandsons, Francis Y. Brown, a senior at Dartmouth College and Merton F. Brown, a student at Cushing Academy. She also leaves a half brother and sister, Oscar B. Darley of Wauregan and Mrs. F. E. Halyburton of Norwich respectively. Mrs. Phillips was a member of Jewett City Baptist church and of Anne Brewster Fanning Chapter, D. A. R. During the world war, there was no more faithful worker at the Red Cross room. Mrs. Phillips made hosts of friends on account of her cheery good fellowship. Her interest was always centered in helpful work in home, church and community.

Alex McNicol, chairman of the Japanese Relief drive reports five hundred dollars received. All sources have not reported yet. Contributions may be left at the Jewett City Trust Co.

The Ladies' Society of the Congregational church is to meet in the church parlor Thursday afternoon.

Fred Edmund's car and the Rix car were in collision near Slater's bridge, early Monday morning. A man crossing the road and the fog was the cause. No one was injured but the cars were put out of commission.

Grange peach supper Pachaug Town Hall, Wednesday evening. 35c.—adv.

At Pachaug Grange Fair there were 210 entries in the rifle contest. The shooting was at the 50-yard range and some very good scores were made with the 22 rifle. There was only one possible made and that was made by George Sheldon of Voluntown. Fred Stebbins of Jewett City made a close 29 and Everett Hiscox and John Hall made 28 each. There were 10 prizes to be shot for the names of the winners follow:

George Sheldon 30, Fred Stebbins 29, Everett Hiscox 28, John Hall 28, William Brown 27, Harold Geer 27, Earl Hiscox 26, W. Le Claire 26, Chester Geer 26, W. H. Bartlett 26.

In the sports at Pachaug Grange fair, Saturday, Sept. 15th Ashland won the tug of war over Pachaug grange team, getting the jump at the pistol and holding their advantage, winning by 3 3-4 inches. Ashland team comprised Ross Hanson, Austin Harriss, Cliff Congdon, Arthur Bellevance and Frank Congdon; Pachaug, Bert Richardson, Ed Lewis, Harold Geer, Will Watson and Herman Frink.

In the pull between the White Elephants and the Jewett City Motors, the former won by 2 1-2 inches, after the Jewett City team had held a one inch lead for two of the three minutes.

The White Elephants included Chas. Downing, Arthur Frink, Gus Campbell, Cliff Main, Horace Dawley and Adhemard; Jewett City, Jack Potts, Zeb Miller, John Medick, Lebarre and Everett Alley.

The following scores were made on the Voluntown Rifle Club range, Dona Ballou making high score for the Edmond Medal 90 out of a possible 100 on the expert target 50 shot match offhand at 50 yards.

John Kaufmann 496, Dona Ballou 487, Charles Palmer 484, John Hall 483, George Sheldon 479, Jim Hopkins 462, Fred G. Ballou 453, Henry De Rusha 453, Ernest Brusha 430, John Bradford 430.

Rev. J. J. McCabe announced at St. Mary's church Sunday morning that two thousand dollars was realized as the net proceeds from the recent carnival.

What's Doing in Broadway Theatres

Bulletin Theatre.

Wallace Berry, Estelle Taylor, Forrest Stanley and other famous players achieve a success of an unusual sort in the thrilling mystery picture of the day, "Bavu" a Universal-Jewel attraction which opened yesterday at the Strand theatre.

When "Bavu" the title character of the story, an illiterate peasant of magnetic personality, "gets into action," with calm brutality and mysterious quietness, the plot quickly accelerates to a high pitch of thrilling suspense. "Bavu" is a brutal monster, but he is a leader of men, a man feared and obeyed by creatures of the dark under-strata of life in the story's peculiar atmosphere.

The element of suspense has been well handled and to those that are interested in the Russia that emerged from the days and nights of hectic upheaval following the overthrow of the House of Romanoff it will prove both instructive and entertaining. In fact Bavu might well be described as a page of history brought to life by characters who live and breathe the past. Mr. Paton, the director, rehearsed the players in the stage version for weeks before he brought his battery of cameras into action. The result is a smooth and finished performances seldom equalled on the screen.

Breed Theatre.

Mae Murray's newest Metro picture "The French Doll" which will be the feature attraction at the Breed theatre today is undoubtedly the beautiful star's most elaborate and fascinating production.

This startling photoplay breaks Miss Murray's own record for gorgeous gowns and luxurious settings. Her ravishing costumes were made from her own designs in New York, Paris and Vienna, and they represent the last word in luxurious apparel. There are scenes of society life in Paris, New York and Palm Beach. Miss Murray has the role of a vivacious little French girl who found romance in America.

"The French Doll" is based on the successful play in which Irene Bordoni played the leading role. Frances Marion prepared the scenario. The photoplay is presented by Robert Z. Leonard and was produced by Tiffany Productions, of which Mr. Leonard is director general and M. H. Hoffman general manager.

Other pictures on the bill include the Pathe News and an Educational comedy.

Sale of Peck Street Property.

Through the agency of William F. Hill, Charles Sherman has sold his beautiful ten-room home located on Peck street to Laura A. Chesbro of Westerly, R. I. The new owner intends to make this place her future home.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

Five building permits were issued by Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton during the past week for two new houses and alterations to three other present dwellings. With the issuing of these permits the average for the month of September is brought up to the normal, and there is every indication that this year's volume of new building in Norwich will be a record-breaker. There has been a large amount of building during the spring and summer months and with several months of good building weather in store there is every possibility that even projects started now will be completed before the extreme cold weather sets in.

Local buildings now in process of construction have been brought well along during the past week and many will soon be ready for occupation. There has been a large number of new buildings erected in Norwich and vicinity during the year. This is especially noted in the East Great Plain section of the town and in the Norwich Town section. Several houses are being erected off Rockwell street and off Boswell avenue and in the Greeneville section. In Thamesville several houses have been put up and the American Woolen company and the United Metal company have erected additions to their plants.

The work on the Palace theatre is well along and no doubt will be finished next month. The heating plant has been installed and the structural work is completed and the interior is now being done by the decorators.

The building permits issued by Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton during the past week are as follows:

To George E. Boucher, to add to present house on Mt. Pleasant street for Charles D. Sherman. The house will be raised one story with stucco foundation and shingled exterior. Interior finish is to be of plaster and hardwood, the floors and trim to be of oak.

To Powell G. McKnight, to erect a frame house on Boswell avenue. The house will be 26x26 feet, two stories high, of frame construction and concrete and stone foundation.

To M. J. Ahearn, to erect a bungalow on Elizabeth street for Edward Slattery. The house will be of frame construction, with stone and cement foundation. The exterior finish will be half clapboards and half shingles. The interior will be in plaster and hardwood.

To Samuel Kadish, to extend roof on house at 24 Elizabeth street to give additional space in the attic.

To Adam Zelewski, to alter and add to present building on Aqueduct street. The roof will be raised about five feet and reshingled.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich during the past week there were 10 sales of real estate as compared to 11 sales for the corresponding week in 1922. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $48,300 and $28,400.

There were 13 sales of real estate in New London during the past week, an increase of six sales over the number for the corresponding week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $43,400 and $124,662.

THE STATE SITUATION.

Building permits in the larger centres of the state for the week just ended, according to the Commercial Record, numbered 234, the buildings for which the permits were granted costing $615,484. Compared to these figures, the permits issued in the like places a year ago numbered 237, for buildings costing $442,716, and 213 permits in the same week of 1921, the buildings costing $448,088.

MYSTIC.

Plans have been selected for the erection of the proposed new building for the Mystic oral school for the deaf at Mystic. As described before, the building will be designed for a dormitory to accommodate 70 girls, and to include dining room, kitchen, assembly room and boiler room. It will be 70x150 feet, three stories high and basement, of brick construction.

PUTNAM.

The trustees of the Woodstock academy have announced that Mrs. Frank Wright Pratt of Deerfield is to build a library for the town of Woodstock. The building will be located on Woodstock Hill, west of the academy, and work will be started in the spring.

NEW LONDON.

The cellar is in for a frame dwelling for Mrs. Cowey on South Ledyard street. From private plans, the house will be cottage type, 26x30 feet, containing seven rooms. There will be steam heat and all improvements.

E. W. Brandt, 309 Vauxhall street, has started work on a new house for himself at 307 Vauxhall street. The proposed dwelling will be of frame construction, bungalow style, and will be arranged for five rooms. It will be 30x40 feet, and will be provided with steam heat and modern conveniences.

The permit for the erection of a steel service station on Broad street has been awarded to Clifford Ford. The building will be one story high.

The contract has been awarded for the six-room bungalow which is to be erected for the Titus Land company on Terrace boulevard. As reported, the dwelling will be 34x30 feet, arranged for six rooms.

Applications for Building Permits.

Genaro Cabaldello, alterations, 812 Bank street, $600.

Wlodislaw Leitkowsky, garage, New street, $400.

W. D. Nelson, frame addition, Veits street, $300.

Clifford Ford, service station, Broad street, $300.

Number of permits issued for the week, 7; estimated cost of buildings, $2,800.

Rickenbacker

A CAR WORTHY OF ITS NAME

Get The Facts Before —Not After—You Buy

Said a man to us the other day, "I never in the world would have purchased any other car had I known what I now know about the Rickenbacker."

That's the trouble! Too many people buy without thoroughly investigating. They take too much for granted.

Compare the Rickenbacker Six with others, and you will find this car has innumerable engineering refinements not found in any other car made.

For, not only has the Rickenbacker 4-wheel brakes, which eliminate skidding and give motoring a new feeling of security—for, not only has the Rickenbacker the tandem flywheel which eliminates all vibratory periods and makes motoring a greater pleasure than ever—for, not only has the Rickenbacker the air cleaner which prevents excessive carbon deposits, thereby prolonging the snap and ginger of the motor—

but, the Rickenbacker has a great deal more—

Ease of Control—a child can handle a Rickenbacker.

Beautiful bodies—smartly finished and harmoniously proportioned.

Thousands of Rickenbackers are now in operation in all parts of the world.

The silent, swift, sure operation of the Rickenbacker motor will be a revelation to you. What more could you wish for, than one of these beautiful, superb, handsomely fashioned cars—a car that has none of those violent periods of vibration—a car the motor of which has no excessive carbon accumulation!

Here, indeed, is a car that you will be proud to own.

May we call today and point out to you the above mentioned and many more advanced Rickenbacker engineering features?

DANIELSON

Burning out of the brake linings on a Ford truck was held accountable for an accident in which the machine turned over, Monday afternoon, while coming down Hampton hill. Of the three men riding in the vehicle, Peter Long, 23, of Bridgeport, was the only one hurt and he was rushed to the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam in a Rhode Island car that came along. Long suffered a number of abrasions so that he lost considerable skin from his side along the state highway. His clothes were badly torn. At the hospital he was not regarded as having been seriously injured.

The truck is owned by Paul Smith, 1485 Broadway, N. Y., and it was on the way to the fairgrounds at Brooklyn, Smith and his companions having a concession there. A third man on the truck was not injured. The truck went out of control when the brake linings burned out and racing along the irregular course at high speed, finally turned over.

A clause that will be inserted in the warning for the annual town meeting as the result of a petition now on file at the office of the selectmen proposes that the town hall be withdrawn from use as a unit on picture houses and for professional athletic events. The petition is signed by twenty citizens, 16 of them men and women.

Because the matter will not be reached, it was indicated Monday, until the matter has been generally discussed pro and con and much work has been done among the voters. Another petition on file at the office of the selectmen asks that a clause be inserted in the warning for the annual town meeting to see what action the voters will take relative to the extension eastward of Hawkins street and authorizing the opening of a new street running southerly from Reynolds street to connection with the proposed extension of Hawkins street. Approval of the proposal would open up considerable additional territory in a good location for building.

Still another petition with the requisite number of signatures that is on file at the office of the selectmen requests number of signatures that is on file at the office of the selectmen requests that a clause be inserted in the warning for the annual town meeting to see if the electors will vote to reduce the compensation of the town tax collector to 1-2 of one per cent. of the amount collected. This petition is incident to the tax collectorship campaign that is now attracting attention in advance of the annual town meeting.

A row of red glass reflectors the length of Dark Lantern hill was proposed Monday as one means of safeguarding the motoring public from accidents on a stretch of state highway that is gaining a sinister reputation, as the result of constantly recurring wrecks. Hardly a rainy day, or rarely a brief shower, but someone drives a car through a fence or skids on this hill. Sunday night brought another example of this.

Drivers familiar with the hill and using it frequently are practically agreed that it is entirely safe if a car is driven properly. The trouble is that it is on an important trunk line over which there is extremely heavy travel and hundreds of people who drive cars over it are unfamiliar with its grade or nature. These strange drivers let their cars get to travel at high speed, then lose their nerve as the hill stretches away ahead of them, slam on their brakes, sometimes pushing out the clutch, and then things begin to happen. Practically all who figure in accidents on this big hill are non-residents of the state or live in distant parts of it.

There isn't a warning sign of any kind on the hill, though the placing of them has been urged from time to time, as accident after accident has occurred.

Herbert J. Barnett was in New York at the opening of the week to arrange for the delivery here of the big bus for which he placed an order some time since and which is expected to arrive here this (Tuesday) afternoon. The new bus is the largest motor vehicle ever used in passenger carrying service out of Danielson, has every modern appointment and convenience and will be used in the Danielson-Providence and Danielson-Willimantic service as business requires. It is expected to be put to work tomorrow between Danielson and Brooklyn.

The opening of the hunting season will bring some good sport to lovers of shooting in this territory. Reports tend to indicate that more pheasants are in the nearby hunting territory than ever before. Numbers of flocks have been reported, one seen within a few days numbering eleven birds. Partridge, too, are said to be quite plentiful and there are some quail and woodcock. Though they may not be hunted, deer seem to have increased in numbers during the past year and are frequently seen in roadside fields and in woodland along country highways.

Miss Annie M. Hutchins entertained her pupils and their friends Thursday afternoon at a musicale. Misses Eunice and Emily Pike, and Miss Janet Paine, who are soon to leave for college where they will continue their study of music, were especially well received. Selections by Misses Mary and Winifred Jacobs, Esther Ware, Beatrice Pluze, Master Elwood Spencer and Master William Pike were greatly enjoyed. A vocal solo by Mrs. Herbert Keach completed a pleasant afternoon.

County Agent F. L. Davis made announcement Monday of Poultry club meetings to be held this week. The Windham club will meet Thursday at 1.30 and the Hampton club at 7.30 Thursday. For Friday a meeting of the Canterbury club is scheduled for the afternoon at 1.30 and a meeting of the Pomfret club for 7.30 Friday. Roy E. Jones, poultry specialist, is to speak at all of these meetings, his subject to be Feeding Pullets for Fall and Winter Eggs. There also will be poultry collections on exhibit at these meetings.

John A. Dolbeare of Worcester was a visitor with friends in Danielson Monday.

William McDermott, who has been in Pennsylvania for several months, is expected to come here within a few days for a visit and a rest.

A bus every hour on the even hour will leave Danielson for the Brooklyn fair grounds, Wednesday and Thursday, after 9 a. m. The Danielson Garage.—adv.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Conklin of Elmville were at Lake Pearl Sunday, to attend an outing of employes of the Boston-Providence division of the A. T. and T. company.

Miss Helen Cronin, after spending the summer at her home here, left Monday morning to resume her studies at a college on the Hudson.

J. Carl Witter was at Springfield Monday to attend the Eastern States Exposition.

Attorney E. L. Darbie was in Willimantic Monday representing clients at a session of the superior court.

Today (Tuesday) is entry day at the Brooklyn fair. A considerable number of the exhibitors at the fair this year are residents of Danielson and other parts of the town of Killingly.

John McGregor, a former resident of Ballouville, is dead at his home in West Thompson, where he has been a resident for some time.

A lovely collection of spilt tickets is in prospect for the counters at the annual town election. Even with three tickets in the field a large percentage of voters will find it necessary to split tickets to get the choice of candidates they desire.

Arthur Pepin of Putnam has acquired the Mechanic street property of Byron Lewis and is to occupy it about October 1.

PUTNAM

A strike Monday morning tied up work about to begin on the construction of the walls of the new Stoumbelis block, on the site of the destroyed Donahue block, when bricklayers quit the job when an increase in pay they demanded was not granted them.

Foundation walls at the new building site are ready for brick, which is piled up by the thousand on the premises, but the situation that developed so unexpectedly Monday creates a delay of which few can predict the duration, and which may throw entirely out of kilter plans to have the structure closed in before real cold weather. A representative of the contracting company in charge of the job said the bricklayers were demanding $12 a day. Monday's strike entirely tied up the job, and there was no construction work going on during the day. Only a small number of bricklayers are involved in the affair.

Excavating for the cellar of the new Putnam Savings bank building was in full swing Monday morning, with motor trucks and teams carrying away dirt, rock and other excavated material. As the cellar of the old building is largely sufficient for the area to be covered by the new structure the work of putting in the foundation will not be long delayed.

Of interest Monday relative to plans for the construction of the new building were the discussions of prominent citizens relative to the building's front line, which is planned to be farther front than those who talked about the matter feel is proper. The city's street lines and future development and appearance is given consideration. The matter has been called to the attention of officials of the bank, but no assurance obtained that any change will be made from present plans. This unwillingness to change the front line is said to be largely due to the fact that no definite street lines have been laid out for that immediate section of the city, and that at some future time there is the prospect of a new structure being erected on an adjoining site and shutting off the new savings bank building from clear frontage.

Workmen will begin today (Tuesday) tearing down small wooden structures that are going to be taken off the Seder property, Main street, in connection with plans for the erection of the new Seder block. Charles Seder, owner of the property, said on Monday morning that his plans will now be pushed forward to completion. The large frame structure at the Main street front of the property, occupied as stores and tenements, is to be removed as soon as may be possible and placed in a new location at the rear of the property. Another dwelling on the property will not be moved from its present location, but will be completely remodeled and modernized. Mr. Seder hopes that work will be rushed on his new block and that it will be closed in before real winter comes, so that work on the interior may be continued during the real cold weather period. Mr. Seder has taken a room in one of the buildings on the property for an office and will spend a large apart of his time here while the building operations are underway.

John Jarvis, Jr., 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jarvis, and brother of Captain William Jarvis of the police, drew Sunday morning at a Boston hospital where the boy had been a patient and had undergone a surgical operation for mastoiditis. The body was brought to Putnam.

It became known Monday that a request has been made that the state highway department, in making ready to construct a new bridge over Little river, build the abutments 42 feet in width instead of 30 feet, as called for in the plans. The request for the change was made in order to provide for the building of sidewalks along the bridge at some future date in case it is decided to make such an improvement. As the plans for the new bridge are complete and the contract for its construction let, it was not thought likely Monday that the desired change would be made.

Confusing of street names Monday morning, in taking a telephone message asking for a chemical company to respond to a chimney fire call, sent the firemen racing over onto the Chapel street instead of to Chapman street, where the blaze was in a chimney of a house owned by Justin S. Greene. The extra trip made by the firemen made a delay in reaching the fire, but no serious damage resulted therefrom.

Dirt is flying out on Killingly avenue these days, as Contractor Antonio Vito's forces hit the full stride of their efforts to make quick work of the job of building about three miles of concrete highway. Not only are bad curves being removed from the highway by cutting a new right of way through fields along the route, but the grade on other parts of the present highway is being changed to suit the layout in the new plans. Traffic is getting through all along the route where work is underway, but there is an advantage in detouring through South Main street because of the better going and time that can be made.

The next important move relative to getting at the actual work of building the Nurses' Home at the Day Kimball hospital will be the selection of the site for the building, which will cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. A map of the grounds will be made showing present structures thereon and the site for the new building.

Arthur Pepin of this city has purchased Mechanic street property at Danielson and will locate his business there the first of the coming month. Mr. Pepin, who has been in the automobile business for years, said Monday that he will use only part of the property he has acquired for his business, leasing the upper floor to other parties not engaged in the same business.

In the city court at Monday morning's session, John Bayer paid a fine of $10 and costs, a total of $27.39, for a violation of the motor vehicle laws. Mr. Bayer, a resident of Thompson, was represented by Attorney Arthur S. Macdonald.

Cases at Willimantic not interfering, the superior court will transfer its activities to this city Friday, when there will be a short calendar session to arrange business on the civil list. The present term of court has been concerned exclusively with cases on the criminal list.

Monday afternoon there was a meeting of the trustees of the trustees of the Day Kimball hospital at the rooms of the chamber of commerce.

Henry Tetreault, Jr., who has been seriously ill the past week, was reported Monday as resting comfortably.

Mrs. Walter N. Phillips is visiting in Greenfield, Mass., for two weeks.

George Quiski, organist, is to give a recital at Pomfret this week in aid of the Nurses' Home fund of the Day Kimball hospital.

Hundreds will take advantage tomorrow (Wednesday) of the opportunity to inspect the new banking home of the First National bank. It will be occupied for business the first of the coming week.

During the absence from duty of Captain William Jarvis, Sergeant George Laird is acting in his place.

PLAINFIELD

The Camp Fire Girls held their first meeting of the season in the vestry of the Congregational church Monday evening.

The Men's Bible class of the Methodist church in Jewett City gave Clarence W. Jeffers, a former member of the class, a surprise party Saturday evening. The wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffers. The pastor of the church, Rev. J. L. Willer was present, also Frank Gardner, president and Irving Thorn, secretary and treasurer of the class. Mr. Jeffers' brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jeffers attended the party, while Rev. William C. Prentiss and Cecil L. Butler of Plainfield were guests. A pleasant evening was spent in good fellowship. There were several interesting talks and ice cream and cake were served by Mr. and Mrs. Jeffers. One of Nutting's landscapes, beautifully framed, was presented Mr. Jeffers.

Henry Dorrence left Saturday for Springfield where he will attend the exposition and take charge of an exhibition of woolens for the Connecticut Sheep Breeding Association.

A number of local people attended Pachaug fair.

He Will Say
"Fight film on your teeth daily"
No prettier teeth without that

Do you know that leading dentists all the world over now advise a new way of teeth cleaning? They urge people to fight film.

Millions of careful people follow that advice. You see the results in whiter teeth whesever you go today.

This offers you a ten-day test to show what that method means.

What film does

Film is that viscous coat you feel. Much of it resists the tooth brush, clings and stays.

Soon that film discolors, then forms dingy coats. That's how white teeth lose luster.

Film also causes most tooth troubles. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Few people who brush teeth in old ways escape some film-caused trouble.

Two better ways

Dental science has found two ways to fight that film. One acts to disintegrate the film at all stages of formation. The other removes it without harmful scouring.

Those methods were subjected to many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Now careful people of some 50 nations employ it, largely by dental advice.

Far cleaner teeth

Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, also its starch digestant. One is there to neutralize acids, the other to digest starch deposits. Every use of Pepsodent gives them manifold effect.

That means far cleaner teeth. And they come without harm to enamel, without harsh grit.

These things are bringing a new era in teeth cleaning. You see the results in whiter teeth among careful people everywhere. Now we urge that you obtain them for the people in your home.

Protect the Enamel
Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Attractive house of ten large rooms with piazzas, two bath rooms, hot and cold water, steam heat, good cellar. Shade trees about house. Good young orchard of about 40 trees. Large and well-built (painted and clapboarded) barn with two wings each about 35 by 70 feet, will accommodate 40 head of stock; good basement under all; two silos, ice-house, work shop, large piggery, large cornerib, 100 foot hen-house and small cottage. Water for house and barn is pumped by windmill from supply near house to large reservoir on hill, giving high pressure; also 3 wells on place and the river bordering one side.
Fine views. Would make a very pleasant place for a summer home and is a good practical farm.
The Worcester-New London branch of the N. Y., N. H. & H. Railroad bisects the property for about a mile through the lower land near the river only a few hundred feet from the main highway, and one or more manufacturing sites could be sold off the farm here giving both water and railroad privileges without interfering in the least with the remainder of the farm.
After the sale of the real estate will be sold the farming tools including new ensilage cutter, new Aspinwall potato-planter, Ontario seeder, Deering mower, Deere 2-row corn planter, horse rake, plows, cultivators and harrows, one and two-horse wagons, De Laval separator, etc. Also pair of good farm horses and harness.
To be sold to the highest bidders without limit or reserve.

PROBING NAVAL DISASTER.

Secretary Denby says that it is necessary to get to the bottom of the wreck of the nine destroyers on the California coast, and is much disturbed over the fact that only within a few days has it been learned by the department that there were two more than the first reported seven involved in the crash. Perhaps the explanation for the failure of the department to learn of the real situation was due to the manner in which the reports were made, that concerning the seven going to one bureau of the navy department and that concerning the two to another. Such a discrimination may possibly be due to the fact that the two were not wrecked but were damaged, but there appears to be no good reason why the department should not have been informed of the entire affair immediately after it occurred, given full details and not have the facts come straggling in as if there had been an effort made to cover up the seriousness of the situation.

Plainly it is a case where it is necessary to go to the bottom, get all the facts and thoroughly understand all the details, even to what part, if any, was played by the seismic disturbance in the Pacific, before it will be possible to tell what and where there is ground for the department to act.

Secretary Denby is right in being unwilling to act in the dark, disturbing though the situation is. Whatever may be the ultimate loss sustained it stands as a very bad showing for the Pacific flotilla, unless circumstances about which there is now only conjecture are disclosed. All circumstances deserve to be given the full light of publicity. The investigation must be thorough and the facts arrayed in such a manner that it will be possible for just such action as the situation calls for. Responsibility needs to be fixed and due consideration given to the importance of prevention in the future. If it was due to laxity it should be known, and if it was due to conditions beyond the control of those in command it cannot be overlooked.

RELYING ON PUBLIC OPINION.

When the federal coal commission, in making its recommendations for the betterment of conditions in the coal industry, points to action that should be taken both by the operators and miners, and indicates that there should be no move in the way of compulsion, it relies heavily upon what can be accomplished through the force of public opinion. That has long been regarded as the regulator of many ills, but it doesn't always work.

In the coal industry in particular there would be no trouble and no danger of a shortage if heed was given to public opinion. There would be no curtailment in production and disputes would be adjusted while coal was being mined. There might even be a resort to arbitration for a settlement in keeping with the facts, but it is well known that no such course is followed. Public opinion seems to have been pretty thoroughly disclosed previous to, during and following coal strikes, but we continue to have strikes and the consumer doesn't know from one year's end to another whether he is going to be able to get fuel although he is conscious of the fact that every time he is threatened with no coal it costs him more to get it. Public opinion hasn't had any noticeable influence upon the coal industry and it figured very slightly in the adjustment that has recently been made.

Advocating the leaving of such matters to be swayed by public opinion is simply trusting to luck that the right provisions will be carried out. It is well known what respect was given to public opinion to which enforcement of the railway labor board's decisions was left. It sounds good but it fails to carry weight in those instances where it is most needed. The fact that public opinion ought to be sufficient to accomplish the desired results may be admitted, but it doesn't govern, and there is little reason to believe that the confidence placed in it by the coal commission will accomplish the desired results. The tendency in the past has been entirely the other way.

BRIDGES.

Bridge building is a different proposition today from what it was a quarter of a century ago. Many of the bridges in those days, even when newly constructed, were of wood. Today there is little thought given to the use of other than steel or cement in the building of bridges, except that they are of the smallest and located on some of the back roads.

In the building of new roads, the extension of the trunk line highways to include a greater part of the state, not only is there more traffic but greater loads are being transported over the highways. This has developed to the extent that bridges have had to be posted where necessary against the placing on them of greater loads than they are safely able to sustain, and it has of course caused the erection of many new bridges of proper construction to carry the load age that main highways are now subjected to.

Bridges are therefore costing more but they are of a much more permanent character, built to stand the ravages of time and traffic and to be proof against the possibilities of fire. In this latter respect Springfield has recently experienced a distressing loss. A steel bridge across the Connecticut by no means new had a wooden flooring. This caught fire and not only was it impossible to check the blaze but the heat so warped the steel that it collapsed. Bridge facilities were quickly wiped out and there can be no question but what it will be replaced by a substantial and a fireproof structure.

Destruction of bridges by fire is not frequent. Nevertheless it is a feature that may well be taken into consideration, especially in connection with new construction. Modern bridges may cost a bit more if consideration is given to future possibilities and to the fireproofing feature, but an outlay of that character is far preferable to inviting a double expense through the construction of a bridge that will soon be inadequate. The days of the old covered wooden bridges is gone and it is quite certain it will not return.

MAKING VOTERS.

It was an important preliminary that was observed by the 1045 citizens in placing their applications to be made voters in the hands of the registrars of voters this fall. That might be regarded as evidence of unusual interest in assuming the responsibilities of citizenship. It should not be forgotten, however, that while filing applications is important it is even more so that those whose names are on the list to be made should appear before the board of registration and qualify.

That a little over a fifth of the number on the list appeared last Saturday does not indicate the same interest that the large to-be-made list otherwise might. In no year is the full list made. There are those who are away, sick or detained, and there are those who forget all about it. Such would matter little if it were possible to go before the board at any time the applicant saw fit. Such is of course not the case. There are fixed times for making voters. One of the days has gone and there now remains only the coming Saturday on which those who are entitled to be made voters and those who desire to assume their duty as electors can find the board of registration in session ready to act upon their applications.

To overlook the opportunity of being made this year removes the possibility of participating in the coming town election and all subsequent elections until the board of registration holds another of its infrequent sessions. The importance of being made, or getting the applicants out to be made, deserves as much attention as getting to the polls or getting the voters to the polls on election day.

Civic interest should be sufficient to overcome the inclination to neglect this important duty to self, the community and good government.

THE TEST IN OKLAHOMA.

The situation in Oklahoma shows the governor taking a stand against mob rule. He finds conditions such in his state that no attempt is being made to deal with the lawless or to bring to justice those who are taking law into their own hands. It is because this effort to control affairs has spread until it has included those in authority and those who are supposed to act in dealing with such conditions. There is open defiance of the law of the state and a refusal to enforce it.

The situation in Oklahoma is not so different from what it is in some of the southern states where the race question is to the front at all times. Conditions which tolerate shootings, hangings and burnings at the stake are winked at because the sentiment in its behalf is shared by those who are supposed to stop it.

Governor Walton of Oklahoma takes the position that he will not tolerate such conduct. He is open in his denunciation of it. He will not admit that he is powerless. His resort to martial law is certainly a drastic measure but it gives evidence that he is determined to go as far in the upholding of the laws of the states as others are to break them down and trample on them.

The situation is thus one that cannot fail to command the interest of the entire country. It is a test that will indicate whether law or invisible government is going to have control in that state and it should demonstrate to other states whether the authorities are helpless if there is the disposition to do away with mob rule.

FROM LUCILLES DIARY

When Sara Frances James, the new president of the Dix Amies, happened to mention that she intended to go up into Wisconsin for a few days' rest at the Crossroads inn, I exclaimed that I knew that lovely place. I was there some time ago with Ruth Ritchey.

"I've heard that it is deliciously quiet," remarked Sara Frances, "and that is what I wish, for I have to write my report for the French Service league, and it's some little chore."

"Oh, I can help you with that, Sara Frances," I volunteered in my kind, impulsive way.

"Thank you, Lucille," she answered, "but I think I can do it all right up there in the quiet of the Crossroads."

"But, Sara Frances, dear, I should love so to help you, and you know I'm quite au fait in French. I'll just go to Crossroads with you."

"Don't count on me for companionship, Lucille," she said warningly, but I was not hurt by her apparent lack of enthusiasm. I knew that as president of the Dix Amies and executive secretary of the French Service league she had a great deal on her mind.

I simply packed my bag and met her at the train for Crossroads. She occupied herself so assiduously with the report that I had but little of her society. I should have been dreadfully dull had I not found some friends whom I had met when I was at the inn with Ruth Ritchey. I invited this charming Mrs. Hanson and her two sons to come to the inn for bridge. There were so many children running wild on the porch and in the living room that I simply had to take my friends up into the little suite that Sara Frances and I occupied.

"Why, Lucile," exclaimed Sara Frances when I saw her alone for a moment in our bedroom, "are you going to have a party here?"

"You're working entirely too hard, dear," I told her. "You need relaxation." She merely laughed and moved herself and her notebook into the little bedroom and she stayed there or went outdoors every time I had the Hansons in for bridge.

"No, Lucile, you run away and have a happy time," she said to me when I told her that the Hansons wished us to go with them to a barn dance. "I'll be glad to work quietly on my paper. I must get this report done. Don't worry about my being lonely. I won't be!"

"Have your own way, dear," I replied sweetly, "but just because I came to help you, you must let me copy your report on my machine."

"Thats certainly kind of you, Lucile, she said, and I thought how much fun it would be to tell all the people I know in the French Service league how I had copied and edited the report of their executive secretary. I knew my French was much better than hers.

The next morning I begged her to give me the report to copy, and I went to work on it while she walked to the village to mail some letters. The Hansons came to take me for a motor drive so I locked up the sheets in my suitcase intending to finish it later in the day.

On my return from the few hours trip, I found a rather frantic note from Sara Frances. She said she had been called home by the arrival of some unexpected relatives and for me to bring or send the report at once. She said she had hunted for it until she almost lost her train. Poor dear, I could see she was much excited.

"Lucile," she said to me yesterday over the phone, "I think you ought to know that you just about ruined my report. In the first place it didn't get here until an hour before the meeting of the league, and when I got into the middle of reading it, I found you had left out two pages. I nearly broke down, but I finally did manage to improvise the last part, though I'm sure the whole thing on which I worked so hard, sounded like a jumble."

"Oh, Sara Frances, you couldn't do anything that wouldn't be all right. How clever of you to fill in with an improvisation. That was wonderful practice for your French. I suppose your desperate note to me caused my little error. You see it quite upset me."

"Upset you!" cried Sara Frances hanging up unceremoniously, without saying one word of thanks for all my trouble and devotion to her. I really don't see why all the girls in the club are so daft about her.—Chicago News.

CHILD TRAINING

ONLY ONE SUPERVISOR AT A TIME, PLEASE!

Aunt Becky and I were calling at the home of a new neighbor recently.

Aunt Becky is neighborhood aunt and family counselor to all of us. She had known the new-comer for years, while "Patsy" as she called her, had been living in a suburb of the city.

Patsy has four children, the oldest ten and the youngest three. Patsy's elderly cousin Edith lived with them.

We happened to see the children all together, as our little visit was made on a day when they were not in school.

I soon noticed that neither Patsy nor cousin Edith had any control over the children.

I wondered at this, as they seemed to be conscientiously striving for discipline.

While I was inwardly studying the situation I found the trouble.

Patsy, Jr., was plainly straying from the way of right.

"Patsy, Jr., Patsy, Jr., stop!" came excitedly from cousin Edith, and

"Patsy, dear, don't!" implored Patsy, Sr.

"I was just telling Sister that she shouldn't do that," drawled ten-year-old Maybelle.

And then I knew! The trouble was—too many supervisors.

No doubt every time a child committed a misdemeanor, Aunt Edith, Mother Patsy, Daddy, if he were present, and the other children, took a hand in the disciplining.

While I was thinking, Aunt Becky was talking.

"My dear," she was saying, don't you know that a child should be disciplined by only one person at a time? Too many supervisors giving instructions is confusing to the young mind. In this way your discipline becomes weakened. I should think you would know better, Edith Sykes, having taught school fifteen year."

"Why-er-er, I never thought of applying my pedagogy to my nieces and nephews," frowned Aunt Edith.

"Why not? You taught school successfully. Now help Patsy to raise her children successfully."

"Why Aunt Becky, how do you, a spinster, happen to know so much about children?" Patsy smiled.

"Oh, Aunt Becky knows more than all the rest of us put together," I offered.

The next time I called on the interesting cattle family, I noticed a decided change. The children were all better behaved and happier.

"Yes, Aunt Becky knows what she's talking about, all right," Aunt Edith admitted.

"Indeed she does!" And Patsy Sr. turned adoring eyes toward four happy children playing in the corner of the living room. "We hope she will come often."

"And, give us heaven!" added Cousin Edith, her eyes twinkling.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Brigadier General Frank R. McCoy, who is serving gas director general of the American relief work in Japan, is an officer of the United States army who has distinguished himself both in peace and in war. He was aide de camp to General Leonard Wood when the latter was military governor of Cuba. It was he whom General Wood, with a voice that choked in the command, ordered to lower the United States flag on the palace the day of the inauguration of the Cuban republic. He was also aide de camp at other periods to President Roosevelt and to Mr. Taft when he was secretary of war. As a soldier he had a war experience in France, and later he went as a member of the military commission to Armenia. He was afterward sent to the Philippines, where General Wood, speaking of him as an "exceptionally capable man," recommended him for vice governor. General McCoy is 60 years old and a native of Pennsylvania.

Stories That Recall Others

He Knew How to Save.

John is a thrifty Scotchman from his father's side and a witty Irishman from his mother's side of the house. He often makes good use of the combination. Recently he promised a girl some flowers for her birthday. He wrote a note which read: "What kind of flowers do you like?"

Back came the answer: "Orchids. They are rare."

Back went this: "But girls are not." And with his note were some red carnations.

It Did Seem Strange.

Father was sitting smoking in his chair when up came little Georgie, his son and heir.

"Father," he began as he held up a seed, "if I were to plant this seed, would it grow to be a large tree in time?"

"Certainly, my boy," answered father. "And if you kept long enough, oranges would grow?"

"Are you sure?" asked the excited boy.

"Of course, my boy."

"Oh, but—well ——"

"Well, what about it?"

"Oh, nothing, dad; only I thought it was rather funny for an orange tree to come from a lemon seed."

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WORK

Gained Strength, Weight, and Now Doing Own Work by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Marion, Ind.—"I was all run-down, nervous and bent over. I could hardly drag around, let alone do my work. I read some letters in the papers telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and I thought I would try it. Then a man told my husband about his wife and what good it had done her and wanted him to have me try it. I took one bottle and could see what it did for me in a week's time, and when I had taken three bottles I had gained both in strength and weight and was doing my own work. I took it before my last baby was born and it helped me so much. I sure am glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who suffers from female ailments, for I know by experience what it can do. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, also the Liver Pills, too, and think them fine."—Mrs. WM. ELDRIDGE, 620 E. Grant Street, Marion, Indiana.

A record of nearly fifty years service should convince you of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

COOLIDGE AND PINCHOT AS PRESIDENTIAL TIMBER

Washington Sept. 17.—Senators Pepper and Reed of Pennsylvania, after a conference today with President Coolidge, issued a joint statement regarding the 1924 presidential situation, saying that they found it unwise for the present to express any preference between Mr. Coolidge and Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania for the republican nomination for president.

"If it be true as rumored," their statement said, "that President Coolidge will consent to be a candidate for the nomination and if it also be true, as likewise rumored, that Governor Pinchot has presidential aspirations, a situation will develop upon which a senator from Pennsylvania ought not to express himself premost serious reflection."

"What is best for the country, what is best for the state, what is best for the party, are the considerations to which grave attention must be given, and we have no expectation of making any announcement on the subject in the near future."

The senators called at the White House with Secretary Mellon to request President Coolidge, they said, to attend a celebration in Pittsburgh next month of the anniversary of the founding of the Heinz factory.

Zero Outdoors

—cozy and warm in the kitchen

REMEMBER LAST WINTER? Don't be caught again with a cranky range which doesn't begin to do its share in cooking or keeping the kitchen warm. Install a Crawford and know the joy of cozy kitchen-warmth in the coldest weather.

The Village Crawford is unusually helpful, for it keeps an abundant supply of warm water always ready for use. It has Single Damper Control which makes the Crawford oven so swift, and sure, and dependable, in baking. And in place of the reservoir for hot water, you can add gas cooking to the Village at small cost, by means of a convenient gas end attachment.

Like the Village, most Crawford models can be equipped with a large reservoir, which keeps a generous supply of hot water in the kitchen.

WANTS MORE SEVERE PENALTIES ON LAW BREAKING AUTO DRIVERS

Motor vehicle fatalities so numerous for the period of this year up to September 1 as to form the blackest record in the history of the state motor vehicle department caused Commissioner Robbins B. Stoeckel, in a bulletin just issued to call upon courts to deal more severely with reckless drivers.

"Ninety-three operators were convicted in August for driving while intoxicated," the bulletin pointed out. "Twenty-four were sent to jail, forty-two were fined and the licenses of all were suspended for a year. Only one out of every four convicted of this offense is being sent to jail in Connecticut and the average fine imposed on those fined is $90 each. The courts are not dealing with this dangerous type of offender with sufficient firmness. If the menace is to be wiped out, jail sentences must be more frequent."

140 Killed by Autos

Thirty-three deaths in August made the number of motor vehicle fatalities for the year, thus far, 140. Twenty-nine more people have been killed by automobiles in Connecticut this year than in the corresponding period of last year.

"During the same period Massachusetts has had twenty more such accidents than in the corresponding period of last year," according to the bulletin. The statistical figures for Connecticut on accidents ought to run approximately one half of those in Massachusetts on the basis of cars registered and on the basis of population. At that rate Connecticut's increase should have been only ten fatal accidents to be on a par with Massachusetts. The control in Massachusetts has apparently been better than that in Connecticut, with September, October and November, always the worst months of the year, still to go into the record for the year. Massachusetts has obtained its results largely by means of strict enforcement and by mercilless publicity for operators involved in accidents because of their own recklessness. Connecticut should follow the same course."

2,603 Licenses Suspended

Operators' licenses are being suspended right and left by the department in an effort to cope with the situation and an emergency traffic squad of state policemen has been detailed to various sections of the state highway system where accidents have been numerous. Up to September 1, the licenses of 2,408 operators had been suspended, over four times the number suspended in the same period of 1922. Last month alone 423 licenses were suspended and, in view of the new ruling of the department requiring the suspension of the license of every operator convicted of reckless driving, regardless of whether it is his first, second or third offense, the September record will far exceed that.

For driving while intoxicated, 136 operators were required to forfeit their licenses during the past month, and there was nothing to indicate any decline in the prevalence of drunken drivers on Connecticut highways.

Light Penalties Inflicted

"While arrests increased during the month for motor vehicle law violations light penalties were inflicted by the courts as a whole," the bulletin continues. "Reports to the department show that 800 persons were arrested, charged with violations of this law. Of these 736 were found guilty and penalized, three were found guilty but not penalized, the cases of fifty-one were unconditionally nolled, the cases of forty-nine others were nolled on the payment of costs, eleven were found not guilty, thirty-seven bonds were forfeited, and one was bound over to a higher court.

Reckless driving was charged against 349 of those who were convicted. In addition to the twenty-four jail sentences imposed for intoxication, there were two for reckless driving, three for operating a car without the owner's permission, and one each for evading responsibility, having a mutilated engine number and operating while under suspension.

City Accidents

During August there were 2,089 major motor vehicle accidents, the largest number in any month on record. Of these, 1,551 were collisions involving two or more motor vehicles while the remaining 538 were miscellaneous accidents in which pedestrians, trolley cars, or motor vehicles were involved.

The situation in the largest seven cities on a whole is continually improving as shown by the fact that of the 2,089 major accidents during August, only 823 occurred within their limits. Hartford and New Haven alone reported increases.

Out of the thirty-three fatalities last month, twenty-one occurred on the state highways and in small towns while only twelve were located on the streets of the large cities. Bridgeport heads this list with five, New Haven follows with two, Hartford two, Waterbury two, and New London one. Meriden and New Britain had clear records.

Registration Reaches 176,000

There are now 176,029 motor vehicles registered in Connecticut, a great increase over previous years. Of this number 137,914 are pleasure cars in comparison with 115,784 registered during the same period of 1922 and 101,736 during the first eight months of 1921. Commercial motor vehicles have shown a like increase, jumping from 27,505 during the first eight months of 1921, 33,817 in 1922, and 37,078 in 1923.

AUTHORIZES AUDIT OF NEW LONDON FERRY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 17.—The city council tonight authorized the city manager to have an audit made of the accounts of the ferry management. The chamber of commerce has without any authority undertaken to secure an audit of the accounts, but the city council this evening told that body that it was proceeding about something it had no authority or right to mix into. It is pretty well known that the ferry is not making any money. It is just as well known that it is losing a considerable sum every month it is run. But the city has agreed to allow Charles Willard of Groton to operate the ferry under a system he is using now. The city is not liable for any debts contracted by Mr. Willard for the operation of the boat and the city does not intend to be liable for any such debt. Still the people of New London and those people resident in Groton desire to know just the status financially of the ferry company, or at least of the operators of the ferry and the audit will show what is owed and what the monthly running expenses of the ferry are.

The mishap to the Go-Gas tank in the rear of Trumbull street has led the city authorities to the belief that the company never had authority to locate the tanks and erect them where they have been placed. Now the city city council has taken up the matter and has started an inquiry to ascertain the facts. Councilor Clark made a motion that was adopted this evening and the whole subject will be gone into. He expressed the belief that there was a great element of danger in a case like that of the Go-Gay company losing its thousands of gallons of gasoline if fire should happen to get to the floating gasoline. It raised the question as to the erection of a container by Carroll on Bank street near the Niagara Engine company house and that case will receive attention too while the inquiry is in progress. If the city has no law an ordinance that fully covers the matter it is certain that it will have one after the inquiry. The matter was brought up some time ago and then was referred about so that no member of the council at the meeting tonight could tell anything for a certainty about it.

The movement to secure the abolition of the name of Alger place and the substitution for it of the name of Alger street brought to the city council this evening a rather sharp remonstrance from certain residents of Alger place, who pointed out that the person asking for a change in the name was neither a resident of Alger place nor a property owner there. They object to the change of name. Now the city manager is to give the remonstrants and those who are the proponents of the change a chance to be heard at his office in the near future. It was suggested that the name of Calkins street, in honor of the donor of land for a park in the lower part of the city would be satisfactory to all interested.

MELODY LAND TRIO AT BACKUS HOSPITAL

A delightful programme of music was given Sunday afternoon at the Backus hospital by the Melody Land Trio, under the auspices of the Sacred Heart church of Taftville, in charge of Mrs. D. C. Murphy. The programme was as follows:

The annual meeting of the Woman's Guild of St. James church, Poquetanuck, was held at the parish house Thursday afternoon, Rev. Thomas Ockford presiding. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Chas. R. Weeks; vice president, Mrs. Archie Smith; secretary, Mrs. Charles Harkness; treasurer, Mrs. Bert Williams; auditor, Miss Alice Ockford; directresses, Mrs. Adamson Fuller, Mrs. Arthur Rogers and Miss Fannie Peck.

DR. HUGH B. CAMPBELL RESUMES FREE CLINICS

Dr. Hugh B. Campbell, superintendent of Norwich State Tuberculosis sanatorium, has resumed his clinics throughout eastern Connecticut.

Dr. Campbell began his Norwich clinics the first Tuesday in September and those in New London the first Wednesday in the month; these cities are held weekly.

He visits Willimantic the second and fourth Tuesday mornings of each month for free clinics. He is in Danielson Tuesday morning and in Putnam Tuesday afternoon once a month. The last Friday in each month he holds a free clinic at Jewett City. In each place it is Dr. Campbell's purpose to advise with any who may suspect an inclination toward tuberculosis, as well as to follow up cases which have already been brought to his attention, giving those who may need it the benefit of his expert knowledge and skill and his timely advice.

MRS. D. W. HOLLOWAY DIES WHILE ON LEDYARD VISIT

Idella Terry, widow of Daniel W. Holloway, died suddenly of heart trouble while visiting at the home of friends in Ledyard Saturday evening. Mrs. Holloway, who had been in apparent sound health went to Ledyard recently for an indefinite stay. While walking about the yard where she was visiting she experienced the attack and died immediately. Mrs. Holloway was of advanced years and had resided in New London the greater part of her life.

She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Vine Starr of Watertord, Mrs. William W. Coit of New Haven, Mrs. H. D. Swift of Norwich, Mrs. Benjamin Humphries of Waterford and Mrs. M. D. Avillar of New York, and two sons Daniel W. Holloway, Jr., and Samuel G. Holloway of New London.

OLDEST SUMMER RESIDENT OF WATCH HILL DIES

Mrs. Fannie Treat Doane, 91, died at her Watch Hill cottage, Echo Lodge, Sunday morning. Mrs. Doane was born in Connecticut, the daughter of James and Mary Frances Witter Treat, and became the wife of Dr. William Howard Doane of Cincinnati O., the great hymn writer. Monday morning the body was taken to Cincinnati for burial in Spring Grove cemetery. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. George W. Doane of South Orange, N. J., and Miss Ida F. Doane of Cincinnati, also leaves one sister, Mrs. Daniel L. Lyon of Watch Hill. Having made her summer home at Watch Hill, Mrs. Doane is thought to be the oldest resident of that summer colony.

CHURCH GOD-SPEED TO THOSE ENTERING COLLEGE

A God-speed for twelve young people of the Central Baptist church who are about to leave for college was given Sunday after the evening service. The congregation was invited into the prayer meeting room where Deacon Charles S. Storms was in charge of the programme and led the singing.

The names of the twelve were read as follows by the pastor, Rev. David A. Pitt:

Kenneth Arnold, Suffield Academy; Marian Blackledge, Smith college; Benjamin Covey, Brown university; Floyd Hill, Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y.; Sybil Palmer, Wellesley college; Gale Noyes, Harvard graduate school; Charles Sage, Temple University, Philadelphia; Robert Sage, Temple University, Philadelphia; Arnold Smith, Williams college; Elizabeth Smith, Smith college; William Storms, Brown university; and Alfred P. Storms, Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

Dr. Pitt spoke a brief word of appreciation of what the college girls and boys had been in the church life. Charles L. Stewart represented the church in words of advice and counsel that none of them can fail to remember.

Mr. Stewart reminded the young people that they had the great gift of youth that brings with it the gift of opportunity. Your future, he said, is in the making and each can build a palace or build a hovel. Every man is the architect of his own fortunes in this world and of his destinies in the next. In college you will meet three different groups. One will be the intellectual group, those whose powers along this line make them stand out prominently. Another group will be what might be called the nondescript members, which includes those whose powers are not such as to make them stand out prominent, but this is the group to be watched, for out of it come the leaders. The third group includes those who are in college because their parents cannot think of any other convenient place to send them.

Mr. Stewart advised the young people to make all the social contacts they could for these play an important part in college influences and not all that is to be got out of college comes from books. As to joining fraternities, he said that this was a personal question which each would have to decide for himself.

On the subject of studies, Mr. Stewart said that probably most of those who go to college do so without any definite idea in mind but those who do have a definite idea may find it changing before they finish. But don't be discouraged at that. The great thing is to study to know yourself. However, get all the history and economics you can for these are both preparations for good citizenship.

There are three great purposes in going to college, to develop the body, to train the mind, and develop the soul. To a great extent your college education will be a failure if you miss any of these. Get the broad outlook of life, which is essential to the well rounded life. Strive to find the thing for which you are fitted, and, having found it, go to work with a will.

Appreciative applause greeted Mr. Stewart as he closed.

Dr. Pitt then presented to Miss Clara Palmer the prize which he had offered for the boy or girl of the church who should make the highest stand in studies at the Academy during the past year. This was a New Testament, suitably inscribed. For the coming year he made the offer to take to one of the big Yale games next spring all those who averaged 90 or more in their studies at the Academy.

The evening closed with a social hour during which refreshments were served under direction of Mrs. Henrietta Teft.

MOTOR "FLYING SQUADRON" CHECKING RECKLESS DRIVERS

Superintendent Robert T. Hurley of the state police has reported to Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel that 244 automobiles were stopped by the emergency traffic squad of his department in the past two weeks. There were 124 arrests and 120 drivers were warned. Of 82 cases already tried in courts, there have been eighty-eight convictions. The aggregate of fines imposed was $2,323.

The "flying squadron," as it has come to be known, consists of twelve motorcycle policemen in charge of State Policeman Walter A. Lyneham, and it has been directing its efforts to certain sections of state highways in Fairfield and New Haven counties. The squad was detailed for this special work at the request of Commissioner Stoeckel after an examination of the growing number of accidents had convinced him that a crisis had arrived in motor vehicle traffic control.

The presence of the emergency squad on the state highways was immediately felt. Reckless drivers fell off at once; whereas names, not arrests were made and several warnings given in the first week, the officers found it necessary to make seventy-three arrests and give fifty warnings the second week.

The squad is being transferred without notice to different sections of the state highway system where accidents have been numerous. It is expected that it will be kept on the job throughout September and October.

TELEPHONE COMPANY PAID $561,947.54 IN TAXES

That the Southern New England Telephone Company in 1922 paid $561,947.54 in federal, state, city and town taxes and is, therefore, among the heaviest tax paying corporations in the state, is disclosed in an article appearing in The Telephone Bulletin for September.

Taxes are payable to the United States government, state of Connecticut and municipalities in which the company owns real estate.

The largest amount is paid to the state of Connecticut and consists of a four per cent. tax on the business from operations of the previous year less the real estate tax already paid to cities, towns and other taxing districts. The following shows in detail the actual amount of the tax charges for the year 1922 operating tax paid to the state of Connecticut, $269,204.46; income tax paid to the United States government, $213,191.50; property tax paid to cities, towns and other taxing districts, $54,139.39; capital stock tax paid to the United States government, $11,302.76; corporation excise tax paid to state of Connecticut, $3,000; miscellaneous and non-operating taxes, $3,650.64. Total, $555,947.54.

Governor Charles A. Templeton and Adjutant-General George M. Cole of Hartford Monday morning for Camp Eustis, Va., where on Wednesday they will inspect the 192nd Field Artillery of the Connecticut National Guard, which this week completes its summer tour of duty. Brigadier-General Morris R. Payne, commander of the 85th Infantry brigade, will go to Camp Eustis today (Tuesday). All three will return to Connecticut on Friday. General Payne formerly commanded the regiment.

Have Visited Their Parents

Mrs. C. H. Adams of Pittsburgh, Pa. and Miss Edith Holden of Panama Canal Zone, who have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Holden of Clarendon, Ark., left town Friday for New York. Mrs. Adams will return to her home in Pittsburgh, and Miss Holden will sail today (Saturday) for the Canal Zone where she holds a civil service position with the Panama Canal administration.

Antietam Anniversary.

Veterans of the Civil war commemorated Monday the sixtieth anniversary of one of the most sanguinary engagements of the great struggle between the states—the battle of Antietam.

The battle lasted only one day, but as the sun went down 12,500 soldiers wearing blue and 9,500 wearing gray had sacrificed their lives. The Union forces were commanded by Gen. George B. McClellan and the Confederate army by Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Home From Cape Cod.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fraser and their guest, W. J. Wilson of Canada, a brother of Mrs. Fraser, returned on Saturday evening from an auto pleasure trip to Cape Cod. Leaving Norwich Thursday morning the motorists went to New Bedford, Mass., to visit friends, from which place they proceeded to Plymouth.

Rivals Her Daughter In Youthful Beauty

A well known society matron whose youthful beauty is so well preserved that she is regarded as her daughter's rival in this respect—though she does not pose as such—attributes her girlish complexion chiefly to mercolized wax. She says:

"I am convinced that many cosmetics, by overloading the skin and pores, tend to age the complexion. Mercolized wax has just the opposite effect. It keeps the pores clean, permitting them to breathe, and removes dead particles of cuticle which are constantly appearing and which give the complexion that aged look. Whenever my skin begins to get the least bit off-color, muddy or faded, I go to my druggist's for an ounce of mercolized wax. I apply this nightly, like cold cream, for a week or so, washing it off mornings. This is what keeps my complexion so clear, fresh, white and soft."

Many a complaint registered to a shoe dealer is unjustified because the owner of the shoes has not kept them in good rep

GILMORE CAPTURES WORLD'S SINGLE SCULLING TITLE FROM WALTER HOOVER

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 17.—(By the A. P.)—Handing Walter Hoover the worst defeat he ever suffered, W. E. Garrett Gilmore of Philadelphia today won the Philadelphia gold challenge cup which carries wit hit the world's singles sculling championship.

The race, postponed from Saturday, was rowed on the St. Louis bay mile and a quarter course. Th etime was 9:36. Gilmore won by four lengths, ten seconds ahead of the former champion.

Taking with him the challenge cup, which is valued at $6,500, Gilmore with his young bride and Coach Frank Muller, of the Bachelors Barge club, left here late today for Philadelphia. He expects to reach home Tuesday night.

Weather conditions were not of the best for the race. The air was cool and brisk but the water was choppy. Gilmore rowed in impressive fashion. Hoover never threatened the Philadelphian.

Known as a fast starter Hoover lost the lead at the gun. Gilmore shot right out in front with a quick 38-stroke. Leading h ya full length at the half-mile, Gilmore, without apparent effort, gradually increased his advantage to six full lengths at the three-quarter mile mark.

Then the challenger dropped to a steady 33, taking things easy while the slow moving Hoover struggled to overtake the flying visitor. During the last half mile Hoover gained a couple of lengths, finishing four lengths to the year.

TROLAND WILLING TO TALK BUSINESS WITH O'LEARY

Sports Editor:

All during the season Manager William O'Leary of the Norwich Baseball club has been crying about a series with Taftville after Taftville had its schedule filled and had no open dates. Now I am in a position to talk business with Mr. O'Leary in regards to a series this fall but before any series is started there is to be thorough understanding regarding umpires, ground rules, players and guarantees. In previous years all agreements were merely verbal but this season everything will be down on paper and there will be no chance for an argument.

As to the ground rules, these will be made before a ball is thrown so that no recurrance of the situation that has happened last year and the year before. In those games a ball was hit into the crowd by a Norwich player and it went for all he could get but when a Taftville player hit one in the same place it was only a two-base hit. We will not stand for this another year. Still with all the raw deals we feel we have been given by Manager O'Leary we are ahead on the betting and are willing to take another chance this year if Manager O'Leary can make up his mind before the snow comes.

If Taftville and Norwich can come to some understanding we will bring down a team made up of real ballplayers, something that O'Leary will have to go out and get some big league talent if he wants to win and treat the fans square. We understand that there is considerable feeling against Mr. O'Leary with regards to his advertising one pitcher and then playing another. If he plays us we will assure the fans that we will play every player advertised and we expect Mr. O'Leary to do the same. You can not run a ball team and not give the fans what you advertise.

Taftville finishes up the series with the J. B. Martin team on next Saturday and will be ready to take on Mr. O'Leary's team right after that. We have $1,000 which we will put into a team and still have a little left over to make things interesting. If O'Leary means business let him come and see me and we will fix up a series that will give the fans something to talk about in the way of baseball.

Yours truly

JAMES H. TROLAND
Manager Taftville A. A.

KELLY'S HOMERS FEATURE GIANTS WIN OVER CUBS

Chicago, Sept. 17.—George Kelly, first baseman of the New York Nationals, was the hero of an old-time batting bee today, in which the world's champions defeated Chicago, 13 to 6, in the final game of the series, thereby earning an even break.

Kelly established what is believed to be a world's record in modern baseball when he smashed out three home runs in three consecutive innings—the third, fourth and fifth. In addition he drove out a double and a single, making five hits in as many times up.

MARQUARD HOLDS PIRATES WHILE BRAVES WIN

Pittsburgh, Sept. 17.—Effective pitching by Marquard while his teammates pounded two Pirate pitchers, won the first game of the series for Boston today, 6 to 1. Cooper was hit hard from the first inning and was relieved after the seventh by Stone, who prevented further scoring.

Frank Luce, of the Flint club, Michigan-Ontario League, joined the Pirates today and played a portion of the game in left field. The score:

WHITE SOX SPLIT EVEN IN DOUBLE WITH RED SOX

Boston, Sept. 17.—Chicago and Boston split even in a doubleheader today. Thurston held Boston to six hits in the opener which the visitors won, 6 to 1. Boston won the second game, 6 to 5, mainly through Flagstead's timely hitting. His double in the eighth scored two runs and he in turn scored on McMillan's single. In the ninth with none out and two men on bases Quinn relieved Ferguson and struck out wto. A third batter flied out, ending the game. Archdeacon joined the Chicago team today from the Rochester club of the International league. His work as lead off man was excellent and he made a single and double in each game. The scores:

YANKS HAVE YET TO WIN TO CLINCH PENNANT

New York, Sept. 17.—The New York Americans were delayed in the clinching of their pennant here today, losing to Cleveland, 6 to 2. It was Cleveland's first victory in six games. The veteran lefthander, Sherrod Smith, pitched a steady game against New York, while Cleveland drove Bush into retirement in five innings. Poettger, a young pitcher, did well in the last four innings for New York. The only run scored off him was the result of Speaker's homer. Ruth was walked four times by Pitcher Smith, giving him 156 bases on balls. Score:

NAYLOR AND HEIMACH TOO STRONG FOR TIGERS

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—Naylor and Heimach were too much for Detroit today and Philadelphia won both games of a double-header, the first 2 to 0 and the second 4 to 3.

In the opening contest Naylor blanked the hard-hitting Tigers with five scattered hits while in the windup Heimach was always master of the situation.

French continued his good work in center for the locals while Hale came through with hits at opportune times in both contests. Scores:

JONES, EVANS AND OUIMET STARS OF QUALIFYING ROUND IN AMATEUR PLAY

Chicago, Sept. 17.—(By the A. P.)—Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, national open champion, and Chick Evans, of Chicago, the only man who ever won the national open and amateur titles in one year, today tied for low medal score at 149, one above par for the 36 holes of qualifying particularly in the national amateur championship at Flossmoor, both stars shooting 75 Saturday and par 74 today.

It was a thrilling finish for the large gallery as Evans started late and knew what he had to do to beat Jones score. He settled to the task at once, scoring a birdie four on the first hole and finishing the first nine in 35, one under par. Jones' score for that half. He slipped two shots on the short 11th and 13th, as well as one on the long 10th, but reached the 17th tee with two birdie fours for a victory over the southerner. He slammed out two wonderful wooden shots on the 463 yard 17th and was hole high, six feet from the hole, but missed his putt for an eagle three.

Jones had had a birdie four for a 72 at the 18th tee but had sliced his brassie to a bunker on the 497 yard hole and taken six. Chick did not miss his woods, driving 260 yards to a fine position and smacking a beautiful brassie to the hillside green, 30 feet over the cup. He was five feet from the cup in 3, his approach having slipped away on the slope and he stopped an inch from the hole and victory with his second putt, but insuring a play off with Jones for medal honors.

Francis Ouimet of Boston, formerly national open and amateur champion, set the course record for the event, chalking up a 73, not one of the 120 players in two circuits of the 6,704 yard course being able to better that figure.

The qualifiers, however, were not widely separated, for the highest score that let any one into match play was 161, and six players tied at that figure for the last three places among the 32 elected to contest for Jess Sweetser's title at match play. None of the contestants equalled par for the 36 holes and Jones and Evans were the only two to get under 150.

Dave Herron of Chicago, who won the title three years ago at Pittsburgh by defeating Jones in the finals, was third with 151, being one of five players to make par for the 18 holes today. W. C. Fownes of Pittsburgh, another former champion, scored a par 74 to finish in fourth position with 152, while Ouimet and George Von Elm of Salt Lake city, formerly trans-Mississippi champion, recently reinstated to amateur standing, tied at 153 for fifth place.

Willie Hunter of Los Angeles, formerly British amateur title holder, improved his game four strokes today and scored 35, three under par for the first nine of a 75 to tie for next place at 154 with Albert Seckel of Chicago, once inter-collegiate champion.

Rudolph M. Knepper, of Sioux City, inter-collegiate champion last year, for Princeton, was one stroke behind with 153, while Bob Gardner of Chicago, twice national champion and famous as a Yale athlete, falling off from his leading score of 74, made on Saturday, today took 82 to tie at 156 with Joe Wells of East Liverpool, Ohio.

Yale players showed up well in the next block at 157. Jess Sweetser of New York, defending champion, and Dexter Cummings of Chicago, sharing that score with C. F. Wells, of the University of Michigan, Max Marston of Philadelphia and Harold Weber of Toledo. H. K. B. Davis of San Francisco, got 158, the same score returned by Jesse Guilford of Boston, formerly champion. Guilford came back today after a poor 83 Saturday and by shooting two under par on the second nine got a 75.

In the play off of the tie at 161 for the last three places, C. J. Dunphy, Washington, D. C., and Hoover Barkard of Chicago, lost out at the first hole by taking six each. Eddie Held of St. Louis, trans-Mississippi champion and Russel Martin of Chicago got in at the second hole by scoring par 5, and T. B. Cochran of Wichita Falls, Texas, got the last place at the third extra hole by scoring par five to Don Anderson's six.

The pairings placed Jones and Evans in the lower half so that both of them cannot reach the finals even if they survive preceding rounds, but they are so drawn that they might come together in the semi-finals.

In the upper bracket there are four former champions and the present title-holder, Jess Sweetser. No two of these meet in the first round.

The pairs follow in order of draw: Upper-half: Guilford and Jacoby; Weber and Cummings; Herron and Martin; Sweetser and Seckel; Shute and Held; Sweet and Allis; Frailey and Fownes; Gardner and Knepper. Lower half: Marston and Simpson Cochran and Jones; Joe Wells and C. F. Wells; Davis and George Blossom; Haines and Ouimet; Evans and Hunter; Manion and Francis Blossom; Von Elm and Carter.

POETRY

THE POETS.

By fancies driven, through the world we go,
Drunk on the visions that we would declare,
Winds of the infinite stir through our hair,
We are the singers! We are those who give
To wake the soul with melodies to know.

Out of our dream comes forth at last the act;
Ours to unite, in pomp and majesty,
The word and thing; each wedding symphony,
And then, behind our godlike foreheads we,
Until creation's birth, are blind-fronted.

Beyond, beyond the high-tossed stars of sky,
To dip familiar wings in virgin blue
And thence, eyes darting flame, descend anew.
The crowd, which we, with flown-pointed light, pursue,
Returns to darkness after we pass by.

Forever serving woe and love, we seem
Magicians; making diamonds of tears,
And oracles of hearts that passion sears,
From desolation of the bygone years
Emerges but the splendor of our dream.
—Albert Samain, in The World Today.

SEPARATION.

Stop!—not to me, at this bitter departing,
Speak of the sure consolations of time;
Fresh be the wound, still-renewed be its smarting,
So but thy image endure in its prime.

But, if the steadfast commandment of nature
Wills that remembrance should slowly decay—
If the loved form and the deep-nurtured feature
Must, when unseen, from the soul fade away—

Me let no half-effaced memories cumber!
Fled, fled at once, be all vestige of thee!
Deep be the darkness and still be the slumber—
Dead be the past and its phantoms to me!

Then, when we meet, and thy look strays toward me,
Scanning my face and the changes wrought there;
Who, let me say, is this stranger regards me,
With the gray eyes, and the lovely brown hair?
—Matthew Arnold.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

East Oneco, Sept. 17.—Early Sunday morning Judge C. B. Montgomery received a telephone call from the sheriff's office, asking if he was willing to try a case Sunday. "Sure," was the reply and Grand Juror Frank W. Hazard was pulled out of his beauty chambers to prosecute the wicked one, whoever he might be. The stage being set for the culprit, all went well until a second call over the 'phone notified the court that the bird had flown, only his cap being left behind.

It's very seldom they get away from Sheriff Tillinghast but when they do it's early in the day.

HERO ACT LAST SUMMER WINS LENIENCY IN POLICE COURT CASE

Shakespeare made Marc Antony say in his famous oration upon the death of Caesar: "The evil that men do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones." But Patrick Walsh, 49, a woolen mill weaver found in the Norwich police court Monday morning that good deeds do not always pass into forgetfulness but can sometimes be applied on the credit side of the ledger in case of need.

Walsh was before the court Monday morning on an intoxication charge, having been arrested Saturday night. Last summer Walsh plunged off the dock at Rose place to save a would-be suicide one Sunday afternoon and succeeded in dragging the man back to the dock and holding him there until others secured a ladder and helped them both back to dry land.

Capt. D. J. Twomey who was on duty at headquarters the day Walsh and the man he rescued were brought in put in a good word for Walsh before court opened Monday morning, telling Judge Libby of the way he risked his life to save the man who was floundering in the water. The result was that Walsh escaped the usual $5 fine and was put on probation for six months.

The case against John Kornacki of 63 Eleventh street, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was continued until September 19 under bonds. A similar case against John A. Johnson of No. 86 School street was also continued until September 19, under bonds. Stanley Baranowski of No. 663 North Main street was fined and paid $200 and costs for driving his automobile while under the influence of liquor. A jail sentence of 30 days was suspended. He was arrested at Occum Sunday night after he had collided with another machine.

Two men and two women charged with breach of the peace were fined and paid $5 each. Another man paid $5 for breach of the peace. Five men were fined for intoxication.

KIT AND PLATINUM FOX MODISH SHADE AND TRIMMING

Kit fox is one of the new shades greatly liked for coats this season.

As noticed Monday, it was the tint of a full length coat, tied at the side in the fashionable wrappy effect. The model had a modish platinum fur collar and deep cuffs. The price tag on this elegant garment was $139.75.

Marvella in black was the material of another ultra smart coat, with wide collar and flaring sleeves. For ornamentation it had the newest braided border, deep and rich looking.

Self embroidery on many coats gives a smart finish. Belts continue narrow—one inch is the rule—large fancy buckles are seen frequently and tassels are strong in favor. Wrappy sleeves feature many of the best models.

In the main, the furs best liked are, in the order of their popularity, platinum, fox, squirrel, fox and beaver, although of course other pelts are employed in coat adornment, as required.

Improve the opportunity to look about today and get a line on the up-to-date offerings in the store.

Valuable pointers are given this morning by those enterprising merchants who tell their story in the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

JUMPS FROM BICYCLE INTO PATH OF AUTO

At noon Monday, just as the Broadway school was being dismissed, Henry, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Matthews of 89 School street, hopped from a bicycle directly in front of an automobile driven by C. G. Avery of 36 Hamilton avenue. The accident happened in front of the school house.

The boy, becoming frightened, started to run away, fearing that he would be taken to the hospital. Mr. Avery, who was driving up the hill, immediately stopped and ran after the fleeing boy. When the child was caught it was seen that he was injured and Dr. N. B. Lewis was called. He found the boy had a broken arm and had him removed to the Backus hospital, where the broken arm was set and he was then taken home. No blame for the accident was attached to Mr. Avery.

STATE REFEREE HEARS WOMAN'S DIVORCE PETITION

A hearing was held before Judge Gardiner Greene, state referee, in the superior court room in the court house in New London Monday morning on the application of Ina B. Lincoln of Middletown against Howard B. Lincoln of same place. Adultery and intolerable cruelty were the grounds of the petition, claims for alimony and custody of a daughter, Elizabeth, 15, having been settled between the parties previously. The action was not contested.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln were married on July 24, 1907 and the latter testified to alleged misconduct on the part of her husband and another woman at various times in 1921.

Mrs. Lincoln was represented by Attorney George C. Morgan and the defendant who was not in court was represented by Attorney John C. Geary.

State Referee Greene will make his finding of facts to the superior court for a decision in the action.

THE BULLETIN IN BELLEVUE WINS E. H. MILLER A FRIEND

Writing to Norwich friends from Bellevue hospital, New York, where he is a patient in Ward 6, M., having broken his left hip August 21st, Edward Harland Miller, formerly of this city, expresses gratitude for the many sympathetic messages received, as well as for numerous kindly deeds. Members of the Norwich Society in New York, notably Albert F. Bard and Reginald Reynolds have called upon him frequently.

Alexander Kilroy of Norwich Town is a nurse in Ward K and he, too, has helped cheer the patient. A brace to enclose his broken hip and extend above the waist is being arranged, so that in time Mr. Miller will be able to walk about, with the aid of crutches. For several weeks he has been placed in a wheel chair daily and rolled out on the porch, where he can overlook the river, and all told he is as comfortable as is to be expected under the circumstances.

He expresses the opinion that this is a small world. The other day, a man in the same ward chanced to glance up and note that Mr. Miller was reading The Norwich Bulletin, sent him by friends. He inquired in surprise, "What do you know about Norwich?" and was told that it was Mr. Miller's birthplace. Then the stranger explained that he had come here to live when about fourteen, and had worked later in a mill in Greeneville. He seemed to know all the Norwich people living in Greeneville at that time; he is suffering from a broken leg.

Mr. Miller states that he hopes before long to be able to reply to the many cheering letters which he has received and which have done so much to lighten the tedium of his days and nights in the hospital, where he is receiving the best fo care.

Farewell Gathering.

A farewell gathering was given Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Friese, 806 West Main street in honor of Mrs. Julius Kraft, her daughter, Ruth, and her son, George, who are returning to their home in Newark, N. J., after a visit of two weeks with relatives and friends in this city. Heinrich's orchestra of Lisbon rendered selections and John Dearing sang in fine voice the ballard, The Girl of the Golden West. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. John Dearing.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Heinrich and daughter, Elsie, Max and Alwin Heinrich of Lisbon, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heinrich of Taftville, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. John Dearing, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Adams of Hallville.

No Business for Superior Court.

All the cases assigned for trial in the superior court at New London on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week have gone over and there will be no court sessions on those two days. The postponement was made necessary because the attorneys interested in the cases are engaged in cases coming before other courts.

FOR SUPERIOR COURT ON LIQUOR ACCUSATION

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 17—Tony Arionchuk of Douglass street is the owner of a five passenger Ford car. He used it Saturday to do a little liquor trading on the side, but was caught at it and will not have a chance to offend again till the superior court has passed on his case. As the penalty for transporting liquor is a severe one he is worried as to whether he will have to take as severe a dose as the law can hand to him. Tony went to Montville where he got a supply of booze, some two gallons of it, in jugs. Then he drove over to Chesterfield where he met some acquaintances and there he took aboard a couple of the friends and a gripsack full of bottled goods. The load was nabbed by Sergeant Smith as the Arionchuk car came from Chesterfield. It was run down on Vauxhall street, by a peculiar coincidence in front of the residence of State's Attorney Hull. All the accused denied that they were the owners of the liquor except one of the fellows in the auto and he admitted that he bought what he had in bottles at a Chesterfield farm where there was a supply of it. Prosecutor Cronin could not make out a case against the riders so they were found not guilty. Arionchuk was ordered to appear before the next term of the superior court. In lieu of going to jail today he furnished a bond of $2000 and was released.

Rocco Gentilella, who keeps a little restaurant at 414 Bank street, was convicted of selling to a couple of spies and was fined $200 and sent to jail for ten days. The conviction was for selling on the 5th inst to Mike Campelli, an employe of the Bridgman detective agency, who was with Thomas F. O'Connor at Naugatuck in the game. They came here on the 5th and had Gentilella and Joe Pozzella in their grasp the next afternoon. The detectives ran into Dave Morton, a character about town who is always ready to take a drink, and by him was piloted to the two places named. Dave took the spies in and introduced them which was equivalent to giving them entree to the places. The party called for a drink and each was served, the white mula being given to them in mugs which also contained coffee. They admitted that it was good stuff, but said it had the desired effect on them. Indeed, when Morton had reached the Gentilella place after a visit to Pozzella's place he was loaded to the muzzle. He was so drunk that his new friends dropped him as if he had been squeezed of all the information they wanted. The spies made their report and what they reported was sufficinet to warrant the prosecutions. They brought back from the Pozzella place a soda bottle full of white mule or gin, and that they had in court today to convict the accused men. The accused denied that they were guilty. They declared that they did not sell to anyone. Gentilella admitted that Campelli and O'Connor were in his place, but said he served them sandwiches and with coffee as plain as hard facts. Pozzella denied that he ever saw the men in his place, also denied that he sold them anything, in the face of the statements of the detectives under oath that they bought a bottle from Pozzella and drinks from Gentilella. Both the accused men appealed and gave a bond each for appearance before Judge Waller.

TAFTVILLE

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Link Link Krauss, widow of Nicholas Krauss, was held from her late home in Lisbon, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. H. Hunzinger, pastor of the German Lutheran church of Norwich, officiated. Six sons of the deceased, Lawrence, Bernard, Hans, Christopher, Martin and John Krauss acted as bearers. Burial was in the Ames cemetery in Lisbon where Rev. Mr. Hunzinger read the committal service. The many beautiful floral tributes included a pillow, from her seven children: standing heart, "Grandmother," grandchildren; standing wreath, "Mother-in-law," William Werner; cross, Bernard Krauss and family; wreath, William Krauss and family; spray, John Werner; standing wreath, Mrs. Maria Hoefer and family; spray, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Meyer; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Feld and family; standing wreath, German Shooting club. Among the out-of-town people who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Lou Krauss of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. William Werner and daughter, Anna, and John Werner of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. John Krauss of New Bedford, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Lens of Rye Beach, N. Y., are the guests of Mrs. Lens's mother, Mrs. Agnes Joubert of Norwich avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Tracy Clark have returned from their wedding trip and are at their home on North Third avenue.

At the final meeting of the Taftville Field Day Association, it was announced that the net receipts of the field day recently held on the Providence street grounds exceeded $850. This is extremely gratifying to the committee who had charge of the affair, who appreciate the patronage and assistance of all who co-operated to make this event one of the biggest of its kind in this part of the state.

President John B. Benoit stated Saturday, that another event staged for this fall would no doubt bring the total up to $500 which would be used to make the Allied Club Community Fourth of July celebration in 1924 equal the gold day in size.

NORWICH TOWN

Large congregations attended Sunday morning and evening services at the First Congregational church, when Eddy Asirvatham of Madura, India, gave two very interesting addresses. At the morning worship, Mr. Asirvatham, a Christian Indian, after a few introductory remarks, spoke on The Needs of India. He classified the needs under four headings: First, Social Needs. India is about two-thirds the size of the United States, with a population of $18,000,000, or about three times the population of America. This population is divided into castes which are based upon birth. What India needs is abolition of caste, or at least modification of it.

The second need is Elevation of the Place of Women. The Hindoos believe that no women will go to heaven, because they have no soul. They also believe a widow disgraced and that she should not re-marry.

The third need is Compulsory Education. Statistics show that the great majority of the people of India are illiterate, as they have no opportunity. Twenty-three boys out of every one hundred have a chance to attend school; while only four girls out of that number are allowed to do so.

The fourth and last, is the need of Christianity. Out of $18,000,000 people 217,000,000 are Hindoos, while only 4,000,000 are Christians, the balance being Mohammedans, Brahmins and Buddhists.

In closing, Mr. Asirvatham, who spoke clearly and with a great understanding of his subject, made reference to the belief the Hindoos have in the future life.

Mr. Asirvatham, who is a graduate of the American College in Madura, has taken a post-graduate course at Harvard, and is to take a three-year course at Edinburgh, Scotland.

At the Young People's Christian Endeavor service at 7.30, in the evening, there was an attendance of about 250, which included Endeavorers from seventeen different churches and societies. Arthur Avery, a member of the entertaining society, presided, in the absence of the president. Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey offered prayer and Orrin Maples, president of Norwich Christian Endeavor union, read the Scriptures. The meeting opened with a praise service by a chorus choir in charge of Clyde M. Beebe. Miss Bernice Underwood sang Jesus, Lover of My Soul.

Mr. Avery presented Mrs. Harriet Hyde Zumbro, recently of India, and an earnest worker in the church and union for many years, who introduced Mr. Asirvatham. His address was along the lines of What the West Can Contribute to the East in the way of Christianity and other things, also showed why India needed Christianity; and what the east can contribute to the west. Mr. Asirvatham referred in particular to the fact that the Hindoos could teach us in reverence to elders, something they consider sacred; and which we do not. Special stress was laid on the Fatherhood of God, the Brotherhood of Man and the social service idea. The meeting closed with prayer and benediction by Rev. Edwin E. Crowdis.

Other clergymen present included Rev. James B. Aldrich, Rev. Charles W. Hanna and Rev. W. D. Hetherington.

TROUBLE IN NEW LONDON STORES, DUE TO SATURDAY EVENING CLOSING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 17.—The funeral of Mrs. James Young was held this morning at 9 o'clock, when a mass of requiem was sung at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church by Rev. Alexander C. Wollschlaeger. The bearers were Timothy Sweeney, George Young, John Sweeney and Austin Young. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

John Luzzi, 52, residing at 83 Waibach street, died Saturday night at Lawrence hospital, where he recently underwent an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Prentis have returned, having spent a fortnight in Canada.

Miss Lendora Gumbs, 24, of 54 Goshen street, died Sunday at the home of Dr. Anthony Crocicchia of Howard street, where she had been under treatment but a short time. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at her home, Rev. Philip M. Kerridge, rector of St. James' Episcopal church officiating. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Edmund Ferguson Hedge of Fishers Island and Miss Bertha L. Stoughton, of Clinton, at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Westbrook, Wednesday afternoon, September 26th.

Robert Moore, who has been at his summer home at the Pequot all the season, has left for New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Jackson of Boston, are spending a few days with Mrs. Jackson's father, Lucius L. Whiton at the latter's summer home at Ocean beach.

Miss Emily Lee has returned to Springfield, Mass., having spent the greater part of the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Dean.

Mrs. O. L. Simmons, Mrs. Laura Coleman, Mrs. Rosa Gibbs and Mrs. Lena Thompson have returned from New Bedford, Mass., where they attended the annual convention last week of Prince Hall Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star. Mrs. Simmons was delegate from Electra Chapter, No. 7, O. E. S., of New London, of which she is worthy matron and was honored by being elected to the office of grand electra of Prince Hall.

H. Eugene Raynor, Jr., of Ansonia, and Miss Lillie Carlson, of Ivoryton, daughter of E. J. Carlson of 507 Ocean avenue, were married at the home of the bride's father, Saturday afternoon by Rev. George Gilbert, pastor of the Middletown Episcopal church. Miss Edythe Carlson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Raynor left on a wedding trip Saturday night and upon its termination will reside in Ansonia, where Mr. Raynor is employed as foreman by the Farrell Brass company.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hubbard and daughters, Mrs. Poor and Miss Margaret Hubbard, have closed their summer home on Ocean avenue and have returned to Yonkers, N. Y.

William Cook has returned, after spending several days with Boston friends.

Judge of Probate Arthur B Calkins and wife have returned home, after having spent two weeks at Upper Dam, Me.

Miss Isabelle Austin, employed in the office of director of finance, Carey Congdon has resumed her duties after spending her vacation in Southampton, L. I., and in New York city.

Dr. M. L. Small is in Atlantic City, attending the 33rd annual convention of the American Electrotherapeutic association.

Miss Hazel B. Hadley, employed in the division accountant's office of the New Haven railroad, at the Union Station here, spent the week end with friends in East Greenwich and Providence.

Miss Sarah Abbe of South Windham, spent Sunday with her cousins, E. Clinton and Arthur Winchester, at the Hotel Mohican.

Walter Cole of Huntington street, Patrick Ahearn, Howard street, Walter J. Pucker, Jr., Mystic Oral school, Mrs. Florence Maus, Lincoln avenue, Mrs. Evelyn Hale, Huntington street and Mrs. Mary Tignator and infant, of Westerly, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Margaret Moon, 19, an inmate at the State Farm for Women at East Lyme, is missing from the institution, having disappeared Sunday afternoon. An employe of the institution is in New London seeking the girl, who is described as about five feet, three inches in height, weighs 120 pounds, has her hair cut short and is cross-eyed. When the girl ran away she wore a gray sweater, either a gingham or white dress and did not have a hat.

This afternoon, all the employes in the Paterson candy store quit. They would have been discharged next Saturday had they not left of their own volition today. Mr. Paterson considers he is still boss of his establishment and he proposes to remain as such while he has investment in the place. He opposes the Saturday evening closing at 6 and posted a notice telling of the failure of the clerks to carry out his orders and for that reason he gave all hands notice that their services would not be required after the 22d. The girls got together, held a sort of League of Nations confab and decided that they would walk out today. It is understood that other stores that have been closed Saturday evenings for two weeks will be open for business on that night hereafter. They cannot see where it is to their advantage to close their stores at 6 o'clock while stores on Bank street in the same line of trade keeps open till 10 or 11 o'clock. The dissatisfied merchants declare that the early closing movement was started by women who do not really care whether the stores are closed or remain open, so long as they get the credit of having made a move for the "overworked clerks."

John J. Kelley of 100 Blinman street late this afternoon reported to the police that his automobile had been in collision on Bank street with a car bearing registration, Connecticut issue, 131-296, and that both cars were damaged. The car in collision with Kelley's machine is listed in the name of Gerard DeVito, 355 Park street, Hartford. DeVito did not make a report of the accident.

C. H. Havens, 38 West Pleasant street, late this afternoon reported to the police that some time after last midnight a spare tire and rim was stolen from the rear of his automobile parked in the yard of Havens' home.

James R. Vincent of Warren, R. I., was arrested this evening by Motorcycle Officer William Babcock, charged with evading the payment of toll at the Saybrook bridge. Vincent is alleged to have passed over the bridge at a fast rate of speed and refused to stop when signaled to do so.

Torbjorn Seifert, 18 Starr street, complained to the police this evening that three large bread boxes, used in the shipment of bakery goods to Fisher's Island, had been stolen from the wharf of the Fisher's Island Navigation company. The boxes were left on the pier Tuesday and when Seifert went there today to take possession of them he discovered that they were missing.

Herbert Wicker, a chief petty officer stationed at the submarine base, today reported to the police that complaint had been made to him by women because of the action of a man employed on the erection of a building on Mercer street. According to the story related by the women, the construction worker has been exposing himself daily while women are passing the place on their way to work.

Not only was Vogel's cottage at Ocean Beach burglarized but also the summer home of a man named Cohen, also of Hartford, and located on Park street, as is the Vogel cottage. The second break was revealed Sunday afternoon when Vogel came to New London, and upon visiting the Cohen cottage one of the rear windows was found forced, some of the contents of the place having been removed.

Joseph Lenzze of New London, arrested here a few days ago by State Policeman Thomas Henry, charged with perjury in making false statements in procuring an automobile operator's license, was acquitted by Judge Cornelius C. Costello in the Groton town court this morning.

Joseph Arsenault of the submarine base was in Groton town court this morning, charged with non-support. When arrested Arsenault had in his possession a government check, made payable to the accused, in the sum of $313. Judge Costello continued the case a month, but advised Arsenault to pay his debts and support his wife and three children. One of the bills was for $100 for milk furnished the family for two years.

As a result of the automobile crash at the foot of Durfee Hill, Waterford, on the night of the 1st inst., when an automobile owned and operated by Dr. Wilford I. Robinson, 30 Farmington avenue, Hartford, and with Frederick Burke and James Bennett, also of Hartford, as passengers, crashed against a tar tank wagon, causing the trio to receive injuries that caused them to become patients at Lawrence hospital, Dr. Robinson was notified tonight at his home in Hartford by State Policeman R. V. Urkhart to appear before Justice of the Peace Thomas F. Morton in Waterford tomorrow night and answer a charge of reckless driving.

The case of Michael Shasha and Philip Hausey, charged with assault with intent to kill in having attacked Walter Murphy, a Connecticut company trolley conductor, with a penknife on Montauk avenue Saturday night, was continued until next Monday and the accused furnished a surety on their bonds for appearance at that time.

OUTLAW STRIKE OF NEW YORK UNION NEWSPAPER PRESSMEN

Publishers Forced to Resort to Composite Issue—George L. Berry of the International Union Declared the Strike Was Illegal, Without the Sanction of the International and in Violation of Agreement to Arbitrate Differences—Internatinoal Officers Have Joined With the Publishers in Sending Out Calls to Pressmen in Other Cities, Whether Union Men or Not, to Help Get Out the Suspended Papers—Threatens to Cancel Charter of Union Unless Members Obey Orders to Return to Work—Morning Papers to Combine in One Issue Today.

New York, Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—New York went without its leading newspapers for the better part of 24 hours today when a strike of 2,500 Webb pressmen prevented publication of a majority of the city's morning and evening dailies.

From midnight last night until this avid newspaper readers of the world. Practically were cut off from news of their own and the rest of the world's doings.

The metropolis awoke to find its breakfast and its ride to daily chores made dreary by the absence of morning-night editions which were run off before the pressmen walked out had been exhausted by late theatre crowds.

An early edition of the New York Evening Post, run off by a hastily recruited corps of pressmen, was the only one of the large afternoon papers toappear before noon and when that had been exhausted, the newsstands usually loaded with frequent editions of the afternoon dailies, were bare and hundreds of raucous voiced newsboys were mute.

Newspapers in nearby New Jersey cities, smaller local papers not affected by the strike and foreign newspapers hastened to taken advantage of the situation, rushing thousands of papers and scores of emergency newsboys to the more important traffic intersections where they enjoyed an unprecedented sale at premium prices.

One Boston newspaper sent copies of a special edition to the city by airplane while a local Italian paper, for the first time in its history, put on sale an all-English edition. Many newsstands presented the unusual picture newspapers in half a dozen foreign languages and none in English.

The newspaper famine was relieved in the late afternoon when a composite newspaper, representing fourth the 13 afternoon newspapers affected, and printed separately by the various sheets, appeared on the streets.

The unique publication, which bore the names of all the 13 newspapers in the usual typographical style used by each was the result of a conference between newspaper owners and officials of the International Union. It was there decided that the papers would pool their resources to permit the publication of a 6 or 8 page newspaper to contain whatever advertisements and news each of the dailies deemed expedient to print.

Across the top of the combined paper were the words:

"The Combined New York Evening Newspapers." In a three column box at the upper left side was a list of captions: The New York Journal, The Evening Mail, New York Evening Post, The Sun, The Evening Telegram, The Evening World, The Brooklyn Citizen, Brooklyn Daily Eagle, The Standard Union, Brooklyn Daily Times, New York Herald. Above the central caption was the name of the newspaper from the shop of which the particular sheet came.

Except for the usual heading and form of the composite sheet, the newspaper was similar to the usual daily editions printed by the various newspapers, except for its condensed form.

The composite newspapers were distributed by the joint delivery forces of the twelve plants.

The strike was called a few minutes after midnight by Web Pressmen's Union No. 25, after the organization had concluded a four meeting. President David Simons of the union declared that all but one of the members had voted for the strike which, he said, grew out of the inability of the Union and publishers to agree on a working contract to replace the one which expired Septembarl.

The newspaper owners announced through the Publishers' Association that the walkout was taken without due notice and was unjustifiable. They announced they would make no effort to meet the needs of the striking Local and that they would attempt to negotiate with the officers of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union of North America.

George L. Berry, of the International Union, characterized the strike as illegal, without the sanction of the International and in violation of the Fri-Parte Agreement to arbitrate any differences which might arise between the International, Local and Publishers.

He urged strikers to return to work and served notice that the International would do everything in its power to help publish the New York dailies. Both he and officers of the Publishers' Association sent out calls to pressman in other cities, whether union man or not, to come here to help get out the suspended papers.

David Simons, president of the local Union, in a statement this afternoon denied the strike was illegal and declared it followed failure of the publishers to comply with the agreement that a new contract be drawn up before September 1.

The publishers tonight made public a letter from Mr. Berry to officers of the local union, in which he declared action would be taken to cancel the union's charter unless the pressmen returned to work immediately.

Mr. Berry directed the men to return to their positions and said unless they complied with the request "it will be necessary to cancel the charter of the New York Newspaper Webb Pressmen's Union, No. 25."

Opposed to Mr. Berry's action was that of the Central Trades and Labor Council taken at a meeting when a resolution endorsing the Web pressmen's strike and promising aid to the strikers was passed.

Arbitration

Mr. Berry indicated tonight that he would be willing to arbitrate the differences between the publishers and the pressmen. It was announced tonight it was announced that Mr. Berry would meet officials of the New York Webb Pressmen's Union, No 25, tomorrow at noon.

Morning newspapers decided upon publishing a combination newspaper along similar lines to those employed in the printing of afternoon newspapers.

TO ABSORB ESSEX LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY

Hartford, Sept. 18.—In granting its approval of the petition of the Central Connecticut Power and Light company for purchase of the entire capital stock of the Essex Light and Power company, the public utilities commission today included the following paragraph: "It is not to be assumed, however, from this approval that the proposed purchase price is found and decreed to be the fair value of the property used by the Essex Light and Power company in its public service for rate making, capitalization or other purposes."

The entire capital stock of the Essex company was purchased on July 16, 1923 by Bodell & Company, of Providence, who will make a profit of approximately $5,000 by selling at the proposed purchase price of $300,000, less $32,500 cash paid to the Central Connecticut company.

A hearing on the petition was held on July 20, at which time no one appeared in opposition. A further conference was held on September 13 to straighten out a mistake in the original petition.

The petition sets forth that the Central Connecticut company, serving the towns of Glastonbury, East Glastonbury, South Glastonbury, Hopewell, Middle Haddam, East Hampton, West Chester, Colchester, Moodus, Little Haddam, East Higganum, East Haddam, and Hadlyme, is capitalized at $370,000 par value.

The Essex Light and Power company distributes electricity in the towns of Chester, Deep River, Saybrook, Ivoryton, Old Saybrook, Westbrook, Lyme and Clinton.

The companies are not competitors and all stockholders have agreed to the transaction.

As set forth in the petition the terms of sale are as follows: A demand note of $300,000 to be exchangeable for $200,000 of five-year seven per cent gold coupon notes of the Central Connecticut company, and $100,000 par value of cumulative seven per cent preferred stock of the company (subject as to issue of stock to the approval of the stockholders) or, at the option of the seller, exchangeable for $300,000 of five-year seven per cent gold coupon notes.

TESTIMONY FOR PROSECUTION IN THE WARD MURDER TRIAL

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The state today began weaving the net of circumstances by which it plans to convict Walter S. Ward, son of the millionaire Brooklyn baker, of the murder of Clarence Peters, ex-marine.

After supreme court justice Wagner who is presiding at the trial had denied the motion of the defense for the dismissal of the first degree murder charge, the prosecution brought forward three witnesses, two of whom testified regarding the finding of Peter's body on a lonely Westchester road nearly 17 months ago. The third was Dr. Harry J. Vier, who told of the autopsy which he performed.

Pale and impressive Ward looked on, less active and apparently under greater strain than while the jury was being chosen. He, his wife and brother, Ralph, who sat near, were the center of interest for the several hundred spectators who packed the courtroom to the doors. Only half of the audience consisted of women, many of whom were fashionably dressed.

The trial will be resumed tomorrow.

STATE PRISON SENTENCE FOR CONFESSED JAIL BREAKER

Bridgeport, Sept. 18.—Alexander Zepko, of Fairfield—confessed jail breaker, automobile thief and burglar —was sentenced to state prison from ten to thirteen years by Judge Arthur F. Ellis in the criminal superior court here afternoon, when he pleaded guilty to escaping from the county jail here last November with Eugene Le Doux, now in state prison and to four counts of burglary and five counts of automobile thefts.

Zepko, who has been confined to the county jail since he was brought back from Montreal several weeks ago by State Police Sergeant Frank Virelli and Deputy Dennis O'Neil was brought before the court on a bench warrant.

Sentence of one to three years was imposed for jail breaking, and terms of four years on four counts of burglary and five years on five counts of automobile thefts were also imposed. Zepko will probably be taken to Wethersfield tomorrow.

MISS GLORIA GOULD WEDS HENRY A. BISHOP, JR.

New York, Sept. 18.—Miss Gloria Gould, daughter of the late George Jay Gould and Edith Kingdon Gould, was married today to Henry A. Bishop, Jr., of Bridgeport, Conn., at St. Bartholomew's church. The wedding, a leading society event of the season, was simple, owing to mourning for Miss Gould's father who died in France last May.

Miss Gould, youngest of the seven Gould children, made her debut in New York society last winter. Mr. Bishop is a member of an old Connecticut family.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Earthquake Shocks in Italy.

Rome, Sept. 18 (By the A. P.).—Earthquake shocks were felt today in southern Italy and Sicily. No material damage was done and there were no casualties.

Pope Pius To Resume Audiences

Rome, Sept. 18.—Pope Pius has ordered the work on his apartment hastened, as he wishes to resume giving audiences, which he suspended for the summer season. Many applications for audiences have been received from foreigners.

Berlin To Tax Alcoholic Drinks

Berlin, Sept 18—A municipal tax on alcoholics is to be imposed in Berlin byp which the city authorities hope to realize approximately three trillion paper marks annually. Beer hall proprietors say that if the Berlin municipal tax is really enforced many of the old time drinking resorts here will be compelled to close.

DISAGREES WITH POSITION OF CHIEF JUSTICE WHEELER

Hartford, Sept. 18.—Disagreement with the position of Chief Justice Wheeler, that first offenders under the liquor law should be sent to jail was voiced by Judge Alexander W. Creedon of the Hartford police court today when seen after he had indicated by imposing fines upon two such offenders that he intended to continue his own judgement in each case that comes before him. He said he had written a letter to the chief justice in which he stated why he could not follow the latter's recommendation.

"I do not believe that the judicial department of our government should assume the authority of the legislative branch by taking away from our courts the discretion which the legislature, in its wisdom, saw fit to give us," declared Judge Creedon when asked for his views on the subject. "All offenders should not and cannot be measured by the same yardstick." He maintained that any movement to bring about greater respect for the law should be made upon the broader basis that all laws should be obeyed rather than that the courts or police should specialize on one.

Pointing out that, notwithstanding a statute specifically prohibiting professional Sunday baseball games, such games were being played every Sunday in three large cities of Connecticut, he inquired how the bar could bring about a greater respect for law in communities where the enforcement of one law was emphasized and the violation of another was openly winked at. He made it clear that he agreed with Chief Justice in the fundamental proposition of securing more respect for the law and also that the liquor law should be enforced, but differed as to the manner of accomplishing the end in view.

REJECT CLAIBORNE-ADAMS CHECK COLLECTION PLAN

Washington, Sept. 18.—Complete rejection of the so-called Claiborne-Adams check collection plan and adoption with changes of the Federal Reserve Board's "Regulation J," penalising banks failing to remit at par, was recommended to the board tonight by the Federal Advisory Council at the conclusion of its fall session.

The Claiborne-Adams proposal was put forward by Charles De B. Claiborne, New Orleans, and L. R. Adams, Atlanta and provided for par clearance within the limits of each reserve district. It was opposed by all members of the council.

"The Federal Advisory Council," a formal statement said, "having heard Messrs. Claiborne and Adams in support of the co-called Claiborne-Adams Check Collection Plan and the recent amendments thereto, is of the opinion that the plan is unsound and, therefore, unanimously recommends its rejection by the Federal Reserve Board. The council concurs in the essential objection to the plan as set forth in the report of the advisory committee of reserve bank governors to the Federal Reserve Board, dated August 1, 1923."

SENTENCED FOR MURDER OF AN AGED RECLUSE

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 18— John Dandone, who killed George W. Hultz, 72, a recluse who lived in a shack near a pond in Topstone, north of here today was sentenced to state prison for not less than 12, nor more than 15 years after he had pleaded guilty of manslaughter. The shack in which Hultz lived was burned the night of May 4 last. The next day Hultz could not be found, but a blood smeared path through weeds indicated that the body had been thrown into the water. The body was later recovered but it was two months before Dandone, living nearby, was detained on suspicion. Later he confessed, claiming that he killed Hultz because the latter shot at him while he was picking dandelions.

Dandone's real motive, according to the coroner was that he hoped to get some money Hultz might have had in the shack, to make good a boast to a woman he was courting that he was wealthy.

OFFICIALS IN SPAIN SILENT ON SITUATION

Madrid, Sept. 18.—Government officials today refused to give out any information to the newspapers concerning the situation in Spain. They referred all inquiries to General Primo Rivera, who as the head of the military directorate they said was the only person to give out news.

General Primo Rivera today refused more than one hundred requests for interviews from Spanish and foreign newspapermen.

A large number of government functionaries have given up their positions, being fearful that they would be thrown out of office under the decree of General Primo Rivera announcing the complete reorganization of the government services.

RULES SUICIDE'S RELATIVES ENTITLED TO COMPENSATION

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 18.—Death by suicide, brought on by aberration of mind, caused by injury sustained in course of employment was held a compensable injury under the Workmen's Compensation Act in a ruling made today by the Michigan State Department of Labor and Industry.

Chauncy M. Murch a janitor of a school in Alpena, struck his ear on a door. Erysipelas developed from the abrasion. He cut his throat while in a delirium brought about by his illness according to testimony.

The department ruled that death was due to an injury incurred in the course of his employment and that his dependents are entitled to compensation.

Italy Questions the Powers of the L. of N.

Maintains That the Greco-Italian Dispute Cannot be Raised, Because Incident Has Been Settled.

Geneva, Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Former Premier Salandra of Italy, addressing the Council of the League of Nations today, refused to acknowledge that the question of the League's competency in the Greco-Italian issue could be raised, because that incident had been settled. He said Italy, however, would agree that the question of the general interpretation of the covenant be left to authorized persons. This was presumed to mean the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Stephen G. Porter, chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the American house of representatives, and Signor Salandra, head of the Italian delegation, all unconsciously were in rivalry today respecting which would hold the center of the stage at Geneva.

Mr. Porter's appearance as the official representative of the Washington government on the opium question challenged general attention as indicating anew that the United States was actively participating in the humanitarian efforts of the league of nations. But when Signor Salandra in the next room began before the council a defense of Italy's attitude in the conflict with Greece and announced that Italy was not able to discuss the question of competency there was a general movement of the public from Mr. Porter to Signor Salandra.

The Italian delegate justified the occupation of Corfu, even said that other countries, including the United States, had taken measures similar in nature on matters less grave than that which caused the occupation of Corfu. By the time Signor Salandra arrived at the most important points in his argument, the opinion meeting had adjourned, perhaps with intention, and the delegates, headed by Mr. Porter, flocked into the council chamber.

Salandra's position was that as the Greco-Italian conflict was settled there was no occasion to discuss the competency of the league to act, because no specific case existed on which to interpret the covenant. However, he added, Italy would not oppose a general interpretation of the covenant by authorized persons—presumably alluding to the permanent court of international justice.

The impression tonight among the delegates is that the question of Italy's attitude is far from being disposed of. Hjalmar Branting, former Swedish premier, immediately expressed his discontent with Signor Salandra's exposition, which will be further debated within a few days.

In the course of his address today Mr. Porter alluded to the practice of the league and expressed his personal opinion that the proposed new international opium conference could best be held under the auspices of the league, because it would have behind it the league's prestige and get better results than if convoked by any state acting independently. This statement was warmly applauded. Mr. Porter urged that the proposed conference report to the league on or before the assembly meeting of 1924.

The conference will comprise representatives of the countries where opium and cocoa leaves are produced for export, countries where drugs are manufactured therefrom and governments in whose territories prepared opium is consumed. Its object, said Mr. Porter, would be to agree on a strategy to prevent abusive use of these substances, their products and derivatives. The conference, which the assembly is expected to approve, will carry to a further degree the aims of the League convention, which several states have not yet ratified.

Referring to India's reservation of her right to use opium locally, Mr. Porter said the American laws classed raw opium as a narcotic drug, to be administered under medical supervision. The United States did not wish to question the general legislation with regard to opium, but the United States did not regard as legitimate, except as stipulated in The Hague convention, international traffic in opium for other than medicinal and scientific purposes. He declared that the adoption and enforcement of the American principles would ultimately eradicate a great international evil.

DOUBTFUL OF ITALY'S ATTITUDE TOWARD LEAGUE

Geneva, Sept. 18 (By the A. P.).—Italy's emphasis today before the council of the league on the legitimacy of the occupation of Corfu is generally regarded among the delegates as reopening the whole quesrion of the Italian attitude towards the league.

When Signor Salandra had completed his defense of the occupation, former Premier Branting of Sweden maintained that there was a considerable difference between what was permissible before the covenant of the league was drafted and what was permissible after a majority of the world's states had adhered to the covenant. He added:

"I feel also that public opinion will find it very difficult to understand that these so-called pacific reprisals are really of an innocent character and in fact in conformity with the spirit of the covenant."

Among the smaller states the opinion was expressed tonight that Salandra's defense was fortunate in one sence since judgment by the assembly is now inevitable. Among the larger states, including France and Great Britain, Salandra's statement has created considerable annoyance, as both Lord Robert Cecil and the French leaders have struggled to settle the incident in a conciliatory manner.

The little entente statesmen said that if the covenant must be sent to the permanent court of international justice for interpretation, as Italy suggests, every time a serious international incident arises the council of the league will lose all effective power.

REGULAR REPUBLICANS WIN PHILADELPHIA PRIMARY

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—Although no figures form today's primary election were available at 10 p. m. leaders of the republican organization claimed that W. Freeland Kendrick had been nominated for mayor of Philadelphia by a substantial majority and that all the regular republican candidates for county officers and a majority of the city councilman had been successful.

Gov. Pinchot Pledges Negroes Protection

Whole Power of Pennsylvania Will be Used to Halt Deportation at Johnston—Mayor Defiant.

New York, Sept. 18.—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, today sent a telegram to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People here announcing that "the whole power of this commonwealth will be used, if necessary to maintain constitutional rights" at Johnston, Pa., where wholesale deportation of negroes is alleged to have been ordered by Mayor Caulfiel.

The governor's telegram which was made public by the association, also said he had wired Mayor Caulfiel "asking him for a full statement of facts and reason for action taken."

Governor Pinchot's telegram was in response to a protest made by the association against the alleged action of Mayor Caulfiel in ordering all negroes who have not been residents for seven years to leave Johnston immediately, following the killing of two police and the wounding of four others, the crimes being charged to the negroes.

The association protested "against this highhan injustice through such deportation of men regardless of their innocence or guilt solely because their skins are black and pointed out that the only action that should have been taken would have been to seek out and punish the guilty."

The association announced it had sent a competent investigator to the scene and would do everything in its power to protect the lives and property of Johnston negroes.

MAYOR DECLARES NEGROES "MUST PACK UP AND GO"

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 18.—Mayor Joseph Caulfiel of Johnstown announced late tonight that he had replied by telegraph and special delivery letter to Governor Pinchot's telegram requesting the reasons for the city executive's recent order that negroes who have resided here for less than seven years must leave. Mayor Caulfiel refused to say what he told the governor, but reiterated his order that the negroes "must pack up and go."

CHICAGO TO WAGE FIGHT TO FINISH ON BEER RUNNERS

Chicago, Sept. 18.—A "fight to a finish" between allied city, county and national law enforcement agencies and Chicago beer runners was promised tonight after a conference of Chicago state and federal officials.

Meanwhile, the police, fearing the possibility of renewed warfare between rival gangs of beer runners which resulted last night in the shooting to death of two members of an alleged beer running band, had rounded up more than a dozen suspects and were making desperate efforts to keep them in custody despite the pleas of attorneys for the suspects for habeas corpus writs.

The slaying last night of George Meegan and George Bucher in an automobile and the killing ten days ago of "Jerry" O'Connor, another alleged beer runner, also caused Mayor William E. Dever today to order every saloon, coffee shop and restaurant in which intoxicants were found to be closed.

"Spike" and Steve and Pat, of the O'Donnell clan, said to head one of the beer running factions, were in custody tonight. Others held include alleged members of the rival beer running outfits and two men supposed to have taken part in the killing.

Petitions for habeas corpus writs to free several of those held will be heard tomorrow. Meanwhile, the police are reported to be hunting for still other suspects including Johnny Torrio, known to the police as a "beer king."

The inquest into the deaths of Meegan and Bucher was opened today but after the bodies were identified it was continued until October 10. Officials declared they had trouble in finding six men who were willing to serve on a coroner's jury, many of them saying they had been warned to refuse.

TOOK POISON INSTEAD OF HEADACHE TABLETS

South Norwalk, Sept. 18.—James A. Sexton, a musician and teacher, known throughout the state, is at the Norwalk hospital, suffering from poisoning and not much hope is entertained for his recovery. He had a headache yesterday and on reaching home from the theatre, at which he is organist, he took what he thought were tablets for his headache. He became ill and his condition was decided to be that which follows poisoning. He is about 35 years of age and has fraternal order connections.

MORE THAN 1,000 HOMES DESTROYED IN BERKELEY

Berkeley, Calif., Sept. 18.—More than a thousand houses were destroyed with a property loss of $8,000,000 in the fire which devastated the northeast residential section of Berkeley yesterday, according to the reports of a survey completed at noon today by City Assessor Harry J. Squires.

OBITUARY.

Charles E. Lyman.

Middletown, Sept. 18.—Charles E. Lyman, president of the Lyman Gun Sight company in Middlefield, died in his home there today, aged 65. He leaves three sons, Henry H. Lyman, Charles E., Jr., and John Lyman, all of Middlefield; three daughters, Mrs. Paul Mathewson, of Yonkers, N. Y.; Mrs. Hugh Woolston, of South Bend, Ind., and Esther Lyman, of Bridgeport; two sisters and two brothers.

The funeral will be conducted Friday afternoon.

John Chisholm Fletcher.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Sept. 18.—John Chisholm Fletcher, a master of the bookbinders' craft, and widely known as a cover designer, died today at the Halcyon Park residence of his daughter, Mrs. Herbert D. Walker. He was nearly 92 years old.

Mr. Fletcher was born of English parentage in India, on January 4, 1832. He married Isabella Cove in London, who died here in 1910. Besides Mrs. Walker she leaves two other daughters and two sons, Mrs. Harry Gifruth, of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. J. P. Coryell, of White Plains, N. Y., and Charles and Sidney Fletcher, both of Bridgeport, Conn. There are thirteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

REJECTED SUITOR SHOOTS BRIDE AT WEDDING FEAST

Assailant Then Shot Himself, Dying Almost Instantly—Tragedy Was Enacted at Festivities in New Haven—12-Year Old Boy Was Wounded by Bullet—Bride Refused to Remain in Hospital—Wedding Celebration Was Resumed After an Interval of Two Hours.

New Haven, Sept. 18.—Joseph Kubas, 32, of 318 West 104th street, New York city, a former suitor of Mrs. Margaret Goleszcky of 758 Grand avenue, this city, appeared at a wedding celebration in her honor tonight and fired two shots from a revolver at her and when about to be captured by a police officer turned the gun on himself and fired, dying almost instantly.

Another bullet from Kubas' gun struck Joseph Kuccenski, 12, in the right hip. He is in a hospital, where an operation will be performed tomorrow.

Mrs. Goleszcky was struck by the bullets in her right elbow and left thigh. She was removed to a hospital but refused to remain there, returning to the Grand avenue house.

Patrolman J. A. Alexander, who was in the vicinity, upon hearing the report of the shots, rushed into the house and found the woman lying in the hallway.

He then began to ascend the stairs to the second floor in pursuit of Kubas, who turned the gun on himself as the officer was about to take hold of him.

The wedding celebration was resumed after an interruption of two hours' duration.

The marriage ceremony was performed in the Polish church here this morning. Mrs. Goleszcky, whose name before her marriage was Margaret Kolawski, said she had met Kubas when she was employed in New York city a few years ago. She said they had had a quarrel and she felt that had ended their friendship.

CONFUSING CONFLICT OF AUTHORITY IN TULSA, OKLA.

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 18.—(By The A. P.)—Tulsa went to bed tonight in a situation defined by Sheriff Bob Sanford as one of "the synthetic rebellion." It was perplexed as to who rules the roost—the military or the civic authorities.

A district judge has ordered the state's adjutant-general to appear in a civil court tomorrow with three military prisoners. The summons, delivered to the civil sheriff, Colonel E. L. Head, who, it is indicated, may or may not serve it upon his superior officer, Adjutant-General B. H. Markham.

The situation was further complicated by a mystery surrounding the whereabouts of Adjutant General Markham since his departure for Oklahoma City, Monday.

The first skirmish is scheduled for 9 o'clock Wednesday before District Judge Albert C. Hunt, where the summons is returnable.

Whether the right of habeas corpus exists is Oklahoma under martial law despite Goverior J. C. Walton's order suspending the right is the legal question involved.

Are military authorities amenable to civil courts during a period of "insurrection and rebellion, such as now exists throughout Oklahoma by reason of Governor Walton's proclamation," will be the question precipitated by a failure of the military officers to serve or obey the court summons.

The townsfolks are all mixed up but business is as usual; and aside from the half dozen guardsmen on duty on the mezzanine floor of the city's leading hotel and two score of their comrades quartered in an outlying armory, there is no evidence of the political furore which grips the state.

The seventy-five militiamen who constitute the force here are visible only at the armory and at military headquarters.

The three military prisoners are under sentence of two years each for confessed implication in the flogging of a farmer, several weeks ago.

LAW AGAINST INCREASE IN COMMUTATION RATES

Hartford, Sept. 18.—Inquiries from several commuters on the proposed increase in commutation rates on the "New Haven" railroad have developed the fact that the proposed increase is in direct opposition to a state law.

The law, section 3775 of the general statutes, revision of 1918, states that, "no railroad company which has had a system of commutation fares in force more than four years shall alter or abolish it, except for the regulation of the price charged for such commutation, and such price shall in no case be raised to an extent that shall alter the ratio as it existed on July 1, 1865, between such commutation rates and the rates then charged for way fares on the railroad of such company."

Several commuters called at the office of the attorney general today to look up the law in the case. As attorney general Healy was not present no opinion has been given. However, it is understood that the proposed raise in rates is one of 20 per cent., which is in excess of the limit prescribed in section 3775.

Edward M. Yeomans, referee in bankruptcy, who has long been a commuter from Andover, said today that he did not believe the company was within its legal powers and that he would fight the issue as he has done before.

THIRD QUARTER INCOME TAX PAYMENTS $3,019,142.21

Hartford, Sept. 18.—A total of $3,019,142.21 in income tax payments for the third quarter of 1923 have been received at the internal revenue office at the close of business tonight, Collector Robert O. Eaton announced. Of this amount, nearly $1,000,000 was received yesterday and more than $511,000 today.

More than 400 delinquents are listed and are subject to a fine for this quarter, Collector Eaton said, a number which is larger than usual. To come within the time limit, returns and payments must have been mailed prior to midnight Saturday.

BANK MESSENGER SHOT IN THE JAW IN BROOKLYN

New York, Sept. 18.—Fred Rauch, payroll messenger for the First National Bank of Brooklyn and former policeman, was shot in the jaw today by three bandits, who held him up in the downtown section of Brooklyn and escaped with $7,600 in cash. He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

RESULT OF PRIMARY ELECTION IN BRISTOL

Bristol, Conn., Sept. 18.—In the city primary election here today, John F. Wade, present mayor, and Thomas A. Tracy, were nominated for mayor for the regular election on October 1. Of the 15 candidates for the city council, 12 were nominated. All other candidates were unopposed.

NEW PRICES IN GINGHAMS BY AMOSKEAG COMPANY

New York, Sept. 19.—New prices on 1924 ginghams by the Amoskeag company of Manchester, N. H. were announced here tonight.

The new prices which have been expected, are as follows: 12,000 range, 27 1-2 cents; uniform, 24 1-2 cents; romper cloth 29 cents. 27-inch staples, 16 cents. 22-inch staples, 13 cents. At the request of jobbers, the policy of future rating on bills will be maintained, the new bills carrying April 1 dating.

With a slight exception in the case of staples, these prices are the same as those made for spring 1923, when cotton was five cents a pound lower, and when wage schedules in the New Hampshire mills were on a 15 per cent. lower basis.

Owing to the long depression in lines of this character, the dry goods trade has been awaiting the action on these prices with much apprehension. Normally, the mills making similar lines would price their goods in July for the following spring deliveries, but the long delay of this year has been due to the uncertainty in the cotton markets and the desire of jobbers to be given time to liquidate some part of their stocks before proceeding into spring.

It is expected that other mills will price their lines immediately. Much goods has been sold for future delivery, subject to price confirmation when action is taken on leading lines.

Styles and colorings show a radical departure, much deeper colors being used, many unusual weaves being introduced. Some of the designs are more comprehensive than is usually attempted in low priced colored cotton yarns products.

THREE TOWNS IN CALIFORNIA WIPED OUT BY BRUSH FIRES

San Francisco, Sept. 18.—In addition to Berkeley, which was swept in part by a fire yesterday, three smaller towns in northern and central California were wiped out by forest and brush fires. The other places were Boyes Springs and Markhams, in Sonora county, and Eldorado, in Eldorado county.

Boyes Springs is a summer resort and in addition to the hotel and a theatre, the depot, post office, general store and approximately fifty other buildings, mostly cottages, were destroyed.

At Markhams, the hotel, two stores and a number of homes were burned. Thirty summer cottages in Sonoma Vista, also were destroyed. Only two business buildings and six residences were left standing in Eldorado.

The fire in Eldorado county was reported today to be burning the 2,000-acre University of California stock farm. It also had spread to the Eldorado National Forest, where it was to be beyond control.

Reports were received that it was expected the fires would be under control soon in Central California as the wind had subsided to some extent. In Santa Barbara county the forest fire that has been burning for three weeks on the watershed of the Santa Ynez river, still was beyond control.

75 RECEIVE THE HIGHEST DEGREE OF MASONRY

New York, Sept. 18.—Seventy-five Masons tonight received the highest degree of Masonry at the 11th annual meeting of the supreme council of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite for the northern jurisdiction of the United States. Had he lived, President Harding would have received the thirty-third degree tonight.

The seventy-five upon whom the thirty-third degree was conferred are practically from the New England states. Eight hundred delegates from all parts of the country, and some from abroad, witnessed the ceremonies.

Leon M. Abbott of Boston, sovereign grand commander presided.

ONE YEAR IN JAIL FOR TRANSPORTING LIQUOR

Bridgeport, Sept. 18.—First definite action in the criminal superior court, pursuant to the attitude of courts toward liquor law violators, determined and agreed upon at a recent law enforcement conference between Chief Justice George W. Wheeler of the supreme court and Fairfield county prosecuting attorneys was taken at today's session when Thomas Fusco, 30, after pleading guilty to transporting liquor, was sentenced to one year in jail by Judge Arthur R. Ells.

A stay of execution that an appeal to the supreme court might be taken was denied.

JACKSONVILLE WINS THE ODD FELLOWS' CONVENTION

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 18.—Despite unfavorable weather, the great parade and public meeting of visiting Odd Fellows attending the convention of the sovereign grand lodge of the order was carried out today with but little change in the original program.

Jacksonville, Fla., won the 1924 Odd Fellows' convention for 1924. Too much cannot be said in praise of the hospitality extended by the Cincinnati Odd Fellows to the visitors.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre.

A character new to fiction, the stage and the screen is the "crime detector" who makes his bow to the public in Goldwyn's Red Lights, a picturization of Edward Rose's mystery melodrama, The Rear Car. The screen version is the attraction at the Breed theatre today and Thursday. The "crime detector" is a new type of detective—he does not track criminals after the crime has been committed, but prevents, or deflects, the crime.

The story is rather complicated and has to do with the daughter of a railway magnate who has been kidnapped, the half-crazed, vengeful brother of the magnate who finds a means of transmitting his voice by means of red light and uses it to wreak vengeance upon his brother for winning the hand of the woman he loved by terrorizing the daughter. The daughter's identity is discovered and it is when she starts home to her father that all the startling, horrifying events detailed in the picture take place. The spectacular dash of an uncoupled rear car down a mountain side, with all of the principals of the story in it, furnishes one of the biggest thrills.

The photography is all that could be desired and the acting measures up to the high standard set by Goldwyn and maintained in all of its productions. Marie Prevost is the girl; Raymond Griffith the crime deflector; Jean Hersolt the villainous brother. Others in the cast are Johnnie Walker, Dagmar Godowsky, Frank Elliott, William Worthington, Lionel Belmore, Alice Lake, George Read, Charles H. West and Charles B. Murphy. Your spine will tingle and your hair try to leave your head while seeing this photoplay.

Other pictures on the bill include Movie Chats and an Educational comedy.

Attractive posters call attention to a food sale by the Democratic Women's Club, at Boston Store, today. Mrs. Milo R. Waters is chairman of the executive committee.

The Strand.

Juvenile Varieties, a dainty production with six clever youngsters encompassing a versatile offering, comes to the Strand theatre for a three day engagement that is expected to afford keen pleasure to local theatregoers.

Dainty Dorothy Forestal is seen in one of the leading roles and one that is sure to firmly enshrine her in the heart of any audience. Sharing prominence with her are the Wilson Sisters, two accomplished young misses, whose acrobatic dancing has been a sensation wherever they have appeared. The ages of the youthful entertainers range from 5 to 12 years.

Other acts include Nolan & Sparry in a variety offering; Kinsear and Frabito, comedians; and Joe Armstrong, the eccentric comedian.

There's a right royal comedy-drama at the Strand theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, that may justly be called one of the finest features of its kind. Luck is its title and Johnny Hines is its star, aided and abetted by a cast of prominent screen players who know their business and accomplish it in convincing style. Particularly heartening is the fact that in his graduation from the two reel to the feature comedy class, Johnny Hines has again definitely proven that he belongs where he is now—in comedy-drama features.

Leadingg Lighting Plant Manufacturers Announce New Plan.

Announcement is just made by the Delco-Light Company, of Dayton, of a new plan for the distribution of their farm electric plants which it is declared will be of vast importance to all farmers and their families who have been longing for the benefits and conveniences of electricity in their homes.

This plan is called the installed price plan. It names a single low price which covers, not only the Delco-Light plant and battery desired, but also the cost of installing, the cost of wiring the house for ten lights in locations to be specified by the owner of the house, ten drop lights placed in position, complete even to the ten eccetric bulbs in their sockets, and a special power socket for connecting up the various electrical appliances which the housewife may want to use.

A financing plan also is provided, it is explained, which enables those who desire it, to buy their equipment on easy payments. The whole plan is designed, it appears, to make it easy for the farm family to have electricity. Many thousands of farmers have purchased electric plants, it was shown, since the Delco-Light company began their manufacture, less than eight years ago. This company alone has sold more than 200,000 of these during that time and this number will increase very rapidly during the coming months, in the belief of the manufacturers of Delco-Light Products.

The Delco-Light company, as the largest manufacturers of farm electric plants in the world, in making it possible for the farmer to have electricity so easily and at such moderate cost, have undoubtedly taken a step which will lead to much finer results and will mean the spread of far greater blessings for mankind, than even they, themselves realize.

In recognition of Constitution Day, Anne Wood Elderkin Chapter, D. A. R., held a meeting at Columbia Lake, in the cottage of Samuel Chesbro, known as "Big Bluff Lodge," which was placed at the disposal of the chapter for the afternoon. The transportation of the members from this city to the lake was in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. Charles F. Risedorf.

Mrs. Carrie Larrabee, the new regent, called the meeting to order and explained the affair was in the form of a gathering and not a regular meeting. Various subjects were discussed and action on these will be taken at the next regular meeting. It was voted to accept the invitation of the Putnam D. A. R., to make a pilgrimage to Hampton in the early part of October. A talk will be given by a speaker familiar with the history of Hampton and its landmarks. The members are to carry basket luncheons.

The meeting was then turned over to the chairman of the program committee, Mrs. Chappell, who in turn introduced Samuel Chesbro, the chapter's host. Mr. Chesbro gave an interesting summary of his recent trip to South America, supplementing his description with a number of photographs and post cards. Mr. Chesbro then presented each member of the chapter a small piece of money, souvenirs which he brought back from South America. The afternoon closed with lunch.

Captain Taylor of the local Salvation Army was tendered a surprise party in honor of her birthday. The affair was held in the new citadel on Walnut street and there was a fine program, including recitations, songs and cornet solos by Miss Florence Hiscox of Quincy, Mass. Captain Taylor was given a handsome bathrobe, the presentation speech being made by Miss Gertrude Simmons on behalf of the members of the Salvation Army and friends. Mrs. Coe of Ansonia and her daughter, Lieutenant Coe of the local corps, served refreshments. Others present were: Miss Gertrude Bren, Mrs. Kenyon, Wendell Kenyon, Mary Tress, Lawrence and William Monroe, Walter Wheaton, Russell Wingertsman, Robert Brown, O. S. Loveland, Raymond Kenfield, Miss Avis Kenfield, Mrs. E. Kenfield, Miss Effie Butler, Mrs. J. T. Brown, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Ida Upton, Mrs. A. Brown, Mrs. E. Lewis and Winifred Coe.

Willimantic Rotary club members gathered for their weekly session and luncheon Tuesday noon in a local hotel. President Jim Mustard occupied the executive chair. Guests at the meeting were Allen Balch of Hartford, son-in-law of Frank M. Smith, and Charles Lohman, of the Boston agency of the American Thread company. Secretary Charles W. Hill announced that a talk on boys' work, would be broadcasted from station WEAF, New York city, at 9 o'clock, by Conrad V. Dykman, imperial potentate of the Order of the Mystic Shrine of North America, and a fellow Rotarian.

A communication was read from Ray M. Havens, of the business methods committee of the International Rotary and another from George Cooper, governor of the Thirtieth district, in regard to the fund for Japanese relief. The local club voted to add $25 to the fund.

The Rutland quartet, comprising Rev. Harry S. McCready, James J. Bath, Doc Riordan and Herb Huber, sang Round Her Neck She Wears a Yellow Ribbon. They were led by Rev. Harry McCready. Valentine L. Murphy and Rev. Harry McCready were both called upon to give a report of the fall conclave at Rutland.

Both speakers incriminated several of the other members in some of the doings at the conclave. Jim Mustard and John C. Tracy will give their observations next week, in regard to the conclave. The Willimantic club ranked third in attendance.

Anthony L. Scaglio of Glastonbury, was charged with traveling at a speed greater than 30 miles an hour on the Hartford-Willimantic highway Sept. 6, before Justice Hubert P. Collins on Monday evening at the town hall and pleaded not guilty. Scaglio was represented by a Hartford attorney. State Policeman Merrill R. Keith, who made the complaint, testified that when going from Hartford to Willimantic a car passed him in Columbia, near the Andover line, between two curves, going 35 to 40 miles an hour. He overtook the machine and found that Scaglio, who owned the car and held the automobile and driver's license, was teaching Romer, a man in his employ, who held no license, to drive. He said that the curves were taken at a dangerous rate and on the wrong side of the road. The officer thought that the driver must be intoxicated. The attorney for the defense asked to have the case dismissed as Scaglio was not doing the driving. The justice said that the owner was responsible for one under his direction, but the attorney denied this. The case was nolled, on the payment of costs. At first there was some talk of taking an appeal to the superior court. Scaglio later paid the costs amounting to $15.43.

John Vachon, charged with reckless driving, pleaded guilty. Motorcycle Officer Grant Bombria, who made the arrest, testified that Vachon was coming down Main street and when he should have given the right of way to a bus which came out of Railroad street, he stepped on the gas and narrowly escaped a collision with another car coming out of Church street. The case was nolled on the payment of the costs, amounting to $5.25.

A sedan owned and operated by William McCulloch, superintendent of the Warren Woolen company plant, Stafford, crashed into a touring car owned and driven by Lyman Nichols of Willimantic, on the River road, Stafford Springs, Sunday afternoon. No one was seriously injured. The machines collided near the railroad bridge, the left side of the Stafford machine being demolished. Considerable damage was done to the Nichols machine. Mrs. Nichols received a slight cut on the face.

The third annual hill climbing contests will be held under the auspices of the Manchester Motorcycle club Sunday at Mathien's hill, town of Columbia. Archie Jarvis of Manchester is in charge of the meet. There will be five events for solo riders and one side-car event. The hill is 850 feet long with a fifty-five per cent grade. Entries include riders from all of New England and New Jersey.

Mrs. Demerise Emond Lessard, 78, died at her home in Montreal, Sunday night, after a long illness. She was born in St. Henri, Canada, April 20, 1847. Mrs. Lessard had resided in Willimantic for thirty-three years up to three years ago when she moved to Canada. She was a member of the Ladies of St. Anne Society of St. Mary's church of this city. She leaves seven daughters, Elzire Lessard of Montreal, Cecilia Lessard, district nurse of Putnam, Eugenie Lessard of Willimantic, Marie Anne Lessard, matron nurse at Union hospital, New Bedford, Mrs. Alphonse Chagnon of this city and Mrs. Rene Beaudry of Paris, France two brothers, Desire and Joseph Emond of St. Henri, Canada; also three grandchildren. The body arrived in this city Tuesday afternoon and was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alphonse Chagnon, 30 Turner street.

Ladislaus Cieluszniak, the seven months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cieluszniak, of 11 Ives street, died at the home of his parents, Tuesday morning at 10.45 o'clock. The parents have six other children, three daughters, Mary, Victoria and Helen, and three sons, Joseph, Stanley and Edwin Cieluszniak.

Beatrice Adeline, infant daughter of Adelard and Elizabeth DeMontigny, died Tuesday morning at the home of her parents, No. 955 Main street. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with burial in St. Joseph's cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of the Hurteau-Bosse corporation.

Eliza, widow of Edward St. John, died at her home in Hardwick, Vt., Friday afternoon, after a year's illness. Mrs. St. John leaves three children, Morgan R. St. John of The Ridges, professor of music at Willimantic State Normal school; Ancel of New York city, and Miss Grace St. John of Hardwick. The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the family home in Hardwick. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery, at Brooklyn, N. Y.

The service water pipe leading into the boiler room of the town building has been in use since 1837, when the building was erected and its decayed condition was the cause of three recent breaks which flooded the floor of the room. Employes of the various departments in the building were without water while repairs were being made and after the third bursting of the pipe it was decided to make permanent repairs and install a new pipe. The town building will remain dry for several days while the repair work is under way.

Sagging joints in the rails of the South Coventry branch and Norwich line of the Connecticut company, within the city limits, are being brazed and welded by employes. The work will lessen much of the noise caused by passing trolley cars.

Willimantic fell in line with the reduction of gasoline prices, the wholesale price dropping to 18 1-2 cents, plus one cent war tax. Standard Oil company and Gulf Refining company gasoline is now 23 cents a gallon, retail.

Another ballot will be taken next week by the members of the American Thread Athletic association in regard to the proposition of taking over the local Y. M. C. A. building and converting it into a community house.

Checker tournaments and boys and seniors will start next month, according to an announcement made by Physical Instructor A. F. Brown on Tuesday. Entries are being received. The team captains follow: Boys', Rodman, Simon, Brousseau and Ostrich; Seniors', Higgins, E. Cohen, Oehrle and W. French.

Mrs. Sarah A. Niles who is on a trip across the country, has arrived in Idaho to spend the winter.

The women members of Willimantic Country club are engaged in a tournament this week. The thirteen contestants are: Mrs. G. Everett Harrington, Mrs. Kenneth N. Pillsbouse, Mrs. Louis H. Arnold, Mrs. John F. Ahern, Mrs. William A. Arnold, Mrs. Don H. Curtis, Mrs. Jeremiah E. Sullivan, Mrs. F. W. Carey, Mrs. R. G. Remington, Mrs. Joseph St. Onge, Mrs John G. Boss, Miss Emma Britton and Mrs. George M. Graves.

Friends of Norman Hibberd Williams were entertained by his mother, Mrs. Fred J. Williams, of Maple avenue, in celebration of his ninth birthday, recently. They were: Charles Hibberd, Spencer Lincoln, Lee Weatherhead, whose birthday was on the same day, Leo Neff, Frank Rice, Carl Mundell and Ralph Williams.

The commitment of fifteen prisoners to the county jail at Brooklyn, Monday, by Judge Newell R. Jennings of the Windham county superior court for liquor selling was a record for any one day in the history of the jail. There are now forty-one prisoners at the institution. The thirteen men committed Monday were put to work Tuesday, on the prison farm. The two women have laundry and kitchen assignments.

There have been rumors about town that a man or woman not accompanied by one of the opposite sex is not welcomed at the new Al Pierre Tabaria. These rumors are false, Albert J. Piche has announced that one and all are welcome and that there is plenty of setting space for those not wishing to dance.

The forty hours' devotion came to a close at St. Mary's church Tuesday morning with a solemn high mass at 8 o'clock. The edifice was filled. Rev. Donat Jette of Waterbury was the celebrant; Rev. H. C. Belec deacon and Rev. E. A. Mathieu, sub-deacon. There were over 2,800 communicants during the devotions.

Two automobiles are on a motor trip to Niagara Falls and Canada from this section. The parties include Mr. and Mrs. Abel Burnham, Mrs. Mary Burnham, Mrs. O. B. Clark and Mrs. E. F. Kramer of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Burnham and Mrs. Olive Burnham of East Hampton.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto D. Bolz of Norwich visited Mrs. Bolz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Welsh, over the week-end.

Miss Lena Fullerton is to enter Mt. Holyoke college.

Miss Lillian Ottenheimer and Miss Mary Rose Savory spent the week-end at the Hickey cottage at Crescent Beach.

Misses Helen Holbrook, Doris Bradway and Myrtle Tryon have returned to Connecticut College, New London.

Miss Mary Ottenheimer of Lewiston avenue recently entertained Miss Louise Richards of Springfield.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

A Wonderful Pair of Boots.

You remember in the last story that Little Jack Rabbit and the Cobbler had gone to bed leaving the unfinished boots on the work bench. Well, no sooner were they sound asleep than two little elves from the forest crept down the street of the quiet little town and peeped into the window.

On seeing the bunny boy's unfinished boots lying on the cobbler's bench, they softly lifted the latch on the door and tiptoed into the room. The moonbeams through the little window made it as light as day and at once the two little elves picked up needle and thread and set to work. After the sewing was finished, they put on the heels and hammered in the wooden pegs as neatly as you please.

"Now, we'll leave a letter in the boots for the bunny boy," they whispered, and taking a piece of paper from the Cobbler's desk they wrote:

"Heigh diddle dumpling, diddles and smiles,
One step in these boots will make seven miles.
You will find you can walk as fast as a train,
And your feet will keep dry even out in the rain.
Remember the elves have made them for you,
And never forget us, whatever you do."

Then, slipping out of the door as softly as you please, the two little elves ran back to the forest.

When the bunny boy and the Cobbler came down the next morning of course they found the boots finished and ready to wear.

"Gracious me!" exclaimed the good cobbler, "those kind elves have made me a visit. 'Tis many months since they were here."

While he was speaking Little Jack Rabbit tried on the boots and coming across the letter which the two little elves had placed in the left toe of the right foot, he took it out and read it to the cobbler.

"Gracious me!" exclaimed the good man again. "You have a wonderful pair of boots. Far better than I could have made for you," and he tickled the bunny boy under the chin, between the ears, just where bunny boys and girl rabbits like to be tickled, you know.

"What do I owe you, my good

"We'll leave a letter in the boots."

man?" asked Little Jack Rabbit, but the kind cobbler wouldn't take a penny.

"Then take this magic napkin," said the generous bunny boy, shoving his paw into his pocket. "When you wish to dine, say 'Be spread with something to eat,' and you will find food in plenty in less time than you can say 'crickety crick!'"

And while the good cobbler was still thanking him, Little Jack Rabbit hopped away, and goodness me, he went so fast in those seven league boots that before the cobbler had said one word he was out of the village and far away. And in the next story I will tell you more about Little Jack Rabbit on his journey of adventure.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Several were cut by flying glass, bruised and considerably shaken up, though none appeared to be severely hurt, when cars driven by Aldred Gingras of Dayville and Linwood P. Chapman of West Thompson crashed at the junction of the state highways just south of Attawaugan early Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Gingras, riding alone, was northbound for Putnam and coming along the highway leading directly from that place to Attawaugan. The Chapman car was heading south ahead of a funeral cortege escorting the body of John McGregor, following funeral services at West Thompson, to the place of burial near Oneco. Mr. Chapman was a considerable distance in advance of the remainder of the funeral party, that he might get to the cemetery ahead of the mourners and make certain final arrangements for the burial. He was heading toward what is known as the cut-off, the new section of state highway leading from Attawaugan to Dayville Four Corners, when his car was in collision near the intersection of the roads with the Gingras car, which was turned over in the smash. The Chapman car, a touring model, was badly damaged in the accident and later was brought to a Danielson garage to be repaired.

Mr. Gingras was cut on the head and suffered abrasions in the accident. Mr. Chapman sustained cuts on the face and other injuries. He was taken into the car of Fred Nutiall of Danielson and received treatment from a Putnam physician, declining to go to the hospital, and deciding to proceed to his home. Other passengers in the Chapman car were not seriously hurt in the accident, which occurred where similar collisions have happened in the past.

The hustle and bustle that each year marks entry day at Brooklyn fair was repeated Tuesday when many busy people were engaged in entering and arranging exhibits and getting the displays ready for this, the first of the big days of the fair.

It was again evident Tuesday that the grounds are hardly large enough to meet the demand being made each year for space for the midway concessions, for the showing of new models of automobiles, for machinery displays and special exhibits by agricultural bureaus of the state and others who have things that can be shown to great advantage at a county fair. This year the grounds will be as crowded as was the case last year, when the available space for outside displays could have been heavily oversold, so many were the applications for concessions.

With good weather, the fair management looks for an exceptionally heavy attendance today. No feature that in the past has contributed to making Brooklyn fair an institution will be lacking when the gates are thrown open and the crowds begin to pour in from highways radiating in all directions from the grounds.

The displays of fruits and vegetables promised Tuesday to be very interesting. In the women's building there will be the usual fine display of needlework in great variety.

Brooklyn fair will have a fine cattle show this year. The number of horses at the grounds promise good racing. Vaudeville acts that are to entertain the crowds arrived during Tuesday.

With practically all the territory within the half mile track available for parking space, there will be ample room for all the cars that come to the grounds.

Numbers of people who are at the fair with horses or have concessions or duties that require them to be on the job early this morning spent Tuesday night on the grounds.

A sight well worth going miles to see is that presented at the Lapsley orchards, where hundreds of apple trees are so laden with ripening fruit that the limbs are bent to the ground under their great burden and seem incapable of holding up any great load without collapsing. No such crop has been seen at this orchard in several years and it is a revelation to all who pass that way. There are thousands of bushels of splendid red apples on the trees and the sight from the highway is a wonderful one. The Lapsley orchards, where picking is about ready to begin, are on the route between Pomfret Landing and Brooklyn—the route running past the General Israel Putnam fram. These orchards are the largest in this section of eastern Connecticut and one of the finest in southern New England.

Funeral services for John McGregor, formerly of Ballouville, were held Tuesday afternoon at West Thompson, Rev. N. B. Burton of Putnam being in charge. Music during the service was by a quartet made up of Mason Babbitt, Kenneth Sharpe, Wallace Smith and Edwin Duffey. Burial was in the McGregor family cemetery in the town of Coventry, R. I. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Candidates for Killingly High school's football team were out for practice on the Quinebaug grounds Tuesday afternoon. The players are hardening up and are on their way to the playing condition in which it is desirable to have them at the opening of the playing season, which will be at the end of the present month.

Dr. Hugh B. Campbell of Norwich saw many patients here Tuesday, when he came to the health station in the town hall to conduct a clinic.

Friends of Frank Barber say they meant nothing unkind when they named his new police dog puppy Firpo —merely that the little dog looks as if he could take an awful trimming.

Rev. E. J. Shelley, M. S., who has been an assistant at St. James' parish for several months past, will be assigned as a member of the faculty of LaSalette college, Hartford.

Mrs. Alphonse Gareau is to dispose of her property here and with her son Alphonse is going to Canada to make her home with her brother and another son, both of whom are priests.

Miss Dorothy Bone of Putnam has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Witter and Miss Katherine T. Thayer.

A light truck owned by A. E. Hall of South Killingly was slightly damaged in a rear-end collision with a heavy truck on the highway near White's crossing in the town of Putnam Tuesday morning.

The Interstate Bus Line, H. J. Barnett, Prop., will operate a new 30-passenger bus between Danielson and the fairgrounds at Brooklyn today and Thursday. Leave Danielson every hour on the hour from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Returning, leave 30 minutes past each hour.—adv.

Letters from the members of the Service battery, doing 15 days of field service at Camp Eustis, Va., indicate they are having an interesting time. The battery will leave for home this week end.

In the town court Tuesday morning Mrs. Nina McGinty of East Killingly, charged with reckless operation of a motor vehicle, was fined $25 and costs, $20 of the fine being remitted. Mrs. McGinty pleaded not guilty to the charge. She was represented by Attorney E. L. Darbie. A collision in which her car figured near Dayville Four Corners resulted in the court procedure.

Swelled by the influx of those convicted in liquor cases, the number of inmates at the county jail in Brooklyn Tuesday was 44—the largest number that has been confined there at one time for a long time.

Writing from Boston, where he has entered as a student at Boston university, Max Bretschneider tells of his interest in his work and of the great activity at the university.

James A. Gregson of Lowell was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Tuesday.

Miss Katherine D. Aylward was at New London Tuesday, attending a conference of chief operators of the S. N. E. T. company.

Many from Danielson will be at East Killingly Saturday to attend the annual flower show.

PUTNAM

A representative of Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' Union, No. 21, the membership of which is made up of the organized workers in those trades in towns in this section of the county, said Tuesday evening that there is no strike on the jobs of building the Stoumbelis block in Main street or the Memorial chapel at Grove street cemetery. Union members have withdrawn from work on these contracts, it was stated, because the union had ascertained that a Pawtucket contracting firm that is building the structures is on what the union terms the "unfair" list. There has been no strike, simply a withdrawal of union workers from the jobs and no question of wages involved, though that impression gained ground in this city Monday and was reflected in a news item in this column Tuesday morning.

Listed as ready for hearing when the superior court comes in here Friday morning, Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin presiding, are the naturalization cases of the following persons, resident here and in nearby towns: Morris Gordon, Guiseppe Pesciello, Acte Rondeau, George Brodeur, Napoleon Perreault, Georgianna Saltonstall, Eustache J. Beauregard, Thomas Supina, Joseph Gisen, Andrew Nassin, Karl Dorflinger, Faith Trumbull Mathewson Huizinga, Joseph M. Burns, Frank Armusewics, James F. Danahey, all the foregoing being continued cases.

New cases are: Alfred Alarie, Thomas Jackson Seaton, John Haveles, Philip Zaltas, Klas Emil Johnson, Alfred Louis Chartier, Arthur Parent, Joseph Simmons, Alfred Brodeur, Joseph Houle, Anthony Turansky, Mary King, Wilbod Gaudreau, Albert Gelinas, Mickele Dascoli, Peter Couroyer, Charles Kons, John Guowa, Josef Muoha, Alma Salvas, Clara Minnie Cartwright, Harry Bramch, Wladslaw Wegrzyn, Mary Day, Ellen Day, Fred Ogden Cooper.

These applicants for admission to citizenship are various representative of Great Britain, Italy, Poland, Czecho Slovakia, Germany, Sweden, Holland and Hungary.

The town school committee has arranged for the opening of an additional room in the Israel Putnam school, to which an addition has been built during the past year. This room will be in charge of Miss Lucy Farrows, who has been teaching at the Smith street school the past year. By opening another room at the Israel Putnam school the present congestion in the two first grades and the second grade, each of which has more than 40 pupils, will be relieved. Because of the smaller registration at the Smith street school this year than was the case last year, Miss Farrows can be transferred from that school to the to the Israel Putnam school without sustaining any loss of efficiency in the administration of the Smith street school.

Prosper Voigard and other officials and members of the Northeastern Connecticut Fish and Game club were at the railroad station shortly after 11 a. m. Tuesday to receive from a motor truck sent out by the state commission of fish and game 24 cans of fingerling trout for release in brooks in the towns of Putnam, Woodstock, Pomfret and Thompson.

The Putnam men came with light trucks and touring cars to receive the consignments of fish for the various brooks and these vehicles took away from two to five cans each, getting to the brooks as rapidly as possible and releasing the fish at the earliest possible moment. The average was about 200 to 300 fish to the can and the fingerlings ran from .3 to .5 inches in length. They appeared to be in prime condition upon arrival here and the containers were iced again before they were transferred to the machines that took them on the final lap of the journey.

Tuesday's was the second consignment of fish received here this week. On Monday 32 cans came in and the fish were released in brooks in the town of Pomfret. On account of the low water in many of the smaller brooks at the present time these shipments of fish are being released in the larger streams, where there is an ample supply of water and where they should do well.

Workmen were busy Tuesday repairing damage done to the roof of the Walter Wheaton dwelling when a spark from the chimney set it afire early Monday afternoon, when a fireplace in the house was lighted. The firemen made quick work of the job of extinguishing the flames. The damage was estimated at about $200.

Bricklayers who left the job at the new Stoumbelis block Monday had not returned Tuesday. The only activity there was on the part of men who were engaged in setting steel girders in place.

Some at least of the young pheasants recently released in this territory are not destined to fall before the hunters' guns. It appears that the closed season on those birds means nothing at all to some of the family cats living on the outskirts of the city, for they have been coming home from time to time dragging a nice young pheasant.

Putnam readers of New York daily papers had to forego their accustomed favorite issues Tuesday because none were on sale here. Customers for these papers made many inquiries at dealers as to why the papers did not come through, and late in the forenoon it was ascertained that the non-arrival was due to a strike that had tied up the publishing plants.

Felix Lizotte, for a number of years in charge of the store of an importing company in this city, has been appointed district manager for the big concern, an advancement upon which has friends were congratulating him Tuesday. Mr. Lizotte's territory as district manager will cover a large section of the eastern part of Connecticut a number of towns in Massachusetts and sections of Rhode Island.

A bit of new equipment acquired by the city fire department is a portable battery charger kept at the central station. This device may be connected up with any electric light socket and the terminals on the batteries in the trucks of the department and the batteries charged while the trucks are standing idle. Heretofore the batteries, without being taken out, have received only such charging as they could obtain while the machines were on runs to fires and return.

Following a conference between representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and representatives of the Putnam savings bank relative to the location of the front of the new building about to be put up in Main street by the bank, this conference being without definite result, it was stated Tuesday that another and probably final conference will be held on the matter, probably within a day or two. The Chamber of Commerce is seeking to have the bank agree to set the building back three or four feet from the present front line, in order that the street line, as it is hoped to establish in the future may not be interfered with by the new building.

Friends of the institution; it was learned Tuesday, will send flowers as a token of esteem and good wishes today (Wednesday) to the First National bank upon the occasion of the opening of the new structure for the inspection of the public. One of these floral souvenirs will come from the Putnam Rotary club, the members of which, under the guidance of Guy Baker of the bank staff, will visit the bank in a body, after their weekly luncheon today.

Tuesday morning, the funeral of John Jarvais, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jarvais, was held from their home, with funeral services at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Charles F. Bedard was celebrant of the high mass of requiem, which was attended by a large number, including many of the former companions of the dead boy. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

It was stated Tuesday that superintendents of schools in Putnam and other towns hereabouts have made plans to attend the winter extension course for school superintendents at Harvard university. The superintendents will be at Cambridge for this course Saturdays.

Miss Esther M. Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon T. Wilson has entered the freshman class at Wellesley college. Miss Wilson was a student at Kendall hall, Pride's Crossing, Mass., last year.

County Agent F. L. Davis has arranged for a series of meetings of county poultry clubs for Thursday and Friday of this week. The Pomfret Poultry club has a meeting scheduled for Friday evening of this week.

The superior court was opened here Tuesday morning and promptly adjourned until next Friday morning, when naturalization cases and civil business will be taken up.

Liquor cases that have been of so much interest here the past week disposed of, the city talked about it a little Tuesday morning and then gave its attention to other things.

Dr. Hugh B. Campbell of Norwich was at the Day Kimball hospital Tuesday afternoon to conduct a clinic such as he holds here each month.

STONINGTON

The bootleggers arrested here Sunday, are to be tried at Stonington town court, Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 8 a. m. (standard time).

Louis Olsen, who resides at the Point, was a caller in Norwich, Monday. Mr. Olsen, who formerly resided on the James Bushnell property at Norwich Town, has purchased a home at Stonington, and is in the fishing business, making trips with Elisha Clarke of Quiambog.

Ostman and Lamphere are painting the exterior of the Stonington Fire Engine Co. quarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Killars left Tuesday for California, where they will reside. Mr. Killars, father and mother have moved there, recently, they join them.

OIL HEATING
is a proved success

THERE is no question of the utility and practicability of oil-heating for homes and buildings. Thousands of oil heating devices have been installed during the past five years.

They are easily put in at a moderate cost, and, with automatic heat control, the whole house can be kept at any degree of temperature wished for. And beyond that, there is an absolute freedom from dust, litter and ashes.

SOCONY FURNACE OIL is the ideal fuel for any central heating oil device. It can be stored in quantities, the supply is easily replenished, and the cost, in view of its convenience and combustion efficiency, is moderate.

Your Dollar and Ours

THAT your dollar may have more nearly the hundred cents of purchasing power it represents, the American Woolen Company endeavors to give full dollar value in at least one of life's great necessities—clothing.

In sixty mills, more than 35,000 skilled workers are producing millions of yards of woolen and worsted fabrics annually, at a cost that enables you to buy good clothing at fair prices.

By enhancing the value of your dollar, the American Woolen Company and its employees are furthering their own best interests, for the greater amount of cloth your dollar will buy, the greater the demand which creates steady and congenial employment for ever-increasing thousands of men and women.

WESTERLY

A special financial town meeting was held in Westerly town hall Monday evening, although at one time it was doubtful if the meeting would be held because of the lack of a quorum. Clifford W. Campbell, president of the Westerly town council visited Dixon House square in search of qualified electors so that the necessary fifteen voters could be present—seventeen was the actual number when the meeting adjourned. The business to come before the meeting was the passage of a vote authorizing the town treasurer, James M. Pendleton, to hire money and to issue the notes therefore up to $200,000 for the purpose of paying the bills incurred in the erection of the two new schoolhouses being erected, one at Bradford and one on High street. The motion was made, seconded, and there being no discussion, it was carried in record time and the meeting adjourned.

Following the financial town meeting a special council meeting was held in the town clerk's office, all the councilmen being present with the exception of Councilmen Fowler and Smith. Special votes passed by the town council make available for the use of the town treasurer sums up to $350,000 and some of the bills which had previously been held up can now be paid. Following the council adjournment, the lights in the clusters on each side of the steps at the entrance were turned on that the lighting committee might see the effects in connection with the white way lighting. It is possible that these lights may be added to the street circuit for permanent lighting. The lighting committee, Thomas Morrision, Louis Kosai and John Nichols, then made a visit to Mystic to view its white way lighted streets.

The bi-monthly probate court for Westerly was held in the probate court rooms of the Westerly town hall Tuesday at 2 p. m. Probate court Judge Edward M. Burke presided and business was disposed of as follows:

SAFETY CAMPAIGNS.

Great value is bound to be attached to the campaigns which are conducted each year for the purpose of training the children in the habits of highway safety. The problem becomes greater each year and the need of systematic training for the children that they may better protect themselves is apparent. They need to have it impressed upon their minds that there is danger in playing in the streets, that running or dodging into the streets from the sidewalks is to invite injury and possibly death, that crossings should be made with care after looking to see that the way is clear and when they become interested in essay contests dealing with such subjects they are the more firmly implanting those vital truths in their minds and should therefore be the better prepared to respect them.

Child training in the matter of safety is necessary. It is not, however, the only effort that should be made for the protection of the children, or the lives of others in the highways. The exercise of proper care will do much for all but there is the responsibility which rests upon the drivers of vehicles. If there can be the cooperation, whereby all users of the highways do their part, the problem of highway safety will not be difficult of solution. When, however, there are those who insist upon speeding for no good cause, putting the car out of the control of the driver and not only threatening injury to those therein but to other cars, other occupants and other users of the highway there is a deliberate disregard for safety which calls for the use of other methods of correction.

Let every possible encouragement be given to the efforts to impress upon the children the need of self protection in the highways, but sight cannot be lost of the fact that that does not warrant any relaxation of vigilance on the part of automobile or other vehicle drivers. The distressing fatalities resulting from highway accidents that could easily have been prevented point all too plainly to the great possibilities that are open to safety campaigns.

EXPENDITURES AND TAXES.

Those who have to pay the bills cannot fail to notice that there is a constant demand for new taxes for one thing or another. The very fact that there was a sizeable surplus for the last fiscal year of the federal government was sufficient reason for seeking to get a portion of it for new buildings, new postoffices, bigger appropriations in this direction and that direction. And yet while all the efforts are being made to get larger appropriations from congress there is a nation wide demand for a cutting down of taxes. To some the government seems to be a source of endless funds, with someone constantly shoveling the dollars into a bin for someone else to empty. It should be evident that there can be no expectation of lowered taxes if government expenditures are going to be pushed up instead of down.

What is needed is the demand for reduced expenditures in keeping with the cut which is expected in taxes. Let there be careful adherence to the budget recommendations, let the country implore congress to avoid boosting the expenditures, especially where they are not necessary, let economy replace extravagance and there will be provided the means of reducing the national indebtedness and the basis for lowering the tax rate.

It must be recognized that there are necessary federal expenditures. Such cannot be eliminated. On the other hand there are those which can easily be placed in the classification of extravagance and in some instances actual waste. It is such cases that call for careful attention. It is possible for what goes for waste and extravagance to take care of much that may be needed, but seldom is thought given to such use of government money. Too often is it the case to pile up the expenditures without regard for the taxes and then display surprise and despair because taxes are always going up. It is useless to expect that there can be an unwise use of funds in any government from town to nation without having it show up in the tax rate.

CHILE AND THE DOCTRINE.

Some there are who maintain that the recent Pan-American conference in Chile was a failure, that no progress was made and that the relationship of several of the South American countries with the United States was not what it should be. It has even been pointed out that this was due to the policies of this country, including the Monroe doctrine.

Whatever may have been the basis for this claim it is certain that it is not borne out by the manner in which the Chilean diplomat at Geneva, during discussions pertaining to the covenant of the league of nations, expressed himself regarding the Monroe doctrine. If he voices the sentiment of his country there is real [illegible] and for this policy of the United States.

Senor Alvarez of Chile takes no different view than ought to be expected from a South American country, if it but looks sanely at the doctrine, the purposes for which it was enacted and the protection that it gives to other American countries while serving our needs. To misterpret it in the light of being injurious to countries of this hemisphere is unjustified. We have no desire to dictate to other republics and we certainly have not attempted to pose as the bully, but for the purpose of protecting ourselves against European aggression, even though that might take the form of first getting a foothold in this hemisphere outside of this country, we have stated our position. It is clear and emphatic. It is so well understood that it has received obedience and because of that obedience every republic that might have been the object of foreign aggression has received a benefit. The weak and the strong have profited alike. It is easy to surmise what might have happened but for the existence of this doctrine and it is not unfair to feel that its existence has served as a successful and efficient watchdog.

Chile has had its differences with the United States but it hasn't for that reason overlooked the value of the Monroe doctrine.

COUNTRY FAIRS.

We are once more in the midst of the season of country fairs, that delightful period when those from far and near gathered to renew friendships, to review the accomplishments of the man with the hoe, the dairyman, the cattle raiser, the sheep breeder or see what the housewives have been doing in the way of needlework and canning. And by no means can there be overlooked the very valuable contributions which are made by the boys and girls as their achievements in many directions are displayed.

The country fair has its limitations. It doesn't begin to approach the great fairs or expositions but there is a getting together of the countryside that is beneficial to every locality where a fair is held. It means an awakened interest in things that are of general concern, the exchange of views concerning matters which are of common interest and a display of good fellowship that is always good for man and especially after a season of long hours and steady employment.

To many a locality a country fair, or a grange fair, is like an old home week. It can be taken for granted that old friends and neighbors who are able to do so will be there to extend and receive a warm welcome. There isn't anything that quite takes the place of the country fair. Its size must naturally be governed by the locality it serves though an established reputation goes far in this direction. It is an event in the various communities where held about which many activities center and by which seasons seem to be regulated and other dates fixed. The country fair serves a grand good purpose and may it ever grow stronger.

KEPT ITS PROMISE.

Two years ago the national republican committee voted that there should be a change made in the method of selecting delegates to the national convention. It recognized the injustice that had prevailed in the past of permitting the southern states with their small republican vote to figure so prominently in the national conventions. There was accepted the demand for an equalization of delegates that would be more in keeping with the party strength as distributed through the various states. The announcement that has been made recently by the committee to the effect that this readjustment has been made shows that the committee is living up to its word. It has applied the knife so that there will be a reduction of the delegates from southern states by 32 and an increase of 79 by the northern states so that the next convention will have a total of 1036 delegates, Connecticut even getting two more.

Demands for establishing a new basis for the selection of delegates whereby the delegates would be representative of the republican voters have preceded several conventions. On each occasion a big handle has been made of the votes of the southern delegates, even though they came from rock-ribbed democratic states. The change has meant the upsetting of a system that has prevailed for many years, the recognition of those states where the big republican majorities are rolled up and where it is planned that the republican voters are located. It is a move that required courage, as things are done politically, but it is one that should overcome long standing friction. The committee has kept its promise.

APPLYING PSYCHOLOGY

"Leffingwell," began the pretty girl in the tangerine sweater, looking touchingly-sad, "do you know, I think that you are terribly attracted by that Portulaca Jones who has just moved in across the hall!"

"What!" gasped the seriously handsome young man in extreme consternation. "Now, whatever should make you think that! I never heard of anything so absurd in all my life, Herbaria!"

"Now I am positive of it!" the pretty girl said in tremulous tones. "When a person is accused of a fact his first instinct is to deny and ridicule the idea! If it isn't so he remains quite calm and composed! I learned that in my psychology class today! You grew excited and red in the face at once and nothing you may say can counteract those signs! If I had paid attention to my bunch all this trouble—"

"But there isn't any trouble!" insisted the seriously handsome young man vehemently. "Portulaca Jones never enters my mind unless I happen to meet her."

"Then you've been meeting her!" cried the pretty girl in the tangerine sweater, sinking back in the corner of the hammock tragically. "And you never told me! It isn't that I am of a jealous nature, Leffingwell, or that I expect you are never going to look at another girl—though I am sure if you do find anybody you like better than you do me it will be quite all right and I should give you up to her freely. But no matter how it may make me suffer to see you and Portulaca starting off in your new red roadster——"

"I never took that girl any place in my life," declared the handsome young man. "I don't know what you are talking about! I'd like to know why I shouldn't get excited at being accused of liking somebody who is simply nothing to me."

"That is another sure sign," the pretty girl told him sadly. "Whenever a man begins to get interested in somebody else he invariably declares that she is nothing to him. It is because he is trying to hypnotize himself into thinking nothing is happening which should not—the psychology book says so. Now, if the idea of Portulaca was entirely new to you Leffingwell, you would be interested in it and want to talk about it instead of evading it in this manner! Where did you meet her, Leffingwell?"

"Great guns!" the handsome young man exclaimed. "I was going into the Biltyen for lunch and as I went in one door she came in another and we met in the lobby. She said how do you do and I let it go for two—and that's all."

"I expect you were dying to ask her to lunch," mourned the pretty girl. "You might just as well, because there's no use fighting that sort of thing! Sooner or later you will cease to resist and that will be the end. I am a very acute observer, Professor Thumpp says, and the moment you looked at her that day I realized what was happening!"

"How did I look at her?" demanded the seriously handsome young man with cold interest.

"There!" sniffed the pretty girl. "Didn't you know that exactly as a murderer loves to revisit the scene of his crime so a lover likes to talk about anything at all connected with the object of his affections? If you didn't like Portulaca awfully it would not make a particle of difference to you how you looked at her!

"You see, everything you say just gives you away, Leffingwell, and confirms all the things the psychology book says! If I weren't so upset and heartbroken it would be more interesting! I've no doubt she's home this minute and I wouldn't detain you for worlds, when I know you are dying to go ever there and see her."

"Say!" cried the seriously handsome young man, arising to his feet and frowning fiercely. "What does this book you are quoting say that it means when a man begins to smash things and tear up the scenery generally and raise cain? Because that is exactly what I am going to do, Herbaria, if I hear another word about this Portulaca girl! I may box your ears before I get through, too, and shake you good! It's just tommyrot and you deserve——"

"I guess I haven't got that far in the book, Leffingwell," the pretty girl said with a relieved sigh, "but I can sort of judge what it means! You can't imagine how satisfying it is!"—Exchange.

NEW BOOKS

Connecticut Beautiful. By Wallace Nutting. Full cloth, 307 pages, 304 illustrations. Published by Old America Company, Framingham, Mass. Price $4.

This is the third in the series of "states beautiful" that has been issued as the result of the work by pen and camera of Wallace Nutting. It is a volume that is devoted to just what might be expected from the title, and in that it differs from all others. It doesn't lay claim to having included each and every place of beauty to be found in the Nutmeg state. There are many which you can probably bring to mind that have not been referred to or pictured but there is nevertheless a meritorious array of charming views, varying with the season, and deals of course with those which have made a particular appeal to the author. He has been the judge and jury and he presents many which have not been brought to general attention. Many orchard scenes, like many winter views, are but temporary. All in all it indicates the many varieties of beauty and some which may have hitherto received but passing attention. Mr. Nutting well deplores the blindness to beauty and his book serves to give emphasis to the claim that "It is the homely, the simple and the near that is really the attractive and satisfactory in art." Many roam the world to find the beautiful but too often disregard that which is to be found near the home but which remains unsought.

The text deals in essay form with various sections and subjects such as Southwestern Connecticut, Connecticut about Middletown, The Growth of a Dwelling, How to Know Old Houses, Descriptions of Pictures, Physchology of Attractiveness, Flowers in the Grass, The Love of Variation, Private Drives, Are the Best Things Rare? Beauty in the Waters, Along the Sound, Unrecognized Beauties in which some of the various points about the state figure.

The volume is unmistakably a Nutting book. At once you will recall things that have not been mentioned, and you will find many which you had not noticed or failed to look at through the same eyes for beauty. It thus is not the cut and dried, but rather the unexpected. It is a volume that is most interesting with excellent cameo art pictures.

A number of eastern Connecticut scenes are numbered among the 304 views with such local views as A Lane at Norwichtown and a view across the fields at Norwichtown.

A Calm Review of a Calm Man. By Samuel G. Blythe. Board, 47 pages. Published by Cosmopoitan Book Corporation. Price, 75 cents.

When President Harding was suddenly taken away in a San Francisco hotel it was while Mrs. Harding was reading to him an article entitled, "A Calm Review of a Calm Man," written by Samuel G. Blythe, a well known political writer.

The last words of the president were, "That's good; go on, read some more." Immediately everyone wanted to know what the article was and read it for themselves. Here is a fair and sympathetic summing up of the administration and personality of Warren G. Harding. Other books larger than this one will be written about the late president but none will surpass it in presenting a picture of a great American giving his best to his country.

Spooky Hollow. By Carolyn Wells. Cloth, 368 pages. Published by J. B. Lippincott company, Philadelphia. Price $2.

Lovers of detective stories know the interest which Carolyn Wells can awaken in mysterious circumstances, but none of her tales is more baffling than that of Sleepy Hollow. It surrounds Greatiarch a lonely, castle-like house in Vermont, near which is a dark, marshy piece of ground known as Spooky Hollow. The wealthy and middle-aged owner lives there with his sister and niece. A stranger calls one afternoon and his business is of such importance that he is invited to remain over night. The next morning the sister of the owner is found dead in bed, having been stabbed, and the visitor was gone. The door of the room was locked inside and there was no other means of reaching it.

The lover of the niece takes a deep interest in the case because of circumstances which threaten her happiness but little success is obtained until Fleming Stone is called into the case. Though there seems little hope of success there suddenly comes a strange and unexpected disclosure which throws light upon what had been before an unpenetrable mystery.

It is one of those stories that holds the interest and makes one unwilling to put the book down until the solution is unfolded.

Stories That Recall Others

He Wins

"What is your idea of a conservative man?" asked a man of a friend with whom he was lunching.

"My idea of a conservative man," he replied looking out of the window, "is one who would not even bet that the street railway track runs through Franklin square."

The Budget Said So

"There's no use in my trying to be economical," a vivacious little matron said the other day. "I've been trying to keep a budget for the last month and certain things about that budget make me look around to reduce expenses, further. I decided to go to market. Everything looked so nice and fresh I just bought right and left, and my basket was soon full to overflowing. I had my arms full, too, but I just had to buy a bunch of flowers for the table, and some lovely red tomatoes and a loaf of lovely bread, and I looked like a walking market stand as I crossed the street to the car line. I had gone only a few feet when a man with a deep voice said: Pardon me, madam, but you are losing your bread.

"He might well have said I was losing my head, for I felt dreadfully embarrassed while I stopped, and he adjusted my bundles. I walked on as rapidly as I could but I knew exactly what she meant when I heard a little girl say, 'Look, mother, look at the termaters.' I knew I was losing 'em and I didn't care. Only I wished to get across the street before a man, who either had sunstroke or home brew, and who insisted on getting right in front of me. My efforts to get around him made me walk almost in front of a machine and I didn't blame a driver when he swore right out and said something uncomplimentary about women. Safely across at last I waited for my car, and if that car was one second sooner than it takes to ride to the city limits, I'm a poor judge of time. And when the car came I almost never got on with those bundles and had to stand and—and—. Well anyway, I did get two of the tomatoes home and the bread was not smashed so flat but what we ate it, and although I don't know what became of the flowers, I did have the pretty green tissue paper they came in, and I'm pretty sure I saved money. Anyway, I made my budget any

UNABLE TO SLEEP—DEPRESSED AND NERVOUS

Quickly Relieved by Wincarnis

"For several years I had been in a weak and run-down condition. I had frequent fainting spells which always left me almost completely exhausted. I suffered so with nervousness that the least little thing would make me jump and it got to be almost impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. I would get terrible fits of depression which would last for days. I had taken doctors' medicines and tonics without number, but nothing seemed to do me much good.

I saw Wincarnis advertised and decided to try a bottle. In an incredibly short time I got back my strength, my nervousness disappeared and I could sleep as peacefully as a child. I really believe Wincarnis is the greatest of all tonics.

BERT LUCAS NEARING RETURN TO NORWICH

Herbert W. Lucas, of this city who left here early in the year for a visit to the Pacific coast has now reached Chicago on his return trip and is visiting his brother F. C. Lucas at 7313 Harvard avenue. From Chicago he expects to go to Philadelphia to visit another brother and will reach New York in time to attend the World's series baseball games early in October.

When he finally reaches home he will have covered in all about 13,000 miles by rail and automobile. It is his intention later to locate in southern California.

On his way to Chicago he visited several points of interest in South Dakota. The first point he touched was Custer, so named because it was here that General Custer's expedition in 1874 brought about the discovery of gold. This has recently been commemorated by the erection of a unique monument composed of hundreds of varieties and specimens of minerals which are native to this section, in the Black Hills. Custer is the oldest town in the Black Hills and is located in the heart of Harney National Forest. Close by is situated the South Dakota tuberculosis sanatorium. Custer is organized to care for its visitors either at hotels or at a well equipped free camp ground so that the visitor may appreciate the cordial hospitality which is the code of the Hills.

In the Custer state park and game preserve wild buffalo, elk and antelope roam their native ground. It was chosen as such because there is no greater national game and bird preserve in the west. It contains about 70 head of buffalo, many antelopes and 400 head of elk, and comprises 90,000 acres. Harney Canyon is another rugged district of this section where travelers may find conveniences for stopping to climb the mountains or fish and rest. Wind Cave National Park was established to preserve this immense wind cave which comprises over 100 miles of explored passages and 3,000 rooms. In the early settlement of the Hills a cowboy was startled while climbing the mountain side to have a strong gust of wind come from behind a bush with sufficient force to blow his hat away. Investigation shewed a small entrance to the cave which was later explored and explored to the extent mentioned.

The next point Mr Lucas visited was Hot Springs reached by a beautiful 12 mile automobile ride. The main business part of the town is built in a canyon. Along its busiest street, River avenue, runs a foaming stream with steep banks, the water of a never varying warmth winter and summer and with thick bers of water cress lining its edge. The visitor is at once struck with the harmony in the principal buildings of this section, for they are constructed of a native pink sand tone that blends with earth and rock of the surrounding vistas.

The greatest natural attraction in the city is the Evan Plunge located in a huge building which covers the water rising from many warm streams. From the clear gravel floor of the great pool, 75x300 feet, rise the warm mineral waters, crystal clear, at the rate of 50,000 gallons per minute, insuring clear fresh water continually. From morning until late at night the plunge is a popular resort and many have felt a decided benefit from the medicinal quality of the water evening swimming. In addition to the water itself there is available the most expert treatment in the form of massage, electricity, and other forms of therapeutic remedies while a large number of skilled physicians have helped to build up the fame of Hot Springs as a health resort.

In Hot Springs are located the Battle Mt. Sanatorium and National Home for Volunteer disabled Soldiers, established by the United States government at a cost of more than one million dollars, and also the South Dakota Soldiers Home. Band concerts are given six evenings of the week and the Elks of the city keep open club rooms to which all visiting Elks are cordially welcomed.

VEILS GIVE ELEGANCE TO HATS SEEN TUESDAY

A feature of the season's hats is their becomingness. This was demonstrated Tuesday, when numerous visitors from out of town were among those attending the formal millinery openings. There is something very smart and natty about the shapes and trimmings of the models on view and the numerous soft tints of tan brought to the fore suit almost every woman who tries on one of the dainty new hats.

Drape and other made-up veils figure largely in the offerings to complete the stylish effect of many handsome hats. Milliners appear to be using an increasing number of veils, in all sizes and shapes. Some of these have rather deep borders which look atractive on hats, while others are given a smart finish by means of the fashion in which they are draped over the hat shapes.

The nine-inch nose veil continues to sell well, as does also the face veil especially adapted to the small hat. Among the larger styles, the streamer veil, with a point hanging at the left side, seems to be popular at the moment.

See the new hats, veils and trimmings, as offered today by those milliners who give such valuable aid to shoppers through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

Entering Commercial Art School.

George H. Wilmouth of Claremont, N. H., who is entering Boston Commercial Art school this term, was a resident of Norwich at one time, and attended Broadway school. Mr. Wilmouth is a graduate of Stevens High school of Claremont and was president of his class, and captain of the football team. He was accorded the honor of having his name engraved on the silver loving cup for having done the most for his class.

Mr. Wilmouth has a number of relatives in town, his grandmother being Mrs. William McNeely of 410 Boswell avenue.

Academy Registration About 780

The Norwich Free Academy has an entering class of approximately 240 this year and a total registration of about 780, which Principal H. A. Tirrell said Tuesday night was about the same as last year.

SAY THEY FOUND WHISKEY BOTTLE THROWN AMONG TOMATO VINES

A quart bottle of whiskey that New London police officers say they found among some tomato vines in a garden was an exhibit in the superior court here Tuesday in the trial of Sebastian Muscarella, accused of keeping liquor with intent to sell at his store at 31 Shaw street, New London, and of having the reputation of selling liquor there. Judge Allyn L. Brown and a jury are hearing the case, which will proceed with testimony for the defense today (Wednesday).

State Attorney Hadlai A. Hull, who is assisted by Attorney Warren Burrows, began the case for the state about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. Attorney Thomas A. Troland is counsel for the accused man, who is out on bonds.

John J. Cavanaugh, a motorcycle policeman of New London, was the first witness called by the state. His testimony was that on the night of Aug. 17, about 10 o'clock, he was sitting on his machine in Shaw street within sight of the Muscarella place, when he noticed an automobile drive up and stop in front of Muscarella's. Police Sergeant Samuel Hick was sitting in his own automobile at the same time, the witness said, and several other officers were standing on the sidewalk and talking to him. They all went to the Muscarella place and Cavanaugh and another officer looked in through the front window. They saw two men standing there, the witness said, one of them in a light suit with bills in his hand. He said this man was a Mr. King of the King Welding company. Officer Cavanaugh pointed the man out as he stood up in the court room.

Continuing his testimony, the officer said the policemen went into the Muscarella place and he went to the rear where there was a pool room with a door out to a side alley. He saw the shadow of a man on the door, went out through it and chased the man down the alley and up a flight of steps into the garden at the rear. Just as the man ahead of him reached the top of the steps, Officer Cavanaugh said he saw him make a throwing motion with his right arm. Before that he had seemed to be carrying something. Cavanaugh caught the man, who proved to be Muscarella, and brought him back into the store where he denied that he had been running or that he had thrown anything away.

Later the witness said, he and Sergeant Hick searched among some tomato vines on the other side of a fence in the garden and a quart bottle of whiskey was found there. The witness further testified that an empty half pint bottle was found in a corner in the store. Muscarella told him he didn't know anything about either bottle.

Both bottles were laid in as exhibits by the state.

Attorney Troland objected to them because they had had labels pasted on them by the New London police department, but Judge Brown admitted the exhibits and directed that the labels should be removed.

After a lengthy cross examination of Officer Cavanaugh by Attorney Troland the next witness for the state was Officer Harry Hick of the New London police force, who testified to seeing a touring car halted in front of the Muscarella place. This officer corroborated Officer Cavanaugh as to looking through the Muscarella store window and seeing a man standing in the store with bills in his hand. The witness told of going into the store with other officers and said he saw Muscarella come to the side door and put his hand on the handle. Hick said he recognized Muscarella then and he saw Officer Cavanaugh go out through the door and come back with Muscarella. Hick said he saw the bottle of whiskey picked up in the garden when the officers were using a spot light and he also saw the small bottle when it was found in the store. The witness testified that the Muscarella place had a reputation for selling liquors.

Police Sergeant Samuel Hick, who has been on special liquor law enforcement duty, told of driving his car up to the front of the building after he had sent the other officers to it. The witness said he arrived just as he saw Muscarella scooting out of the alley with Officer Cavanaugh after him. Sergeant Hick testified to looking with a flashlight with Officer Cavanaugh and finding the whiskey bottle among the tomato vines in the garden. He said the Muscarella place had the reputation of selling liquor. The liquor in the quart bottle in evidence testified 48 per cent alcohol.

Federal Prohibition Officer Harry W. Avery testified that he assisted Sergt. Hick in the search for the bottle among the tomato vines and they found it and saw an impression in the dirt that was made by one corner of the bottle. Officer Avery said he was the one who found the other bottle in a corner in the Muscarella store.

Officer Frank J. Philopena of the New London police force, detailed to liquor law enforcement duty, testified to seeing Officer Cavanaugh go out the side door of the store and then come back through the front door with Muscarella. The witness said Cavanaugh asked him to go out in the garden and look for something which he believed Muscarella had thrown away. They didn't find anything but later the witness said he saw Sergt. Hick come in with the bottle of whiskey, and he heard Muscarella say he didn't know anything about the bottle. The officer testified that the Muscarella store had the reputation of selling liquor at times.

Officer George A. Perkins of the New London police force testified to the reputation of the Muscarella place as a place where liquor is sold.

At this point the state rested.

Defense Testimony.

Attorney Troland called James King of the King Welding company on Shaw street to the stand as the first witness. He said the Muscarella store is about 90 feet from the welding company and he went in to Muscarella's store probably about twice a week.

At this point Judge Brown adjourned court till the next day.

When the jury was to be selected in the morning two extra talesmen were needed so that Sheriff Sidney A. Brown sent Deputy George H. Stanton to look for two men. He brought in Ashley T. Boon and Albie L. Hale, who were accepted and went on the panel.

Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS PLAN ENLARGING PROGRAM OF WORK

The first meeting of Y. M. C. A. directors for the fall season was held Tuesday evening at the "Y" building and it was largely attended and much interest in the various reports was manifested. Plans for the fall and winter were discussed and these included enlargement of the work along all lines.

President J. C. Macpherson presided in his usual efficient manner. Expressions of appreciation of the employed staff were made, and a vote of congratulations was unanimously passed for General Secretary Edwin Hill, who has served the association for ten years, having come to Norwich in September, 1913.

Seldom has there been such a spirit of optimism and hopefulness as was shown at this meeting, and the outlook for the future of the work is very bright.

WILL FLY TO CITY TO ADDRESS ROTARIANS

If the weather is right for flying today (Wednesday) the Norwich Rotarians expect to have an aviator from the field at Mineola, L. I., wing his way here and be a speaker at the Rotary meeting. He will come in a government plane and speak upon the subject of Aeronautics. This will make a meeting of special interest to the Rotarians.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. David W. Avery.

The body of Elizabeth Rudd Avery, wife of David W. Avery, formerly of Norwich, who died in Hoosick Falls, N. Y., Sunday evening arrived in this city Tuesday evening on the 8.45 o'clock train and was removed to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Johnson, No. 8 Grove place, from where the funeral will be held. Mrs. Avery was born in Norwich 53 years ago and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert A. Rudd. In Bozrah in 1886 she was united in marriage with David W. Avery.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery resided in Bozrah until 1913 and then came to Norwich, residing here until 1916 when they moved to Hoosick Falls. Mrs. Avery had been afflicted with heart trouble for the past two years but was thought to be improving. She was in apparently good health Friday evening and enjoyed an automobile ride during the evening. At 10.30 o'clock Friday night she was seized with a shock which paralyzed her left side. Twenty-four hours ater she suffered a second shock and died Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

She was beloved by a host of admiring friends. She was well known in Bozrah and Norwich and possessed the faculty of making friends wherever she went. During the war Mrs. Avery, whose son served in the army, was chairman of the Red Cross chapter in Boyntonsville, a suburb of Hoosick Falls, and took a prominent part in the Liberty loan campaigns, selling many bonds herself. She was a member of the First Spiritualist Union of this city.

Surviving are her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Charles Johnson of this city, and two sons, D. Earl Avery of Hoosick Falls, and Harold K. Avery also of Hoosick Falls. There is one brother, Adelbert A. Rudd, of Norwich Town, the last surviving member of her immediate family, and a step-sister, Mrs. Fannie Swan of Norwich. Four grandchildren also survive, Clyde Johnson, of Norwich, Elizabeth, Sherwood and Elsie Janet Avery of Hoosick Falls.

A prayer service was held at her home in Hoosick Falls Tuesday morning. Her husband, and other relatives accompanied the body to this city. Burial is to be in Maplewood cemetery.

Speak your mind if you must, but mind how you speak.

WILL PRESENT PRIZES TO BOY SCOUTS

Prizes which were won at the annual field meet of the Norwich Boy Scouts at Chelsea parade on the Fourth of July and for the swimming events at Camp Tippecan, will be awarded at the fall Court of Honor which is to be held Thursday evening at 7.30 in the city court room at the court house. The public will be cordially welcome to attend and see the boys receive their rewards.

William Latham is at the Mohawk Indian Village, Eastern States Exposition, Springfield, Mass., representing the Norwich Scout Council.

He is in charge of the exhibit of merit badge work in Bee Keeping and Insect Life. Included in the exhibit are a number of cases of mounted insects and bees, bee hives, honey and paraphernalia necessary for collecting and working in same.

Scout Executive F. A. Benton, accompanied by three automobiles loaded with scouts and officials, presented the Scout program to the Colchester people at Bacon Academy Tuesday night.

Scout Executive F. A. Benton leaves Friday morning for the New England scout executive's conference at Kennebago, Rangeley Lakes, for a week's program. On the way he will stop at the Mohawk village to inspect the council exhibit.

HAVING SHORT LOBSTERS COST HIM $2 EACH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 18.—Robert L. Smith, residing in the Adirondacks in the winter and who maintains a summer home at Pleasure Beach, was before Justice of the Peace Thomas F. Morton in the Waterford town court last evening on a charge of violation of the fish and game laws, having been caught several days ago by Deputy Fish and Game Wardens George L. Bliven and Frederick Dimock with fourteen short lobsters in his possession.

A fine of $2 was imposed for each lobster. The fine, with costs made the amount that Smith had to pay $36. Smith was accused of having purchased the lobsters from an Italian fisherman.

The hearing of the case of Dr. Wilford Robinson of Hartford, charged with reckless driving of his automobile on the night of the 18th inst., which was set for this evening before Justice of the Peace Morton has been postponed to Monday, October 1. Dr. Robinson has furnished a surety bond of $500.

GROTON IRON WORKS TO BUILD 100 FOOT BARGE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 18.—The Morse (or Groton) Iron Works are to start getting the steel ready for the construction of a hundred feet long barge for the engineering department of the United States government. The parts will be shipped from Groton to Noank where they will be assembled and where the barge will be finished. It is said that Harry Morse will go on with shipbuilding at the Groton yard as he gets contracts and that he will put in marine railways there that will make a yard such as has been needed at this section of the Atlantic coast many years.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Dr. and Mrs. Witter K. Tingley and family have closed their Crescent Beach cottage and are at their home on Broad street.

General William A. Aiken and Miss Jane McG. Aiken are visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. Benjamin W. Bacon, in New Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepard B. Palmer and family have returned after spending the summer at their cottage at Point Breeze.

NORTH STONINGTON FAIR OPENS FOR 13TH YEAR

(Special to The Bulletin.)

North Stonington, Sept. 18.—Favored by ideal fall weather, the North Stonington Grange opened its thirteenth annual three day fair here today. Secretary Clarence A. Davis announced the attendance on the opening day as 500. A much larger attendance is looked for Wednesday and Thursday as special features of the fair programme for the two days include band concerts by a Norwich band. The cattle pulling and horse pulling contests, always big drawing cards, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, standard time.

Women's Work Shown.

This year the majority of the exhibits are larger and better than in former years and there is a much larger variety. The main exhibition hall is well filled with fancy work, art, patch quilt, canned vegetable and fruit exhibits and there is the usual fine display of home baked cakes, cookies, pies, etc. Included among the principal exhibitors is Mrs. Charles Dennison of Mystic, who is showing 169 jars of canned fruits and vegetables on the first floor of the main hall. Mrs. Dennison has the largest canned goods exhibit on the grounds this year. In the two one-quart exhibit she is showing 19 varieties of fruits, 38 cans in all, and 37 jars in the fruit collection. Her canned vegetable exhibit comprises 40 jars, of 20 varieties in the two one-quart class. She also has in addition to the two one-quart exhibit, 24 jars of vegetables, 17 of pickles and 19 of jelly. Her daughter, Miss Myra Dennison, has seven or eight patch work quilts on exhibition on the second floor of the main hall and in the pet stock show she is exhibiting a beautifully marked kitten that took first prize.

Connecticut Prunes.

Another exhibitor in the main hall is Fred Doolittle who is showing three charcoal pictures entitled Wolverine, Mother Bear and Porcupine. Fred Burton of Ledyard exhibits an attractive display of pears and apples and Rose Hill Farm, Calvin Maine, Ledyard, shows apples, pears and prunes. Prunes grown on a Connecticut farm are unusual and the prunes exhibited by Mr. Maine are the only prunes raised in this section.

In the flower show which is unusually attractive Mrs. Ralph Gallup of Stonington is showing a large collection of beautifully colored dahlias of many varieties. On the second floor of the hall are seen rugs, center pieces, Indian pottery, artistically painted china ware, an old fashioned spinning wheel, a cradle such as was used in colonial days and there are also several entries of basket work.

The cattle exhibit is not as large as in former years but those who have entries in this department are showing blooded cattle that attract considerable attention from all. The cattle exhibitors include Frank W. White, Louis Thorp, John Thorp, Mrs. C. M. Brown, Clarence A. Davis and Stanley White.

Vegetable Exhibit Overflows.

The vegetable exhibit which occupies a special building is larger than ever before. In fact there have been so many entries that a special table had to be placed in one of the main aisles to take care of the overflow. Some of the potatoes shown weigh two pounds a piece. Many varieties of string and shell beans, lima beans, squashes, carrots, tomatoes, radishes, pumpkins, etc., are to be seen in this building. A unique feature of the exhibit is a coffee plant. The youngest exhibitor in the vegetable department is a seventeen-year-old boy who has an excellent and varied collection of vegetables grown in his own garden. As is generally known among the patrons of the fair the entry tags contain no names each exhibitor being given a number and the names are not announced until after the judges have completed their work and awarded the premiums.

The poultry exhibit has the usual large number of entries of many varieties of the feathered family. The judges in this department are Paul Ives of Guilford and Hiram Schraber of Groton. Professor Sims of Connecticut Agricultural college is to be the cattle judge. The judging in most departments will start Wednesday and will probably require the attention of the judges the entire day.

Midway Attractions.

There are numerous midway attractions including a merry-go-round, an athletic show, soft drink, candy, cigar and ice cream stands, blanket booths, candy booths, and there are the proverbial tintype man, whip men, games of skill, etc.

Near the main entrance to the grounds the Connecticut State Department of Health has a large tent with a public health nursing demonstration. The tent is in charge of Miss Elizabeth C. Nickerson and Miss Florence Ward of Hartford. Miss Ward has charge of the child hygiene section of the tent where children are weighed and measured and given a tag which calls attention of the parents to defects which may be remedied by proper nutrition and attention of a physician.

In one section of the tent is a vegetable and fruit juice exhibit. Here the value of such juices to the growing child are explained and all who are interested are shown how the vegetable and fruit juices are properly prepared.

Care of the Infant.

The care of the infant is explained such as proper clothing, sanitation of the bed chamber, and proper feeding. The tent is equipped with a special daylight screen on which are shown moving pictures of the work done by the public health nurse and general work on health subjects being carried on in different parts of the state.

Among the automobile dealers who are exhibiting the latest models in cars is J. F. Noyes of Mystic who is showing several models of the 1924 Buick equipped with the four wheel brakes.

Perrin Bros., of Westerly are exhibiting farm electric light systems, running water systems for farms, modern heating plants, etc.

Pattison's candy store of Norwich has a stand in the midway in charge of Mr. Rainey and Frank S. Wilson of Norwich.

This year the large dining hall is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Chapman, who are assisted by an efficient corps of waitresses.

The Stanley Gypsies of Providence are on hand with a string of horses and wagons. Tom Mix, alias Texas Carter, is making his fifth annual visit to the fair with his rope swinging stunts and silver wire and head making accomplishments.

New Band Stand.

A new band stand takes the place of the former stand this year and an addition has been built on the ticket office, the addition being used as a private office for Secretary Davis. Other improvements include the addition of twenty feet to the main poultry building. The dining hall and the agricultural building have been repainted and renovated for the fair.

ELECT F. T. DIGGINS GRAND KNIGHT, K. OF C.

White Cross council, No. 13, K. of C., elected its officers for the ensuing year as follows at a meeting Tuesday evening at the K. of C. home: Grand knight, F. T. Diggins; deputy grand knight, M. Frank Leonard; chancellor, T. F. Shea; recorder, M. J. Kirby; financial secretary, E. E. Burns; treasurer, Frank Powers; advocate, M. J. Corcoran; warden, R. J. Marks, Sr.; inside guard, Henry Gorman; outside guard, Bernard W. Ryan; trustee, William H. Harrington.

Grand Knight Michael J. Curran presided at the business meeting, at which much business of a routine nature was transacted and three speakers, James L. Case, Rev. W. A. Keefe and Mr. Cleveland, addressed the members in the interests of the Backus hospital financial campaign.

PASTOR PITT'S BERKELEY RESIDENCE NOT BURNED

The destructive fire at Berkeley, Cal., on Monday did not reach the residence which Rev. Dr. David A. Pitt occupied in Berkeley while he was pastor there before coming to the Central Baptist church of this city.

Dr. Pitt's church in Berkeley, the First Baptist church, was on the south side of the University campus and his residence was next door to the church, while the fire was on the north side of the campus. Euclid avenue which it is reported the fire raged, was a very beautiful residence section of the California city and contained a number of fine fraternity houses and other buildings used as dormitories, all of which apparently have burned.

COLUMBIAN COMMANDERY, K. T., GOING TO WESTERLY

Columbian commandery, No. 4, K. T., of this city, will be represented by 125 Sir Knights at the reception to be held this (Wednesday) afternoon and evening by Narragansett commandery, No. 27, of Westerly. The reception is in honor of M. W. Arthur M. Brown of this city, state grand master, and R. E. James C. Macpherson of this city, grand commander of the Knights Templar of Connecticut. There is to be a parade at 4 p. m., dinner at 6 o'clock, and a theatre party in the evening.

WINDHAM MAN HELPED AT SHRINE OF ST. ANNE

The Bulletin's Windham correspondent writes: Arthur Williams who has been unable to walk without crutches for several years has made two pilgrimages to the Shrine of St. Anne in Fiskdale, Mass., and since his second visit Sunday is much improved and able to walk with only a cane to assist him.

BEGINNING ANNUAL COUNT OF NORWICH SCHOOL CHILDREN

Tyler D. Guy and Cornelius J. Downes have begun the annual enumeration of the children of school age in Norwich. They will visit all sections of the town in securing the names of all children between 4 and 16 years of age.

Struck By Automobile

Dwight Phillips, 76, of 14 Union street, suffered minor injuries to his leg late Tuesday afternoon when he was struck in Broadway near Union square by an automobile driven by a Norwich woman. Mr. Phillips was attended by Dr. A. C. Freeman and was taken to the Backus hospital. It is expected he will be discharged there today.

Will Attend Shrine Sheepbake

Norwich members of Sphinx temple of the Mystic Shrine are to attend the annual outing and sheepbake at Lake Compounce today (Wednesday). This is a big social event for the Shriners.

AMERICAN ARMY TEAM WINS WORLD'S MILITARY POLO TITLE FROM BRITISH TEAM

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 18—America added to her sporting supremacy today when four veteran khaki wearers, representing Uncle Sam's army, galloped to a 10 to 2 victory over four British army men in the deciding contest of the three-game international series for the military polo championship of the world.

Routing Great Britain at her own game and giving a final shove to the upset they started Wednesday in the first contest, which they won 10 to 7, the Yankee team took the championship today by a score that left no question of supremacy. The Americans won clearly and cleanly, the superiors of their opponents without a pedge.

It was a costly loss of prestige for the British. Their team was probably the best that could be gathered from both the military and civil life of the empire, and had the famous international cup been the stake they could not have been stronger. The players of the British team were polo veterans of international renown, steeped in the traditions of the game.

Until a few years ago polo was a sport infrequently played at army posts. Last year the team which won today took the national junior championship in a tournament for low handicapped teams and this year it repeated, but nevertheless it was looked upon as a novitiate four.

The margin of its victory can better be appreciated when it is realized that had the contests been played on a handicap basis, according to official ratings, the score today would have been 26 instead of 10 to 3.

The Yankees outscored their cousins in an aggregate that was painful to supporters of tradition. In each game they tallied ten points or a total of 30, while the British were earning 23; 7 in the first, 12 in the second and 3 in the third, a total of 22 and a difference of 8.

In the first game the Americans had an insurmountable advantage in their mounts, but in the second, due to injuries in the first, they were forced to over-exert their ponies and the American play collapsed in the seventh and last periods. Today, as a whole, both fours seemed evenly mounted and the victory was solely due to better teamwork, better hitting and better riding.

Fearful that their ponies would not hold up, the Yankees rushed play, scoring two goals in the first period before the Britishers could get started. Having jumped into the lead they never relinquished it.

The first half was a backfield game with Lieut. Col. Lewis Brown at No. 3 and Maj. Louis Beard at back outplaying Major F. B. Harrndall and Major Vivian Lockett. Brown's game was phenomenal throughout. Not only did he score more often, but he was the bulwark of the defense and the starting point of the attack. The defense was almost impregnable.

Not one British player made more than one goal. Lieut. Col. T. F. Melville, universally acknowledged the best of British backs, got only one; Major Lockett, who was unable to get into the first two games made nothing.

Major A. H. (Jingle) Wilson, star of the Yankee four was bottled up until the last half when he broke away and made two successive tallies, unaided, in almost as many minutes.

The mallet work of the British was vastly inferior, but they were steeled beyond their gait. They had nothing with which to match the Americans' teamwork, except an occasional individual feat that thrilled the crowd.

After the game the American players were presented with individual trophies by Major General Bullard who organized and managed the four.

SENATORS AND BROWNS BREAK EVEN IN DOUBLE

Washington, Sept. 18—Washington and St. Louis divided their two games today, the Browns taking the opener five to one while Washington won the second 3 to 1. Danforth had little trouble with the Nationals, Pinch Hitter Gharrity's home run drive in the ninth preventing a shutout. Zahniser had the better of Kolp in their contest, the national twirler striking out six men

TIGERS SPLIT EVEN IN DOUBLE WITH ATHLETICS

Philadelphia, Sept. 18—Detroit split even with Philadelphia today, winning the first game 8 to 2 and losing the second 10 to 9. Rommel was battered off the hill in the opener, but came back and won the second.

The rival manager shifted their players frequently during the afternoon. In the first game Mack changed his entire outfield while Cobb used four pitchers in the closing fray. Score:

NEW YORK COMMISSION TAKES NO ACTION ON DEMPSEY'S ALLEGED RING VIOLATIONS

New York, Sept. 18—The New York state athletic commission took no cognisance, officially of the Dempsey-Firpo heavyweight championship battle today despite reports that it might act upon the criticism directed at Referee Johnny Gallagher, because of his neglect to compel Dempsey to follow instructions on several occasions during the fight.

The commission discussed the match but at the close of its regular weekly meeting late this afternoon issued no formal statement of its proceedings. It was understood, however, that the boxing commission felt that though there may have been some ground for finding fault with Gallagher's work, his judgment in the ring, nevertheless was final and could not be questioned after the bout.

The commission received a number of communications concerning the title fight, particularly from Firpo partisans who charged that Dempsey should have been disqualified for alleged infractions of the rules several times before he knocked out the "Wild Bull of the Pampas."

The specific accusations in one of these communications were that Dempsey did not adhere to regulations, agreed upon before the fight, in failing to go to a neutral corner after each knockdown; that he hit Firpo once before the Argentine's knee had left the floor, and that he struck the South American several times after the bell had rung for the end of the first round.

Official attendance and gate receipts, announced today, revealed that the total paid attendance of 82,228 established a new record for fistic attractions any where, eclipsing both the Dempsey-Carpentier fight two years ago and the Firpo-Willard bout last July. The total attendance at both of these contests was between 90,000 and 100,000 according to Promoter Tex Rickard's figures, but the net paid attendance at each was only about 76,000.

The total Dempsey-Firpo attendance was 87,000, while the gross receipts amounted to $1,188,338.50, placing the match second in this respect to the Dempsey-Carpentier which attracted a gate of $1,600,000.

Deduction of a federal tax of $180,074.80 and state tax of $57,197 left net receipts of $951,551.

Dempsey left this afternoon for Chicago, where he will spend several days before leaving for Salt Lake City to visit his parents. He then plans to go on to his home in Los Angeles.

Firpo has postponed his trip to Canada until next week. The Argentine has definitely decided to hang up his gloves until next year, taking a complete rest from the strenuous campaign that led up to his fight before retiring into training. His proposed match in the spring with Harry Wills is still hanging fire though Promoter Rickard has hopes of closing it before the Argentine leaves New York.

Firpo will return to the Argentine after his Canadian trip.

SIX AMERICAN WOMEN STILL IN CANADIAN PLAY

Montreal, Sept. 18—Six of the seven American players entered in the first round of the Canadian women's open golf championship were victorious today. Among those triumphing were Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I. national champion and Miss Alexa Stirling, of New York. The only loser was Miss L. Higbbie, Chicago. Results of matches in which United States contestants were engaged follow:

Miss Edith Leitch, England, won from Miss L. Highbie, Chicago, by 6 and 4.

Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., won from Miss E. Brownlee, Ottawa, by 8 and 6.

Mrs. D. C. Hurd, of Boston, won from Miss M. Annable, Montreal, by 4 and 2.

Mrs. Spaulding, Niagara Falls, N. Y., won from Mrs. S. B. White, Rayol, Montreal by 2 and 1.

Miss Alexa Stirling, New York, won from Miss Sydney Peppler, Toronto, by 8 and 7.

Miss H. Meehan, Cedarbrook, Pa., won from Mrs. C. Armstrong, by 3 and 6.

Miss Mehan, Cedarbrook, Pa., won from Miss H. Lesuer, Ottawa, by 3 and 1.

In the second round tomorrow Miss Leitch meets Miss Collett, while the two Meehan sisters are drawn together.

FAVORITES COME SAFELY THROUGH FIRST ROUND

Chicago, Sept. 18—(By the A. P.)—After a day of hectic golf that threatened the extinction of several favorites, all the national and former national champions survived the first round of match play at 36 holes in the national amateur championship at Flossmoor except Chick Evans, of Chicago, who was eliminated by Willie Hunter, of Los Angeles, formerly British title-holder, 2 and 1.

Only three of the matches were one-sided, including the overwhelming victory of the titlist Jess Sweetser, of New York, who defeated Albert Seckel, of Chicago, once inter-collegiate champion, 10 and 9. George Von Elm, of Salt Lake City, formerly trans-Mississippi champion downed captain E. F. Carter, of Chicago, formerly Irish champion, 8 and 7 by shooting the first round in 71 or three better than par. The other easy match went to H. K. B. Davis, of San Francisco, who bested George Blossom of Chicago, 7 and 6.

The national open champion, Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, did not have an easy time winning from T. B. Cochran, of Wichita Falls, Texas, 3 and 1. At one time the Georgian was down to the Texan, but Cochran never got a commanding lead.

An even narrower escape was the experience of Jess Guilford, of Boston, titleholder, three years ago, for Louis Jacoby, of Dallas, not only held him even for 18 holes, but after losing a hole to Guilford on the third nine, yielded no further, taking the Bostonian to the 36th green where he won it up by halving the hole.

Francis Ouimet, of Boston, the tamer of Vardon and Ray in 1913, lost the morning round to Anthony Haines of Rockford, Ills., being one down to the former Yale athlete at noon, but he took four holes from Haines in the first half of the afternoon session and turned into the home stretch three up only to lose part of the advantage, and finally finish winner two and one. Ben Gardner, of Chicago, twice winner of the title, won his match from Roddy Knepper of Sioux City, Iowa, by 3 and 1.

Another former champion to get through today's play was Dave Herron, of Chicago, who won the title three years ago by defeating Bobby Jones in the finals at Oakmont. He had an unhill battle with Russell Martin, a Chicago youth, who led Herron by two holes on the first nine and was even with him at the end of 18 holes. Herron got a lead of two up on the third nine and increased this to five up at the 32nd hole, winning 5 and 4.

The seventh national title winner in the contest, W. C. Fownes of Pittsburgh, held the lead all day over Tom Frailey, of Chicago and finally won 3 and 2.

DUNDEE-LEONARD BOUT IS POSTPONED UNTIL 1924

New York, Sept. 18—The lightweight championship match between Benny Leonard, titleholder, and Johnny Dundee, who holds the featherweight crown scheduled at the Yankee stadium September 28, has been called off because of the lateness of the season, it was announced late today by Jimmy Johnston, matchmaker of the Cromwell A. C.

Johnston declared that he planned to promote the match early in the 1924 outdoor season. The combination of weather risks and the fact that public interest in the proposed fight had lessened influenced the promoter in deciding to cancel the engagement for this year.

Leonard and Dundee originally were matched by Johnston to fight September 5 but it was postponed because of Dundee's alleged poor condition, though Johnston also admitted that he was influenced by a small advance sale of tickets in deferring the contest at that time.

NAVY FOOTBALL PRACTICE STARTS AT ANNAPOLIS

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 18—Football practice at the Naval Academy got under way this afternoon. Some of the forty veterans of last year's squad had been on the scene for several days, but today, which marked the expiration of their month's vacation following the summer practice cruise, a number of others trailed in to the city.

The late comers will be put through a good deal of elementary tactics in order to get apace with the earlier arrivals and Coach Folwell hopes to have a tentative varsity in shape by Saturday to engage in a scrimmage with the strong freshmen outfit, which has been at work for the past two weeks.

Perhaps one of the first problems which Folwell and his assistants will tackle is that of filling the gap in the backfield due to the graduation of "Vin" Conroy last June. Conroy, by the way, is here as an assistant coach. The other regular backs are "Steve" Barchet, of Maryland, "Shaggy" Cullen, of Washington and Ira McKee.

WEBSTER GIVEN TWO CHOICE SOUVENIRS BY DEMPSEY

New York, Sept. 18—Tom Webster, cartoonist of the London Daily Mail, called today on the Mauretania for England with two cherished souvenirs of the Dempsey-Firpo championship fight, given to him by the victorious titleholder. The mementoes were the white sweater which Dempsey wore about his shoulders when he climbed into the ring and the set of boxing gloves with which the American knocked out his Argentine rival.

PONIES TRIM HILLIES IN PITCHING CONTEST

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 18—Springfield defeated Pittsfield 6-4c 3 today. Fortune allowed only two hits in the first seven innings and although he was found for four in the last no he pitched his way out of tight places. Herrera and Gardella were put out of the game for engaging in a fist fight in the sixth inning. Score by innings:

HARTFORD CLINCHES PENNANT IN EASTERN LEAGUE

Hartford, Sept. 18—The Hartford Senators clinched the 1923 championship of the Eastern league here today, when they defeated Worcester 12 to 11. Hartford won the game in the eighth inning when they made five runs, scoring out Worcester who had a four run lead. Today's victory gives Hartford its first pennant since 1913 when Si McDonald led the locals to victory. McDonald was one of the umpires in today's game. Score by innings:

One of the prettiest weddings of the early fall season was solemnized Monday morning at Sacred Heart church, when Miss Alma Girard became the bride of Ovila Lebeau of Waterbury, Conn., the nuptial high mass being celebrated by the pastor, Rev. U. O. Bellerose. The witnesses were Albert Lebeau, a brother of the groom, and Charles Girard, a brother of the bride. The bride was charming in gray canton crepe with hat to match and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Following the ceremony there was a reception and breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Girard of North A street, which was attended by many relatives and friends, some from Waterbury, Conn., Bristol, Conn., Springfield Mass. The gifts were numerous and included gold pieces, cut glass, linen and silver. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Girard and is popular locally. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lebeau of Waterbury and is employed as a machinist.

HARTFORD WOMAN DIES SUDDENLY IN TROLLEY CAR AT FRANKLIN SQUARE

While on her way to visit her son, who is critically ill at the Norwich State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Mrs. John F. Carroll, of Hartford, died suddenly on a Willimantic trolley car just as the car was arriving in Franklin square at 2.45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Carroll, who was accompanied by another son, John, sitting beside her in the car, was suddenly seized by an attack of heart trouble and died as the car was passing the Chelsea Savings bank.

Medical Examiner C. C. Gildersleeve was notified of the sudden death and conducted an investigation. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Cummings and Ring and will be sent to the woman's home in Hartford.

Mrs. Carroll, whose maiden name was Mary J. Marren, was born in Williamsport, Pa., 61 years ago. Practically all of her life had been passed in Hartford. Her husband died there 28 years ago. She was a member of St. Augustine's parish in Hartford.

Surviving are five sons, James P., Thomas H., Frank, Leonard and John, all of Hartford.

WM. F. BROUGHTON DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Stonington, Sept. 18.—William F. Broughton, 66, of Stonington borough, died Tuesday at his home in Cannon square after an attack of indigestion. Mr. Broughton was born in Providence, April 27, 1857. He attended the school in Hope Valley and was graduated from a business school in Providence. He learned the machinists' trade and was employed by the Standard Machine company in the town and afterwards engaged in the fish and meat business. Mr. Broughton was a 33rd degree Mason and was very active in the work of the craft. He was past master of Asylum lodge of Stonington, a past worthy patron of Ruth chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, past eminent commander of Palestine commandery, K. T., of New London. He was affiliated with the Mystic Shrine of Providence.

For more than thirty years Mr. Broughton served as deputy sheriff. He was a member of the general assembly in 1909 and for several years was treasurer of Ruth chapter, O. E. S., and of Pioneer Hook and Ladder company.

He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Frances Jafes of Exeter, R. I., a daughter, Mrs. Gurdon tPendleton, Jr., of New London, a son, W. F. Broughton, Jr. of Bridgeport, and a brother, George E. Broughton, of Westerly.

BABY CHICKS BECAME BLUE RIBBON BIRDS

Last spring the Tanney Corporation disposed of about 15,000 baby chicks at their store in the Thayer building and the members of the firm have just learned with a great deal of gratification that some of the fluffy little creatures that left their store in the spring blossomed out into prize winning birds at the New London county fair.

S. Buchanan of West Main street who bought some of the day-old chicks took first on some Brown Leghorns and second with Rhode Island Reds at the county fair. The Tanney Corporation expects to sell more chicks than ever next year.

WAS FORMER PASTOR AT CANTERBURY CHURCH

Rev. Clarence C. Lyon, a former Congregational pastor at Canterbury, died last week at Penacook, N. H., and the funeral was held there Saturday.

He was born, June 14, 1859, at Stafford, Ct., the son of Washington and Sophronia (Pick) Lyon, he lived so near the Monson line that his early education was received there. He first attended the Butler district school and graduated from Monson academy. Graduating from college he entered the Congregational ministry and settled at Canterbury, Ct. During a period of ill-health he lived with his brother, the late Clayton Lyon, in Monson about five years, about 1900. He removed from Peru, Vt., to Penacook in January of this year. He leaves a widow (Alice Gould Lyon) and a son and daughter.

FELLOWSHIP AT COLUMBIA FOR EDWARD ZABRISKIE

Edward Zabriskie, a graduate of the Free Academy, and for the past year head of the department of history at Montclair Academy, N. J., was recently appointed Fellow of Columbia University for the school year 1923-24. The Fellowship is in the department of History. Twelve University Fellowships are granted each year. They give a year study in the university to especially qualified students in the pursuit of some definite aim. After the war Mr. Zabriskie did undergraduate and graduate work in Columbia, specializing in history, and performed eminent work in that department. He is using the year's study toward the completion of the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

ON BENCH WARRANTS IN SUPERIOR COURT

Peter Mros, alleged to be the proprietor of a saloon at the corner of John and North Bank streets, New London, and Konstanty Piaszik, who was in his employ, were brought into the superior court here Tuesday morning on bench warrants and put to plea before Judge Allyn L. Brown on the charge of violating the liquor law. They pleaded not guilty and each elected to be tried by jury. Bonds for Mros were fixed by the court at $3,500 and for Piaszik at $2,000.

Girl's Foot Run Over

Veronica Kusick, a little girl living at 246 Yantic street, had her foot run over in front of the Falls school Tuesday afternoon by an automobile driven by H. Lloyd Rathbone of 44 Dunham street. Mr. Rathbone reported at police headquarters that the child received only minor injuries and was able to walk home.

PAIR TAKEN ON NEW LONDON BOAT PROVE PROVIDENCE COUNTERFEITERS

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 18—John Bloomfield ,73, of 35 West Colt street, died this morning at Norwich State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, where he had been under treatment some time. He is survived by his widow and a son, William, of New London. Mr. Bloomfield was employed as a clerk at the plant of the Robert Gair company at Montville until his health became impaired.

The funeral of Idella Terry ,widow of Daniel Holloway, whose sudden death occurred from heart trouble at the home of friends she was visiting at Ledyard Saturday afternoon, took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Benjamin H. Humphries of Station H, Waterford. The services were conducted by Rev. Horatio J. Chase, pastor of Montauk avenue Baptist church. Relatives acted as bearers. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

The automobile owned and operated by Manuel Perry, of Oakdale and a motor-truck, owned and driven by Frank Scott were in collision on Main street this forenoon. Perry's machine sustained the greater damage.

The conflict in this city over the closing of stores on Saturday at 6 o'clock in the afternoon bids fair to reach its climax during this week or the fore part of next week. One big State street store that has been dark Saturday evenings the past fortnight in response to a call from a few dry goods stores will be open and hustling for business next Saturday so the proprietor states today. He has closed his store through a humanitarian movement on the part of a few women who seek to get Saturday evening vacations for the clerk, but while he has had his store dark, his competitors, in larger stores on Bank street, have kept open and garnered all the business they could get. The State street merchant naturally regards this as an imposition and will get out from under it hereafter. He has given out notice today. While the clerks in the stores that have closed early are delighted with the brief vacation they have received through the activities of the women, they would rather remain at work the two hours extra Saturday and receive an increase in pay for what they do. They point out that the stores where they are employed frequently get enough profit on the sale of a single garment to pay any clerk employed a day's wages. They claim there is no class of labor so poorly paid as the clerks and they are intent upon getting an increase even though they work Saturday evening to earn it. In a State street candy store the clerks became so independent after the early closing movement was started that they actually refused to follow the orders of the proprietor and he discharged all in his employ yesterday. Today one of the discharged girls is back at work and others will be back, it is said, in a day or two. The candy man is not likely to experience great difficulty in getting any clerks he desires.

Merchants represent that business is none to active now and that they need all the trade they can get. They point out that they would like to have Saturday evenings for rest but they feel that they cannot afford to take it at the expense of their business. They also hold that the stores that accommodate traders are the ones that get the biggest volume of business and they want to be in that class.

They recall that it was not many years ago when the stores were open nightly until 8 o'clock and that they were more prosperous then than they are now.

Little mackerel are being caught from the wharves. They do not bite as ferociously as they do after frost has come, but are nevertheless caught in the lower harbor.

Liquor law violators are realizing that if they are convicted in the superior court they will have to do terms in the county jail. That has been the experience of those who have been convicted of late and those who are yet to be tried are fearful that the same sentence will be given to them if they are adjudged guilty. They are very generally electing to be tried by a jury in the impression that their chances are best with a dozen laymen passing upon their cases than they would be with a judge of the court judging innocence or guilt. Several cases have already been disposed of and there is a considerable number yet to be passed upon. Many of the cases are from New London and outlying districts.

To vary the monotony the police court was not in session here today. Occasions when there is no session of that court have come to be the exception to the rule.

Printed copies of the first annual report of the city under the city manager form of government were distributed to the public today. The report is for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1922, about a year ago; while the report was compiled about that time, it has required the greater part of the year to secure its publication.

Two boys under 12, pupils at the Nameaug school, went to school this forenoon and put in their time amusing themselves and the other students of their room. The teacher was forced to reprimand the unruly pupils several times. When the teacher was on her way to lunch the two boys followed her and pelted her with various objects. Upon her return to school for the afternoon session, the teacher related her experience to Miss Josephine Rice, the principal, and Miss Rice communicated with the police. Patrolman Howard Sloan took charge of the boys and later delivered them into the keeping of Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield. The boys will be given a hearing in juvenile court the latter part of the week.

It has developed since the arrest here several days ago of Herbert William Green, who claimed to be a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y., that the automobile found in his possession and which he claimed to have purchased from a Providence woman, was a stolen machine, the property of Mrs. Blanche Buck of Providence. Mrs. Buck came to New London today and took possession of her car. Green is now a prisoner at Providence, awaiting trial.

Patrolman Timothy T. Sullivan of the night force is confined to his home on Montauk avenue as a result of a severe cold.

An automobile owned by Edward S. Harkness of Goshen Point and operated by Pietro Orlando and a machine owned by the City Dye works and operated by William Nott of Bank street were in collision on Ocean avenue this afternoon. Both cars were considerably damaged.

Conductor Walter Murphy of the Connecticut company, attacked by Philip Hausey and Michael Shasha at the carbarn of the company Saturday night, Murphy sustaining a knife wound in the neck, was able to resume his duties collecting fares today. Hausey and Shasha will be in the police court Monday next, charged with assault with intent to kill.

The Golden Rule market, State street, was put out of business today because it did not prove that it was entitled to carry the name by paying its debts and doing unto others as it would that others should do to it. The place was attached for a debt of $800 by Swift & Co., meat dealers at wholesale, and by the Boston firm of P. F. Berry. Sheriff Martin made the attachments that put the place into darkness this evening.

Members of the city council have defective memories when they couldn't recall whether the Gom-Gas company had permission to erect their tanks on the land in the rear of Trumbull street, for the permission for that work was given by the council, of which all the members present at the meeting last evening were in attendance, last Dec. 11th, when the permission was requested and granted. Inspector Linicus is authority for the statement that the gas company was granted the permission it sought on the 11th of December and by him the plans were approved the next day and the work was commenced immediately. The land on which the tank was erected that burst Sunday and allowed some thousands gallons of gasoline to escape was erected on made land. The weight of the tank caused it to settle down and the connections to break, allowing the leakage.

A gang of trolley road trackmen were at work on Bank street in the upper section of the highway all last night to relay tracks that had sunk there and which were an annoyance in the operation of cars.

It is understood that the cases against Carney, proprietor of the Casino in this city, who is charged with the sale of liquor, is to go over in the superior court at Norwich till Tuesday next, as Mr. Carney is ill and unable to be in court.

New York papers failed to reach New London today. Their publication was interfered with by a strike among the pressmen.

H. E. Rogers of Winfield, Kas., is in New London for the first time in 40 years. He was born in this city in the old Pendleton house which stands on the rocks next south of the County Historical society building opposite Perkins green. He was for several years engaged in the Boston office of the Brainerd & Armstrong company, and from there he went to Kansas, where he engaged in farming and is said to have amassed a snug sum. He is here with his wife and intends to visit relatives in Mystville and Norwich, Willimantic and Stonington. His father was Capt. Richard J. Rogers, who commanded vessels from this port when New London held a place among the great whaling ship ports of the world.

Policeman William Babcock made a greater catch than he thought when he went aboard the steamer for New York one night last week and nabbed, by description, for Sheriff Brown a man and woman whom the sheriff wanted, but for what crime the policeman did not know. The man was Patsy Towee and the woman Katherine Ballard and they are connected with a case of counterfeiting at Providence.

Members of the police force in this city are registering what seems to be valid objection to remaining in the superior court at Norwich all day and then coming home here and doing police duty all night. The men declare that they can be in the court at Norwich any day when they are notified a couple of hours or so in advance of the time they are wanted. Lieutenant Beebe is sending the men from night duty at the earliest hour possible, but he would keep them on duty a longer time if they were not deprived of sleep and rest in the day time.

Darrow street is being greatly improved by the filling in of land surrounding houses there, the filling being made necessary by the laying of sidewalks on the street.

BETTER HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Any woman who will stop and consider the result of a questionnaire recently sent out by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., will in all fairness admit the value of this old-fashioned root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Fifty thousand replies were received, and 98 out of every 100 women stated they had been benefited or restored to health by its use. This means better health for American women. It will surely pay any woman who suffers from any ailment or weakness peculiar to her sex to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

POETRY

SONG.

Because the rose must fade,
Shall I not love the rose?
Because the summer shade
Passes when winter blows,
Shall I not rest me there
In the cool air?

Because the sunset sky
Makes music in my soul,
Only to fail and die,
Shall I not take the whole
Of beauty that it gives
While yet it lives?

Because the sweet of youth
Doth vanish all too soon,
Shall I forget, forsooth,
To learn its lingering tune,
My joy to memorise
In those young eyes?

If, like the summer flower
That blooms—a fragrant death,
Keen music hath no power
To live beyond its breath,
Then of this flood of song
Let me drink long!

Ah, yes, because the rose
Fades like the sunset skies;
Because rude winter blows
All bare, and music dies—
Therefore, now is to me
Eternity!

—Richard Watson Gilder, in Indianapolis News.

STORM BY THE SEA.

Against the sky which seems a wall of gray
The pine and eucalyptus branches toss;
The tenuous streamers of the Spanish moss
Like spectral fingers beckon, beard and sway;
And so in dolorous wise drags on the day;
The rain swoops madly; one is at a loss
To know where lies the sea, for all across
The distance hangs a veil without a ray.
What will the night bring—fury still or calm?
Like rest of the racked body after pain,
A healing quiet from the tempest's scars?
Haply the winds will change into a psalm,
And there will shine above the land and main
The peaceful benediction of the stars.

—Clinton Scollard, in New York Herald.

NEWSPAPERS OF NEW YORK CONTINUE COMBINED ISSUE

President Berry of the Pressmen's International Union Greeted With Jeers and Hisses as He Entered Beethoven Hall to Address His Men—Later Mr. Berry Was Made Head of a Committee of Five to Negotiate With the Employers—Owners Have Notified Berry That They Would Await Revokation of the Local Union's Charter—Until That Time They Will Continue to Print the Combined New York Newspapers.

New York, Sept. 19.—Steps to end the strike of the newspaper pressmen took definite form today when it was announced a conference would be held tomorrow, or soon after, between spokesmen for the pressmen and newspaper owners. Metropolitan dailies have been issued spasmodically and in abbreviated form since the beginning of the walkout just after midnight yesterday.

George L. Berry, President of the Pressmen's International Union, who yesterday characterized the strike as illegal and threatened revocation of the local union's charter unless the men returned to work, today was appointed head of a committee of five to negotiate with the employers after he had addressed more than 2,000 strikers in Beethoven Hall. The negotiation will begin as soon as officials of the International Union, who will join in the discussions, can reach New York. Leaders of the men reaffirmed their intention not to return to work until action had been taken at the conference with the owners. The strikers arranged a meeting tonight to discuss the Berry arbitration program.

Mr. Berry was met by jeers and hisses as he entered the hall for today's conference with the men, while David Simon, head of the local union, was greeted by cheers. Mr. Berry proposed that the men return to work under a ten-day truce while the discussions were in progress. Derisive shouts of "No," came from all over the hall. The din made it impossible to put the motion.

In a long address Mr. Berry explained he felt the strike should have been delayed until the publishers had been given more opportunity definitely to accept or reject the pressmen's new program. For two hours he answered a barrage of questions. He said no immediate action to revoke the local's charter was contemplated. Police were present to prevent disorder. None materialized.

The afternoon papers, meantime, appeared in the combined form adopted yesterday and many smaller papers, unaffected by the walkout, assumed unprecedented pep and sold like hotcakes.

Pickets remained at affected plants throughout the day, but little disorder was reported. Five men who identified themselves as pressmen for the New York World were remanded to jail for sentence Saturday after pleading guilty of seizing 50 bundles of papers from an elevated train, carrying them in a taxicab to the East river for the purpose of destroying them. Detectives saved the papers.

Mr. Berry told newspapermen at the close of the Beethoven Hall session he had given the men a review of the negotiations with the Publishers' committee, stating frankly that adequate progress had not been made, due largely to the attitude of the Publishers' committee." He said he told the strikers he thought the walkout was a serious mistake.

The wage scale proposed for arbitration specifies $60 a week for master pressmen, $54 for senior pressmen, $45 for junior pressmen and $33 for fly boys.

Mr. Simons announced earlier in the day that 400 paper handlers had walked out in sympathy with the pressmen.

Combined New York morning newspapers was planned to make its second appearance on the streets tomorrow. It was announced tonight at the offices of the metropolitan dailies. The same eight-page sheet, minus editorials and with curtailed advertisements and features, would be published, it was said.

Proprietors of the New York newspapers went into conference tonight while strikers also called a meeting to await the reply of the publishers to their propositions. Mr. Berry waited outside of the publishers' conference room for their answer.

The union's propositions call for the appointment of an arbitration board consisting of three union members, three publishers and three impartial members. Nothing would be done until this board decided upon the question of hours, wages and the number of men to each press. The union also demands that conditions prevailing before Judge Manton's award became effective in March, 1922, be restored.

OWNERS WILL NOT DEAL WITH THE LOCAL UNION

New York, Sept. 19.—Owners of Metropolitan newspapers affected by a strike of Webb pressmen tonight served notice on George L. Berry, international president of the Pressmen's Union, that they would not deal further with the local organization. They characterized the strike as illegal and the men "defiant."

The owners told Mr. Berry they would await his promised action to revoke the local union's charter and form a new organization. Until that time, they said, they would continue to print limited editions of the Combined New York Newspapers as they are now doing.

The owners' action followed a conference that lasted late into the night during which proposals for settlement submitted by the union were discussed. While the publishers met in an uptown hotel the strikers gathered in their union hall downtown to await word from Mr. Berry, who was waiting for the publishers' answer. Most of them had drifted away when the owners' action became known at the hall.

The union's proposition for settlement called for the appointment of an arbitration board consisting of three union members, three publishers and three impartial members. They asked that nothing be done in the way of a permanent agreement until this board decided upon the question of hours, wages and the number of men to each press. The union also demanded that conditions prevailing before the award of Judge Manton in March, 1922, be restored.

Mr. Berry, who has characterized the strike as illegal and threatened to revoke the local union's charter unless the men returned to work, refused to comment tonight on the owners' action. At union headquarters it was said a meeting would be called for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock when it was expected more members would be present to discuss the situation. It was also announced there that the local stereotypers' union had passed a resolution giving the striking pressmen their "moral support."

MYSTERIOUS S. O. S. CALL FROM STEAMER IN SOUND

New York, Sept. 19.—An S. O. S. call from the steamship Etacedent, in distress 10 miles east of New Haven, Conn., was picked up by naval communications tonight. This ship is not listed in available shipping records.

Radio stations were silenced by the broadcasting from naval communication station at the signal "QRT, SOS." This requests silence. It was said that the stations broadcasting entertainment later had been permitted to resume their programmes.

Efforts were being made by the naval communication radio station to reach steamers plying through Long Island sound to sent them to the aid of the vessel in distress. Although at least one of these is ordinarily at a point opposite New London, Conn., at about the time the S. O. S. was received, no answer had been received to the reayed distress signal.

Reports from New Haven, Conn., stating that a radio operator had picked up a garbled S. O. S. message from a steamship "Occident," led to the belief that the vessel in distress might be the American tanker Occidental which left Port Arthur, Texas, for Boston, September 11, and should have been somewhere near the locality indicated by the wireless.

CALL PICKED UP IN MILFORD AS "OCCIDENT"

New Haven, Sept. 19.—The S. O. S. call from a steamship ten miles east of this city tonight was picked up by radio operator in Milford, who stated that the name of the steamer apparently had been garbled at first and that he had received it as Occident.

A freighter on the outside course of the sound would be in the same position as that indicated by the S.O.S., it was said here.

The steamer Concord was said to be on the way to aid the freighter.

An intense fog prevails in the region indicated by the call.

ARTIST MAX BOHM DIED IN PROVINCETOWN

Provincetown, Mass., Sept. 19.—Max Bohm, well known American artist and rural painter, died at his summer home here today. He was 55 years old.

He was born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1868, and his home was in Bronxville, N. Y., but since 1914 he had spent the summers here. His rise to fame as a painter was rapid. In 1889 two years after he went abroad to study, his first picture was hung in the Paris Salon. During his later career he won many prizes in European art centers. Many museums in America and abroad have hung his works.

Mr. Bohm was vice president of the Mural Painters' National society and a member of the Architectural League of New York, the Provincetown Art Association and the Paris Society of American Painters. He was leading spirit in the Beachcomers, the Artists' club here, and resigned last week as "skipper" of the organization.

DOCTORS AND SURGEONS NOW "MERE MECHANICS"

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—Physicians and surgeons have become "mere mechanics" and the profession of surgery a trade, Dr. Charles P. Noble, of this city, today told the American Association of Obstetricians, Gynecologists and Abdominable Surgeons, in annual convention here.

"The so-called specialist of today," he declared, "is but one-tenth doctor, and a poor one at that. Medical education has become mis-education, and if this serious condition is not soon corrected the medical profession will be ruined.

Nine-tenths of the present-day doctors' education has been omitted. The physician of today who is under the age of fifty is not a doctor.

"Laboratory work of this generation is nonsense; it deals only with the abstract. It has no brain and cannot make a diagnosis. The trouble is that doctors and surgeons have become mere mechanics, and the profession of surgery a trade."

ATTEMPT TO OVERTHROW GOVERNMENT IN SOFIA

Belgrade, Sept. 19.—An attempt to overthrow the Zankoff government in Sofia is reported from northern Bulgaria, where the communistic organization is said to be seeking to redeem itself from the charge of supineness brought aginst it at the time of the fall of the Stamboulisky government.

OBITUARY.

David Ross.

Wallingford, Conn., Sept. 19.—David Ross, 83, who for more than 50 years was commander of E. A. Dutton G. A. R., of Wallingford, died today at the Veterans' hospital in Noroton Heights where he had been a patient for one month. He was born in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Ross enlisted in the army June 15, 1861, at Taunton, Mass., where he then made his home.

He is survived by his wife, who reside here.

Tokio, Sept. 19.—(By the A. P.)—It is reported the Japanese government proposes to float a billion dollar loan [illegible] since reconstruction.

Earthquake In Persia

Ashkabad, British India, Sept. 19.—A severe earthquake was experienced at Boujnurd, Persia, on Monday morning, says a despatch to the Pioneer from Meshed. No details are contained in the despatch.

American Steamer In Collision

Queenstown, Sept. 19.—A wireless message from the American steamer West Arrow, bound from Liverpool for Boston, reports that she was in collision at 12:30 today with the White Star liner, Haverford, which struck her on the port bow, ten feet from the stem.

DRS. ROBB AND SWOPE TO BE ARRAIGNED TODAY

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 19.—Dr. Dalva A. Swope, of Brockton, surrendered to the Middlesex county authorities to answer to the indictment returned by the grand jury here yesterday charging him with having been an accessory before and after the fact to the murder of Mrs. Alice M. Wolschendorf, of East Bridgewater. He will be arraigned in the superior court tomorrow afternoon with Dr. William M. Robb, of Boston, who was arrested on charge of performing an illegal operation upon Mrs. Wolschendorf and who was indicted yesterday for murder in the first degree.

District Attorney Arthur K. Reading beyond saying that he would move that the case be put on the trial list for October, gave no intimation as to further activities of his office surrounding the finding of portions of Mrs. Wolschendorf's dismembered body in the Merrimack river at Mrs. Wolschendorf's dismembered y Tyngsboro, The state police had planned a visit to certain sections of southern New Hampshire today in continuance of their search for the missing head of the woman, but the trip was postponed.

The state police made it known that a nurse formerly employed by Dr. Robb had been questioned and eliminated from the case when it was learned that she had not worked for the physician for several years. They also made public the story told them by an employe of a Springfield garage, who said that Dr Robb in storing his automobile there on the night of September 6 left orders ice it to that the rubber floor mat be washed, saying that he had spilled ginger ale on it. The first suit case containing part of the body was found on September 1 and the second containing other portions on the second day.

AMBASSADOR HARVEY AT HIS POST IN LONDON

London, Sept. 19.—American Ambassador George Harvey who resumed his duties here Monday after a trip to the United States, has been unable to renew his relations with the most important of the British officials, as most of them are still out of town on their vacations. Nevertheless, the ambassador held his usual conference with the American correspondents today.

The entertainment of his guest, Will Hays, is largely occupying the ambassador's time. Tomorrow he will take Mr. Hays to Warwick Castle, the ambassador's favorite country retreat, for a week's visit. Upon his return Mr. Harvey will meet Foreign Secretary Curzon for a discussion of Anglo-American relations, which, he is confident are not likely to be disturbed by such issues as rum-running and emigration.

The ambassador was optimistic about rum-running problems, declaring there is a growing popular feeling in England against the use of the British flag by rum-runners shipping cargoes to American waters.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF WOMAN AT MYRTLE BEACH

Milford, Conn., Sept. 19.—Police are baffled by the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Christopher Sullivan, wife of Christopher Sullivan of the Bank hotel, Waterbury, from Myrtle beach last Saturday.

Mrs. Sullivan, recovering from a nervous breakdown suffered following the death of a sister last February, was visiting another sister, Mrs. Anna Rutherman at Walnut beach. The two women, together with Mrs. Rutherman's children, went out for a walk Saturday night. When on East Broadway at Spencer avenue, they tried to cross the street but had to wait because of passing automobiles. Mrs. Rutherman directed her attention toward the children and supposed her sister was following. When she reached the other side of the street, Mrs. Sullivan was nowhere in sight. A search was started but she could not be found. Police are working on the case. Mrs. Sullivan is about 30 years old and is the mother of five children.

TO RESUME TROLLEY SERVICE MONDAY IN NEW JERSEY

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 19.—No special session will be called by Governor Silzer to enact "some more or less undefined and untried legislation" to remedy the public service trolley situation. This decision was contained by the Governor in a letter to Commissioner Raymond, of Newark.

"Instead of throwing this matter further into politics," said the Governor, "I prefer if possible to take it out and pursue the more orderly course of the law. There has already been too much of politics and much loose talk."

President McCarter, of the Public Service Corporation, today announced that the trolley company, which will resume service Monday, will petition the state board of Public Utility Commissioners for a ten cent fare. Granting the increase in wages of twenty per cent. announced today, meeting the increased cost of operation and financing extensions and betterments, necessitates an additional revenue of $2,500,000 annually, said Mr. McCarter.

FINAL RESULTS OF THE PRIMARY IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—W. Freeland Kendrick, republican organization candidate for mayor, received a plurality at yesterday's primary election of 217,655 over Powell Evans, his nearest independent rival. This was one of the largest pluralities ever given a candidate for mayor in Philadelphia. Evans led Richard Wogiein, who also ran independently, by 55,742.

Tabulation of the vote in all of the 1463 election divisions was completed tonight. It showed these figures:

Kendrick, 268,767; Evans, 52,112; Weglein, 15,370.

King Presides Over New Spanish Gov't

Council Held in the Royal Palace—To Conduct Campaign Against Profiteering.

Madrid, Sept. 19.—(By the A. P.)—The military directorate of Spain began functioning this afternoon at a council held in the royal palace. The council was presided over by King Alfonso and was attended by General Primo-Rivera, president of the Directorate, and his generals.

Those participating in the council declined to give any details of the meeting. The new government has begun a campaign against profiteering in prime necessities. While it asserts that owing to circumstances some merchants may increase their prices slightly it is disposed to apply most energetic measures in order to prevent the exploitation of the people. If profiteers do not heed the demands of the government it will increase taxes and also open the frontier to the free entry of such foreign goods as are too dear in Spain, for instance sugar.

Before taking such a step, however, the government purposes to study the situation carefully. It is stated that it will resort to extreme measures only if it is compelled to do so or if the existing laws relating to food profiteers should prove ineffective.

After the council this afternoon King Alfonso and General Primo Rivera permitted the photographers to take pictures of them. Later all the members of the cabinet council and the King and General Primo-Rivera posed in a group. The photographers also were allowed to take snapshots of the interior of the royal palace and its historical relics.

ONE MAN KILLED IN THE COLLISION OF WARSHIPS

Boston, Sept. 19.—One man was killed and several injured when the United States destroyer McFarland was rammed by the battleship Arkansas in maneuvers near the eastern entrance of Cape Cod Canal today. The McFarland, with her bow shattered, reached the Charlestown navy yard tonight, convoyed by the destroyer Sturtevant.

Lieutenant H. G. Whelchel, one of the McFarland's officers, had a narrow escape from death. His room on the port side of the destroyer was pushed over by the force of the collision until it almost touched the room on the starboard side of the vessel. The officer was imprisoned for a few moments. Then as the battleship backed away the bow of the destroyer moved back and there was just room for Whelchel to crawl free.

Fireman Stack and Smith were hailed as heroes on the destroyer for saving at least six lives. The escaping oil had flooded the forecastle and many members of the crew were unable to get out. Some could not swim. The firemen tied a rope to the forward stanchion and climbing to this went into the well at several times, each time bringing out a man. The bow of the destroyer was twisted to the shape of a huge letter "C." Her bridge was carried away and her wireless dismantled. Commander H. L. Pence, in charge of the vessel, refused to discuss the accident in advance of the official inquiry by a naval board.

LEAGUE TO KEEP HANDS OFF THE REPARATIONS PROBLEM

Geneva, Sept. 19.—(By the A. P.)—"Hands off" the reparations problem, for the moment at least, was the decision reached today by one of the commissions of the League of Nations. This decision it is believed will affect the entire attitude of the league assembly on this problem.

The reparations issue arose before the commission on technical organizations, when Sir Henry Strakosh, the financial expert representing South Africa, alluded to the statement at the opening of this year's assembly to the effect that the league was confronted with difficulties owing to the absence of a settlement of the questions of reparations and interallied debts. But after consulting his French and Belgian colleagues, Sir Henry said, he was convinced of the advisability of not starting a debate which might aggravate the situation and hinder eventual settlement.

Sir Huber Lewellyn Smith, of England, deprecated allowing the impression to exist that the reparations question was outside the domain of this commission. He advocated that the commission make recommendations to the League council, as preferable to a general discussion, which might cause unfortunate dissensions.

MYSTERY IN DEATH OF MISS SVEA OLSON

Rockford, Ills., Sept. 19.—With no marks of violence evident and all internal organs reported to be in an apparent normal condition, although a bacteriological examination is yet to be completed, the mystery in the death of Miss Svea Olson, whose body was carried into St. Anthony's hospital last night by an unknown man, has not been cleared.

Miss Olson had been suffering from palpatation of the heart for two years, the authorities have been told, but nothing was found sufficiently wrong to cause death unless probable exhaustion or sudden fright, it was said.

One theory is that Miss Olson suffered a heart attack, asked a passing motorist to take her to St. Anthony's hospital and died on the way and that the driver believed she had fainted, fled after giving her into the nurses care.

SENATOR BORAH GUEST OF PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

Washington, Sept. 19—Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the leaders in the progressive wing of the republican party was a guest of President Coolidge at dinner tonight at the White House. Afterwards the executive and the senator had a general conference with conditions facing western wheat growers as the principle theme of discussion. Senator Borah recently visited the wheat states and had some views as to legislation designed to relieve the situation.

The meeting of President Coolidge and Mr. Borah tonight was their first since Mr. Coolidge became executive. Before returning to Washington, Senator Borah declared his belief that Mr. Coolidge was the logical man for the republican presidential nomination next year and called upon the public to "give him a chance to make good."

Greece Atones for The Janina Murders

Has Fulfilled the Measures of Apology as Prescribed by Council of Ambassadors.

Athens, Sept. 19.—(By the A. P.)—Greece today discharged the measures of apology prescribed by the Allies for the Janina murders and the incident which for a time threatened the peace of the Balkans is regarded as closed.

At ten o'clock this morning, the Allied squadron led by the Italian Warship Conte Di Cavour started through the haze into Phaleron harbor where the waiting Greek ships rendered a salute of twenty-one guns to each flag.

At the same hour memorial services were celebrated at the Roman Catholic cathedral in Athens in the presence of the Greek cabinet and the Allied diplomats, while at Prevesa the bodies of the murdered Italian boundary commissioners were embarked for Italy with military, naval and civil honors.

The Italian dreadnoughts Conte Di Cavour and Giulio Cesare and six Italian torpedoboat destroyers and the British cruiser Cardiff and the French cruiser Metz comprised the squadron which anchored in the long curve close in shore two hours before the church bells signalled the close on the memorial services in Athens. Then the Greek flag climbed to the mastheads of the vessels of the allied squadron. The Greek salute was returned gun for gun and the foreigners slowly steamed seaward.

Athenians generally absented themselves from the spectacle, but here and there groups of people could be observed on the flat house tops or clustered on the adjacent cliffs.

The church service here was a simple one. The foreign representatives arrived first and assembled to the right of the main aisle. Then Premier Gonatas and the members of the council came in and were seated on the left of the aisle. In front of the alter stood a catafalque covered with the Italian colors. The congregation was composed mainly of women. At the church Athenians again were notably absent both inside and outside the edifice.

CHEMISTRY STUMBLING BLOCK FOR HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

Hartford, Sept. 19.—More high school pupils in Connecticut fail in chemistry than in any other subject, judging from a study of about thirty schools in the state made by O. J. Monilton, principal of the Wethersfield high school. General science has the second greatest number of failures to its credit if these schools may be said to be fairly representative of the eighty-one high schools upon the approved list on file at the state board of education.

It has been shown by a study of secondary schools of the state made by Jesse W. Davis, supervisor of secondary education in the state board of education, that 37.5 per cent of those who enter high schools survive the four-year course and are graduated.

The holding power of the high school has always been a troublesome problem," according to Mr. Davis. "The loss of pupils from year to year is due to many causes. Investigations that have been made from time to time show that a certain amount of the elimination from the high school is to be expected as a result of death, transfer, economic conditions and failure to meet the standards demanded for promotion."

MINERS RESUME WORK IN ANTHRACITE FIELDS

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 19.—Mining operations in the anthracite fields were resumed today after having been suspended since September 1 pending the negotiation for a new wage contract for the workers. There was far from a full response, however, to the order lifting the suspension after the ratification of the new agreement by the tri-district convention of the United Mine Workers.

In some sections less than twenty per cent. of the men reported for work and in few instances collieries failed to reopen because of the small forces, while others operated only a few hours. At most of the mines, however, between fifty and seventy-five per cent. of the men returned to work.

Neither operators nor union officials expect a normal output for several days, but it was believed that by the end of the week all or the 155,000 miners will have returned to work.

The new wage scale, giving the miners a ten per cent. increase in wages, an eight hour day and other concessions, was formally signed today by representatives of the men and the operators in the presence of Governor Pinchot at his home in Milford, Pa.

ONTARIO NEWSPAPERS TO PUBLISH RACING NEWS

Toronto, Sept. 19.—Attorney General Nickle anounced tonight that all prosecutions under the Ontario antibetting law, nullified today by the appellate division of the Ontario supreme court, would cease. Ontario newspapers are now free to publish racing news, even to the extent of odds and tips.

The court ruled in a unanimous decision, that the legislature was beyond its authority in passing the act.

American sheets which publish betting odds and selections it was said, would be barred from Canada by a recently passed federal law. In order to evade it, it was said, American publishers would have to issue special Canadian editions, published across the border.

WHISKEY AND BEER SEIZED IN HEALY'S CAFE, BOSTON

Boston, Sept. 19.—Healy's, the sole cabaret remaining in business in the metropolitan Boston, was raided tonight by the police liquor squad who seized a quantity of wines, alcohol and whiskey and 288 bottles of beer. The place was full of dancers and diners. No arrests were made.

CABARET SINGER STABBED TO DEATH IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 19.—Ethel Williams, a cabaret singer, 25 years old, was found stabbed to death in her room in a lodging house late today. Her nude body lay on the floor. The police said she had been stabbed repeatedly in the mouth, perhaps by a pair of scissors.

EDITORS WOULD OVERRIDE GOVERNOR OF OKLAHOMA

Publishers of Several of the Largest Dailies in the State Send Message to Legislators Urging That They Meet Immediately—Declare the Issue in Oklahoma is "Constitutional Government or Despotism"—Oklahoma City Times States That Gov. J. C. Walton is Ready to Keep the State Under Martial Law For a Year if Necessary to Stamp Out Lawlessness.

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 19.—(By the A. P.)—An address "to the people of the United States" declaring that "the supreme issue in Oklahoma today is constitutional government or despotism," was made public tonight by a group of Oklahoma daily newspaper publishers following an all day meeting called by a local editor with a view of "placing the true situation before the country."

Publishers of several of the largest dailies in the state signed the statement.

"Governor Walton, by his own acts, has attempted to nullify rights guaranteed under our constitution and to halt the lawful processes of republican government," the publishers declared.

A second declaration addressed to "members of the legislature" said: "The editors of Oklahoma urge that

EQUIPPED TO MAINTAIN MARTIAL LAW FOR A YEAR

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 19.—Governor J. C. Walton is ready to keep Oklahoma under martial law a year if necessary to stamp out lawlessness according to a story published in the Oklahoma City Times today. The governor was quoted as declaring he had the men and money and could last a year.

COUNSEL FOR WARD CHARGE TAMPERING WITH WITNESS

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The charge of tampering with witnesses was made today by attorneys for the defense in the trial of Walter S. Ward, wealthy baker's son, charged with the murder of Clarence Peters, after a witness for the prosecution told of a conference with representative of the attorney general.

Defense counsel Campbell made the charge after Ralph Collins, former state trooper, testified he had had lunch with State Trooper Green, a previous witness for the prosecution.

Collins refused to deny he had been told by Henry Unterweiser, special investigator for the attorney general's department, to get his testimony "straight". He declined to say under oath that he had not discussed the case with Green.

A motion by the defense to strike Collins' testimony from the record was denied by Justice Wagner who is presiding at the trial.

An unidentified man sitting directly back of Mrs. Ward, wife of the defendant, was ordered from the court room during the afternoon session by Justice Wagner who did not explain his action.

Other witnesses today were George Lohr and Frank Taxter, electric linesmen, who saw the body after it was found; Coroner Edward F. Fitzgerald, Dr. Henry J. Vier, Henry E. Hilgrant, undertaker; Captain F. Talmage Taylor, of the Marine Corps, and Henry Anderberg, civil engineer.

Captain Taylor said he had refused Peters for enlistment in the Marine Corps. He testified that Peters had admitted to him he had been dishonorably discharged from the navy for theft.

The state dwelt at length on the probable distance Ward stood from Peters when he fired the shot that killed him. Mr. Hartnett said he noticed no powder marks on the body or clothing. Dr. Vier, who assisted in the autopsy, would not estimate the distance.

The extraordinary grand jury which is investigating the death of Peters adjourned at noon today to next Tuesday.

MAYOR ADVISED NEGROES TO LEAVE JOHNSTOWN

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 19.—(By The A. P.)—While Mayor Cauffiel insisted today that he had not issued a formal order deporting recently arrived negroes, he declared that he had "advised" them "for their own safety and the good of Johnstown to leave the city" and that "about 2,000 had gone within the last three weeks."

Pennsylvania railroad officials here said the movement of negroes out of the city was not more than usual at this time of year and policemen on duty in Rosedale, one of the negro sections of Johnstown, where three white policemen were killed by a recently arrived negro, placed the number at not more than several hundred.

The movement inaugurated by Mayor Cauffiel was brought to public attention when he was quoted as announcing in a statement that "for their own safety, I am ordering all newly arrived negro citizens to leave town."

The mayor said he had "advised" the Mexicans who came to Johnstown to work to leave also for he was afraid that they might be mistaken for negroes, should trouble occur.

$40,000 FIRE ON ESTATE OF JOSEPH CONRON

Ridgefield, Conn., Sept. 19.—Fire of unknown origin tonight destroyed a huge building on the estate of Joseph Conron, wealthy New York business man on West Mountain here with an estimated loss of $40,000. Firemen were handicapped by lack of water.

The building, a two-story structure, was used as a garage and stable on the ground floor and the upper floor was maintained as living quarters for domestic help. Two automobiles in the garage were saved but furniture in the living quarters and much farming machinery was destroyed.

The fire was discovered about 7.30 o'clock when electric lights in Mr. Conron's home and in other buildings on the estate went out. Great sheets of flames were shooting skyward from the stable part of the building and quickly consumed the structure.

MEXICO SENDS PROTEST TO STATE DEPARTMENT

Washington, Sept. 19.—The state department was asked by the Mexican Embassy in a note today for information concerning reports that Mayor Cauffi, of Johnstown, Pa., had directed both negroes and Mexicans who have not been residents of the city for at least seven years, to leave at once. At the same time the embassy stated that it had instructed the Mexican consulate at Philadelphia to proceed to Johnstown and report on the situation. The embassy contended the mayor has no legal authority to expel peaceful Mexican residents.

POLICEMEN INJURED BY A MOB IN DETROIT

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—A riot call was sent by police tonight when a mob estimated at 5,000 persons attempted to gain entrance to the home of John Lornec, to view the body of his 13 year old daughter, Gladys-lava, who, the father alleges died from ill treament at the hands of police after her arrest September 11 on a charge of larceny. Three policeman were slightly injured by the crowd who fought the officers attempting to maintain order.

The girl was arrested on complaint of J. F. Anderson. The day after her arrest the girl was taken to a hospital. She died Saturday.

Before her death, according to the father, she told him she had been abused by the police, put into ice water three times and that attempts were made to put her in an electric chair to make her confess the robbery. The father asserted the body of the girl bore marks on it indicating bruises.

According to a statement issued by James Sprott, assistant superintendent of police, death was caused by acute pleurisy. An autopsy was held after her death.

The statement of the police superintendent says the marks on the body which the father alleges was caused by police, in reality were caused by the girl's death and the incisions by surgeons during the autopsy.

As a result of the father's charges Coroner James E. Burgess announced an investigation would be made and the funeral scheduled for today was postponed.

INVESTIGATING WRECK OF SEVEN DESTROYERS

San Diego, Sept. 19.—(By the A. P.)—Thirteen naval officers faced a court of inquiry as defendants this afternoon when the court, which is investigating the wreck of seven destroyers off Point Honda, September 8, resumed its hearings after a morning session, marked by significant disclosures and developments. When the court convened for its morning session, there were twelve defendants. Before the testimony of Lieutenant Lawrence F. Blodgett had been completed he was named by the court as the thirteenth.

Lieutenant Blodgett entered the case as a defendant after he had told the court that neither he nor the lieutenant commander Donald T. Hunter, who were plotting the course of the ill-fated squadron, attached much weight to the radio compass signals from Point Arguello. These signals indicated they were north of the point and not south, in Santa Barabara channel where their dead reckoning led them to believe they were, just before the ships crashed into the rocks at Point Honda.

Visibility was so far from poor a few minutes before the wrecks that the lights of five ships astern could be seen from the bridge of the Delphy Ensign John R. Morrow testified this afternoon.

Ensign Morrow added, however, that he did not see any rocks or any lights ahead, although he was leaning out of a window on the Delphy's bridge at the time the squadron struck.

The destroyers were steaming at twenty knots, he said.

W. T. COSGRAVE RE-ELECTED BY THE NEW DAIL EIREANN

Dublin, Sept. 19.—(By the A. P.)—At the opening sitting of the new Dail Eireann today the framers' party, representing the opposition in the absence of all the republican deputies, sought unavailingly to induce the government to liberate imprisoned republican members of the chamber so as to enable the republican party to hold a meeting and discuss its future policy. Heated debate showed that the government had not the slightest intention to recede from its previous attitude toward the republicans.

William T. Cosgrave was re-elected president of the executive council of the Irish Free State by acclamation. Hand Michael Hayes was unanimously chosen speaker of the Dail. Mr. Cosgrave was the recipient of a great ovation on his election. All the members of the house stood and cheered him. Richard Mulcahy, who in the previous Dail always appeared in the uniform of a general today wore a rough brown suit of civilian clothes. He will now be minister of defense only, which is a civil and not a military office.

BOY OF 11 FRESHMAN AT SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Sidney Finkelstein, 11 years old, matriculated into full standing as a freshman at Syracuse University today. He lives in this city and graduated from a local high school last June as valedictorian of his class. He is the youngest by several years of any student, past, or present, of Syracuse University.

CORNETIST WITH SOUSA IS CONSUMMATE MASTER

When Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa comes to Norwich, Sept. 25th, on this, his thirty-first annual tour, he will have with him, among other soloists, John Dolan, considered by many critics and musicians, the best cornetist in America, if not the best in the world. Mr. Dolan has all the qualities of an artist, and, though the cornet is considered one of the most difficult of band instruments to master, he executes the most difficult selections with the greatest of ease, and his tones are a joy to his hearers. He is the consumate master of his chosen instrument, the solo and concert cornet.

Other soloists appearing with Sousa's band this year are Miss Marjorie Moody, soprano; Miss Nora Fauchald, soprano; Miss Winifred Bambrick, violinist; Meredith Willson, flute; William Kunkle, piccolo; John F. Schueler, trombone; Frederick W. Bayers, saxaphone; Joseph de Luca, euphonium; William Bell, sousaphone and George Carey, xylophone.

Tickets now on sale at Cranston's.

Breed Theatre.

There are mystery, thrills, and suspense in abundance in the new Goldwyn feature photoplay, "Red Lights," which opened a two days engagement at the Breed theatre yesterday. It is an adaptation of Edward E. Rose's stage melodrama called "The Rear Car," in which Richard Bennett had such a big success on the coast and which Taylor Holmes did in the east.

It would be unfair to those who see the picture later to give the plot in detail but it is a story of a young girl, Ruth Carson, the abducted daughter of a railroad magnate, whose identity is at last discovered. This discovery begins a series of strange and mysterious warnings of imminent death. Her lover, John Blake, calls on his friend, Sheridan Scott, the "crime-defiecter," to protect the girl. Passage is engaged to Chicago on the Continental Limited but the mysterious warnings and strange happenings (including a murder, the baffling appearance of balls of red light in the car) continue to take place. The story comes to a climax when the rear car of the Limited is uncoupled from the train while it is going up a steep grade over the mountains and dashes madly down hill towards the second section of the train. Catastrophe is averted only because the switch is turned and the rear car is shunted off on a blind siding. Here the mysteries are solved and the villains punished.

Clarence Badger directed the picture and he has kept it a swift, thrilling and baffling tale throughout. There are hair-raising episodes which will "get" the spines of the most blase. The cast is an extremely capable one and includes Marie Prevost and Raymond Griffith in the leads, and Johnnie Walker, Alice Lake, Dagmar Godowsky, Jean Hersholt, William Worthington, Frank Elliott, Lionel Belmore and others in lesser roles. "Red Lights" is a picture which must be seen to be appreciated, and everyone who likes to be thrilled and have his emotions played upon will appreciate it.

Movie Chats and an Educational comedy make up the remainder of the bill.

New Keith Vaudeville at the Strand Starting Today.

"Juvenile Varieties," a well balanced production of six young folks featuring Dainty Dorothy Forestal and the Wilson Sisters, is a delightful offering at the Strand theatre for an engagement of three days. It combines singing, dancing and acrobatics in a way that gives the six juveniles a splendid opportunity to display a versatile programme in a truly delightful manner.

The half dozen youngsters range in age from 5 to 13 years and are seen in a vehicle that has been modeled for them by metropolitan composers.

Aside from the charm of the six young people, "Juvenile Varieties" has been given the added atmosphere of a headline attraction through rich settings and the wholly attractive costumes of the youthful performers.

In addition to this wonderful kiddie production there will also be the following acts on the same programme:

Kinnear and Frabito in a comedy act. Joe Armstrong, the comedy king, and Nolan and Sparry in a novelty offering.

The mere mention of the word "Luck" brings with it a train of reminiscences where that favored word didn't come within a mile of us when we are praying at some time or other for the so-called "breaks" to come our way. We all know how it feels to have "Luck" against us when we are particularly in need of it, and knowing that abject feeling when the other fellow gets the "break" of the game we can all very well appreciate the humor in the situation.

Containing as it does a wealth of comedy situations it is balanced nicely with enough dramatic moments to make the production one that is apparently very much worth while. It is at the Strand.

Rockville Fair Next Week.

The Rockville Fair, bigger and better than ever, will be held by the Rockville Fair association on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, September 25, 26 and 27 at Hyde Park, Rockville. Fire works every evening and on Thursday afternoon. Midway to be best ever. Vaudeville acts of highest grade. Poultry show is to be open every evening. Horses to be judged on Thursday. Awards on cattle to be made Wednesday. Classy races each day.

Added feature Thursday at 3 p. m., great auto and float parade.

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN
Willimantic Office
81 Church Street Telephone 1082

As told in The Bulletin, Wednesday, Arthur Williams of Windham, who has been a sufferer from rheumatism in the hips since boyhood and whose case was given up as incurable by doctors and chiropractors, has been practically cured through his pilgrimages to the shrine of Ste. Anne, at Fiskdale, Mass. As many as five hundred from this vicinity have made pilgrimages to the shrine, a number not of the Roman Catholic religion, many non-Catholics having been benefited. After kneeling at the altar and being prayed over by one of the priests on his second visit, Mr. Williams was amazed to find that he had the strength to walk unassisted and he refused the crutches which were proffered him by a friend.

The first prize in the Elks' baby contest has been awarded Edward Racicot, 9 months and 19 days' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Racicot of Scotland. The contest was held in connection with the Elks' Country Fair, Saturday, Sept. 1. The notification has been received by Edmund R. Portelance, of the arrangements committee, from Dr. A. Elizabeth Ingraham, director of the bureau of child hygiene. Two Willimantic babies also shared the honors—John Exmund Quinlan, 5 months and 3 days, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Quinlan of 104 Walnut street, took second prize and Evelyn Lorraine Prue, 1 year, 3 months and 5 days, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Prue of 271 Ash street, was awarded third prize. The prizes are at the Standish store. George W. Hickey was the other member of the committee of arrangements.

Dr. Ingraham states that a marked feature of the conference was the generally fine condition of the children examined, which should be a credit to Willimantic and the town of Windham. Honorable mention was given William E. Daniels, 5 months, 24 days, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson Daniels of South Coventry; Martha Elizabeth Nichols, 11 months, 1 day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nichols of 69 Turner street, Willimantic.

The first meeting with a view of forming a Lions' club in this city was held Wednesday noon Harry McKinnen of Providence, R. I., field director of the International Lions Clubs and Ralph W. Fisters, secretary of the New London club, spoke on the principles of the organization and the steps necessary to organize a club. A number of those who had previously signified their intention of being present, were unable to attend and for that reason it was decided to hold another session at the same hour and place next Wednesday. A delegation from New London is expected to attend the meeting next week and they will furnish an entertainment.

The sudden clamping on of the emergency brake caused a Ford roadster owned and driven by Edward Melressey, of Storrs, to make a few circles and turn over on its top, near the Slovick filling station at the park, Spring Hill. Melressey was on his way home early Tuesday evening and was attempting to pass another car when he was confronted by two machines coming from the opposite direction and he was forced to apply his brakes. Melressey was slightly injured and was treated by a local physician. Motorcycle Officer Grant Bombria investigated the accident and the car was hauled to this city for repairs.

The Woman's club season opened with a well attended meeting in the afternoon at the club rooms. America, the Beautiful, written by Katherine Lee Bates and adopted as the general federation song, was sung. Mrs. C. C. Case, a friend of Miss Bates, gave an interesting account of the author. A short business session was held and the minutes of the meeting and outings were read by the secretary, Mrs. Buck. Ten dollars will be contributed by the local club as part of the cost of a clock which Connecticut is giving as its share of the furnishings of the General Federation Building, in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Miriam Abbe, chairman of the program committee, spoke briefly on the entertainment planned for the year. The yearly conference of the New England States' Federation was held in Providence, R. I., Sept. 12-13, the president of the local club, Mrs. Alford and Mrs. J. B. Fullerton being present. Mrs. Alford told of the meeting. The afternoon closed with a social hour, luncheon being served by the board of directors.

The funeral of Mrs. Dimeries Edmond Leesard was held Wednesday morning from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alphonse Chagnon, 80 Turner street at 8.30 o'clock. In the solemn requiem high mass at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, Rev. H. Belec was celebrant; Rev. J. J. Papillon deacon and Rev. E. A. Mathieu subdeacon. A delegation of the society of Ladies of St. Ann met the body as it was being borne into the church and escorted it to the sanctuary rail. The canopy bearers were Mrs. Hercule Routhier, Mrs. Martin De Blois, Mrs. Joseph Martin and Mrs. Pierre Cote. The banner was carried by Mrs. Gedeon Cote, Mrs. Joseph Vebiard and Mrs. J. St. Laurent. The Ste. Anne choir, with Mrs. J. F. Gauthreau at the organ, sang the music of the mass. Solos were sung by Mrs. Delphis Boucher, Mrs. H. Dion, Mrs. Arthur Marrotte and Mrs. L. Fortier. The bearers were Joseph Cyr, Louis Cote, Alphonse Gelinas, Sr., Napoleon DeBlois, Pierre Cote and Pierre Fournier. Burial was in the family plot at St. Joseph's cemetery where Father Papillon read the committal service. There were beautiful floral forms.

Willimantic Baptist church, corner of Temple and Union streets, is undergoing a complete renovation. Tin shingles placed on the roof about a quarter of a century ago are being removed and twin asphalt shingles will replace them. The plastering on the ceiling of the auditorium has been torn down and will be replaced. The vestibule at the main entrance will be changed over so that the floor will be two feet lower, even with the sidewalk level. The entire ground floor of the church will be remodeled into several society rooms and the general entrance to the church will be altered.

Alterations and repairs are being made to the Hanover block, owned by Napoleon Bacon. The block includes ten tenements and is three stories high. The Temple Street garage, owned by Samuel Procaro, is also being renovated and a ranway to the second story is being erected.

With over a dozen sandwiches and other food tucked under his shirt, a man who gave his name as John Welch of Springfield, Mass., was arrested by Chief of Police Allan MacArthur Wednesday, upon complaints from housekeepers on Pleasant street that the man was begging in that section. Welch said that he had been employed in a tobacco field near Colchester all summer and had left the place Wednesday morning.

Several candidates were initiated by Violet Rebekah lodge at its regular meeting in Odd Fellows' hall. Afterwards cakes and ice cream were served. The seventy-second anniversary of the Rebekah will be celebrated at the next meeting, with an entertainment and social.

Over two hundred from this city attended the second and big day of the Brooklyn fair, Wednesday.

The Willimantic B. P. O. E. band, thirty pieces, Charles N. C. Wheeler, leader, furnished music in the big Masonic parade at Westerly, R. I., Wednesday afternoon, for Columbian Commandery of Norwich.

Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch, of Columbia, who has been visiting in Hartford recently attended a large picnic and luncheon under the auspices of the Democratic Woman's club of Hartford, at the summer home and farm of Mrs. Thomas F. Garvan in Newington.

Rev. and Mrs. John Pierce with Miss Annie Hall of Newport, R. I., are visiting friends in this city. They were entertained at dinner by Rev. Harry S. McCready Wednesday evening. Mr. Pierce was formerly pastor of the Methodist church of this city.

Joseph J. Grimes, Eugene F. Martin, Benjamin Hochberg, John Lamorte, Arthur Trudeau, George Shepaum and Daniel J. Killourey attended Brooklyn fair Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Hills are the guests of friends in East Hampton.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Dineen and friends are touring the White Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Phillips and daughters Grace and Glory, attended Springfield fair.

Amos Barber, a member of Engine Company, No. 1, attended the Springfield fair Wednesday, with a party of Boston friends.

Former Chief of Police Edwin C. Ginty, of Danbury, came to this city Wednesday and drove back the Buick four-touring car which he was awarded at the recent Elks' Country Fair.

The town school committee in special session Wednesday evening voted to ask for an appropriation of $155,000 for the school budget for next year. H. C. Lathrop and William J. Sweeney were appointed to present the request for the appropriation before the town meeting. Superintendent of Schools Egbert Case read his sixth annual report, which was unanimously accepted by the board. It was pointed out that with the present increase in the registrations in the schools a new school building will be necessary in about five years, regardless of the fact that a new building has been erected at Windham Center and an eight-room addition is being erected at Natchaug grammar school.

The matter of providing for an adequate water supply at the new Windham Center school was taken up. Several residents of that section offered water from their springs, but no action was taken on the communications. George F. Taylor, a member of the building committee, appeared before the board and gave the facts of the difficulties at the school. He said that the grounds in the vicinity of the school appeared to be the only spot in Windham where water is not readily reached. The building committee has come to the conclusion that an artesian well is the only solution of the water problem and the well will probably have to be dug to a depth of 150 to 200 feet at a cost of $6 per foot. The appropriation for the building of the school has already been overrun by $700, due to the unsuccessful digging for water underneath the building and the extra cost of grading the grounds. About $1,500 is necessary for furniture at the school and $500 for grading the grounds at the rear of the structure. The artesian well will cost approximately. To meet these unexpected expenditures an additional appropriation of $5,000 will be asked for at the next annual town meeting. The school now consumes about 500 gallons of water a day and the drinking water is being purchased from a local bottling company. Dr. F. E. Guild of Windham presided at the meeting.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT
By DAVID CORY

The Search For The Beautiful Maiden

One morning when Little Jack Rabbit woke up, he looked out of the window of a little cabin in which he had spent the night. Close by stood the little gum-drop tree laden with many colored candy fruit.

"I'm glad it wasn't a dream," said the bunny boy to himself leaning out to pick a candy.

Now isn't it strange that a little

He came at length to the foot of the hill.

gum drop seed should grow such a wonderful tree, but then you know, the Ragged Giant Bunny's Forest was full of wonderful things, only many of us don't believe in fairies and so, never see wonderful things.

Pretty soon the little rabbit started out on his journey again, and after a while, not so very long, he heard a voice sing:

"Over the river and far away
When done is the busy toiling day,
A maiden stands on a hilltop there
With a star of gold on her forehead fair."

"Who are you?" asked Little Jack Rabbit, glancing around, he saw no one. Then, again the voice sang:

"But who shall travel that distance far
To find the maid with the bright gold star.
Only he whose boots are made
By two little elves in the forest glade."

All of a sudden, a golden shadow darted through the treetops. It was that little yellow bird whose name I shall tell you some time.

"Come back! Come back!" shouted Little Jack Rabbit, but the little bird only replied, far away in the distance: "Only those whose boots are made By two little elves in the forest glade."

"Why he must mean me," thought the bunny looking down at his wonderful seven-mile boots. So off he hopped for that far away land where the star maiden stood at even tide.

By and by, after a while it grew late and still it was a long way off to that far-away land. So he kept on and on, until, as he looked toward the hilltops in the West, he saw the figure of a girl standing against the misty yellow clouds. Hurrying on faster and you may well believe he went swiftly for his magic boots covered the ground seven miles at a hop. At length he came to the foot of the hill on the top of which stood the lovely maiden with the gold star on her forehead. Up he climbed higher and higher, her voice sounding sweeter and clearer as he drew nearer.

"Little boy baby in cradle so deep
The Evening Star's singing you fast to sleep
Little girl baby in mother's soft breast
The Evening Star's singing you gently to rest.
Rock-a-by, rock-a-by, cuddle down deep,
Dreams of the Star Maiden come when you sleep."

And in the next story I'll tell you what Little Jack Rabbit said to the beautiful maiden with the gold star on her forehead.

Just pour enough Rinso solution into your boiler to give you the suds you want

For Boiling, too--

this new kind of soap is perfect

"I find this new kind of soap simply wonderful for soaking. But I like to boil my clothes, too, and I wonder how it is for that."

Don't hesitate for a minute! Rinso is splendid in the boiler. Just put in enough dissolved Rinso to give you the suds you want. Of course you won't need as much as you do for soaking.

Although Rinso is a new kind of soap you don't have to change your washday methods in using it. It fits into any of your accustomed ways—whether you soak, boil, or use a washing machine.

Just use Rinso where you used to use bar soap. It is so much quicker, so much easier both on you and on your clothes.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux—the largest soap makers in the world. It comes in two sizes—the regular size and the big new package. Get Rinso today—at grocery and department stores everywhere. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

County officials were more or less concerned Wednesday, when they heard a story that persons recently committed to the county jail at Brooklyn to serve terms for violation of the liquor laws were to be allowed a day out to attend the fair. On the face of it, the yarn was absurd, but it obtained more or less currency and is believed to have originated in Williamantic. None of the prisoners were at the fair. They remained at the jail, where they are being well trated, but not shown any special favors.

Rummaging around in the cellar of a building on Main street, formerly in use as a saloon, Floyd Sweet, while engaged at his trade of plumbing, found a full bottle that has been inspected with interest by many who could have qualified as critics of what was known as "good stuff" in the pre-prohibition days. This particular bottle probably contains beer. It hadn't been opened up to the time that the public generally began to hear about it Wednesday, so one must admit that there is still much restraint in human nature even in the face of temptation that would be great for many. The bottle and its contents, it appears, may be listed as having been lost a number of years ago.

The sharp and repeated blowing of the whistle of a locomotive drawing a freight train northward Wednesday morning attracted the attention of many residents in the Franklin street of the borough and when curiosity drew them to the railroad track they saw a herd of cattle chasing along the roadbed ahead of the train, a half mile below the Franklin street crossing. The cattle escaped being killed, but delayed the train's arrival here a few minutes before they could be chased off the track.

In line with the effort that will be made at the annual town meeting to restrict the use of the town hall from use for professional sports, a new move to ask the town to limit the use of the assembly hall at the high school building exclusively to school gatherings and to prohibit its use under any circumstances by any group, club or organization not definitely and exclusively engaged in educational movements solely in the interest of Killingly's schools. Thus in good feeling engendered and good fellowship extended in the community. The plan to limit the uses to which the assembly hall may be put is admittedly in retaliation against the plan to close the town hall to professional athletics, yet those who sponsor it hold that there is no sound reason why the assembly hall should be used for other than school purposes.

The degree of advance that has been made in motor bus transportation facilities was borne home to large number of Danielson people Wednesday, when the Interstate Bus line, with its headquarters in Danielson, put a new 30-passenger vehicle into service to accomodate patrons of the fair. Comfort and convenience are combined in this splendid bus, which will be regularly in service out of this place.

It has various modern appointments, a fine lighting and heating system and will be as cosy on a cold winter day as it is cool and breezy during the warm weather periods of the year. At the rear, the bus is equipped with dual wheels.

With the town election less than two weeks away, the canvass of voters in the interest of one candidate or another is beginning to hit its stride. Present activities have o do largely with lining up the voters for candidates for selectmen, half of whom must go down to defeat, as there are not enough places to go around, and for the candidates for tax collector, there being three of these in the field. The fight for places on the board of selectmen will be as sharp as ever the tax collectorship.

It so happens that there is more activity just now in the smaller communities of Killingly, as to politics, than there is in Danielson, but Danielson will not be neglected, as next week will be an active one for the political workers here, not yet extending themselves to the utmost.

Olive A. Knight, 80, widow of Ezra Gallup, is dead at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jennie Williams, in Moosup, where she had been making her home for several months. Mrs. Gallup, a native of Johnston, R. I., was 80 July 31 of this year. She had been a resident of the Ekonk hill section for a great many years up to the death of her husband six years ago and prior to her marriage was a resident of Voluntown. Mrs. Gallup leaves five sons, John W. Arthur, Frank and Daniel, all of Danielson, Edward of Jewett City and two daughters, Mrs. Jennie Williams of Moosup and Mrs. Lena Gallup of Ekonk.

At St. James' church Wednesday there were special services in observance of the feast of LaSalette and large numbers attended the services, the anniversary being specially observed here as the parish is in charge of the fathers of the mission order of LaSalette.

A composite newspaper issued by ten New York morning papers whose regular editions have been suspended as a result of the strike of web pressmen was of interest to Danielson people Wednesday, and a newspaper novelty such as had not been seen here.

PUTNAM

The Putnam colony at the county institution at Brooklyn, built with brick and screened with iron bars, has been heard from indirectly. In response to an S. O. S. from the house of incarceration an automobile load of comforters, pillows, toilet articles and other desired accesories to a two week's stay left Putnam Tuesday afternoon over the detour to Attawaugan, Dayville four corners, Danielson and by Hangman's Hill into the historic village of Brooklyn passing up the circular driveway off the state road and stopping at the front door of the building where it is much easier to enter than to leave. As a result of the journey of the relief automobile it may be assumed that some of the men who "went down" from Willimantic, Monday afternoon, spent a better night in their small rooms, were able to prepare themselves with better care when the sun shone through the windows and altogether were more comfortable than during the first twenty-four hours when, to all of them, the surroundings were like to a foreign country.

All of the available papers were quickly taken, many of them by readers who will preserve them as souvenirs.

Danielson, one of the gateways clearing travel for the Brooklyn fair, was very busy as to traffic during Wednesday, but not so much so as to business. About everyone who could arrange to do so got away to attend the fair and hobnob with friends in the thousands who were in attendance. Several hundred people from Danielson attended the annual exhibition.

Fine success is being experienced by poultrymen who some months since formed an organization in eastern Connecticut through which to sell eggs as a combination in the Providence wholesale market. Great quantities of eggs now are being disposed of finally, after passing through the Providence Farmer's exchange, in more than 100 stores that make up a well known chain handling groceries in Providence, Pawtucket, Attleboro and other points in what is known as the Providence territory. The eggs are all carefully candled and have established a splendid reputation for quality with the retail trade. The eggs are but out in neat pasteboard cartons, which are sealed by the Providence Farmers' Exchange as a guarantee of quality.

Among those who made up parties from this place to attend the Eastern States Expedition at Springfield Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bassett, Earl Bassett and Mrs. Theodore Hammett, Olin Fuller, Louis Kohler, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hopkins, Mrs. Winfield A. Colwell.

As in days of yore, small boys by the score who had much ambition and enthusiasm, but very little money hiked it over the road from Danielson to Brooklyn, to see the fair Wednesday and had a big day of it.

Miss Mary Geer, graduate of Killingly High school last June, has entered the freshman class of Boston university. Miss Geer is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt of Geer.

Henry A. Mendel of Lawrence was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Wednesday.

Proctor Aldrich of East Killingly will be at Springfield today attending the exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett, son and daughter of Taunton, were visitors in Danielson Wednesday. Mr. Bennett, nearly a score of years ago, was manager of the Danielson exchange of the S. N. E. Telephone company and was a backer of one of the fastest basketball teams that ever represented Danielson. Mr. Bennett is still engaged in the telephone business having a responsible position with the New England Telephone company.

WESTERLY

Following a visit to the North Stonington grange fair, Tuesday, Irving Thompson, in company with J. Raymond Gould, made a trip to the former's home on Pendleton Hill. On the return to Westerly about 11.30 p. m., while the young men were in their automobile going at a rapid rate, they were unable to make the turn into the Voluntown road, with the result that their automobile went off the road and Mr. Thompson sustained severe injuries. Mr. Gould was uninjured. A passing automobile brought Mr. Thompson to the Westerly office of Dr. Henry Johnson who gave attention to the young men. It was found that his collar bone was broken and an artery had been severed at the wrist. Timely attention by the passing automobilist prevented further loss of blood from the injured wrist and probably prevented his bleeding to death. After receiving medical attention, Mr. Thompson was taken to his rooms at 18 West street, in a weakened condition from loss of blood.

The third day of the September session of the superior court for Washington county began at the court house at Kingston Wednesday morning with the grand jury still in session and having made no return of indictments for the two days' session already held. Wednesday morning was the date set for the coming in of the petit jurors, who were summoned as follows:

South Kingston: Edward E. Champlin, farmer; Herbert Carpenter, laborer; William A. Moore, mason; Samuel E. Gould, R. R. employe; Stephen B. Gardiner, Jr., clerk; George Houghuey, mill operative; Virgil L. Leighton, farmer; William A. Watson, farmer.

North Kingston: John H. Cooper, forestor; Winfred C. Kingsley, merchant; Daniel G. Bicknell, mill operative; Eugene B. Lester, office manager; Herbert N. Macdonald, bookkeeper; Howard L. Gardiner, carpenter; John P. Hearn, machinist.

Westerly: Albert E. Barber, bookkeeper; James J. Casey, linenrun; James M. McNamara, retired; J. Henry Burk, patern maker; Otis L. Burdick, machinist; Arthur Clemons, plumber; Nicholas G. Smith, watchmaker; Frank Regime; John E. Stenhouse, granite cutter.

Hopkinton: Erlo N. G. Barber, farmer; Ernest A. Boss, farmer; James C. Matteson, farmer; Henry H. Brearley, farmer.

Charlestown, Ernest L. Day, farmer; Frank H. Bliven, engineer.

Exeter: Frank H. Tisdale, Herbert A. Hoxsie.

Richmond: Clovis D. Francois, lace weaver; Joseph F. Briggs, laborer.

Narragansett: Edmund C. Champlin, boarding house keeper; Walter A. Nye, retired.

On the examination of jurors for qualifications, two Westerly men were excused, James M. McKenna, retored and John E. Stenhouse, stone cutter.

The first case to be tried before Judge Green was Alvin H. Langley vs. F. W. Woolworth. On the jury finally drawn were two Westerly men, Nicholas G. Smith, a watchmaker and Frank Regime, J. Henry Burk, a paternmaker and James J. Casey, a lineman, having been called, but excused. Trial of the case was expected to last through the day and the spare jurors were excused.

Howard Wilcox, former keeper of Coast Guard station, No. 55, at Watch Hill, arrived in Westerly Wednesday morning from Washington on his return from duties at Galveston, Texas, on a thirty day leave of absence.

Mrs. J. C. Archie of Westerly was a Providence visitor Wednesday.

Warden of Wyoming state prison at Rawling, Frank A. Hadsell and wife are guests of Charles A. Morgan of Westerly.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Whitford and daughter, Miss Betty, are guests of relatives in Springfield, Mass.

PLAINFIELD

Rev. and Mrs. David Combs and family are leaving Plainfield October 15th for Louisana, Mo., where Mr. Combs will take up the work in a large and promising field. Rev. Mr. Combs resigned as rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church three weeks ago. The people of the church and community greatly regret the removal of Mr. and Mrs. Combs who have been very successful here in building up the church and in securing a new rectory. The Book Committee of the Library association met in the Community House Tuesday evening, working on a new list of books soon to be ordered. There is already a large order for new books which is expected to be delivered and placed in circulation within a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. James Royle who have been touring in England and Scotland are sailing for home Saturday, the 22nd on the Aquitania.

Plainfield bowlers had the Baltic bowlers as their guests Saturday last. Each team having won a game on their own green, it was decided to toss where to play the rubber. Plainfield won the toss and bowled at home. After a good day's sport on the green, the home team won by 33 points, the score being Plainfield 220, Baltic 187. Plainfield proved a little faster than their opponents.

The scores:

S. Walker 15, J. Jeterson 12, F. Watson 11, H. Haden 15, L. Tetlow 15, A. Duane 15, W. Hirst 13, S. Thompson 15, H. Becket 11, R. Lee 2, W. Collins 10, F. Kirsham 15, J. Kay 15, H. Johnson 15, T. Rhoades 15, J. Oats 10, D. Ratcliffe 15. Total 220.

JEWETT CITY

William Kolbuzs, son of Frank and Sophie Kolbuzs, and Effie Bernard, daughter of John and Mary Bernard, were married at St. Mary's church Monday morning, the double ring service being used. High nuptial mass was solomized by Rev. James J. Tyler. The bride wore a gown of white canton crepe. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and orange blossoms. The bridesmaid, Emma Bernard, wore blue canton crepe with a hat to match. Her bouquet was Ophelia roses. She received a studded platinum bracelet from the bride. The best man was Benjamin Kolbuzs. A K. of C. ring set with sapphires was his gift from the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Kolbuzs went to New York and Atlantic City to spend their honeymoon. They will live on Railroad avenue. The bride received gifts of linen, silver cut glass and money. Both young people are employed in the Ninigret Co. mills. Guests were present at the wedding from Providence, Boston, Danielson, Dayville, Occum and Norwich.

At a regular session of Reliance lodge, No. 27, I. O. O. ## SYSTEMATIC SCHOOL SAVINGS.

How great an impression the efforts in behalf of thrift and systematic savings by school children have made may be noticed in many ways. Not only has the idea gotten a firm hold but it is making good progress and there is no better evidence of it than the figures which are provided by the American Bankers association over a period of years.

Through their school banks the children of the country piled up the handsome total of $9,500,000 during the school year ending with last June, and the record is one of constant improvement from the time the movement was put forth. For the school year ending with June 1920 the savings were just under four million dollars. The next year saw a gain of a half million and when school closed in 1922 they had added six and a third million dollars. Half as much again was the record for the last school year and with that rate of increase maintained in succeeding years it will mean not only that the boys and girls are saving their pennies systematically and banking them but that those who have done so have inspired others by their example.

Perhaps not all of the money that has been banked by the children during the respective years has remained there. Their savings have been for various objects, some even putting the money aside for the days when it comes time to get a higher education and others have used it, or are planning to use it for necessities. But the outstanding fact in connection with it all is that through such thrift they found that it is possible to save if there is the will, and by their savings they have stopped a waste and begun to protect themselves against that rainy day.

Through such a system there is being inculcated in the coming generation a spirit that is certain to be of inestimable value to them in later years. It is no different training than some would have otherwise received but it reaches many who need just such encouragement and guidance and whose thoughts would not have been turned in that direction without such assistance.

FAST TRAVELING.

It used to be the case that when a new record was established it could be expected to remain for a considerable period of time. The steamship that crossed the ocean in less time than any other was not deprived of its honor the next day or week. The cutting down of time between two cities by a train called for much preparation and a rival road didn't proceed to lower it immediately. The horse that established a new mark seldom was beaten the next day, especially if it was a world mark. But times have changed. Speed records are made today and broken tomorrow. There's no telling how long they will last and there's no limit apparently in what record will be established. Distances have been annihilated and yet there is no end to the efforts for still greater speed. Those days when a mile a minute was thought to be fast are gone forever.

Some months ago Lieutenant Maughan established the record of about 236 miles an hour. Within the month Lieutenant Sanderson of the marine corps set out for a new mark and he got it, making 238 miles an hour, or almost four miles an hour. It didn't last, however. It simply spurred others on to exceed it for Lieutenant Brow of the naval air service succeeded in going at the rate of 244 miles an hour and there was a period during his flight when observance on the ground figured that he was doing 255 miles an hour.

That is traveling faster than most people would care to go. It is made under favorable conditions and not maintained hour after hour, but it demonstrates nevertheless what great accomplishments are being made in the development of speed and how far the speed mania is from being satisfied. Aviation has made it possible. It has made remarkable strides since the days when the practicability of a flying machine was being demonstrated. Improved construction and improved engines command much credit, but there's the skillful handling of the machines which cannot be ignored.

AIDING ALASKA.

For the purpose of dealing with some of the Alaskan problems, President Harding and members of his cabinet went into that territory to learn what the conditions are that a more intelligent attitude could be taken relative to the needs. Seeing is believing and it didn't take that party long to be convinced of the wisdom of urging such legislation as the situation calls for. It isn't necessarily [illegible] or tomorrow, but for future [illegible] that preparations must be made.

Time and again has it been demonstrated that conservation must be practiced if there is to be saved for the future anywhere near what is going to be required. It is necessary not only to prevent waste but provide means for replenishing, so that the supply will be in keeping with if not greater than the demands. It is most unwise to wait until certain supplies or certain raw materials, certain sources are gone or closed before awakening to their importance. Many wild fowl are extinct today because they were killed faster than they were raised. Our lumber supply is dwindling because we are using it faster than it grows, and it can be readily understood what danger is faced by the salmon industry of Alaska when it is realized that the supply is growing smaller and smaller each year.

For the past several years the governor of Alaska has been asking that something be done to prevent the extermination of the salmon industry. Considering what the salmon means to that part of the country it is well worth thinking about. Being on the ground it didn't take long to demonstrate the need of a new policy concerning this important industry and Secretary Hoover points to the need of restricting the number of fish taken as well as measures for enlarged propagation. There may have been a time when propagation alone would have done it. That time has passed. The need now is to act in such ways as are necessary before the conditions get any worse and when the time comes congress will have reason for giving serious consideration to the legislative demands that are made and the conditions upon which such demands are based.

FIRE PREVENTION.

With such a large number of fires causing many deaths and large losses appearing in the news from day to day, with the destruction that has resulted in Berkeley, Cal., with the burning of hotels, business blocks, factories and residential sections elsewhere, to say nothing of the much greater number of small fires, there is furnished plenty of food for thought in connection with the effort to get the minds of the nation concentrated upon the importance of prevention work during Fire Prevention day and week, next month.

Hands go up and voices are raised in deprecation of the needless loss of life and property due to fire. Attention is focused upon such conditions as they are pictured in the newspapers but it is wafted in another direction almost immediately and little is thought about them until there are repetitions.

Fire Prevention day deserves to be every day, but in lieu thereof there is something to be gained by impressing upon those who may be victims with life or property that they have a duty to perform to self as well as others in preventing conditions which encourage or lead up to fires.

Think of 15,000 lives being snuffed out and over a half billion dollars worth of property being destroyed in a year by fire, and then reflect upon the fact that much of those losses might have been prevented! It is a frightful indictment of the careless public. It sets a goal for those who need to exercise more care, and that doesn't eliminate very many of us.

JERSEY TRANSPORTATION.

Once more is it demonstrated that the public cannot get along without the service of the trolleys. No matter what the plans are for providing substitute transportation it doesn't serve the purpose and the public is not satisfied.

The situation in New Jersey has been unusual, starting with a strike of the employes of the trolley lines. After it had been in progress some time with no cars running there was an agreement on the part of the company that it would grant the demands of the men for increased pay provided the state would end the competition of the bus lines that had been chartered to run parallel to the trolley lines. Thus while the strike itself might have been over sometime ago the inability to get the unfair competition eliminated has halted operation until it is now over 50 days since the cars were run.

Had it been so that the buses were giving the desired service there would have been no public demand for the trolleys, but there was a cry from all directions for the operation of the lines and it was finally agreed to only after the matter had been carried to the courts and receivership for the lines threatened.

Cars will be running within a few days but what the conditions will be is not disclosed Even Detroit has found that the operation of cars for less than a seven-cent fare, including transfers is impossible and that municipal system is supposed to be run at the height of efficiency and without competition.

The people of New Jersey are no different from those in other states and cities in recognizing that they cannot get along without trolleys, but it remains to be seen whether the state will give such lines a square deal by removing the unjustified competition which it has encouraged.

Much said about the telegram from President Coolidge to Governor Pinchot was greatly exaggerated. The governor tells it as it is when he expresses it "Your courteous and welcome telegram."

PENNY CHOOSES

The car, with its three youthful occupants, drew up quietly at the side of the country road.

Penny gave a little gasp of exasperation and a slight shrug of narrow shoulders. She squirmed uncomfortably in the cramped space allotted to her between Bobby and Billy in Robert Gair's crimson chummy roadster. It was chummy. Too chummy—Penny squirmed again.

"Lemme out, Bub," she pleaded, turning to the brown-eyed young man on her right.

"As soon as we have your answer, Miss Penelope Anderson—and not before," the dark-eyed gentleman answered, without looking at her.

Penny shot him a look of mingled contempt and disdain, and turned to smile—a dazzling pink and white smile—at the gray-eyed young man on her left.

"Billy-boy, you will let me out—please?" She winked one eye delightfully.

But Billy-boy was evidently immune to coquetry. He crossed his arms and let his gaze follow, with unusual interest, a line of trees on the opposite side of the road. He spoke quietly:

"Not on your platinum wedding anniversary—not till you give us the low-down on your preference. Which is it, darling?" Billy-boy extracted all the sugar from the last word. It came out with a growl. Penelope shivered.

"Of course," she choked angrily, "you planned this—this abominable trick!"

"What's that throat-aching adjective mean?" Billy-boy asked insolently.

"Oh!" said Penelope, speechless with rage.

Silence. More silence, thick, heavy and impenetrable.

"Oh, Egypt's Queen!" sighed Penny, her voice husky with weariness, her eyes a misty and lovely blue.

Robert Gair condescended to favor her with a glance.

"Take your time, Miss Anderson; we fully realize that it is a momentous question. But as it nears our dinner hour, an expeditious decision would meet with our approval. To refresh your memory—let me repeat the question," he said, with provoking cordiality. "Do you, in the future, prefer the company of William Law or mine humble own?"

Penny stiffened.

Billy scowled.

"Cut the Ritz-chatter, Bub. She knows that we're sick of being played with like a couple of new toys—thought she could navigate us both—put one over on us. Well, here's where we win the cut-steel necktie, and, as the hero remarked to the villain, 'The tables are turned'."

Penny was too "heart-quickeningly" lovely to have brains. There probably was some error, but, underneath that soft, yellow, corn-silk hair there was a brain, and Penny was a fast thinker.

"I'll tell you," she said sweetly and suddenly.

Although each of the 19-year-olds was positive that he would be the victor—the winner of Penny's fickle affections—four big fists clenched and two hearts lost a beat.

"Ah—yes," sighed Bub.

"Shoot!" groaned Billy-boy.

"Boys—you're right." Penny gave them each a hand to hold. It was nice of her, but it proved that the boys were idiots. They refused the privilege. Penny ignored the refusal.

"I am a heartless butterfly," she went on. "I don't want either of you—to be perfectly frank—really!"

"To be frank——" gasped Bob, his eyes wide.

"Really!" sputtered Bill, his mouth wide.

"So," Penny smiled, "that's settled. You'll let me out now?"

"Well," Bob said weakly, "we'd just as soon take you home—going your way and——"

"Oh, that's all right," Bill said with a pale smile. "We'll run you home—"

"Thank you, boys, but I couldn't think of riding with you now. Lift up your feet, Billy-boy, and let me out."

Billy obeyed.

Penny got out—gracefully.

Bob stared.

Penny walked down the road, a small, adorable figure.

"Conceited children," she said chidingly.

A quarter mile back the roadster stood quietly. Bob Gair sprang up.

"This is your idea," he said fiercely to the dull-eyed Billy.

"You liked it well enough at first. Sit down. Be a good loser.

"Who's a loser?"

"You are, dumbbell, but don't be a miser. "You only lost a penny."

Billy was a bright boy, evidently.

"Stand up," said Bob tensely.

Not understanding why he should, but seeing anger in the dark eyes, Bill stood up.

"Now, then," said Bob, as he pushed Billy boy into the road.

Billy sprawled.

Bobby wiped his hands, sank down into the leather seat and started the engine. He tore down the road—after Penny. He stopped a half-mile beyond and smiled at her.

"Get in—quick—coquette!"

There was the same glint in his eyes that had been there when Billy toppled over.

Penny got in.

"Well?"

"I decided you didn't know your own mind. I decided for you. You can thank me later."

"Oh, no, Bub, don't kid yourself—I did the choosing. But—Egypts queen—I was afraid—"

"Afraid?"

"That Billy-boy would surprise me and come first."

"Oh! Don't say 'Billy-boy'!"

"Where is—William?"

"Back there," with a quick toss of his head.

"Oh," said Penny indifferently.—Boston Post.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Dr. Herbert Putnam, who is 62 years old today, has been the Librarian of Congress for nearly a quarter of a century and has had much to do with making the Congressional Library one of the largest and foremost institutions of its kind in the world. Dr. Putnam went to Washington from the Boston Public Library in 1919, the choice of President McKinley, who looked upon him as the foremost man in his profession. His first success as a librarian had been achieved in Minneapolis, to which city he had gone soon after his graduation from college in 1883. As head of the Boston Public Library he added to his reputation by the introduction of many reforms in its conduct and management. Under Dr. Putnam's direction the Library of Congress has grown until its collection of publications is rapidly nearing those of the British Museum and the Bibliotheque Nationale of Paris.

Stories That Recall Others

Pushing the Horses.

A lad still in his rompers was riding down the street in his daddy's automobile the other day and a wagon load of hay approached from the other direction.

"Oh, mother, mother. Look at that funny automobile pushing those horses," Junior cried.

Knows How to Get Around.

Paul, who lives within the city limits, is only seven, but he knows how to get around. Some one gave him a slingshot, but he was warned that he must not use it in the city. When he asked if he could go beyond the city line to shoot it, his grandmother, who was busy, absentmindedly assented.

Noon came and Paul could not be found. Search was made but it was unsuccessful. But before supper time in he walked with a tale of adventure. Tiring of his slingshot he had walked out to the ball ground where he found a game in progress and for carrying water and looking out for the bats he got car fare home and admitted that he was tired but happy.

A Little Talk on Thrift

Success Test Lies in One's Ability to Save

If it were possible to interrogate each man of outstanding business success in this country today as to the chief reason for his success his answer would undoubtedly be some such statement as the following:

"I owe my success fundamentally to my ability to save money."

It requires more ability to save money than it does to earn it.

The entire educational or mental equipment of most men has been built up with the objective of acquiring wealth. Learn to earn. This is the admonition that has been dinned into them almost from the earliest period of understanding.

But, in the matter of saving, the average person today has the advantage of a most limited educational background. Furthermore, the temptations to indulge in extravagant ways are both subtle and deceptive. It is always easy to run into debt, to contract obligations that may seem well advised but which can be avoided in the interests of economy, to fritter away money for absolutely useless purposes, to trust to luck, to hazard funds without full knowledge of the circumstances involved.

That is why it is so much harder to save than to earn, and why in the race for success the winners in the long run always prove to be men who can enforce economy on themselves and on those under their guidance.

This is perhaps the most useful and practical lesson one can learn today. But it is not an easy one by any means.

In personal affairs it often means the gravest self-denial; in business administration its means discipline, resourcefulness, courage, and a genius for firm decisions.

Follow the rule that success depends on your ability to save. You will soon taste of the fruits of its wisdom.—American Society for Thrift.

To Free Your Arms of Hair or Fuzz

(Boudoir Secrets)

No toilet table is complete without a small package of delatone, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly banished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the objectionable hairs. This should be left on the skin about 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when it will be found free from hair or blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatone.

Calcium Wafers Bring Beauty

How Stuart's Calcium Wafers Transform a Pimpled, Muddy Skin to Pinkish Loveliness.

It was certainly a most fortunate discovery when it was found that one of the necessary constituents of skin health is calcium sulphide.

About twenty-five years ago this important substance was incorporated in Stuart's Calcium Wafers and since then thousands of girls have enjoyed beautiful complexions.

This wonderful substance removes from the system the waste products that often get into the skin to cause pimples, blackheads, blotches and such complexion disfigurements. Then the calcuim is a natural aid to skin repair and health.

You cannot get this wonderful result from cosmetics or drugs nor can you have a clear, beautiful complexion without this wonderful calcium. So when you are near a drug store ask for a 50 cent box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers or send name and address to F. A. Stuart Co., 634 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich., for a free trial package.

OBITUARY.

James L. Crawford

James Lincoln Crawford, a prominent man of Norwich and for 43 years connected with the George W. Kies Shoe store on Main street, died suddenly Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock with heart disease. Mr. Crawford had been suffering from heart trouble for some time past. Recently he went to Pleasant View for a stay and while there, about ten days ago, he was taken ill. His condition becoming serious, he was brought to Norwich late Wednesday afternoon, arriving about 5 o'clock. At 6 o'clock members of his family were talking with him and he appeared to be somewhat better. About 8 o'clock he was seized with a sudden attack which was fatal. Although his illness was known to be serious his death was unexpected.

Mr. Crawford was 80 years of age and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford. Forty three years ago he entered the employ of the George W. Kies Co., In 1907 Mr. Crawford, who had then been with the company 27 years was admitted to partnership and the firm was incorporated under the name of the George W. Kies Co. He assumed entire control of the management of the store, becoming president and treasurer of the firm. His son, J. Lincoln Crawford is at present store manager.

Until recently Mr. and Mrs. Crawford made their home at No. 74 Summer street but a short while ago they moved to 118 Main street, above the Kies store. Mr. Kies was a member of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce, the Norwich Rotary club, the Arcanum club and Norwich Lodge, No. 430, B. P. O. E.

Surviving are his wife who before her marriage was Mary Elizabeth Connor, his mother, Mrs. Adelaide Crawford of Saybrook, two daughters, Mrs. Frederick S. Crowell of this city, Miss Helene Crawford, and two sons, James A. Crawford and J. Lincoln Crawford, all of this city. There are also one brother, Harry B. Crawford of Saybrook and three sisters, Mrs. Samuel Birchard of West Hartford, Mrs. Frederick Pass of Hartford and Mrs. Arthur Snow of Springfield, and one grand daughter, Ruth Adelaide Crowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Crowell.

He achieved success in life by straight-forward business methods, was positive in his opinions but a genial friend, liberal, but always unostentatious in the aid he gave toward objects in which he was interested, thoughtful and considerate in his home relations, and a citizen who won the respect and esteem of a wide circle of friends.

BAPTIST COUNTY MEET WAS HELD AT LEBANON

Baptist churches from all parts of the county sent delegates to Lebanon Wednesday to attend the all-day meeting of New London Baptist Association, which had an attendance of about 200. Rev. Dr. David A. Pitt of this city was moderator.

The annual sermon was by Rev. J. H. Stearns of Montville and the evangelistic programme for the year was described by H. B. Sloat of the board of promotion, who spoke also of the Connecticut Baptist Centennial in Hartford on Nov. 11 at which every member of a Baptist church is asked to make an anniversary gift of one penny for every year of the association in the state, or $1 from each member.

In the afternoon service Rev. C. H. Howe of New London spoke upon The Denominational Outlook. Rev. G. W. Borden of Montville led the devotional service.

In the women's part of the program Miss Alice Dean of this city presided and the speakers were Miss Alff Stephens of Norwich, upon the missionary program, Mrs. C. A. Hagberg, Norwich, upon the White Cross work, Mrs. Anderson upon the overland work, Mrs. C. C. Gildersleeve and Miss Gardner.

News from the front was given at the women's meeting by Miss Dorothy Dowell of the Philippine Islands.

In the business meeting of the association, Rev. H. J. Chase, New London, was elected moderator, Rev. J. H. Stearns, Montville, vice chairman and E. L. Nield Lebanon, secretary-treasurer.

The evening session was devoted to the young people with an address by Rev. F. F. Forshay of Willimantic and a pageant by th eLebanon young people.

LEAVE WRECKED CAR DOWN SIX-FOOT BANK

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, Sept. 19.—A Liberty touring car was totally wrecked about 4.30 o'clock this afternoon when it plowed through the state fence on the Willimantic-Hartford highway just over the city line which spans the Willimantic river and turned turtle down a six-foot bank. It could not be determined just how the accident happened. The three men who were riding in the car took off the tires and left the scene. Sheriff Frink from Andover was summoned by the Columbia town authorities and he sent word to the local police department to be on the lookout for the three men. Judging from the appearance of the car, it is improbable that the trio escaped without injuries, and it is evident that one or more of the party had been pinned under the machine, which had been pried up with poles. The machine took about 15 feet of the fence railing along with it in its wild plunge, and every part of the car was completely demolished. It is thought that the men must have been traveling at a terrific rate of speed around a sharp curve just west of the bridge. According to the report registered at police headquarters, the machine bore the Connecticut registry number 131-246, which is listed for a Hudson touring car under the name of John Cannell, R. F. D., Warehouse Point.

CALLS FOR CONFERENCE ON PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

Chief Justice George W. Wheeler of the state supreme court of errors has called a meeting of judges and prosecutors of the city and town courts, trial justices and grand jurors of New London county to be held in New London next Monday afternoon "for the purpose of conferring with a view to securing a better and more harmonius enforcement of the law in aid of the eighteenth amendment." The conference will be held in the superior court room in the county court house at 1 o'clock, standard time.

In a notice to the authorities having jurisdiction in the enforcement of the prohibition law, Justice Wheeler says that he trusts that "exchanges of views will result in a common understanding so that all law-enforcing officials shall act with a common purpose to the end that we may do our part in checking the growing disrespect for law."

INSTALLED NEW PASTOR AT SALEM SWEDISH LUTHERAN CHURCH

REV. HENNING L. JOHNSON

Rev. Henning L. Johnson was installed as pastor of the Salem Swedish Lutheran church, Hickory and Golden streets, Wednesday evening at a special service held at the church. The service was a mission meeting of the Providence district of the New England conference of the Swedish Lutheran church. The installation address was given by Rev. S. G. Hagglund, Ph. D., of Boston, the conference president, who also conducted the installation service. Rev. Dr. Hagglund was assisted in the installation service by pastor of the district.

A sermon in the Swedish language was preached by Rev. Hjalmer Tillman of Attleboro, Mass., and Rev. Carl B. Sandberg of Auburn, R. I., preached in English. Rev. Mr. Sandberg took his text from the First Epistle of Paul to the Thessalonians. Paul carried very pleasant memories of the church, said the preacher. The church received the word as a power of God. The word of God is intended as a transforming power. The word of God always carries with it its own particular power. The epistle states the word came with much assurance. It gave peace of mind, it gave definite assurance that they were actually Christians.

We have been told that if the Master were persecuted, then the Christian must expect to be persecuted. But when the word comes it gives us such joy and peace that we are willing to undergo persecution for His sake. Once you have taken the right attitude of the word of God it produces in you works of faith. How willing the labor of love makes us to lend a helping hand where it is needed. Jesus never intended we should forget about His return. He meant that we should always be waiting for His return. May you ever respond to the word of God, and may God help us all to treasure His word, that we may enjoy the blessings He wants to give us.

The clergymen present at the installation service were Rev. S. G. Hagglund, Ph. D., of Boston; Rev. A. M. Hereins of Centerville, R. I.; Rev. Karl Johansson of Providence; Rev. F. G. Granquist of Pontiac, R. I.; Rev. Hjalmar Tillman of Attleboro, Mass.; Rev. Carl B. Sandberg of Auburn, R. I.

Rev. Henning L. Johnson, the pastor of the local church, came to Norwich early in May of this year. He is a graduate of Augustine college and Theological seminary, Rock Island, Ill. His first pastorate was in Elmira, N. Y. From there he went to Newport, R. I., and served for a time as pastor at the naval training station in that place, being in the service of the national Lutheran commission. He came to Norwich from Newport.

ROTARIANS REPORT ON CONCLAVE AT RUTLAND

With sky overcast and threatening, weather conditions were such that the aviator who was to fly from the Mineola flying field to Norwich on Wednesday to address the Norwich Rotary club was forced to abandon his trip for the second time. However, although disappointed, the members of the club had a splendid meeting that included two inspiring talks by President Charles A. Saxton and Secretary Joseph N. Weymouth on the fall conclave at Rutland.

President Saxton presided at the meeting, and Lucius Briggs was the song leader. Lucius, when he became aware of his appointment to the exalted position of song leader, was no respecter of persons, and lucky was he who escaped the eye of the leader. There were selctions by various club members, singly and collectively, until practically everyone had demonstrated his vocal ability—if any. Song Leader Briggs, on his own hook, endeavored to entertain with several stories, but his efforts were unappreciated.

Campaign Manager Cleveland, who is in Norwich to conduct the drive for funds for a new nurses' home for the W. W. Backus hospital, spoke briefly to the club, saying that as yet it was too early to have any definite plans but he hoped that the Rotary club would lend its support the same as when the new ambulance for the hospital was secured.

President Charles A. Saxton called attention to the concert at Slater hall on Tuesday, Oct. 9th, to be given by Miss Loretta Higgins for the benefit of the Dr. John S. Blackmar boys' fund. Tickets will be distributed this week and will be on sale at several places in Norwich and by all the members of the Rotary club.

About 30 members of the local club signified their intention of attending the joint outing of the New London and Norwich clubs at Red Top on Tuesday of next week. There will be a ball game in the afternoon at the submarine base diamond, followed by a shore dinner at Red Top at 6 o'clock, after which there will be dancing.

Brief reports of the Rutland conclave were given by President Saxton and Secretary Weymouth both speakers agreeing that the conclave this fall was one of the best ever held in New England and that every speaker had a message that was inspiring. They spoke of the royal way in which they were entertained by the Holyoke and Pittsfield clubs on the way to Rutland. Other members of the club will tell of their impressions at the next meeting.

EXPECT PALACE THEATRE OPENING IN OCTOBER

A. A. Spitz, who came here from Providence Wednesday to see what progress was being made on the new Palace theatre on Rose place, predicted that the theatre would be ready for opening at a very early date in October.

The new theatre is a scene of activity in many different lines of work at present. The decorators are finishing up their work on the ceiling and walls and will have their stagings down this week. The organ is here and the men are on hand all ready to begin the installation of the instrument. Plumbers are rushing the work in that department. Workmen are placing the marble wainscoting in the lobby and the asbestos curtain and the scenery for the stage will be installed this week.

RAID FOR LIQUOR IN WATERFORD WAS FRUITLESS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 19.—The state police were active in Waterford last night when they obtained information as to where liquor was stored and in a condition for saleable purposes. About 9 o'clock the officers swooped down on the place, but their work was all in vain for not a semblance of liquor was found there. While it is known to the authorities that there are places in Waterford where liquor is being dispensed the federal or state authorities have thus far been unable to find evidence of sales for an arrest, nor have they been able to detect the hiding place of the liquor except in one or two instances.

NORWICH KNIGHTS TEMPLAR AT WESTERLY RECEPTION

Columbian Commandery, No. 4, K. T., had 127 Sir Knights who went to Westerly Wednesday afternoon for the parade and ceremonies in connection with the reception given by Narragansett Commandery to W. M. Arthur M. Brown of this city, grand master of the state, and R. E. James C. Macpherson of this city, grand commander of the grand commandery of Connecticut.

The Norwich Knights made the trip in automobiles and returned here about 11 at night.

Civil Superior Court Session.

The civil superior court, which had no business in New London Tuesday or Wednesday, is scheduled to sit this (Thursday) morning. There are four cases assigned for trial before Judge Isaac Wolfe who is presiding.

DEMONSTRATION DAY AT LEDYARD APPLE ORCHARD

Those interested in growing good apples will find it time well spent to attend the meeting to be conducted by the Farm Bureau at the orchard of William I. Allyn of Ledyard on Friday, Sept. 21, at 1.30 p. m. (standard time).

This orchard is one among eight demonstration orchards being conducted in New London county. It has been used as such for two years now and the idea of this meeting is to show what the results are, when the apples are about to be picked. The orchard has had the full schedule of eight sprays and has been fertilized with nitrate of soda as recommended by the Connecticut Agricultural College. Mr. Allyn has about eight hundred trees from two to fifteen years of age which include about a dozen varieties, and the fruit is of fine quality. He is handling his orchard only as many New London county farmers could do, if they follow good practices.

W. H. Darrow, fruit specialist from the extension service at Storrs, will be there to discuss the handling of the orchard from several standpoints. The Allyn farm is on the Mystic road from Ledyard Center.

NOT GUILTY OF DRIVING UNDER LIQUOR INFLUENCE

John A. Johnson of 35 School street and John Kornacki of 62 Eleventh street were before the city court on Wednesday morning, each on the charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The cases had been continued from Monday and the two men were represented by Attorney R. M. Douglass. In the case of Johnson, Dr. A. C. Freeman testified that Johnson had been drinking when he saw him after he had been arrested after running into a boy on a bicycle. A number of witnesses testified as to where Johnson had been before the accident and the court nolled the case.

A nolle was also entered in the case of Kornacki who was arrested Sunday night after his machine had run into a pole at Norwich Town. Dr. Clarence Thompson, who saw the man at police headquarters, testified he had been drinking. Several persons testified in favor of Kornacki, telling where he had been and what he had been doing before the time of the accident.

GAVE PRETTY PARTY FOR FOURTH BIRTHDAY

Virginia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Hastedt, 371 Laurel Hill avenue, entertained thirteen of her little friends Thursday afternoon in honor of her fourth birthday. The dining room table was prettily decorated with pink and white crepe paper and two large bouquets were artistically arranged on it. The children played Uncle Wiggily, Helen Moran winning the prize. The prize for the peanut hunt was won by Joseph Hastedt and William Hastedt. There was also a grab bag and each child received a little gift. Refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake, fruit, candy and fruit punch were served. Mrs. Hastedt was assisted in serving by Mrs. J. Hastedt, Mrs. G. E. Bartlett, Mrs. J. Moran and Mrs. William R. Hastedt. During the afternoon Miss Edna Hastedt rendered several piano selections. The hostess received many pretty gifts.

FELL DOWN ELEVATOR SHAFT AT BALTIC MILL

Emil Caron, 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Caron of Baltic, was probably fatally injured about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when he fell down an elevator shaft at the Baltic mills, where he was employed. Dr. George Thompson of Taftville was summoned and had the boy removed to the Backus hospital in the ambulance.

Up to a late hour Wednesday night the youth had not regained consciousness, and little hope for his recovery was held out. His injuries consist of contusion of the brain, badly bruised shoulder and injuries about the head. The X-ray shows no fracture.

HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT STUDYING AT COLUMBIA

Miss Gladys Stratton, home demonstration agent in New London county for the past three and a half years, is taking several months' leave of absence, commencing Oct. 1st, for further study at Teachers' college, Columbia university. Miss Stratton expects to return to the county, and in the meantime project work will be carried on with community groups as far as possible by specialists from Connecticut Agricultural college, Storrs.

Announce Daughter's Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Smith of Hanover announce the engagement of their daughter, Imogene to Walter R. Lindeman of Woodstock.

GETTING TOO FAT? TRY THIS—REDUCE

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your own druggist or send price direct to Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and be able to reduce steadily and easily, without starvation diet, tiresome exercise or absurd greases and salves.

SPEAKER COMING FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The significance of national problems which now confront business will be discussed by Colvin B. Brown of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, who will speak before the Norwich Chamber of Commerce Monday evening, Sept. 24th.

Mr. Brown is well qualified to deliver a Washington message because of his knowledge of national affairs.

"The point that we often overlook," says Mr. Brown, "is that every one of our national problems is a local problem. It would not be national if it did not touch intimately the various communities and localities. Every one of the present obstructions to business readjustment is the concern of every business locality. If we are to surmount these difficulties as a nation we must interest ourselves as localities in their adjustment.

"National problems affecting business must be studied by local chambers of commerce from the standpoint of the national interest. There is a responsibility in this direction that sometimes appears is not fully realized. So I would like to emphasize that there are great national problems affecting business which are of local concern but which must be solved nationally by business communities acting in concert and in the general national public interest, while at the same time there are national needs which must be met by the localities themselves.

"I might take the subject of railroads and call attention to the fact that there is real danger in any tendency on the part of communities to strive among themselves for rate advantage to the extent that the general public interest is lost sight of. I see a possibility that such an effort if it succeeds in reduction of rates to the point that the transportation industry is crippled beyond recovery, the reaction on all communities will be such that individual advantages gained will be lost in the general disaster that all must share.

"The Chamber of Commerce of the United States as an organization with headquarters and a trained staff in the national capital has unusual advantages for study of national problems. It has committees which go deeply into questions that touch business. Its power, however, lies in its membership in Norwich and elsewhere. The 1,400 organizations which make up its membership are not merely members of the national chamber. They are the national chamber. The headquarters in Washington can only attempt and only does attempt to place before the membership facts and information regarding the things of a national aspect which affect business localities.

"The strength of the national organization lies in an educated business opinion in the cities and towns of this country, an opinion arrived at through a study of facts and expressed forcibly through national organization.

"The referenda put out by the headquarters of the national chamber, carrying recommendations of a committee of business men and experts, will be received by the government and by congress as expressing the business sentiment of the United States only insofar as the business localities actually act on them. They are discounted when there is not a full vote by member roganizations.

"Wisdom lies in discussion. We will have wise business legislation when business organizations everywhere go into our national business problems and after study unite in voicing an expression of their conclusions regarding them."

ANOTHER LIQUOR CASE COMING TO TRIAL

State Attorney Hadlai A. Hull said Wednesday that he expected the next trial in the superior court in this city, after the Muscarella case is disposed of today (Thursday) will be that of Peter Mros and Konstanty Plasck who were arrested a few days ago on charge of violation of the prohibition law at a Bank street saloon in New London.

Court of Honor Program.

The program of court of honor for the Boy Scouts will be carried out as follows this (Thursday) evening in the city court room at the courthouse:

Assembly, bugle; attention, Scouts' salute to the court; the Scout oath, by all scouts; speech, Rev. J. Harlow Graham; speech, Rev. A. E. Kernahan; awarding of prizes for first annual field day events, president of council, A. L. Peale; announcements of prizes and presentation of awards from Camp Tippecan, Scout Executive F. A. Benton; presentation of merit badges by Prof. Henry A. Tirrell, Norwich Free Academy; announcements; benediction; Taps.

Much Smoke But No Fire.

A supposed fire at 16 Thames street gave the fire department a run Wednesday morning in response to a telephone call sent in to Engine Co. 6, Thamesville. Smoke was found by the firemen in one of the tenements of the three story brick structure, but there was no sign of fire. A passing locomotive on the Central Vermont road probably filled the tenement with smoke. The building is owned by the Thames Coal Co.

Smoke Filled the House.

The fire department answered a telephone call Wednesday for a supposed chimney fire at 171 Broadway occupied by Leopold Schaffer. The firemen found the house filled with smoke but there was no fire. A chimney filled with soot caused a back draft, filling the house with smoke.

Visitors at D. A. R. Museum.

Mrs. Herbert W. Gallup had 21 visitors at the D. A. R. museum, Norwich Town, Wednesday afternoon, including people from California, New York city and Virginia. The visitors manifested much interest in the various exhibits and were pleasantly shown over the place by Mrs. Gallup.

HELP FOR GIRLS WHO WORK

Mrs. Lodic Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped his wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I was married I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same then as I have had since I have done my housework. I would not be without a bottle in the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it is a wonderful body builder, as it has made me well and strong. It is going to be the 'old reliable' with me hereafter, and I am always willing to tell other women how it has helped me. You can use this letter as you wish as I can honestly say that my words are true."—Mrs. M. Lodic, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 40, Tyrone, Pa.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Alabama Mayor Says Tanlac Restored His Health.

Judge G. W. Thomason, Mayor of Tarrant City, Alabama, widely known and highly esteemed pioneer citizen, recently gave his unqualified endorsement to the Tanlac treatment.

"Chronic indigestion brought me to the verge of a general break-down three years ago," said Judge Thomason, "and nothing seemed to afford much relief. I was eating scarcely enough to keep going on, and food stayed in my stomach like a rock, causing pain and extreme nervousness. Sleep was often impossible, and I gradually weakened so I could hardly attend to my office duties.

"The first bottle of Tanlac improved my appetite and digestion wonderfully, my nervousness disappeared and I rested better at night. Each successive bottle gave added impetus to my returning strength, and I felt ten years younger when I finished the sixth bottle a short time later. Tanlac gave me new zest in life that still remains with me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

BOBBY JONES ELIMINATED IN AMATUER GOLF TOURNAMENT BY MAX MARSTON

Chicago, Sept. 19—(By the A. P.)—Two former national amateur titleholders and the national open champion, Bobby Jones, of Atlanta were eliminated today in the second round of the national championship tournament at Flossmoor, the defeat of Jones by Max Marston, of Philadelphia, furnished the thrilling upset of a day replete with startling developments.

Jess Sweetser of New York, kept in the race to defend his title by overcoming Dave Herron, of Chicago, a former titlist, four and three, and Bob Gardner of Chicago, twice holder of the crown, also survived by ousting W. C. Fownes, of Pittsburgh, another former champion, 3 and 1. In another close match, Francis Ouimet of Boston, formerly national open and amateur champion, finally outgolfed Willie Hunter of Los Angeles, formerly premier golfer of Great Britain and won 3 to 2.

Another former titleholder to survive was Jesse Guilford of Boston, who had a comparatively easy time in defeated Dexter Cummings, of Chicago, intercollegiate champion, 7 and 6. In the other two matches, George Von Elm, of Salt Lake City, playing superlative golf at times defeated Jimmie Manion, of St. Louis, 6 and 5, Joe Wells, of East Liverpool Ohio, ousted H. K. B. Davis of San Francisco, four and three.

Densmore Shute of Huntington, W. Va., eliminated Ned Ailis, of Milwaukee, 6 and 5.

The defeat of Jones following that of Evans who had tied with Jones for low qualifying score at 149 caused the greatest excitement of the day, although the prospects for a time that Hunter would down Ouimet as he had Evans, kept the followers on edge until the Boston golfer, by shooting par on the third nine and three better than perfect golf on the last quarter up to the finish, finally disposed of the Briton. Jones downfall was all the more impressive, because he not only shot a record 70 for the 6704 course in the morning, breaking par by four strokes and adjourning for luncheon at two up, but kept within two strokes of par in the afternoon, only to lose to a collection of birdies that netted Marston the advantage.

DODGERS DIVIDE HONORS IN DOUBLE WITH CUBS

Chicago, Sept. 19—Brooklyn and Chicago broke even in a double header today, the visitors winning the first game, 5 to 1 and the Cubs winning the second, 4 to 3 in 10 innings.

In the first game, Brooklyn concentrated its attack in two innings with Victor Keen on the mound.

Chicago played an uphill game behind Grover Alexander in the second game, tied the count in the ninth inning, and won in the tenth. Scores:

REDS TAKE BOTH ENDS OF TWIN BILL WITH PHILLIES

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 19—Cincinnati strengthened its hold on second place today by winning both games of a double-header from Philadelphia, 1 to 0 and six to 5. The first game was a brilliant pitching duel between Rixey and Betts, each of whom allowed only five singles. The one run was scored on a fumble by Metz, Duncan's single and a sacrifice fly.

In the second game, Donohue was hit hard in two innings, but won the game by his own long hitting, driving in three runs in the fourth with a three-bagger and the winning tally in the eighth with a double. Caveney was spiked in the ninth inning of the first game and Fowler, a recruit from Knoxville Tenn., played shortstop in the second game. The scores:

NINTH INNING RALLY GIVES RED SOX GAME

Boston, Sept. 19—Boston made two runs in the ninth inning with one out and defeated Chicago 2 to 1 today. After Barrett had caught Burns' line drive in deep left, Joe Harris doubled, Shanks and Flagstead singled, Pinch Hitter Menosky was purposely walked and Devormer, batting for Ehmke singled to left on the first pitch, scoring the winning runs. It was Ehmke's twentieth win of the season. The fielding of Burns, Boston first baseman, was spectacular. The score:

FIRPO HAS NO COMPLAINT OVER THE WAY REFEREE TREATED HIM

New York, Sept. 19—(By the A. P.)—The decision of the referee is sufficient for Louis Angel Firpo, and despite the protests of his friends and many spectators of his fight with Jack Dempsey, that he was unfairly treated and fouled, he asks nothing more than "another match" with the world's champion.

The true sportsmanship of the Argentine fighter is shown in a statement given by him to the Associated Press, in which he first defends his chief second, Horatio Lavalle, indirectly accused of incompetency by William Muldoon, chairman of the state boxing commission, and ends by simply asking another battle with his conqueror when he has rested and his arm has healed.

Dempsey was declared by thousands of spectators not only to have struck Firpo viciously after the call of time and to have disregarded the referee's instructions as to retreating to a neutral corner during a knockdown count, but to have technically lost the fight on a foul when he was assisted back to the ring by reporters, after having been knocked through the ropes by Firpo in the first round. Referee Gallagher also is declared to have neglected starting a count until Dempsey had been returned to the ring.

Chairman Muldoon said after the fight that had Firpo's seconds claimed a foul when Dempsey was pushed back into the ring, the state boxing commission would have recognized the claim and declared Firpo the winner. No such claim was made at the time.

Firpo has been urged by his South American admirers and many others to protest the decision of Referee Gallagher. His statement made to the Associated Press today, reads:

"There has been enough discussion on the question of fouls in my match with Jack Dempsey. The charges against Horatio Lavalle are unjust because Mr. Muldoon, chairman of the New York boxing commission, assured us that justice would be done to me.

"I have read what Mr. Muldoon has said on the subject of fouls and I appreciate it. I have also read many references by sporting writers to the same matter. But notwithstanding this, I want to make one thing perfectly clear; I accept the decision and all I want is another match with Dempsey as soon as my arm is all right and I have had sufficient rest."

HILLIES REGISTER EASY WIN OVER SPRINGFIELD

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 19—Pittsfield defeated Springfield 9 to 3 today. Bosse batted in three runs and scored two. Benes hit a home run in the seventh inning with nobody on base. Rose, of Greenfield, a recruit, registered his second win in as many starts for Pittsfield. The score by innings:

| | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Springfield | 1 0 0 0 0 1 1 0 0—3 | 10 | 4 |
| Pittsfield | 4 0 1 0 2 2 0 0 x—9 | 11 | 1 |

Duff and Damm; Rose and M. Wilson.

Two base hits, Rose. Home runs, Benes.

THREE AMERICAN GOLFERS STILL IN CANADIAN PLAY

Montreal, Sept. 19—Three United States players remained in the Canadian women's open golf championship following today's second round match at Mount Bruno.

They are Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R. I., who defeated Miss Edith Leitch, Walton-heath, England, 5 and 4; Miss Alexa Stirling, New York who won from Miss Helen Paget, Ottawa, 8 and 7, and Miss H. Meehan, Cedarbrook, Pa., who defeated her sister Miss S. Meehan 3 and 2. The other United States player in the second round Mrs. Spaulding, Niagara Falls, was eliminated by Mrs. Harold Hutchings, Winnipeg.

Tomorrow Miss Collett meets Mrs. D. C. Hurd, of Boston. Miss Stirling is matched against Mrs. Hutchings, and Miss Meehan meets Mrs. Gavin present Canadian champion.

Volantown 14, Yantic 0

Playing errorless ball on Sunday afternoon Voluntown defeated Yantic by a 14 to 0 score in a game that started like a battle of big leaguers. In the fifth inning with three on and two out Gaudette hit one on the nose for two bases scoring the first three runs of the game. After that Morriss went to pieces and allowed 17 hits. Dupont for Voluntown, held the visitors to four scattered hits, struck out 15 and received good support from his teammates.

Donoghue Will Ride

Southampton, Sept. 19—It is definitely settled that Steve Donoghue, Great Britain's premier jockey over the flat, will ride the derby winner Papyrus when the English thoroughbred races the best American three-year-old at Belmont park, on October 20. Passage for Donoghue has been booked on the Olympic, sailing for New York on October 10.

Nedda Lowers Record

Malone, N. Y., Sept. 19—Nedda, driven by Pop Geers, is claimed to have lowered the world's record for trotting mares over a half mile track when she traveled a mile in 2:05 1-4 at the Franklin county fair grounds here today. She was paced by a runner. Nedda also holds the world's record for trotting mares on a mile oval.

Meadowbrook Eliminates Hurlingham

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 19—In an extremely hard ridden and roughly played game the American Meadowbrook club today eliminated the famed Hurlingham Club four, of England, from the international tournament for the American national open polo championship. The score was 11 to 4.

Peter Manning Equals Another Record

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 19—Peter Manning, driven by Tommy Murphy, equalled the world's half mile track record here today, trotting the mile in 2:02 3-4. The record was established at Goshen, N. Y., in 1911 by Uhlan.

SEVENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL FAIR AT BROOKLYN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Brooklyn, Conn., Sept. 19,—Undismayed by threatening weather, crowds came to Brooklyn Wednesday for the 74th annual exhibition of Windham County Agricultural society. The greater part of the small army that was within the gates when the attendance reached its maximum during the early afternoon hours was a bit slow in arriving, but good roads and fast moving automobiles have simplified the process of getting to the fairgrounds from even distant points in the county, and when those who had hesitated decided it was not going to rain they came in droves and added by their presence to the interest of the fair as well as contributing to its financial success.

The fair varies little this year from what it has been for a decade. The attractions are much the same as they have been from year to year. The thousands who each year attend this fair make it as much an Old Home day gathering as an agricultural show, and do not demand much of the flashy entertainment and diversion now so characteristic of many of the larger fairs.

All about the grounds Wednesday there was much to interest the visitor. What the electrical and gas age has done for the dweller on the farms in making life and work more of a pleasure was illustrated by the varied displays of electrically operated apparatus, by the showing of gasoline motors, etc., etc., each device offering the farmer or country dweller an opportunity to dispense with some one drudgery or another for a modern and easy method of accomplishing good results. From the equipment shown, a farmer might have selected an outfit to light his house by electricity or many other things to make the house and dairy work easy. And great indeed was the interest in all these things.

In the main exhibition hall were the displays that illustrate what the county is doing agriculturally. Dominating the exhibits were the fine displays made by Brooklyn, Canterbury and Senexet granges. These exhibits were really splendid and there were crowds about them throughout the day.

Also of special interest was the display of apples by the Quinebaug Valley Fruit Growers' association, a subsidiary of the Windham-County Farmers' association. The showing of apples by this association would reflect credit on Windham county at any fair in New England.

The fruit is boxed on the basis of a United States bushel this year and every apple is so perfect as to seem almost unreal to those who have come to think of an apple as necessarily more or less blemished. Some of the fruit still retains the blush with which it came from the tree. There are boxes of apples at the fair that came from trees that were sprayed eight times during the season and, that were given careful attention all summer. The fruit has been carefully selected and graded and side by side with the best that the famous Hood river section of Oregon can produce would not lose one jot in comparison. The apples in the display are from the orchards of H. R. Buell of Eastford, Chester E. May, William Child and Louis Linderman, all of Woodstock, one of the famous apple growing towns of eastern Connecticut.

Such fruit as these growers are showing at the fair sells itself. Scores of people made inquiries on Wednesday as to where the fruit was grown and what it sells for and the surprise was very general over the fact that it was produced right here in Windham county, where the growing of high class fruit is developing into an important enterprise.

Another subsidiary of the County Farmers' association, the Vegetable Growers' association, also had a fine display of products at the fair. As with the apples, this display illustrated what fine results can be achieved in the vegetable growing field and likely will be the means of interesting larger numbers of vegetable growers to get in touch with the Farmers' association activities and with those of the organizations working with it.

Live stock was not as numerous at the fair this year, as has been the case some years in the past, but there was a very good showing of cattle. It appears that cattle entries have been reduced for one reason because owners of tuberculin free herds hesitate to enter animals at fairs where all cattle have not been tuberculin tested.

Along the midway the barkers had a busy day of it Wednesday. The blanket men and the doll men were out in force, as were the other well known varieties of concession men who have something to sell and are clever in their salesmanship. There were no questionable games or shows allowed on the grounds, the fair association's policy being strict adherence to the state's requirements of fairs in this respect.

Holding space in the exhibition hall were a number of business houses with demonstrating forces to tell the public of the merits of musical instruments and many other things that were on display.

There is the usual large display of needlework and other such entries in the woman's department, which was an all day center of interest for hundreds of the women visitors to the fair.

YOUTH OF U. S. COAST GUARD ACADEMY MYSTERIOUSLY CUT AT NEW LONDON

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 19—Burglars forced an entrance to the garage of the Edward Bloom Silk company, Garfield avenue, Tuesday night, for this morning the driver of the company's truck discovered that the lock on the door had been removed and there was evidence of the place having been searched. So far as could be determined there was no plunder obtained, although there was a large quantity of rolls in the place.

Miss Thelma Hendrickson of Crystal avenue, Miss Grace Eggleston, Uncasville, Miss Agnes Weill, Montville and Martin Poretta of Belden street, were patients discharged at Lawrence hospital today.

Charles W. Gilmore, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Gilmore of Blydenburg avenue and Miss Elizabeth Brown, daughter of John Brown of Belden street, were married this morning at 11 o'clock, at the rectory of St. Joseph's church by Rev. William C. Fitzsimons, pastor. Peter E. Gilmore was best man and Miss Joan Cruikshank of Waterford, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. Following the wedding a breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father. Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore left for Washington and New York at noon. Mr. Gilmore is employed by the Hopson & Chapin company.

Angelo Castagna and Miss Mary DiMarco were married this morning at 9.30 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, the nuptial mass being celebrated by Rev. William C. Fitzsimons. Patsy De Maggio was best man and the bride was attended by Miss Angelina Tarringo as maid of honor and the Misses Sarah and Anne DiMarco as bridesmaids.

Arthur Johnson of Hartford and Miss Ellen Wistrand of New London, were married Saturday last by Rev. Horatio J. Chase, pastor of Montauk Avenue Baptist church, at the residence of the clergyman. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a wedding trip and upon its termination will reside in Hartford. The bride was employed until recently by the Babcock Printing Press Manufacturing company.

Miss Maude M. Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert M. Graves of Williams street, who will become the bride of Walter Platt, of Springfield, Mass., Saturday, was tendered a miscellaneous shower last night by Miss Edna Green, of 17 Home street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Watson of Norwich, have closed their cottage, 43 Stuart avenue, Ocean Beach, where they resided the greater part of the summer and have returned to their home on Laurel Hill avenue.

Miss Ethel Pimer has returned having spent several days in Springfield, Mass., where she attended the Eastern States exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Coolidge are living on School street, in the house formerly occupied by Americanization Instructor John C. Ellis and family.

E. B. Hunting and Miss Stella Hunting of Baltimore, former well known summer visitors in New London, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Learned.

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Pearl Wheeler at her home 10 Coit street last evening. Miss Wheeler will shortly become the bride of Burton Andrews, manager of the F. W. Woolworth Store in New London.

News has been received in New London of the death of Capt. William J. Wasson, formerly master of craft sailing from this port. Capt. Wasson died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. L. Brown of West Brighton, Staten Island. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the residence of his daughter. Burial was at Staten Island.

Pasquale Tomeo, of South Attleboro, Mass., arrested here several days ago, for the Narragansett Pier police, on a charge of passing counterfeit bills pleaded not guilty when presented before U. S. Commissioner Archibald C. Matteson at Providence yesterday.

Alice Haven, widow of Rev. James R. Danforth, formerly pastor of Groton Heights Congregational church and mother of Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ, this city died Monday at Squirrel Island, Me., at which place her husband died eight years ago. Rev. and Mrs. Danforth moved from Groton nine years ago when Rev. Mr. Danforth's health became impaired. Besides Rev. Mr. Danforth of New London, Mrs. Danforth is survived by a daughter, Miss Mary Danforth, a hospital physician. Rev. Mr. Danforth went to Squirrel Island Tuesday for the funeral today (Thursday). Burial will be in Morristown, N. J.

Edward McManus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McManus of Groton, and Miss Beth Holloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Holloway of Poquonnoc, were married Saturday night at the parsonage of Poquonnoc Bridge Baptist church, by Rev. Edward F. Knapp. They were unattended. They will reside temporarily at Poquonnoc Bridge. Mr. McManus is employed by the New Haven railroad company at Midway.

Mrs. Patrick Bannon, Groton and James Crawford of 23 Walden avenue, were patients dismissed at Home Memorial hospital today.

Aksel Minge, 28, United States Coast Guard academy, is a patient at Lawrence hospital, suffering from a knife wound in his side and refuses absolutely to reveal how he sustained the injury, which is not considered serious.

Minge appeared at the office at the academy about 1.30 o'clock this morning to have the wound dressed, but would not reveal how he got it. In fact, he would not discuss the matter with his superior officer. Minge was not on duty last night, but was not supposed to be outside the reservation. The cutting, however, is almost certain to have occurred in the civilian section adjoining the academy and it is believed Minge became involved in a quarrel and in the fight that followed sustained the wound in his side. When Minge is discharged from the hospital he will be subjected to a severe examination in an effort by the military authorities to determine how the wound was received and who wielded the knife. There are a number of places in the section near the academy that have the reputation of dispensing liquor and it is believed that Minge obtained his wound either inside one of these places or in the street near one of them.

Hardly a night passes that the police do not report anywhere from three to six or eight electric lights that fail to throw their rays. Several accidents have occurred to pedestrians where lights have failed to reveal danger points, yet the failure of the lights to illuminate continues.

George Martin, clerk in the employ of the Central Coal company, has resigned.

Mrs. Frank Racine of Stewart St., Mrs. Charles Rutman and infant son, Westerly, Mrs. Herman Priestley and infant son, Lee avenue, Mrs. William Potter, Westerly, Raymond Leeds, Pacific street and Harry Doughlan of Willetts avenue, patients at Lawrence hospital, were discharged.

Alvah R. Cone, Miss Mary Cone and Mrs. Susan Cone, Groton, are at Lake Placid, N. Y. for a week.

Mrs. Mary J. Clarke of Worcester, Mass., has returned home after having spent a week with her son, J. William Clarke.

Mrs. Alex Douglas and Mrs. Harry Gilley and daughter, Miss Helen Gilley, attended the convention of the Daughters of Scotia at New Haven today.

Philip E. Douglass, instructor at Bulkeley High school, who has been ill at the home of his mother with sleeping sickness, is reported as greatly improved.

The funeral of John L. Luzzi, of 83 Walbach street held Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, a mass of requiem being sung by Rev. William C. Fitzsimons. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Douglas Young of Coit street, Charles Stebbins, Lester street and Harold Dean of Garfield avenue, were patients discharged Tuesday at Home Memorial hospital.

Rosen and Losacano has sold and undivided half interest in a dwelling No. 25 Garfield avenue to John Parisi of Yonkers.

Leonardo and Agostina Minucci have purchased a building lot on Pacific street from Frederick A. and Elsie Potter and will have a house erected on the site.

The Hartford-Connecticut Trust company, administrators, have sold a building lot on the south side of Warren street to Matthew E. Infiorati.

It is understood that an industrial establishment is to be located in this city soon. That is what the city needs for it has not as much of this line of business as it had 50 years ago.

At the city election in New London Monday next, two candidates will strive for election to the council—Waldo E. Clarke and Col. Henry Dorsey. Both have made a canvass so the election is likely to be a tussle. The council is now composed of seven members and there is one to be elected.

The stores of all the Hebrews in New London closed this evening at sundown, till sundown Thursday, in observance of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

Mrs. Edna Manwaring, who is accused of having sold liquor at her summer resort at Oswegatchie, is in Lawrence hospital, suffering from an abcess of the throat. A mission is being held at St. Joseph's church this week for the women of the parish. Next week the mission will be for men. The attendance is very large.

The teams representing the Corticelli Silk company and the Fort Trumbull Stars of the City League, tied for first place in the league, will participate in the battle that will win the league championship Sunday next, this having been decided upon at a conference of the managers of both clubs this forenoon. The Stars have won the pennant two sucessive years, last year playing off a tie with the Knights of Columbus.

Owners of radio machines in New London and vicinity this evening heard Arthur T. Murray, a New London youth, in a solo broadcasted from the Washington W. R. C. station. Mr. Murray is the son of Thomas R. Murray, and is soloist at the Cathedral in Washington and was one of 32 soloists selected to sing at the memorial services in Arlington, as a tribute to the "Unknown Dead."

A girl apparently not over 17, was picked up on the street this evening by Patrolman Timothy C. Sullivan stranded here, being without funds and not having acquaintance here. The girl, who claims to be an ingenue for in missions about New England, stated that she came here from Providence and was en route to New Haven, where she was supposed to meet a clergyman who would provide shelter for her and arrange for her next assignment at instructing. The girl was turned over to Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield, who provided a place for her for the night and tomorrow will provide her with transportation to New Haven.

WESTMINSTER

Westminster church had a representative at the recent 200th anniversary of the organization of Newent church.

Mrs. Fannie Brassil is entertaining Mrs. Louisa Brown of Groton, her mother, who will make an extended visit; her aunt, Mrs. Mary Baldwin, also of Groton, and her sister, Mrs. Frank Van Name, of Fisher's Island, N. Y.

Over 70, fully half being women, attended the republican caucus Saturday evening, Sept. 8. Herbert Williams was chairman and Levi Clark clerk. Most of the town officers were renominated, an exception being the nomination of R. Herr on the school committee to succeed Edward Baker.

Among those attending Westminster Old Home Patriotic day was the grandson and two great-grandsons of Rev. Reuben Stedman Hazen, fifth pastor of the church: George F. Fowler and his sons, George R. and Edward H. Fowler, of Springfield, Mass., manifesting their interest in Westminster, their ancestral home nearly 75 years ago.

Miss Anna Olsen, who makes her home with her sister in East Hartford and is a pupil in a business college Hartford, was a week end visitor at her home.

Oscar Olsen of East Hartford was present Old Home day.

Bonita Dusinberre has entered the high school in New York and is with her mother, Mrs. J. Higno.

Sunnymeade farm has been sold by Fred Meade to a family from New Rochelle, N. Y., named MacDonald, possession to be given in two weeks. Mr. Meade and family will move to Jacrum, N. Y., where Mr. Meade owns a farm, and where his mother, Mrs. Jessie Meade, will also have her home.

Miss Dawley is again teacher at Frost school. Mrs. Kent at Raymond, Mrs. Lovell at Canterbury Green, Miss Connolly at Gayhead. Miss Kimball, who has previously taught at North Society, Rock and Gayhead, is transferred to Westminster Hill. The new teachers are: Peck school, Miss Helen Rachletan; North Society, Miss Chester; Baldwin, Miss Sara Rachleton.

Miss Medora Galloway and Miss Behr, head nurses at Bellevue hospital, New York, have been spending their vacation in the Galloway home.

Wednesday, Fred Green was injured by a wedge which flew out of a log, turning in mid-air and falling into the instep of the same foot injured several months ago, cutting so deeply that several stitches had to be taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Bengtson (Myeberg Olsen) and little daughter Evelyn, Anna Olsen and Oscar Olsen of East Hartford, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marcotte (Singe Olsen) and infant daughter, Gertrude Elaine, of Bridgeport, joined their father and others of the family at Longview in a happy week end reunion.

All ages were present at the recent Old Home Patriotic day at Westminster, the extremes being Deacon A. C. Greene, in his 95th year, and the grandson of the chairman of the afternoon, John Neglis Pellett, not quite 7 weeks.

Micah 6: 8, was the pastor's text at Sunday morning worship in connection with National Constitution week, which was set apart by the American Bar association to develop loyalty to country by studying its constitution, the basis for all its laws.

The Six Church fellowship of the South Windham conference met at Canterbury Green with representatives of all the churches present, and Rev. R. MacLeod and family of Hanover and Rev. Muttart of Preston City, who gave the closing address of the day, accompanied by his wife, were guests from the older Six Church conference which held its September meeting in connection with the 200th anniversary of the organization of Newent church, Lisbon, Sept. 8th and 9th. Rev. and Mrs. Humphray, who recently went to Staffordville from Canterbury Green, were also guests in the morning session.

EXPECT GREAT THINGS

V-63

The New Suburban

The graceful symmetry and impressive beauty of the new V-63 Cadillac Suburban are instantly apparent.

But, full understanding of what this fine car brings to motoring satisfaction must be reserved for those who actually experience its driving qualities.

Its harmonized and balanced V-type eight-cylinder engine contributes a smoothness of performance which heretofore has existed only as an ideal—an ideal which men hardly dared hope might one day be attained.

Its great power and speed are held in obedient control by Cadillac four-wheel brakes perfected by long, intensive research and test on the part of Cadillac engineers.

Providing, as well, greater comfort, greater safety and greater utility, the new V-63 assumes its logical position as the greatest Cadillac—the car which you may approach with great expectations.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS FAIRLY ACTIVE.

New York, Sept. 19.—Stock prices developed moderate strength in today's fairly active market on a substantial selling pressure in the oil group. Alternate periods of weakness and strength characterized the morning session, but the general list turned unmistakably upward later under the leadership of the sugar and metal industrial stocks.

While the view was held in many quarters that the market was entitled to a technical rally after nearly a week of declining prices, buying today is also reported to have been influenced by private cable dispatches indicating favorable developments in the reparations situation, by the statement of Secretary Hoover published in the financial news tickers that there was no sign of a reduction in unemployment this fall, and by the statement of H. F. Sinclair expressing the belief that mid-continent crude oil prices had hit bottom, that overproduction in California production was passed and that an early stabilization in the industry should result.

A drop in the call money rate to 3 per cent., the lowest this year, and a sharp rally in cotton prices which carried all months 63 to 103 points above last night's close also were regarded by some as contributing factors.

New high records were established by the oil group by Marland at 20 1-4, Cosden at 22 3-4, California Petroleum at 17 1-8, the preferred at 91, Pierce Oil, preferred at 18 3-8, Atlantic Refining at 98 3-4 and Pacific at 31 1-4. Atlantic Redning closed at its lowest figure of the day, off 5-8, Pierce Oil Preferred recovered its loss and closed unchanged at 19 and the others showed net gains on the day, ranging from 5-8 each in the case of Marland and Cosden to 2 points in the case of Pacific Oil.

Leading industrial stocks showed a disposition to break away from the depressing effect of pressure on the oil shares, Baldwin and American Locomotives, Studebaker, American Can and Gulf States Steels showing net gains of 1 to 1 3-8 points.

U. S. steel rallied to 88 3-4, up 3-4, after having sold as low as 87 1-2. Bethlehem was under pressure in the afternoon, being forced down to 47 1-2, a new low on the movement, but snapping back later to 48 3-8, or within 1-4 of last night's close. Crucible and Republic closed fractionally higher. The Iron Age, in its weekly review of the industry, states that the week has been a quiet one in all departments of the steel market with production of pig iron and Steel showing a further slight reduction.

Rubbers were heavy in the afternoon on reports that the big companies were not making much money because of low tire prices.

Foreign exchanges were strong. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.54 1-4. Up 3-4, and French francs advanced nearly 20 points to 5.91 cents. Belgian francs and Italian lire also showed good gains while German marks jumped from 35 to 65 cents a hundred million.

Call money opened at 4 1-2 but dropped to 3 1-2 later. Time rates also eased, being quoted at 5 1-2 for all maturities as against a recent rate of 5 3-4 for the longer dates and a few short term loans at 5 1-2.

GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Gossip that European buying of wheat was in progress on a larger scale than most traders were aware of led to moderate gains in price today. The close was firm, 1-8 to 5-8c. net higher; December 1.02 5-8 to 1.02 3-4 and May 1.05 1-4 to 1.06 3-8. Corn finished unchanged to 1-8@1-4c lower, oats varying from 1-8c off to 1-8c@11-4c advance, and provisions unchanged to 17½c down.

At first, the wheat market averaged lower as a result of weakness in Liverpool quotations and because of assertions that offerings of Canadian wheat were being pressed for sale in Great Britain. On the downturns in price here, however, demand from commission houses broadened somewhat and except during the first hour the course of values was favorable to the bulls. Persistent buying of future deliveries at Winnipeg apparently for exporters was noted, a circumstance which in some quarters was connected with talk that a new German reparations offer within ten days was looked for.

Considerable comment was caused by the reported booking of 1,500,000 bushels ocean freight room, but wheat bears asserted that such a circumstance lacked special significance, as charterings are running up to 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 bushels a week at present. The most definite estimate of today's new business with Europe was upward of 500,000 bushels. Minneapolis reported indications of large flour sales, and a decided falling off in the amount of wheat arrivals there and at Duluth.

Demand for corn and oats was without much energy, despite government reports confirming frost damage to corn.

Provisions were weakened by a break in hog values.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Sept. 19.—Strength of French governmental and municipal issues and weakness of oil company liens was the feature of today's quiet and irregular bond market.

The rapid run-up of the French issues followed a jump of nearly 20 points in French exchange, apparently based on speculative belief of favorable developments in the reparations situation Marseilles 6s and Bordeaux 6s each gained about 2 1-4 points on the day, Lyons 6s moved up 1 5-8 and French 7 1-2s and 8s, about 3-4 each. Cuban 5 1-2s dropped 1 1-2 to 90 1-2, a new low record.

Selling of the oil company bonds was based on the unsettled condition of that industry as reflects in further price cuts for Mid-Continent Crude. Losses of a point or so were established by Producers & Refiners 8s, Sinclair Crude Oil 5 1-2s, and Marland Oil 8s, while a number of others yielded fractionally. Bethlehem Steel 5 1-2s also dropped a point.

The feature of the railroad group was a jump of 4 points in Minneapolis & St. Louis' Refunding 4s. Other changes were largely fractional and unimportant.

U. S. government bonds showed little change on the day.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Sept. 19.—Heavy liquidation of the oil shares in the early part of today's curb market gave the general list a weak appearance. A recovery set in later, however, and this was accelerated by the statement of H. F. Sinclair that the peak of California production had passed and that Mid-Continent prices were at their bottom, being directly in variance with the statement of E. H. Doheney yesterday that the crest of California production had not yet been reached.

Standard Oil of Indiana, regarded as a barometric stock in the oil group, closed as low as 50 1-8. Cities Service also improved a point with the rest of the list displaying fractional changes, except in a few ordinarily inactive issues.

Strength of Midvale Steel, which gained 1 3-8 points on a turn-over of more than 3000 shares, and weakness of Durant Motors, which closed 1 1-4 lower at 33 1-4 after having sold as low as 31 1-2, were the outstanding spots in the industrial group.

COTTON.

New York, Sept. 19.—Cotton spot steady; middling 30.75.

She Walked Down Fifth Avenue in Her Grandmother's Dress

It would have attracted no adverse attention in 1865—today she was the center of all eyes, the subject of ridiculous comment. Yet, millions of women are doing every day more absurd things than this.

They are seeking beauty, a perfect skin, but are doing so in an old fashioned, obsolete, impossible way. They use soap on their face, then because it is unsatisfactory and dries the skin, they use creams and powders—with questionable result.

They should modernize their habits, because their skin needs more than cleansing, more than nourishing. It needs both, in just the right proportions. It deserves Veralda ClinTonic Twin Soaps.

Here are two cakes of soap—to be used one after the other. Each is different in its effect. When used in combination they are a really modern, efficient and economical beauty treatment.

The Clinic Soap used first, "deep-pore" cleanses, opens wide the pores, is pleasantly antiseptic, removes the worn out top tissues. Finish with the fragrant Tonic Soap, bland, nourishes and soften the tissues in just the right way, without leaving the skin oily.

Veralda Clintonic Twin Soaps are recommended by skin specialists for all women who desire a clear, youthful complexion, or who wish to preserve one indefinitely.

Sold by leading drug and department stores who sell Veralda Hair Nets, at the economical price of 25 cents for both cakes. Guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

If your dealer cannot supply, send by us direct on receipt of price.

THE WEATHER.

Conditions.

The pressure has arisen over the North Atlantic states and the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions and it has fallen over the Mississippi valley and the plain states. Wednesday night centers of minimum pressure were chartred over Newfoundland and northwestern Missouri and centers of maximum pressure charted over the lower lake region and the southern Rocky Mountain regions. A disturbance of considerable intensity was central Wednesday night over northwestern Missouri and moving eastnorthwestward.

There have been showers within the last 24 hours in the Middle Atlantic States. In New Engand and New York, cloudiness will increase and will be followed by showers Thursday afternoon or night and probably on Friday without material change in temperature except, in the interior of northern New England where it will be somewhat warmer in the Middle Atlantic states, the weather will be unsettled and showery Thursday and probably Friday with mild temperature.

LANDLORD CLAIMS LIQUOR THAT OFFICERS FOUND IN GARDEN

Joseph Spadaro, owner of 21 Shaw street, New London, and landlord of Sebastian Muscarella, who had a store in the lower part of the building, appeared as the chief bulwark of the defense in the superior court in this city Wednesday where Muscarella was on trial on the charge of violation of the liquor law.

Spadaro testified that the bottle of whiskey, a full quart of it, which the officers testified they found among some tomato vines in a garden after Officer John Cavanaugh, had chased Muscarella up a flight of stairs, belonged to him (Spadaro).

The witness said that on Aug. 17, he went to Guilford to see his daughter and on the way back in an automobile driven by his son, he made a stop at Saybrook, where he bought the bottle of liquor from a man going along the road and paid $3 for it. When he came home he hid the bottle in the tomato patch in his yard.

Continuing his testimony Spadaro explained his reason. He said that four or five months before he had had a row with his wife, as a result of which they had separated. Later their daughter died and they effected a reconciliation. His wife hated whiskey so he didn't bring it into the house. He thought it was safe in the tomato patch but when he went to look for it the next day it was gone.

"Everybody nowadays has whiskey in the house," the witness said in cross examination by State Attorney Hull, "and I am going to have it in mine."

He told the state attorney that the man he bought the liquor from was one he had never seen before and has never seen since. He doesn't know his name or where he is now.

Thomas B. Ryan, a New London letter carrier, was the first witness called Wednesday and he testified that he invited Mr. and Mrs. James King to his camp on the Niantic river and that on the day of Aug 17, he drove King to New London and the latter said that he went into a place on Shaw street, saying that he had to get a package there.

James Spadaro, 19, son of Joseph Spadaro, testified that he drove his father to Guilford. On the way back the engine got hot and he stopped at Saybrook to get some oil. It was while he was getting the oil that his father bought the bottle of whiskey. The witness said that he didn't see his father buy it but that his father showed it to him afterward.

Benjamin Roberts testified that he had been at Muscarella's place and played pool several times but that he had never seen anything there except soda and near beer.

Muscarella, the defendant, took the stand and denied that he had ever had anything at his place but soda which he bought from a bottling works in Jefferson avenue. On the night of Aug. 17 he had been playing cards and after a while he went upstairs when he heard Spadaro come home. Later he was going down stairs by an outside stairway when Policeman Cavanaugh came out of the pool room and said: "Don't run, don't run." Cavanaugh grabbed and searched him. The latter had a bottle in his hand. Muscarella said that he had not seen the bottle until it was found in the tomato patch.

Joseph E. Allen, who lives across the street from Muscarella, testified that the place was of good character.

Arguments Are Made.

Both sides rested about 1.30 and Judge Allyn L. Brown directed the attorneys to proceed with the arguments. Attorney Warren Burrows, who has been assisting the prosecution, made the first argument for the state and was followed by Attorney Thomas E. Troland for the accused man.

State Attorney Hadlai A. Hull had not quite concluded the final argument for the state when court adjourned for the day at 4 o'clock (standard time). After he finishes his argument this (Thursday) morning, Judge Brown will charge the jury.

The jury in the case is Harry W. Cardwell, Junius A Brand, Herbert R. Gardner, Reuben S. Bartlett, Ashley T. Boon, Albie L. Hale, Norwich; Myles Standish, Colchester; Walter G. Burdick, Griswold; Elmer L. Pultz, Lebanon; Francis Lathrop, Edward A. Bishop, Bozrah; William R. Jarvis, Voluntown.

THE BRUSH WOOL JACQUETTE A USEFUL, STYLISH GARMENT

On a mild day like Wednesday when a coat is too heavy for comfort, nothing can prove so useful as well as comfortable as is one of the new jacquettes in brush wool.

Blended tans in a model displayed yesterday were in la cabin shade. Nearby, another model in the fashionable grebe was equally modish and attractive. The price of such a smart garment averages $9.47.

The jacquette in wool and silk is running two or three inches longer than in the spring.

A street dress in the new cut and seasonable materials fills a big place just now in milady's wardrobe. Expressly for slender figures, the shops are offering a novelty in cut which, while strictly up to date, takes away the angular look against which the very thin woman has to fight, giving the stylish straight lines, yet with a clever pinched-in device very effective.

While skirts come eight or even six inches above the floor, coats, in the main, are longer; and the new side sizes the appearance of even greater length.

In a number of street dresses the coat effect, with much embroidery, is a leader.

Every need and every taste can be met by the full and elegant stocks of garments and millinery carried by The Bulletin's advertisers.

SHOWER AT UNCASVILLE FOR MISS DELIA SHEA

The Bulletin's Montville correspondent writes:

Friends of Miss Delia Shea gave her a miscellaneous shower at the home of her brother, Timothy Shea, Uncasville, Monday evening in honor of her approaching marriage with Frank McFadden of Boston, the marriage taking place at St. John's rectory, Uncasville, Wednesday morning.

Cake, fruit, ice cream and punch were served by Mrs. Timothy Finn, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Edwards, Miss Margaret Shea, and Miss Delma Couture. During the evening piano selections were followed by popular songs. Others present were Miss Mary Shea, Mrs. Fred Keenan, Mrs. Joseph Edwards, Miss Maria Mahoney, Mrs. Thomas Doyle, Mrs. M. F. Murphy, Mrs. Charles Carbery, Mrs. Charles Ramage, Mrs. Charles Ramage, Jr., Miss Lizzie O'Brien Miss Kathryn O' Brien, Miss Leona Devine, Miss Dora Richards, Miss Cecile Forgues of Uncasville, Miss Nellie Jones of New London and Mrs. Crandall of Quaker Hill.

C. D. PRENTICE PROMOTED TO COST ENGINEER

Charles D. Prentice of Danbury has been promoted to the position of cost engineer on the Central New England Railway and the Danbury division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. Mr. Prentice, who is the son of Mrs. Andrew T. Prentice of 10 Union street, is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy in the class of 1913 and of Yale university in the class of 1916. He and his family will continue their home in Danbury.

SICKNESS CHECKS TRIALS IN SUPERIOR COURT

It was reported in the superior court here Wednesday that two of the liquor cases which were assigned for trial this week have prospects of indefinite postponement because of the sickness of the accused.

These are John S. Carney, proprietor of the Pequot casino, New London, and Mrs. Edna Manwaring, proprietor of Oswegatchie casino, Waterford. Mrs. Manwaring is reported to be in a New London hospital where she has had an operation on her throat and Mr. Carney is also reported to have had an operation.

COMFORT CIRCLE PROVIDES TREAT AT SHELTERING ARMS

Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. J. H. Allen, Mrs. William H. Baker and Mrs. Alvin D. Lewis, representing Comfort Circle of the King's Daughters, of which Mrs. Stanton W. Brown is leader, visited the Sheltering Arms, furnishing a treat of cake and ice cream for the fourteen members of the household.

Later, there were favorite hymns sung. Mrs. Allen playing the accompaniment, afterwards giving several piano numbers, all being greatly enjoyed.

Lebanon Residence Burned.

The farm house occupied by Abraham Kossover in the town of Lebanon about a mile from the green, was burned Wednesday night about 9 o'clock.

About a year ago the barn on the place was destroyed by fire.

NORWICH TOWN

The September meeting, the first for this season, of the Dorcas Home Missionary society of the First M. E. church, is to be held this (Thursday) afternoon with the president, Mrs. J. B. Aldrich, at the parsonage. Sunday morning at this church the pastor, Rev. James B. Aldrich preached from Jeremiah 8:20. The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved. There was no Christian Endeavor service in the evening as the Methodist society united with the Congregational society and others in the union service.

Beginning last week the Methodist prayer meeting is to be held hereafter Thursday evening, instead of Tuesday evening. The first Sunday in October, Rev. James B. Aldrich will resume the weekly Sunday evening preaching service, meeting having been omitted for several weeks during the summer.

The first meeting for this season of Troop No. 20, Boy Scouts of Norwich Town, had an attendance of 20. The scoutmaster is Frederic H. Wyant. Much time was spent in forming plans for the winter's work. This troop has only been organized a few months has been most active and prosperous in all its undertakings.

This winter's programme is to comprise lectures and entertainments; 50 per cent of the proceeds of the entertainments go to charity.

The scouts are to devote a short period to games, etc, at each meeting, two thirds of which will be devoted to study.

Many of the boys have promised to become second class scouts or better; and seven boys have pledged to become first class scouts, in time for the 1924 inspection just prior to Memorial Day.

The entire plan was suggested and arranged wholly by the boys.

At the special scout meeting held Tuesday evening in Colchester, those from Norwich Town included Scoutmaster Wyant, Senior Patrol Leader John C. Hinrichs, Jr., and John Adams. A talk and demonstration of the scout work was given before a committee and twenty-eight boys, for the purpose of deciding whether or not they would form a scout troop in Colchester. The speakers were Scout Executive Frederick A. Benton, Assistant Scout Executive, Robert Otis of Norwich and Scout Master Wyant.

Demonstrations given included knot tying, first aid work, flag-signals, fire by friction and bugle call. The Colchester boys were much enthused over the meeting, and conditions were such that it looks most favorable for the organization of a troop there before long.

George Van Buren of Stonington, state commissioner of the Reptile Study Society of America, was a guest over the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Turnbull, of Wauwecus Hill. Mr. Van Buren brought with him a fine large specimen of New England rattle snake to add to Mr. Turnbull's collection of poisonous reptiles. Mr. Turnbull and his elder daughter, Miss Viola Turnbull, at present a member of the nurses' training class at the Backus Hospital, are life members of the society represented by Mr. Van Buren.

Following the Young People's Christian Endeavor union service Sunday evening at the First Congregational church, the executive committee of Norwich C. E. union, held a special meeting to choose a nominating committee, also a programme committee, for the annual meeting in November.

The Work of God, is the topic assigned for the church night service of the Congregational church, this (Thursday) evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Scott have as their guest for several days, Mrs. Angelina Avery of Willimantic.

A brick company at Adel, Ia., has been using corn for clay burning.

POETRY

EYRIELLE.

A lark in the mesh of the tangled vine,
A bee that drowns in the flower cup's wine,
A fly in the sunshine—such is man,
All things must end, as all began.

A little pain, a little pleasure,
A little heaping up of treasure;
Then no more gazing upon the sun,
All things must end that have begun.

Where is the time for hope or doubt?
A puff of the wind, and life is out;
A turn of the wheel, and rest is won,
All things must end that have begun.

Golden morning and purple night,
Life that fails with the failing light;
Death is the only deathless one,
All things must end that have begun.

Ending waits on the brief beginning;
Is the prize worth the stress of winning?
Even in the dawning the day is done,
All things must end that have begun.

Weary waiting and weary striving,
Glad outsetting and sad arriving;
What is it worth when the goal is won?
All things must end that have begun.

Speedily fade the morning glitter;
Love grows irksome and wine grows bitter.
Two are parted from what was one.
All things must end that have begun.

Toil and pain and the evening rest;
Joy is weary and sleep is best;
Fair and softly the day is done,
All things must end that have begun.
—John Payne, in Indianapolis News.

OLD HOUSES.

I love old houses, with vines running over,
Set in a riot of roses and clover,
Set in a wonder of old, old trees,
Dreaming of far, dim memories.

I love their windows, like old eyes,
That seem to look into paradise.
If the old, old houses could speak to us
Out of their glory ruinous!

If ghosts could pass through dusty halls
Where Love held holy carnivals
And the ancient words could be said once more,
When a young bride passed through the friendly door!

If the dead could return, return and speak,
And kiss again one rose-red cheek!
And yet, 'tis better we do not know
The sad, mad stories of long ago.

Let the old, old houses their secrets keep;
Leave them alone in their quiet sleep.
They are like old folk who nod by the fire,
Glad with their dreams of youth and desire.
—Charles Hanson Towne.

MILITARY POWER SUPREME IN OKLAHOMA, COURT RULES

Judge Hunt in District Court Dismissed Petition for Release of Three Men Held by the Military Officers—An Appeal Was Taken to the Supreme Court—Is of the Opinion That the Declaration of State-Wide Martial Law is Unjustified—Concrete Base of a Fiery Cross on a Hill Northeast of Sapula Was Blown Up by Dynamite.

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 20.—Military power is supreme in Oklahoma, Judge A. C. Hunt ruled today in district court, in dismissing petitions for habeas corpus filed in behalf of three men held by the military officers here for participating in Tulsa county floggings.

Notice of exception to the ruling was filed by State Senator Wash Hudson, counsel for the petitioners. The issue probably will go to the supreme court.

General Markham, the state's military commander under martial law, appeared in Judge Hunt's court in answer to a summons from a civil officer but he was permitted to retain custody of the three confessed and sentenced floggers, Grover and Tin Sikes and Earl Sack, in whose behalf the petitions were filed.

Judge Hunt said there was nothing "illegal or unauthorized in the action of Adjutant General B. H. Markham in holding the men for testimony before the Wagoner county grand jury in connection with the flogging investigation there."

The judge prefaced his decision by a lengthy explanation of his views regarding the right of the civil courts under martial law, in which he declared that "this court has functioned in the full exercise of its lawful power since the governor's proclamation and still recognizes no interference by the military."

He believed the state-wide martial law to be unjustified.

The decision was acclaimed a victory by all parties.

Within a few hours of the decision, word was received from Wagoner county that seven men against whom the detained trio were expected to testify, had been indicted by the grand jury, thus opening the way for the release of the convicted men if the civil authorities. It was expected that the transfer would be made within 24 hours. Those named in the Wagoner county return are: A. M. Calloway, William Bills, Avery Barbour, T. V. Venator, Hal Beaman, Dink Fisher, Harve Acers.

Assistant Attorney General King, in his statement in behalf of the military, declared that the petition was to inquire into the legal authority of the guard forces to hold three men, and Judge Hunt concurred in the view. The issue then became, he said, whether the military officers in Tulsa county were duly constituted authorities of the state, under law, which the court ruled to be the fact. It was then set forth in the decision that since the prisoners are in the custody of lawfully established agencies of the state for a reasonable purpose, they should not be removed from such custody.

The response to the petitions did not contend that the right of habeas corpus is suspended. It set forth that the men were held "by virtue of an authority vested in the adjutant general under the proclamation of martial law."

Attorney General George S. Short told the court the men would be put in the hands of the "authorities" Friday.

The three men were released from military custody tonight.

FIERY CROSS, NOT LIGHTED BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 20.—The fiery cross of the Ku Klux Klan on a hill northeast of Sapulpa was blown up by dynamite last night, word from that city today said.

The cross was not lighted at the time. The concrete base on which it was erected was blown to atoms and a big hole torn in the ground. The cross still was standing today held by wires.

SPECIAL SESSION OF THE LOWER HOUSE ASSURED

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 20 (By the A. P.).—A special session of the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature to hear charges that Governor J. C. Walton has overridden the constitution and laws of the state in his martial law regime is assured, it was announced tonight by W. C. McBee, representative in charge of the fight on Walton.

Sixty-nine legislators have signed the call for the convening of the house next Wednesday, McBee said. Fifty-four constitutes a majority.

That Governor Walton will not use troops to prevent assembly, despite his earlier threats, was the prediction of McBee and his associates.

E. J. Giddings, one of the governor's closest legal advisers, announced that he would advise the governor against interfering with the session.

"Let them go ahead—it is not legal," Giddings asserted.

In a statement issued tonight, Murray F. Gibbons, speaker of the house, and a Walton supporter, declared that the session would be illegal. He appealed to members of the house to consider well before they took any precipitate action.

Leaders of the movement to consider charges against Walton of an impeachable nature announced that Gibbons probably would be deposed as speaker.

Gibbons expressed the opinion that Walton would not interfere with the legislature.

Armed guardsmen still stood before the doors of the house and senate chambers tonight, however.

Seven members who have signed the recent call, including McBee, issued a statement today placing themselves on record as favoring the enactment of an anti-masking law, with severe penalties against any floggings or mob violence.

The statement was issued in reply to Walton's charges that the fight against him was being conducted by klan members of the legislature.

W. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma klan, today announced that the klan would not fight back at Governor Walton. It was the first utterance of the klan official since his declaration more than a week ago that Governor Walton and all his cohorts can never break the power of the klan in Oklahoma. This statement of the grand dragon was one of the principal reasons given by Governor Walton for his edict of statewide martial law.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY OF INNER WORKINGS OF KLAN

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 20 (By the A. P.).—Sensational testimony exposing the alleged inner workings of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma City and designed to show that the secret organization has directed mob violence was made public tonight by Governor J. C. Walton.

The testimony was taken by the military court sitting here and was given out by the governor "that the people may know the purposes" of the klan.

In a preface, Governor Walton declared the burden of the fight against the klan had fallen upon himself and upon Aldrich Blake, his counsellor, making it necessary for him to appeal for financial aid.

"Every effort is being made to cripple me financially so that we cannot continue the fight," the governor said.

"I call upon the people who believe in a representative form of government immediately to assist us financially and to make all remittances to Mrs. Aldrich Blake, Oklahoma City, Okla. Aldrich Blake himself is absent from the city at this time, and probably will be for some days."

"So far as I am concerned," Governor Walton declared, "I have crossed the Rubicon and it is a fight to the finish.

"Jewett (N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma realm of the klan) and his crowd have turned the fight over to the klan newspapers and the klan members of the legislature.

"Jewett and his 'invisible empire' shall not pass in this state.

"If necessary, I shall arm every man in this state who is opposed to his empire."

The section of the military court record made public was the testimony of Dr. A. A. Mupin, a dentist, who stated that he joined the klan in April 1920. In addition, a portion of the testimony of three Oklahoma county officials was given out.

W. K. Wright, county attorney, according to the record, testified that he paid the fee for admission to the klan.

Sheriff Tom Cavnar admitted that he joined the klan and is a member at present.

District Judge George W. Clark, who summoned a special grand jury to investigate a charge that Governor Walton illegally had used state employes to check names of an initiative petition, testified that he was initiated into the klan a year ago last May.

He said he had never attended a meeting or paid dues and had not considered himself a member of the organization for nearly a year.

MADE FLIGHT FROM GUANTANAMO TO HAVANA

Havana, Sept 20.—(By the A. P.)—Lieutenant Ford Rogers and Lieutenant Horace Palmer, two American marine corps aviators, arrived here this from Guantanamo. They will leave here tomorrow for Miami, Fla. The aviators are on a trip from Santo Domingo, to St. Louis, Mo.

STATE POLICE DESTROYED 25 BARRELS GRAIN ALCOHOL

Bridgeport, Sept. 20.—State police this afternoon destroyed 25 barrels of grain lacohol seized by State Policeman Leo Carroll in Westport on July 3 last, which resulted in a bitter controversy between Assistant State's Attorney Earl Garlick of this city and Prosecutor Edward B. Bradley of the Westport town court when the Westport authorities disposed of the cases of the three rum runners involved in the Merrelmack river near Tyngsboro nearly three weeks ago. District Attorney Arthur K. Reading has maintained that he has proof that the woman was last seen alive entering the offices of Dr. Robb.

The proceedings in the cases of Doctors Robb and Swope came to a conclusion for the day with an agreement between the district attorney and counsel for the defense to argue motions for abatement and for quashing the Robb indictment tomorrow afternoon.

INCREASE IN ANTHRACITE AT MINES 25 TO 90 CENTS

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—Increases ranging from 30 to 90 cents a ton on domestic sizes of anthracite coal at the mines were shown tonight in the new price lists of three large producing companies.

The M. A. Hanna company which operates the Susquehanna collieries in the Wilkesbarre district, announced an advance of 60 cents a ton on egg, stove and chestnut sizes, while the new price of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company will be $9.25 a ton, instead of $8.35, and that of the Delaware and Hudson company $9, an increase of 70 cents. Increases on pea coal range from 30 to 50 cents a ton.

O. P. Waldron, general manager of the Hanna Coal company, was quoted as saying the increase in prices at the mines had been figured on the lowest possible basis to meet the advance in wages of the mine workers. "I do not think," he added, "that many of the retailers will add the entire increase to retail prices."

ALBA NOT ALARMED BY THE EVENTS IN SPAIN

Brussels, Sept. 20.—(By the A. P.)—Santiago Alba, minister of foreign affairs in the Spanish cabinet until the coup d'etat, in a statement issued here today said he awaited the outcome of events in Spain with absolute tranquility. Senor Alba arrived in Brussels last night and immediately had a long conversation with Marquis De Villalobar, the Spanish ambassador.

The former minister said today he treated with scorn the insults and calumnies which had been heaped upon him in Spain. He always had been an upholder of the Spanish concame the enemy of those who violated it. It was untrue that he fled from Spain in a government automobile. He left Madrid in the afternoon in his own machine, and escorted by the secret service men who always accompany ministers in Spain, and was saluted at the frontier by the police in accordance with the regulations.

CLAIMS CONSPIRACY TO RUIN HER REPUTATION

Chicago, Sept. 220.—In an attack against W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy New York clubman, who accused her of divers indiscretions in his recent suit for divorce, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes today asked the aid of the state's attorneys office against what she declared was a conspiracy to ruin her reputation.

She told Charles S. Wharton, assistant state's attorney, that Mr. Stokes had spent thousands ow dollars in Chicago for perjured affidavits in an attempt to establish her identity as an inmate of a notorious resort of twenty years ago.

As a result of he charges, twenty persons were subpoenaed to the state attorney's office for questioning.

After questioning a number of witnesses, Mr. Wharton declared tonight that Mrs. Stokes' charges are strongly supported by the evidence so far produced. Some of the witnesses he said, declared they had never seen Mrs. Stokes but were shown a photograph and were told it was hers in an effort to induce them to identify her as "Helen Norwood," and alleged inmate of the resort Stokes charges his wife frequented before her marriage.

AGREED TO PAY WIFE $1,000 A MONTH TILL DIVORCED

New York, Sept. 20.—A separation agreement in which Beverley D. Harris, former vice president of the National City Bank, agreed to pay his wife, Eleanor D. L. Harris, an allowance of $1,000 a month until they were divorced, with a verbal agreement that she would seek a divorce within a year, was disclosed today when Harris applied to the supreme court to determine its validity.

Harris is suing his wife for divorce, alleging that six years after their marriage in St. Louis in 1916 he discovered she had formerly lived with Eli Raynon "a common gambler."

In her answer Mrs. Harris contended her husband was barred from prosecuting his action because he executed the separation agreement, superseding a prior one signed in 1918, after he had learned of the charges she has preferred against her. Argument on the application is returnable September 27.

The significance of Mrs. Harris' contention lies in the fact that should the annulment suit be declared illegal, the banker will be forced to continue sending her $12,000 a year indefinitely.

TO ARGUE QUASHING OF THE ROBB INDICTMENT

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 20.—Dr. William M. Robb of Boston, and Dr. Dalva D. Swope of Brockton, who are charged with first degree murder and with having been an accessory before that fact in connection with the death of Mrs. Alice Wolschendorf of East Bridgewater, were brought into superior court today for arraignment but the proceedings were delayed pending argument on motions entered by Robb's counsel for an abatement and to quash the indictment. Portions of the body of Mrs. Wolschendorf were found in two suit cases in the Merrelmack river near Tyngsboro nearly three weeks ago. District Attorney Arthur K. Reading has maintained that he has proof that the woman was last seen alive entering the offices of Dr. Robb.

The proceedings in the cases of Doctors Robb and Swope came to a conclusion for the day with an agreement between the district attorney and counsel for the defense to argue motions for abatement and for quashing the Robb indictment tomorrow afternoon.

NORWICH BULLETIN

The annual report of the selectmen of the town of Windham shows expenses for the past year, exclusive of borrowed money, amounted to $146,807.41, an increase over the previous year of $46,254.37, much of which was paid toward the Windham Center and Natchaug schools and the Horseshoe bridge. With the general high cost of living, the expenses of the town must of necessity increase from year to year. The budget for 1923-24 calls for appropriations totalling $189,000. The total of expenses to run the town business this year does not include $96,200 borrowed money. The expenses in 1922 were $99,953.04 and in 1921 they totaled $86,607.76.

There have been increases in some of the departments while some of the offices show decreases. The expenses of the outside poor, tuberculosis and St. Joseph's hospital department show an increase due to the increase in tubercular and hospital patients. Election expenses also represent a substantial increase, the amount this year totalling $3,986.85. This is explained by the inauguration of four voting district, instead of one, necessitating the printing of four voting lists, securing more election officials and the purchasing of two portable voting booths, one-half the cost being paid by the city. Now that the new method is established, however, it will be a saving to the town. $22,742.49 of the total expenses were paid for state, county and other taxes.

Deputy Sheriff Allison L. Frink, of Andover, summoned by Grand Juror Dwight A. Lyman of Columbia to investigate the wrecking of a 1917 Liberty touring car Wednesday afternoon about 4.30 o'clock, just over the city line on the Hartford highway, was unsuccessful up to late Thursday, in his search for the occupants of the machine. William Green and Winifred Slater, residents in the vicinity of the accident, heard the crash and assisted in prying up the car to release one of the young men, who was pinned underneath. It was stated that there were only two men in the car and that both appeared to be under the influence of liquor. The driver of a large truck reported early on Thursday morning that two young men who looked as if they might have just figured in an accident, stopped him in this city and asked for a ride into Hartford. The driver informed them that he was going toward Springfield and they walked away. A pint bottle filled with moonshine was found under the seat of the car.

John Welch, arrested Wednesday forenoon on Pleasant street on the charge of vagrancy, pleaded guilty, in police court Thursday morning. Welch said that his money was all gone when he reached Willimantic and that he lived in Springfield, but wished to return to Colchester to work. Deputy Judge Curtis Dean sentenced the man to thirty days in jail and then suspended the execution of judgment to allow Welch time to leave town.

Willimantic visitors who wished to call on friends and relatives Thursday were refused admission at the Brooklyn jail. County Sheriff C. A. Gates called at the jail Thursday afternoon to investigate the condition.

Howard Yeomans of Hartford was in town Friday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary B. Yeomans.

There was a lively ball game on the Green Saturday afternoon between teams from the Pine street and West street schools. Erwin Collins was umpire and the teachers, Mrs. Elisabeth Cummings of Pine street and Miss Esther Granstrom of West street, were scorers. The battery for Pine street was Sidney Bernstein and Clarence Carpenter, and for West street, Edward Miner and Charles German. Several home runs were made, Clarence Carpenter, Edward Miner, Jared Tennant and Abe Hinden each scoring one. The youngest player was Raymond Cobb, 7 years, who batted well and, running like a deer, scored a run. The game was won by the Pine street team, 12 to 11.

The selectmen and town clerk held a session Saturday and admitted to the elector's franchise the following persons: Helen A. Brown, Helen L. Clark, Rachel E. Hutchins, Lucine F. Hennequin, Abraham Katzman, Pierina Katzman, Alfred R. Gilbert, Delvina Lafleur, Nellie M. Macht, Charity O. Palmer, Charles T. Fox, George Chowanec.

Francis H. Lynn of Baltic was charged before Justice Hubert P. Collins Saturday with reckless driving Aug. 14th on the Hartford-Willimantic highway, near Hop River, on a hill by the Phillips residence, at 4.30 a. m. D. A. Lyman, grand juror, prosecuted the case, and Lynn, who had no lawyer, pleaded guilty. Merrill R. Keith, state policeman, testified that he was going toward Hartford on his motorcycle when Lynn tried to pass him on a hill. At the same time a car traveling toward Willimantic was approaching him and as the road was not wide enough for three vehicles he was obliged to turn into the ditch to avoid being struck. The justice fined Lynn $10 and costs, total $23.53, which was paid.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

XYLOPHONE MASTER ARTIST IN SOUSA'S BAND CONCERT

One of the most popular novelties in musical instruments today is the xylophone. And one of the most accomplished performers on this instrument is George Carey, xylophone soloist with Sousa's band. The popularity of the instrument is due in a great measure to Mr. Carey's ability to play, not only the most difficult of classical music, but also popular music, and classical jazz, and even the "jazziest of jazz," and he thereby succeeds admirably in entertaining and delighting hearers of all classes and tastes.

Mr. Carey's instrument was built especially for Sousa and his band, at a cost of over $5,000. It measures twelve feet in length. Critics all agree that the tones produced by Mr. Carey on this instrument are the clearest and most pleasing of any xylophone in existence, and it is doubtful if any soloist in America receives more demands for encores than does Mr. Carey.

Mr. Carey will be heard in Sousa's concert programme at the Norwich Armory, Tuesday, Sept. 25th.

Sells Shore Front.

Seven acres of land bordering on the Poquetanuck Cove overlooking the Thames river have been sold through the agency of Francis D. Donohue to Edwin Chapman of Jewett City. The property is next south adjoining the Tuckerbaum club.

Sale of Laurel Hill Avenue Property.

James L. Case has sold for Charles I. Rathbun to Harry C. Mason the new six rom cottage recently built and known as No. 442 Laurel Hill avenue. Mr. Mason has made the purchase for a home.

At the Strand.

A capacity audience yesterday greeted a very well balanced programme of Keith vaudeville and a real comedy feature.

The main attraction was the Juvenile Varieties and it can be truthfully stated that this act consisting of six kids, was a hit from the very start. Some real fine songs and dances were featured with dainty Dorothy Forestal and the Wilson Sisters.

Nolan and Sparry opened with some songs and comedy that made a good opener.

Mann and Mulroy in comedy, songs, and steps filled second position position fine.

Joe Armstrong, the Belgian Rose, upheld his reputation as a good entertainer.

"Luck" has come to this city at last. Last night we saw Johnny Hines perform in his latest picture at the Strand theatre with this title and in a manner which surely stamps him as one of the foremost American screen comedians of the day.

"Luck" is a melodramatic comedy or a comedy melodrama if you choose to say it the other way. His work is probably described best by the word "Melocomedy" which was the happy medium hit upon by one of the New York critics when viewing this picture in New York.

Coming to the Bred.

"Enemies of Women," Cosmopolitan's motion picture of the war novel by Vicenet Blasco Ibanes, the Sanish novelist, is to be shown at the Bred for four days starting Sunday, after unusually successful showings on Broadway, in Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Boston and other cities.

Lionel Barrymore and Alma Rubens head a notable cast. Other players in the picture are Pedro de Cordoba, Gareth Hughes, Gladys Hulette, the late William H. Thompson, William Collier, Jr., and Ivan Linow.

"Enemies of Women," which has been rated by photoplay critics as one of the finest productions of the year, contains numerous scenes actually "shot" in Monte Carlo and Paris. The war scenes, especially the sinking of ships by submarine, are declared to be unequalled. Since the settings were directed by Joseph Urban, reports of their magnificence and lavishness may be accepted as accurate.

The action of the story takes place in Russia, Paris, the war front and in Monte Carlo. Barrymore gives one of the finest characterizations of his illustrious acting career, it is said, as Prince Lubimoff, a selfish Russian noble. Alma Rubens is seen as the Duchess de Lilia, a beautiful exotic, who lives only for men.

Bred Theatre.

Local picturegoers are not the only ones in for a thrill of astonishment at the perfection of the natural color process by which "The Toll of the Sea," the Metro picture which is the feature at the Bred theatre today and Saturday. The public and press critics of New York were unreserved in their tributes to this new marvel of science; the depiction on the screen of persons and scenes just as they look to the eye.

Reflections of the admiration of the motion picture fans in the country's greatest city is found in these comments by reviewers:

Robert E. Sherwood, critics of Life, said:

"The Technicolor pictures are just about perfect."

From Harietta Underhill, of the New York Tribune, came this:

"If this process is not perfect then, at least, we could find no flaw in it."

In the New York World, Quinn Martin remarked:

"Photographing moving persons and things in their natural colors is at last in almost a perfect stage."

Grena Bennett, in the New York American, expressed the opinion that "The Toll of the Sea" should "revolutionize film dramas," adding, "It is an achievement in natural color films."

"The Toll of the Sea," produced by the Technicolor Motion Picture Corporation, was written by Frances Marion, directed by Chester M. Franklin, and directed photographically by J. A. Ball. The principal figures in the development of the process are Dr. Daniel F. Comstock and Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, of the Technicolor company.

Ruth Roland in "Haunted Valley," the Pathe News and a Sunshine comedy make up the remainder of the bill. Enlarged orchestra tonight.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Mrs. Cornelia M. Totten, graduate nurse, and Vernon H. Wetherell who is in the plant department of the Southern New England Telephone Co. here, were married Thursday morning by Rev. J. W. Houck of the Baptist church. They will make their home in Danielson.

At Charter Oak hospital in Hartford, Thursday afternoon, Eugene M. Reed was reported as resting comfortably after undergoing an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Reed, son of Mrs. Frederick M. Reed of High street, has been located in Pittsburgh the past three months, but came to Hartford for surgical treatment.

All access by visitors to Willimantic and Putnam people confined at Brooklyn jail for violations of the liquor laws was denied Wednesday, by Jailer Charles Parker, who announced that he had thrown up the job and was willing to get off the premises at an hour's notice, if a successor could be found to take his place. The jail has been overrun by visitors to the Willimantic and Putnam prisoners since they were incarcerated late Monday afternoon. Tuesday 38 people called to see them and Wednesday the number of their visitors jumped to 83. Thursday morning callers at the jail were met with a cold but courteous refusal when they asked to call upon the prisoners. There was absolutely nothing doing. Jailer Parker sat in the little office through which all prisoners and visitors enter the jail, with the door leading into the cell blocks locked, and he was adamant against letting anyone, not with a special mission, through to see them.

He was positive in his declaration that he was through with the job of jailer, which he has conscientiously filled since December of 1920, and that the sooner he was released from the charge of the institution the better he would like it. Mr. Parker did not amplify his explanation that he had informed Sheriff Charles A. Gates of Willimantic that he was through with the job and was willing to turn over his keys and quit at a moment's notice. There was not anything in his attitude to indicate that he would be likely to change his decision.

News of Jailer Parker's resignation as jailer spread like wildfire through towns in this section of the county, and there was much puzzling over the happening. During Wednesday urgent and insistent requests were made upon Jailer Parker for special diets for some of the prisoners, especially those of the Hebrew faith who are held there as the result of the drive against violators of the liquor law. Meeting these diet demands would have entailed unusual burdens on the cooking staff at the jail and could not well be met, but proved one source of irritation.

When visitors began to come in droves to see the prisoners during Wednesday, when the Brooklyn fair was on, the atmosphere of congeniality about the jail did not improve and was followed, Thursday morning, by the announcement that Jailer Parker had tendered his resignation; though the hope was expressed during Thursday afternoon that he would reconsider his decision and remain on the job.

In various quarters, depending upon the attitude of those who talked, there was much discussion over the reaction that has set in, following the imposing of the jail sentences on those now at Brooklyn for violation of the liquor laws. One outstanding fact was that the prisoners have a great many friends who would like to see them and talk with them, to lighten the hours of their confinement, and probably many more friends who would like to call on them, but have not the moral courage to do so, because of business and social connections.

Viewed from the hilltops of life, the picture is an interesting one and one provocative of strange statements and opinions. Politically, too, it has its compelling aspects, and might lead an observer with no personal interest in the whole proceeding to wonder ing whither the lights leadeth and what temples await the pilgrims that are trudging on.

This (Friday) afternoon members of the Service battery, 192nd Field Artillery at Camp Eustis, Va., doing 15 days of field service will break camp and board a special train, homeward bound. They are due to arrive here Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock.

First Lieut. Harold E. Greene of the battery has sent the following interesting communication reviewing in a condensed way the activities of the local boys since they left here for the south, two weeks ago tomorrow.

The Service Battery is now in intensive training, having charge of the transportation, the subsistence for the entire regiment, and the ammunition. Every article from a bar of soap to a White truck is drawn for the regiment through the Service Battery.

The artillery fire is conducted under the supervision of Major Kenneth P. Lord, F. A., D. O. L. Senior Instructor of Field Artillery, and each officer of the command is given a problem to work out. The battery consists of a battery of 155 MM guns.

Saturday afternoon, September 15th the third annual field meet was held. The Service battery made a fine showing. Gordon J. Gale won second place in the mile run from a large field of entries. Arthur V. Williams Jr., won the shot put 16 lb., winning over the First Eustis team and the other entries from the different organizations, representing the 192nd Field Artillery. He also won third place in the 100 yard dash, open to members of the 192nd Artillery. Donald W. Armington and Gordon J. Gale tied for first place in the running high jump. Oscar B. Cook and Theodore Simineau won places in the 220 yard dash. Altogether 17 points were scored by these individuals for the battery. Owing to the rain, the relay race and equipment race will be run off Wednesday afternoon. If the battery can score points in these events, we have a good chance of winning the regimental cup.

Sunday, Chaplain Benjamin T. Marshall of the 192nd Artillery, C. N. G., president of Connecticut College conducted the services at the chapel. He also had charge of the track meet. The 192nd Artillery Band played at all services, morning and evening.

The boys are all in good health and are making the most of camp life.

Philip E. Keech, mail orderly is a busy man these days as everybody is looking for mail, from wives or sweethearts, as the case may be.

Tomorrow Governor Templeton of Connecticut and his staff including General Cole, Brig. Gen. Morris B. Payne of New London and Col Bissell will arrive in camp at 2 o'clock and will be escorted to Headquarters by a picked battery of the regiment and the 192nd Artillery band. Wednesday he will witness artillery firing from the observation post and in the afternoon there will be a review of the regiment. In the evening there will be a military ball.

The regiment will break camp Friday and leave here on a special train for the homeward journey. The Service Battery will probably arrive in Danielson sometime around 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

As is always the case, there was a much smaller attendance at the Windham county fair at Brooklyn Thursday, the closing day, than on Wednesday, first of the big days of the fair. Those who came Thursday found greater comfort in viewing the exhibits than was possible on the previous day. As on Wednesday rain threatened during the afternoon, but did not fall until after the fair had come to a close and the crowds had gone their way.

Just why there should be an effort to take the town hall from use for professional athletics, for one thing, was the subject of discussion and analysis Thursday by some persons not usually interested in the subjects of the kind and it was also the basis for rallying political forces that will be used at the town election to such extent as may be possible to place liberally inclined persons in town offices. The effort to restrict the use of the town hall has stirred up much latent political power, and the work of organizing it is now underway, that its force may be felt at the polls a week from Monday and at the annual business meeting of the town. The petition referred to has proved to be an irritant for many people, many of whom usually do not pay much attention to sports or politics, but who are awakening to the trend of the times.

Today, generally regarded as the first day of autumn, although autumn begins Sept. 23rd finds this section of eastern Connecticut awaiting the rain that is needed to relieve a dry spell that has been of so many weeks duration that streams are lower than is usually the case at this time of year, and many brooks are nearly dry. With summer fading Thursday night, there was the promise of a downpour that should bring relief from the water shortage in this territory.

In official circles in this part of Windham county the word is being passed about that Chief Justice Wheeler of the supreme court of the state is expected to come into this territory for a conference with judges, trial justices, prosecuting attorneys and their assistants relative to stringent enforcement of the liquor laws. Such conferences have been held in other counties in the state.

George A. Gerhard of Worcester was in Danielson Thursday on a business trip.

Harry Warren and a party motored to Springfield Thursday, to attend the Eastern States exposition.

The cider mill at 105 Broad street will open for business today, Sept. 21. —adv.

Local Hebrews Thursday observed the feast of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, and some of them were in neighboring cities to attend services incident to the observance of the day.

At the Danielson Trust company, where contributions for Japanese relief are being received, it was stated Thursday afternoon that included in the contributions was one amounting to $10.62 from the children of the schools at Attawaugan, the donation raised and given at the children's own suggestion. Contributions received range from $1.00 to $10.00 to date and are continuing to come in.

PUTNAM

Peter Mahew of North Grosvenordale, 18, was before Judge Geissler in the city court Thursday morning, charged with reckless driving. Attorney Archibald Macdonald, Jr., was appointed guardian ad litem and a plea of not guilty was entered.

Captain of Police William Jarvis testified that he and State Policeman Howard Elliott were coming into Putnam Wednesday night about 10.30 and picked up defendant just west of the Gary schoolhouse and trailed him to the bottom of Hospital hill. The car, according to the officer, was being driven at the rate of 35 miles an hour on the level and when going down Hospital hill reached a speed of 47 miles.

Mahew said that he did not believe he was going that fast but that he had no speedometer. He admitted that he might have been going 35 miles down the steep hill and around the dangerous curves in this stretch of highway. Another boy who was riding with him said that they were going at least 35 miles an hour.

Mahew was found guilty and the minimum fine of $25 and costs was imposed. Mahew had only $30 with him, but was allowed time to pay the balance of $7.14.

Local interest in the short calendar matters down for disposition in Putnam this (Friday) morning centers in the divorce proceedings of Wilfred S. Sharpe of Putnam against Annie E. Sharpe of Providence. The case comes up on motions for allowance for defense and for allmony pendente lite. In the summer of 1922 Mrs. Sharpe, her daughter and two men, one in the uniform of a soldier, appeared at the dancing pavilion at Alexander Lake and forced Sharpe to get into the machine and go back to Providence. Or he probably would have been taken to Providence had not the Putnam police been called into the affair and started in pursuit and found the Providence car stalled beside the road. The late Captain of Police Remie Delage, who was in charge of the pursuing party, fired a shot in the air from his revolver before young Sharpe was given up.

Since that occurrence Sharpe, who is 22, has resided at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Sharpe, in Putnam, and has been employed in a local grocery store. In the fall of 1922 he started divorce proceedings and the petition is being contested by Mrs. Sharpe, who is much older than her husband, and who at the time of the marriage was his landlady in a Providence lodging house.

Work on the new Strombelis block on Main street is still retarded because no bricklayers can be secured.

Rev. W. H. Giebel and family, who have been in China for a number of years, working in the missionary field, are sailing this month on the Empress of China for America. Mrs. Giebel was Miss Bertha Cruff of Thompson and the family will come directly to the home of Mrs. Giebel's parents.

A new greenhouse 100x27 feet is being erected on Grove street as an addition to the Hermonson plant near Grove street cemetery. The structure is being built of cement.

With the addition of newly made voters, the voting list of the town of Putnam has passed 2,450. Many of the new additions are women.

As the result of raids made in North Grosvenordale by officers, Mike Peter, George Bino and Frank Zambi were arraigned before Justice Percy P. Tourtellotte Thursday morning on charges of infractions of the liquor laws of the state. On request of counsel, Attorney Charles L. Torrey of Putnam, the cases were continued to next Monday mornnig and bonds of $500 were furnished in each case. It is understood that at the Zambi place two quarts of moonshine were found and seized but that no intoxicants were found at the other places. Zambi claims he had the liquor for his own use.. It is claimed by the state, it is rumored, that evidence of sales will be forthcoming when the case is up for trial.

Chief Justice George W. Wheeler of Bridgeport, of the state supreme court of errors, has requested a meeting of judges, prosecuting attorneys of town and city courts, trial justices and grand jurors of Windham county to be held at 1 o'clock (standard time) in the superior court room at Putnam today (Friday).

Peter A. Gardner and Addis J. Welsh will go to New Haven Saturday as delegates from the local association to the sttae association of Haymakers.

Merrill P. Paine, formerly of Putnam and in 1916 principal of Israel Putnam school, is instructor of English in a New Haven school.

Miss Helen Wulf of Putnam is to teach English and mathematics at the Burr seminary, Manchester, Vt., this year.

Michael Maher, a graduate of Putnam High school, has entered Norwich (Vt.) university.

Miss Esther Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. eLon T. Wilson, is to enter Wellesley college for her freshman year.

Mrs. Frederick Leeds of New Haven has brought divorce proceedings against her husband, a former rector of St. Philip's church in Putnam. The petition will be heard by a state referee. Following his pastorate here, Mr. and Mrs. Leeds went to New Haven, where Mr. Leeds became rector of Grace Episcopal church. Mr. Leeds got into the limelight when arrested in a Boston hotel in the company of his secretary, Miss Ellen Elizabeth Reed, daughter of a New Haven motorman. When he was in a Boston court on a criminal charge Mr. Leeds was placed on probation. Miss Reed is named corespondent in the complaint and the grounds alleged are sattutory. Alimony is asked and it is alleged that Mr. Leeds owns property valued at $40,000. The couple were married in Boston in 1901 and lived in Putnam in 1918 and 1919.

Previous to the opening of the short calendar session of the superior court in Putnam today (Friday) the criminal session which recessed in Willimantic last Tuesday will be reconvened. The criminal side of the court will be opened at 10 o'clock. It is understood that the last defendant served with a bench warrant for the breach of the liquor law will be arraigned. This man was on a pleasure trip to Canada when the bench warrants were served but has since returned home. If this case is disposed of it will clean up the liquor cases of the 12 Putnam men, except that of George Briccault, who has not been seen since he left the office of the clerk of the superior court in search of a bondsman.

No Louis, a woman isn't necessarily a chemist because she always has a retort ready.

HANOVER

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Allen of Willimantic spent a few days last week at the home of the former's brother, Myron Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Stark of Norwich and Miss Marian E. Stark of Wellesley, Mass., visited Mr. and Mrs. Myron Allen and family one day this week.

990TH AUCTION SALE
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27th, 1923
At 12 O'Clock, Noon, On the Premises
THE GRASSMERE FARM
First farm on road leading west from main Danielson-Putnam road at Elmville, Town of Killingly, near
DANIELSON, CONNECTICUT

A good farm of 235 acres with ample and convenient buildings, well located on high ground, about 1½ miles from the center of Danielson and about ¼ of a mile from the main highway and the Putnam-Danielson electric car line. The farm is suitably divided into tillage, pasture and woodland, and borders for about a mile on the Five-Mile River.

Attractive house of ten large rooms with piazzas, two bath rooms, hot and cold water, steam heat, good cellar. Shade trees about house. Good young orchard of about 40 trees. Large and well-built (painted and clapboarded) barn with two wings each about 35 by 70 feet, will accommodate 40 head of stock; good basement under all; two silos, ice-house, work shop, large piggery, large corncrib, 100 foot hen-house and small cottage. Water for house and barn is pumped by windmill from supply near house to large reservoir on hill, giving high pressure; also 3 wells on place and the river bordering one side.

Fine views. Would make a very pleasant place for a summer home and is a good practical farm.

The Worcester-New London branch of the N. Y., N. H. & H. Railroad bisects the property for about a mile through the lower land near the river only a few hundred feet from the main highway, and one or more manufacturing sites could be sold off the farm here giving both water and railroad privileges without interfering in the least with the remainder of the farm.

After the sale of the real estate will be sold the farming tools including new ensilage cutter, new Aspinwall potato-planter, Onturio seeder, Deering mower, Deere 2-row corn planter, horse rake, plows, cultivators and harrows, one and two-horse wagons, De Laval separator, etc. Also pair of good farm horses and harness.

To be sold to the highest bidders without limit or reserve.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Reports coming from Washington are to the effect that there is to be a strong demand for a big public building appropriation. It isn't going to be a case of insisting upon what needs to be done but of demanding public building funds because there is money available and because there is not the proper attitude being displayed toward the important question of economy.

Evidently no definite plan has been formulated in view of the talk about appropriations ranging from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 at this time to a bond issue of $500,000,000 that might cover a period of ten years. Whatever the plan that is eventually placed before congress it doesn't appear that there is due regard being paid to the nationwide demand for the pruning of expenditures and the cutting of taxes.

Without a doubt there is good ground for asking for certain appropriations. Good business would support any such policy but that does not justify the demands for a new public building in scores of places where they are not required just because there is a call for one or more in at Washington.

It ought not to be overlooked that the government is at the present time working on a budget system. That system is for the purpose of guiding the action of congress. If congress is not willing to accept any such guidance but insists upon the appropriation of all its revenue or more than its revenue, regardless of the indebtedness that must be met it will be turning against its own child.

From the standpoint of the taxpayers there can be no question but what they would greatly prefer that there should be adherence to the budget system and a cutting of the taxation to the erection of public buildings which are not required at this time.

The policy of lavish expenditures is neither a good nor a popular one. There is demand for sensible use of the government funds but the idea of dipping into his pocketbook to feed a "pork" barrel cannot be expected to please the fellow who pays the taxes.

ADMINISTERING JUSTICE.

From time to time there are those who lend their support to the breaking down of the penalty for murder. Fortunately it doesn't make very rapid headway or there would be no telling what the murder record for the country each year would reach.

Attention is directed frequently to certain atrocious murders but it is probably not generally realized that there are approximately 9500 murders in this country a year. There are those who are willing to commit any crime as long as they figure they can escape the penalty, and there is no greater encouragement to be given to the commission of the worst crimes than letting the idea get abroad to the effect that penalties can be dodged or that they will be so slight as not to serve as a deterrent.

At the gathering of the members of the American Prison association this week attention was called to the many murders and discussions took place concerning the punishment and the other factors entering into the situation. Tardy justice that gives more consideration to the criminal than it does to the public came in for due censure and it surprises not that there was endorsement of the view of the association committees that had conducted investigations that a standing invitation to homicide is found in the failures and delays in the administration of the criminal law.

The criminal who gets the idea that he can avoid conviction does not stand in fear of the law any more than does the person who is ready to kill upon knowing that the penalty is not death and that the imprisonment may be comparatively small.

Let it be understood that the law amounts to little or nothing, let it be seen that trials can be dodged until the evidence is gone, let it be shown that justice can be avoided and the crime wave will continue its uninterrupted, upward trend. If this country has many times the murders than England and France do the fault can be found right here in the administration of justice.

DIVIDING FIUME.

From Europe there comes a report which indicates that an understanding has been reached whereby the trouble over Fiume will be amicably settled. The Fiume government has thrown up its hands and an Italian general has been placed in charge of the city. That of course puts Italy in control as Italy desires and as a large part of Fiume prefers.

Such a move is not a part of the agreement, for it has come about through new developments in Fiume, but it seems quite likely that Italian control of Fiume will continue. By the agreement if it is finally carried out, it is expected that Fiume proper will become Italian property. That is by the consent of Jugoslavia, but while Italy takes the city Jugoslavia [illegible] control of Sushak adjacent to the city so that it will be possible for it to develop a port that will be even more satisfactory than to Jugoslavia than Fiume.

Jugoslavia's attitude has been against the shutting off of port facilities by Italy and its position has not been against a reasonable settlement of the situation with that fact borne in mind. If it is now satisfied with such an arrangement and even considers that it has really gotten the better of the deal there can be no serious objection from others.

Forcing the Jugoslavs to establish an absolutely new port at some other point along the Adriatic would work much hardship, especially in view of the great amount of construction under most unfavorable conditions. The advantages in the littoral that will go to Jugoslavia overcome the difficulties and unfavorable conditions that would otherwise be faced. It is a settlement that wasn't reached without threats of conflict on both sides but it points to a happy solution and with everyone satisfied it is to be hoped that the negotiations will be successfully concluded.

GETTING PUBLIC PROTECTION.

If it is impossible to get relief in any other way there are those who believe in taking the problem to congress. There are efforts which have been made with that very object in view and congress has acted in a way to better the conditions of humanity only to find out that it overstepped its rights.

Whether that will be so in connection with the plan to seek congressional action for the curbing of the bucketshop evil it may take some time to find out, but the efforts seems likely to be made.

Such a move has been decided upon because of the conditions which have been revealed in New York, where state legislation exists but where lamentable conditions have recently been revealed concerning the operation of bucketshops. It is admitted that New York has not only failed to deal with the situation in the past but that it continues to do so. As long as it does it leaves the bucketshops to do their worst and fails to give proper protection to the public. It is a situation that really confronts the state of New York, and one that ought not to be shirked but if New York refuses to provide relief there cannot fail to be admiration for those who are persisting in their determination to carry the matter to congress.

New York is refusing to deal with this matter takes much the same attitude that southern states do regarding the child labor situation, and it is simply because they will not better conditions that thoughts and efforts are turned to federal legislation to get public protection.

OUTLAW STRIKERS.

The strike of the New York pressmen which has served to deprive the readers of that city of their newspapers has not been settled. And actual settlement with those who have left their jobs illegally may be some distance off but there exists an understanding between the newspaper publishers and the international union that should hasten the clearing up of the situation.

According to the president of the international union the publishers are sustained in terming the walkout unjustified. It was taken against the agreement that existed and it was taken in defiance of the advice of the international union. The president of the international therefore acts with justification when he declares that the charter of the New York pressmen and their assistants is automatically revoked and he sends out appeals to other pressmen to come to New York and get out the papers.

This leaves the strikers not only without the support of the international organization but denounced by it. It leaves the publishers insisting that the international relieve the situation inasmuch as it is an outlaw strike, and through the negotiations between the publishers and the international a new working agreement seems probable.

It is one of those deplorable situations where unjustified action, action which fails to get the endorsement of the superior organization, not only works harm to the reading public but such misguided activities have a detrimental effect upon all such organized efforts.

HELPFUL MALES

"May the fates preserve me," exclaimed Loretta, "from helpful people! I have had a crowd of them doing things for me and I hope this is the end. If it isn't it'll be the finish of me."

"Gracious!" exclaimed her brother. "You certainly sound fierce. May I inquire just what has so soured your usually angelic disposition?"

"I suppose I am cross at the man who first started the story that women can't do things," said Loretta, more calmly. "In spite of all the women in business and professions, some men stick to the idea that they are the only beings who think in all the wide world.

"This is getting serious," declared her brother, shaking his head.

"Well, it's true," said Loretta. "And I suppose it will always be so as long as there are any girls who like to ask a man's advice and look so impressed when he gives it. I'm awfully fond of Jean, but her husband always lays down the law about every thing and lots of times it is about things she knows more about than he does. Of course, being her guest last week I had to sit and listen to his words of wisdom.

"First of all, he offered to get my ticket for me from their town to Alice's, where I was going to stay a week in order to be her bridesmaid. I told him I wanted to leave at 10 in the morning in order to arrive at 5 in the afternoon, which would be convenient for everybody. I wrote Alice that I should come then and she wrote that she would meet me with the car. It was all nicely arranged, but when John went to get my ticket he decided that it would cut my visit a little short at Jean's, and he got a seat on the parlor car of the train that left at 4. It was a slow train but he said he knew I wouldn't mind reaching Alice's at midnight since she could meet me with the car. He didn't tell us of the change until just before we were ready to leave for the 10 o'clock train, when he called up to say that he thought we'd enjoy visiting for a while longer and had bought a seat on the later train. As it happened Jean had been invited to a luncheon, but she gave it up.

"So Jean and I stayed at her home and sat around until time to go to the train. I had to telegraph Alice and when I arrived I had to wait an hour in that tiny country station because she had not received the telegram until just before I arrived and it took her an hour or more to drive to the depot.

And Jean's uncle was just as helpful as her husband.

"I was packing my trunk," Loretta continued, "when he came along the hall where it stood, and, seeing the tray full, closed it for me."

"That certainly was good of him," said her brother. "Trunks are hard to lock."

"Mine isn't," declared Loretta. "It has a snap lock. I had laid my purse in the tray a minute while I ran downstairs, and that got locked in the trunk with all my keys in it. My things weren't half packed, and I could not open the Yale lock. He said the only thing to do was to saw the lock out and get a new one, but while he was hunting for a saw I found a locksmith and got it open for a dollar. A new lock would have cost $4."

"I am afraid Jean's uncle hasn't much way matter."

"He's president of the engineers' society in his town," Loretta said.

"But he wasn't wise in every-day things. Jean's brother was almost as bad. He found I was going to send my washing to a woman who would get it done in two days, so he had his Chinaman take my things, as he was always so quick. The washing had not come back when I left, and I had to give Jean the postage to mail it to me afterward."

"Certainly a smart bunch of men!" exclaimed her brother, "I don't wonder you are glad to get back home to a brainy brother."

"They all of them think they are very smart, too," said Loretta. "But they just aren't. I had to thank them for their kindness, just the same, so they still think so. When I was ready to leave John telephoned up again and said he had arranged to have my trunk sent right to Alice's house, so I should not have any trouble at all."

"Well," cried her brother, "that was great! What was the matter with that?"

"Oh, nothing much," sighed Loretta, pinning on her hat to go out. "I had to pay $2, that's all, when the trunk was delivered, and if he had let it alone I could have taken it for nothing in Alice's car."—Chicago News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Early Closing Effort.

Mr. Editor: My attention has been called to several paragraphs in your valuable paper which have appeared recently relating to the Saturday evening early closing in New London. The statement was made I believe that there were great crowds on State street Saturday night last. In fact there were very few people on State street and there was very little business done in the few stores that were open—so little indeed that one storekeeper told me he let his clerks go out for a walk until it was time to close up. I was on State and Bank street and the most of the people I saw were clerks who did not have to work Saturday evening who were giving the once over to the stores that were open and seeing how little business there was being done. The statement that some of the stores that closed were going to open again is a downright lie. Instead of stores reopening there are more stores swinging into line to close. The hardware stores—three of which on Bank street have closed for the past two Saturdays—have been augmented by the addition of three more hardware stores on State street, one more on Bank street and one on Main street. The butchers are to have a meeting of their group today, I understand, and the chain of groceries whose headquarters are out of town are awaiting the word as to their closing. So you see instead of the early closing being a failure it is an assured success.

Stories That Recall Others

Careful With the Records.

Jean was four when daddy sent a new phonograph which delighted the child. She was so careful of the records, not to break them, that finally she was permitted to play jazz music and less expensive numbers, and taught that great care was to be taken of the red seals.

One day as the maid was dusting the records, Jean surprised the household by saying, "Pease dust that one good, for the dust might get in Caruso's throat."

As Good As Any.

Not simply by his own reckoning but generally recognized as a man of considerable prominence in the community, he was asked one day to address a gathering of women concerning political principles.

He tells the story and gets as much fun out of it as does the listener, when he says he was presented by the president of the organization, an unostentatious woman whose sentiments were not always portrayed truly by her public remarks. She arose at the proper time and introduced the speaker, the only gentleman present, in the following manner:

"We had to have someone to speak to us today, so I just asked Mr. ——, who will now speak to you."

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Clark Howell, who celebrates his 60th birthday today, is a noted Atlanta newspaper publisher an dfor many years the representative of the State of Georgia in the National Democratic Committee. While he is a stanch Democrat and a thorough Southerner, the son of that gallant ex-Confederate, Captain Evan P. Howell, he has never been an offensive partisan, and his genuine Americanism dominates him so completely that there is no place left in his mind for sectionalism. After leaving the University of Georgia in 1883 young Howell served his journalistic apprenticeship in New York and Philadelphia. When he was 21 he returned to Atlanta, and three years later Henry W. Grady made him assistant managing editor of the Constitution, of which paper he rose in the course of time to be editor and publisher.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

Holland.

The silver jubilee and birthday of Queen Wilhelmina celebrated August 31 in every city, town and hamlet in Holland again called attention to a land where mankind has achieved one of his most notable victories over the forces of nature.

For the United Netherlands, familiarly known as Holland, the name of two of its eleven states, according to a bulletin from the National Geographic Society, "is a country where the rivers run, so to speak, over the heads of the inhabitants. Populous cities rest below the level of the sea, which persistently clamors for admission. Cultivated fields are buried under unproductive sand, and marshes are drained to become fertile gardens. Islands have been attached to the continent by ropes of sand."

The bulletin, based on a communication by James Howard Gore, continues:

"Holland, without quarries, has erected stately buildings and substantial cities and laced miles of seacoast with protecting pavement; almost without timber, she has built navies which have disputed the sea with the most powerful fleets.

"Lacking raw materials, Dutch ships have made it possible for factories to run, and Dutch ships have carried finished products to distant lands. With neither coal nor oil to drive the needed machines, the air blowing over Holland has been made to pay toll, and the revolving wings of countless windmills transform this toll into energy.

"It is not astonishing that even a sterile country should, by cultivation, produce grain and stock, but it is surprising that Holland should exist, and its existence is a paradox in physical geography.

"Before the birth of the Rhine a great part of the Netherlands, as we now see it, was a sea, limited on the German side by a rocky coast which now shows itself in the Tuetoburger Wald Hills. The uplifting of the Ardennes inclosed a sea in the interior of Germany which, shielded by the Alps on its southern coast and protected from the cold winds of the north, became full to overflowing from the melting ice. Finally the pent-up waters broke through, and in the bed thus formed the Rhine has since been flowing.

"With the rush of the waters masses of rocks were hurried along until the moving force exhausted itself, smaller particles were carried further and when the sea was reached its resistance robbed the rover of its final burden, and sand-dunes formed the northern boundaries of Holland. The pebbles and grains of sand on which rests the soil of Gelderland and Overyssel and the island of Texel show that their primeval home was the basalt regions of the Rhine.

"The result of the conflict between the waters of the river and the sea into which they seek to find an outlet is seen in the deltas of our largest streams.

"The struggles of the Danube have formed about its mouth vast tracts of marsh lands; the Mississippi finds its way into the Gulf of Mexico through six channels, which are with great difficulty kept deep enough to carry the discharging flood; the Nile demands a breadth of 120 miles through which to force its vacillating outlets into the Mediterranean.

"So Holland is the present of the Rhine—that Rhine which rushes over the rocks of Schaffhausen, spreads out boastfully before Mayence, passes tumultuously under the fortress of Ehrenbreitstein, and beats in sonorous cadence at the foot of the Seven Mountains.

"Before reaching the Dutch frontier it has lost all the beauty of its banks, and flows in great, lazy curves suggestive of approaching old age. The indecision of senility is now seen in the separation of the Rhine into two parts. The main branch shamefully disavows its name and throws itself into the Meuse, a river of French origin; the other branch, insulted by the name of Dannebrog Canal, after going nearly to Arnheim, separates into two parts, one emptying into the Zuider Zee; the other, regaining its early name, though qualified as the Lower Rhine, goes as far as Duurstede, where it divides for the third time.

"One of these branches, like a fugitive from justice, changes its name and unites with the Maas near Rotterdam; the other still clinging to its old name, reached with difficulty Utrecht, where for the fourth time it submits to a further partition.

"One part, denying its once boasted name, drags itself to Muiden, where it unites with the Zuider Zee; the other, called the Old Rhine, flows slowly to Leyden, whose streets it languidly crosses. Then, gathered into a canal, it is carried to its death in the North Sea."

AUTUMN

Thou comest, Autumn, heralded by the rain,
With banners, by great gales incessant fann'd,
Brighter than brightest silks of Samarcand,
And stately oxen harness'd to thy wain;
Thou standest, like imperial Charlemagne,
Upon thy bridge of gold; thy royal hand
Outstretched with benedictions o'er the land,
Blessing the farms through all thy vast domain.

Thy shield is the red harvest moon, suspended
So long beneath the heaven's o'erhanging eaves;
Thy steps are by the farmer's prayers attended;
Like flames upon an altar shine the sheaves;
And, following thee, in thy ovation splendid,
Thine almoner, the wind, scatters the golden leaves.

OBITUARY.

Miss Mary E. Hallahan.

Following an illness of some duration, Miss Mary E. Hallahan died on Thursday morning at her home, 109 Baltic street. She was born in Norwich and was the daughter of Jeremiah and the late Mary Bradley Hallahan. Graduating from St. Patrick's school in this city she attended the Norwich Free Academy and for several years she was employed in the millinery business in Providence. Miss Hallahan suffered a nervous breakdown several years ago.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. E. P. Gable of New York city, Miss Margaret C., and Miss Anna T. Hallahan of this city. There are also a nephew and other relatives. Miss Hallahan was a member of St. Patrick's parish.

WEDDINGS.

Pellicano—Pacano.

In St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, Frank Pellicano and Miss Mary Pagano of this city were united in marriage by the rector of the church, Rev. M. H. May. The bridesmaid was Miss Leritia Tomato and Michael Pagano was best man. Following the wedding ceremony there was a reception and breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, No. 133 Washington street. The bride received many beautiful gifts.

After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Pellicano will reside in Norwich. The groom is the son of Vincenzo and Rost Pellicano and has resided at No. 96 High street. His bride is the daughter of Michael and Lizzie Pagano of No. 133 Washington street.

Stoddard-Willcox

Miss Ellen L. Willcox, daughter of Mrs. Annette Willcox of Jewett City, and Welman Stoddard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Stoddard of Poquonnoc Bridge, were married Wednesday evening at 7.30 by Rev. Chester H. Howe, pastor of the First Baptist church, at the parsonage on West street, New London. The couple were unattended.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of Mr. Stoddard's uncle, Merton E. Stoddard, on West street, only members of the immediate families attending. Miss Wilcox attended Connecticut college last year. Mr. Stoddard is employed by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at Midway. The newlyweds will reside in Poquonnoc.

WILL USE DEFERRED PAYMENT PLAN IN BACKUS HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

James L. Case, chairman of the executive committee and campaign leader in the community appeal for Backus hospital, explained Thursday evening at headquarters the method of deferred payments by which the campaign fund will be solicited. Subscriptions in cash will not be the purpose of the appeal, and a period of two and one-half years will be given in which to pay all pledges made to the $250,000 fund.

"In just about a month from now," said Mr. Case, "the organization of the campaign will have been completed, the hundreds of workers in the men's and women's divisions in Norwich and the neighborhood towns will have been enlisted and trained, and then the whole body of volunteers will carry the appeal in person throughout our community, telling of the need and explaining the method of subscription.

"This method of subscription is so important in an appeal of this kind that the executive committee desires to make it explicitly clear from the very start. This is not to be a campaign for cash subscriptions. It is to be an appeal for pledges.

"The reason for this is that this method of deferred payments has been found to be the most successful in every way. It is the method by which Westerly has just raised, including an advance pledge of $30,000, more than three-quarters of a million dollars.

"To raise funds in cash means that the community is called upon to give all it can afford at one time. It would be possible to raise at one time in this community, in cash, a generous amount, but if this amount should not be sufficient for our hospital needs, the remainder would have to be sought through other campaigns.

"This would mean that people would be wearied by repeated solicitation and—what is even more important—the work of enlarging the hospital facilities would have to wait.

"By the use of the deferred payment method the entire appeal is placed upon a budget plan. That is to say, each giver to the fund pledges to pay, according to his means. Whoever can give $50 or $100 now, for example, might be expected to give another $50 or $100 six months later, and so on until the two and one-half years' period has elapsed. The burden of giving is thereby made as light as possible, because it is distributed over a period of time—three calendar years.

"By this method, only a single appeal is necessary. The community effort is concentrated, and the pledges are paid at regular intervals, until the whole fund is paid in.

"The installment method saves the public from a repetition of calls, and also saves expense. Finally, it is possible to begin the work of construction and equipment promptly, so that the same may be completed without delay.

"When the community familiarizes itself with the plan of payment, it will be found, I am sure, that it is by no means beyond the giving power of the community. On the contrary, the objective that has been set may fairly be regarded as a most conservative one. There is every reason to believe that by pledging generously, according to their means, and paying out of income each half year, the people of Norwich and vicinity will make for themselves a record such as the people of other hospital communities have made in assuring the expansion and support of adequate hospital service."

"Complete success is all the more assured for the reason that this will be the first united community appeal for hospital care."

Through the courtesy of the Mohican company, headquarters for the hospital campaign have been provided at 251 Main street, in the stores formerly occupied by Disco Brothers. The telephone number is 2449. All inquiries concerning the campaign will be gladly answered, it was stated.

AUTOMOBILE TURNS OVER IN TAFTVILLE ACCIDENT

Said to have been traveling at a fast rate of speed, an Oldsmobile touring car, registration number 99320, owned by Joseph S. Zukosky of 17 Spruce street, was totally wrecked on Thursday night shortly before 7 o'clock when it turned over twice after hitting the high curbing a few feet north of the Poreman Wheel club on Norwich avenue, Taftville. The touring car which Mr. Zukosky was driving and in which his wife, mother and a child were passengers, was behind a Mack truck owned and driven by Wilfred Chenette of Taftville. Just as Mr. Zubosky was about to pass the truck the truck started to turn into Germania avenue, leading west from Norwich avenue.

Either driving so fast that it was impossible to stop in time to avoid hitting the truck or believing that he had room enough to swing in ahead of the truck, Mr. Zukosky shot his car around the truck and his left front wheel hit the curbing and collapsed. The machine turned completely over twice and landed right side up across the sidewalk beyond Germania avenue. The occupants of the machine were thrown out but escaped with a bad shaking up and bruises.

Two wheels on the machine were smashed, the top was completely ripped off, the windshield was smashed and bent back over the steering wheel which was also smashed. One door on the car was torn from its hinges and the mudguards were smashed and crushed.

PROF. C. G. HYDE'S FAMILY SAFE AT BERKELEY, CAL.

Prof. Charles G. Hyde, a native of Norwich Town, has notified his sister, Mrs. W. Tyler Olcott that his family is safe in Berkeley, Cal., although their home was burned to the ground. The Hyde family residence was in Buena Vista Way, where there were only three houses left standing.

Prof. Hyde, his wife and three daughters returned only the middle of August from Europe, where he had been spending six months of his sabbatical years from the University of California. They spent some time at the Olcott summer camp on Block Island, before returning to California.

The news that the family had suffered no greater loss was a relief to their many friends in Norwich.

THREE MACHINES SKID AT TOP OF FRANKLIN HILL

A slippery roadbed in the foggy night on Franklin hill Thursday accounted for three machines skidding at the top of the hill and smashing wheels against stone walls.

A Stutz, a Studebaker and a Ford were the machines that were crippled. Kent Ellis and James Ryan, who were driving home from Willimantic late in the night, assisted three persons to their homes in this city by bringing home John Cunningham of Otis street and two young women, one of whom was Miss Doyle, who was with her brother, John F. Doyle, of 277 Laurel Hill avenue, whose Ford coupe lost a wheel.

MYSTIC METHODIST CHURCH VOTES $8,000 IMPROVEMENTS

District Superintendent William H. Bath, of Norwich, was in Moodus Tuesday evening and in Mystic Wednesday evening, holding quarterly conferences at the churches.

At the Mystic church, it was voted to remodel and renovate the church edifice, at a cost of between six and eight thousand dollars.

Visitors at Lebanon War Office.

On Saturday, Sept. 15th, Miss Annie Gillette and Mrs. Lillian Manning were hostesses at the "War Office," the new home of the Jonathan Trumbull chapter of the D. A. R. at Lebanon. Guests were present from Halifax, N. S., Washington, D. C., Westerly, R. I., Hartford, Norwich, Montville, Storrs and Willimantic. Invited guests were a group of children of the town who were interested in the historical stories told them.

Missionary Societies Meet

The Home Missionary Society of Trinity Methodist Church began the season Wednesday afternoon with a meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. J. Harlow Graham, on Williams street, making plans for the coming year.

Thursday afternoon, the Foreign Missionary Society met at the church, and among other business appointed a nominating committee. Mrs Albert F. Miner is president of this society.

Wife Has Husband Arrested.

Willimantic, Sept. 20.—John Welch of Elm street, this city, was arrested late this evening on the charge of breach of the peace. Mrs. Welch notified the police that her husband had been beating her, and Officer Tripp brought Welch to the police station. He will appear in police court tomorrow morning.

SCOUTS RECEIVE AWARDS AT COURT OF HONOR

Prizes, awards and merit badges were presented members of the various Norwich Boy Scout troops on Thursday evening at a meeting of the Scout Court of Honor at the city court room. There was a large attendance of scouts at the meeting, practically all troops being represented. The president of the Court of Honor, Henry A. Tirrell, presided at the meeting which opened at 7.30 o'clock with the sounding of assembly on the bugle. Attention was then sounded and the scouts saluted the court. The scout oath was repeated by all scouts present. Prof. Tirrell complimented the scouts on the excellent showing they have made during the past year.

Following an interesting talk by Rev. J. Harlow Graham, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, Arthur L. Peale, president of the Norwich Scout Council, awarded the prizes won at the first annual field day events during the summer. This was followed by the announcement of prizes and presentation of awards made at Camp Tippecan. The presentation was made by Scout Executive F. A. Benton. The merit badges were presented by Principal Tirrell.

Mr. Peale, president of the local council, read a letter received from Mrs. A. W. Davis of Stockton, Cal., offering prizes to the boys having the best records in woodcraft during the year. A large cone from one of the giant pine trees was awarded to Alfred Haaring of Troop No. 1, this being the first prize. Second prize, a cone of the giant redwood tree, was awarded Levi Talbot. It was voted to send a leter of thanks to Mrs. Davis for the interest she takes in the Norwich Boy Scouts.

Among those present at the meeting was Rev. William C. Prentiss of Plainfield, who was accompanied by several of the Plainfield scouts. He addressed the scouts in an interesting way.

The prize list follows:

WASHINGTON LEGHORNS FIRST TO LAY 2,000 EGGS

A pen of Leghorns from Hollywood, Wash., was the first to reach a total pen score of 2,000 in the laying contest conducted by the college at Storrs. There are still six weeks to go, during which time at least two other pens of Leghorns, both from Long Island, a pen of Reds from Massachusetts and a pen of White Wyandottes from England are expected to reach 2,000 eggs or more before the contest closes on the 20th of October. This means then that at least six pens containing a total of 60 birds will average to lay more than 200 eggs each, which all poultrymen now admit is a splendid performance. There are four pens containing a total of 40 birds which will apparently finish the year with an average of less than 1,000 eggs per pen. The contrast is extremely striking but none the less true. The records in the laying contest emphasize over and over again the imperative necessity of breeding hens that lay a large number of eggs. Mediocre performances at once jeopardize the financial success of any poultry venture.

In the 46th week of the contest the total production was 3,135, or a yield of more than 49 per cent., and 120 eggs above the expected lay as compared with the yields for the corresponding period in previous years.

A Connecticut pen of Barred Rocks entered by Edgar J. Stoughton of Wapping finished first for the week with a score of 54 eggs. A pen of the same breed owned by the Ontario Agricultural college at Guelph was second best pen for the week with a yield of 53 eggs. A third pen of Barred Rocks entered by Jasper E. Guptil from Berwick, Me., came in third with a record of 49 eggs. Two pens of Rhode Island Reds owned by Deer Brook Farm of Shore Falls, N. H., and Charles H. Lane of Southboro, Mass., and a pen of Leghorns owned by Hollywood Farm at Hollywood, Washington, all tied for third place with 47 eggs each.

The four leading pens in each of the principal breeds are as follows:

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method.

J. E. Leonhardt, M. D., set at work some years ago to find a real internal Pile remedy. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It's easy to take, and can always be found at Lee & Osgood's, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

SWEETSER BEATS GUILFORD AND WILL MEET GARDNER TODAY IN AMATEUR SEMI-FINALS

Chicago, Sept. 20 (By the A. P.)—Jess Sweetser of New York, defending champion, won his way into the semi-finals of the national amateur championship by defeating the Boston siege gun, Jesse Guilford, 2 and 1, in the third round of play at Flossmoor Country club. Sweetser will have as his opponent tomorrow Rob Gardner of Chicago, who had a rather easy time of it in the third round, downing Densmore Shute of Huntington, W. Va., six and five.

In the other half, Francis Ouimet of Boston, who had a tough match today in defeating George Von Elm of Salt Lake City, 2 and 1, will meet Maxwell Marston of Philadelphia, who won from Joe Wells of East Liverpool, O., 1 and 2.

In their battle of pars and birdies today, Sweetser and Guilford displayed golf worthy of champions and were followed by a gallery of 2,000 until the spectators switched over to the medal play-off between Bobby Jones and Chick Evans, which Jones won.

All square at the start of the second round, Sweetser having made a 36-36—72, or two under par, and Guilford a 35-38—73, the champion dropped the 19th when Guilford copped a birdie four on the 518 yard hole. They halved the 20th hole in par three.

Sweetser took the 21st with a par five and the 22d with a par four when Guilford was in trouble through the fairway. Both took three putts on the 23d and halved in fives. Sweetser won the 25th when Guilford's approach was short. They halved the next two in par and the 27th in one over par, Guilford going out in 40 to Sweetser's 38. Guilford lost the next two holes, Sweetser scoring a birdie and a par. After halving two more with pars, Sweetser rolled his third shot on the 32d within two feet of the cup but Guilford laid him a dead stymie and took the hole with a par four. Sweetser had difficulty with his putter on the 33d green and when he took three putts to sink, Guilford took the hole with a par four. They halved the next two holes in par and Sweetser was 2 up and 1 to play.

The course was heavy today on account of rain, but the scoring was good for the most part. The largest gallery of the week thus far followed the players and when all the spectators centered on the play-off between Jones and Evans there was almost a stampede for advantageous positions. The onlookers were well rewarded for Evans gave a display of deadly iron shooting in the first half that made the spectators gasp and Jones demonstrated his prowess at the same game in the second half, where he slipped four strokes off par while Evans was one over and lost 36-39—75 to 37-34—71. They had tied in the qualifying round at 75-74—149.

On the basis of their play thus far Sweetser was a slight favorite over Gardner for tomorrow's semi-finals and while Marston has played better rounds than any thus far played by Ouimet the latter was the favorite among the experts. Whether the title goes to the Bostonian, the Philadelphian, the New Yorker or the Chicagoan, the next meet will go to the Merion Cricket club, Philadelphia.

STRYKER HAS EASY TIME AGAINST BRIDGEPORT

Worcester Mass., Sept. 20—Worcester defeated Bridgeport today 9 to 2. The visitors could do little with Stryker. Worcester bunched hits on Abrams, getting eleven of its 12 hits in three innings. A running foul catch by Russell, who leaned over the bleacher fence, and a throw to the plate by Lavallie were the fielding features. The score by innings:

| | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Bridgeport | 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0—2 | 6 | 3 |
| Worcester | 3 0 1 0 2 3 0 0 x—9 | 12 | 4 |

Abrams and Wargo; J. Stryker and Cronin.

Two base hits, Reis, Bagwell, Cronin, Lavallie, Orme. Home run, McCarren.

REDS AND PHILLIES SPLIT EVEN IN DOUBLE HEADER

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 20—Cincinnati and Philadelphia broke even in their final double header of the season today, the visitors winning the first game 2 to 0 and the home team taking the second 8 to 7, in eleven innings. Both Logue and Glazner pitched great ball in the first game, the two Philadelphia runs being due to errors by Fowler, a recruit shortstop. The second game was a slugging match, in which both Benton and Ring were knocked out of the box early. The Phillies tied the score on three hits off Harris in the ninth but the Reds got the winning run in the last half of the eleventh on Roush's single, his stolen base and a hit by Winco. The Reds won the season's series from the Phillies, 10 games to 3. The scores:

TIGERS WIN ONE AND TIE ONE WITH BOSTON

Boston, Sept. 20—Detroit won the opening game of today's double header from Boston, 5 to 4. The second game was called at the end of the tenth inning on account of darkness, with the score 2 to 2. The winning run in the first game resulted from hits by Cobb and Pratt and McMillan's error in the ninth inning. Piercy held Detroit to two hits in the second game until the eighth inning when a pass to Hellmann and singles by Pratt, Rigney and Bassler gave the visitors two runs. The scores:

Spalla Challenges Dempsey

Milan, Italy, Sept. 20—Erminio Spalla, the Italian heavyweight pugilist, has issued a challenge to Jack Dempsey for a fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. He desires the fight to occur immediately. Spalla is now in training at Streha.

YANKEES' WIN AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT FOR THIRD SUCCESSIVE YEAR

New York, Sept. 20.—The New York Yankees clinched their third successive American league pennant here today, defeating St. Louis in the first game of the series, 4 to 3. New York's margin is the greatest in either major league in many years. Sam Jones won his twentieth game of the season, though he was hard pressed by St. Louis in the late innings. The Yankees bunched their hits to good effect on VanGilder. Severeid was hit in the head with a foul ball in the second inning and was forced to retire from the game.

The Yankees, who have made a runaway of this season's race, now can lose all of their remaining thirteen games and still finish at the top, even if Cleveland, in second place, wins all of its remaining nineteen games.

Should the Yankees lose and Cleveland win all of their remaining games, the final standing would be:

| | Won. | Lost. | P.C. |
|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 93 | 61 | .604 |
| Cleveland | 92 | 62 | .597 |

By clinching the pennant today, two and a half weeks before the scheduled end of the seasons, the Yankees have scored one of the most decisive victories in the history of the league. They now hold a margin of 17 games over the second place Indians.

The Yankees have set the pace practically from the start and have not been seriously threatened since mid-season. Challenged first by Connie Mack's Athletics, who spurted sensationally in the spring, and later by Cleveland's rally, the Yankees stood off the threats and maintained a championship stride while their rivals fell by the wayside.

The score:

O'LEARY WILLING TO TALK BUSINESS WITH TROLAND

Sporting Editor;

I read with amused interest the letter in The Bulletin from Manager James H. Troland of the Taftville A. A. Stating that he was willing to do talk business with me. Manager Troland has, no doubt, without intention accused me of everything unethical in baseball and has, in many cases, forgotten to pick the beam out of his own eye while looking for the mote in mine. Of course I understand that Mr. Troland is rather inexperienced in the management of baseball teams but his record with the Taftville team during the present season speaks well for him and I congratulate him on his showing.

In writing this letter I intend only to correct a few impressions given the fans in Mr. Troland's letter. I never believe it policy to air the differences of managers in the public press but as the esteemed Taftville magnate has chosen to air his side in the newspapers he has left me no alternative but to state my side.

In his letter Mr. Troland stated that before any series was played everything must be down on paper in black and white. I heartily agree with him in this respect and it was my intention to asking his name to a contract should a Taftville-Norwich series be arranged. If my memory serves me faithfully and I think it does, Taftville last year agreed to play four games but after two had been played they ran out on their agreement through no fault of mine. In justice to Mr. Troland I must say he was not the manager last year. So the public can see that I am just as anxious for a written and legal agreement as he.

As to ground rules, umpires and other things pertaining to the running of the games I most sincerely endorse Mr. Troland's views as such happenings as he refers to mar any ball game and does tend to give the fans an unsatisfactory result. However, I think that Mr. Troland forgets that I was not manager of the Norwich team the year these things occurred and it was through no fault of mine that they happened. As for raw deals I have given Taftville or any other team I wish to say that I have tried to treat every team as square as possible and I know of no other team that has accused me of the things that Mr. Troland attributes to me.

Mr. Troland says that he has heard complaints about the fans being peeved because the pitchers I have advertised were not played. I have also heard the same things and in justice to myself would say that any one who has had anything to do with independent baseball knows how hard it is to get a pitcher that is in good condition the day he comes here. Also how many times a pitcher or player will promise to play and then not show up. I have tried to have every player here whom I have advertised, but in some cases I admit I have disappointed the crowd. One instance was last Sunday when I advertised Eddie Boyce to pitch. Boyce is with the Fitchburg team and under control of Jack Kiernan. Kiernan told me I could have Boyce for Sunday but on Saturday night phoned me that Boyce had pitched two days in succession and did not think he could go a third game. With the interests of fans at heart I told Kiernan to send another pitcher and he referred me to Mulrennan, not knowing that Mulrennan had also pitched on Saturday. The fans know what Mulrennan did and I have no excuses to offer, I was as badly fooled as they.

Now if Mr. Troland wishes to stage a Taftville-Norwich series I am willing to talk business with him at any time, the sooner the better, for I contemplate bringing some of the Eastern league teams here this fall if the series with Taftville falls through.

WILLIAM O'LEARY

WILLS MATCHED TO MEET HOMER SMITH

New York, Sept. 20—Harry Wills, negro heavyweight title contender, has been matched to fight Homer Smith, of Kalamazoo, Mich., in a 10-round contest at the Queensboro stadium the night of September 27. The bout will be of unusual interest, not only because it will mark Wills' first ring appearance in a year, but also because Smith gained prominence by staying the limit of a 10-round match with Luis Angel Firpo, last August 3 at Omaha, Neb.

Smith was the first boxer to stay the limit with Firpo since the Argentine mauler's advent to pugilistic fame in this country. The Michigan fighter was knocked down almost at will by the South American but managed to weather the storm of blows until the last bell. The contest was staged during Firpo's mid-summer exhibition tour.

Two weeks after the Smith bout, Joe Downey, of Cincinnati, also succeeded in going the limit of 10 rounds with Firpo at Indianapolis, 16-ounce gloves being used.

Wills, unsuccessful in his protracted campaign to force Jack Dempsey into a title match, now has declared his willingness to meet Firpo to decide which shall be entitled to the next bout with the champion. But so far little progress has been made toward making the match, for Wills has flatly declared he will not fight Firpo in the Argentine while the South American battler already has signed with Promoter Tex Rickard to box Wills next April in his native country.

Firpo is not anxious to don the gloves again before next spring or summer but is insistent that, if he fights Wills, the bout be staged in the Argentine. Wills is holding out just as firmly for the match in this country.

The negro plans to engage in a three months exhibition tour following his fight with Smith next week.

SECOND GAME OF TAFTVILLE SERIES ON SATURDAY

At the Providence street grounds on Saturday afternoon the second game of the series between the Taftville A. A. team and the J. B. Martin will be played. The first game was an easy victory for the Troland team and the Taftville team is out to duplicate the first game and finish the series up in short order. Manager Troland says that there will be no letting up on the Martin team and when his boys take the field on Saturday he expects them to win.

Taftville will have Davis in the box with Belair on the receiving end. Davis has proved to be as fast as any of the semi-pro pitchers that have been playing independent baseball this season. Opposing Davis the Velvetmen will have Fisher or another semi-pro player from Hartford, Welch will do the catching. The remainder of the Martin lineup will be the same as on last Sunday against Rockville.

The Taftville lineup will be: Davis p, Belair c, Cardie 1b, Burns 2b, Liberty ss, Dugas 3b, Jarvis lf, M. Dugas cf, Jim Murphy rf.

ALBANY TAKES FALL OUT OF SPRINGFIELD

Springfield Mass., Sept. 20—The Albany outfit of Bill Rodgers' defeated the Hampdens here today in the final appearance of the New York staters here this season, being on the big end of a 5 to 1 score when the game ended. Edmondson on the mound for the visitors, was in command of the situation all the time, while his mates connected for base hits at the right time. Emmer and Bernard put the ball over the left field fence. Score by innings:

| | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Albany | 2 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0—6 | 8 | 1 |
| Springfield | 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1 | 9 | 1 |

Edmondson and Kenna; Loftus and Davis.

Two base hits, Esmond, Schinkel 2; Sbanley, Davis, Simpson, Altenburg. Home runs, Emmer, Bernard.

VELVETMEN AND TAFTVILLE IN THIRD GAME SUNDAY

It was decided between the managers of the Taftville A. A. and the J. B. Martin teams to play the third game of the series on Sunday at the J. B. Martin plant. Morin will pitch for the Velvetmen and Lefty Harold will be in the box for Taftville in this game. Should Taftville win on Saturday the game will be played just the same although the series was won by the Taftville team.

Big Deal Between Married Men and Single Men

Manager Tom James of the East Side Married Men announced last night that he had traded "Waco" Riley for Bob Campbell star catcher of the Single Men. It was reported that a large sum of money was involved but Manager James refused to make public the exact amount. Riley, a star with the Married Men the past season, is very temperamental and could not get along with his manager. Campbell still a fussy old batch will soon be joined in the bonds of matrimony and will be eligible to play with the hen-pecks next season. Manager Pedace of the Single Men stated that he would use Riley in a big trade next spring although Ike Cramer of the East Ends has been after "Waco" for some time and is willing to buy him outright.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL GOSSIP.

Coach Fisher may have more than a little to worry about in building up another one of his crack Harvard elevens, but he is better off than many college mentors, in that he has a scoring drop-kicker in Karl Pfeffman. More than one Harvard victory has been tucked away by a three-point margin.

Springfield college has been on the short end of the score in its contests with Holy Cross for the last few years, and while there is good reason to believe that the 1923 local collegians will put a powerful eleven on the field, one cannot discount the fact that the 1923 Holy Cross outfit looms stronger than the Purple machine of last year.

A certain Boston sporting writer, and a graduate of Georgetown university, stated last week that the Georgetown football team would not appear in New England this fall. Yet his own paper, a few days before, carried an authentic article stating that Georgetown would play the Boston college game in the Hub instead of at Georgetown.

Dartmouth lost a number of real football players by graduation last June, and it is going to be a man's job to put another representative big Green eleven on the field. Those who saw the Hanover boys stage that memorable battle in the Harvard stadium last fall are hoping that the Dartmouth coaches will find sufficient material to repeat the spectacle.

Colgate, once a factor to be considered in championship gridiron ratings, is reported to be on its way to a successful season. The Hamilton college gave Princeton and Syracuse real battles last year, and if the 1923 team is more capable than its predecessors, Colgate's opponents are in for some fun.

All eyes in football fandom will be centered on Columbia this year. Many expect to see the New Yorkers jump right into championship limelight, under the coaching of the peerless Percey Haughton. Perhaps they are expecting a bit too much, for it takes more than a year to instal a new system of football that will bring results that are entirely satisfactory.

Trinity opens its season against the Connecticut Aggies a week from next Saturday. The Hartford eleven will have a clever leader in Stanley Kennedy and, with any kind of fortune, should run up its share of wins.

Middlebury, the little Vermont college, coached by Dave Morey of Dartmouth fame, will try to pull the David and Goliath stunt on the Crimson in the Harvard stadium the second Saturday of October. Middlebury has played Harvard before and on every occasion, has furnished first class football.

New Hampshire State should accomplish worth while results this fall. Last year's White Mountain eleven was composed largely of sophomores, and with these men back for their third year, the eleven may be said to have prospects somewhat better than the average.

Gridiron followers will be interested in seeing who will take the place of Buell as Harvard's quarterback. The Crimson signal caller is always considered the mental backbone of a Harvard eleven, and requires a player able to assimilate and dispense intricate football tactics.

Yale is starting its year with a fine looking squad of material. Tad Jones is out to make good at New Haven this fall, and all he has to do is to establish himself at Old Eli is to produce victories over Harvard and Princeton. Tough assignments, to be sure, but it's about time Yale experienced the accomplishment.

Springfield football lovers are going to miss the nonappearance of the crack Detroit team this year. Detroit and Springfield was always a real football game, and many will regret the fact that the lads from Automobile town will not be seen on Pratt field.

It is pleasing to note that football coaches everywhere are placing great stress on the developments of punters for the coming season. Nothing adds to the pleasure of a football game any more than a crack punter. At present, Capt Chuck Darling of Boston college seems to have the call on the booters in the east.

DR. EDWARD W. RYAN IS DEAD IN TEHERAN, PERSIA

Washington, Sept. 20—Dr. Edward W. Ryan, internationally known for his work in combatting epidemics, is dead in Teheran, Persia, of heart disease, according to a cablegram received today by the state department. Dr. Ryan was in Teheran as municipal expert under the authority of the Persian government, and is said to have been in a weakened condition for some time as a result of an attack of malarial fever.

Dr. Ryan, who was a veteran of the American Red Cross relief work in Europe both before the world war and after the armistice, rendered conspicuous services as head of the medical unit which waged a winning fight in Siberia against the typhus epidemic that cost an untold number of lives there. Later, he headed a commission sent to western Russia and again through his energetic efforts much good was accomplished.

After dismissal the Sir Knights were dined in the vestry of the Episcopal and Broad Street Christian churches. Grand Master of Masons Brown of Connecticut was unable to be present. A brief congratulatory address was made by Grand Comander Macpherson at the Episcopal vestry following th roast beef d ner. During the evening the various bands played on the church lawn.

At 8.15 a special theatre party had been arranged at the Bliven Opera house and the Sir Knights and band viewed motion pictures and "The League of Nonsense" which was presented by the vaudeville company. The regular programme was supplemented by reference to some of the prominent knights present. Brief addresses were made by the grand commander and the commanders of the three commanders in attendance. At an early hour the visiting knights returned home, having expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the reception accorded them.

STONINGTON

With much sorrow friends of Newell M. Smith, of Wequetequock, learned of his sad attack of insanity, while waiting for a trolley at his home on Tuesday. Mr. Smith Tuesday morning was waiting for a trolley car to come along to go to his work at the Atwood Machine company's plant at Stonington, when he began to rave and threaten all near him. An officer was called from Pawcatuck, and he was looked after, so as he could do no bodily harm to himself. He was later ordered by Judge Frank Hinckley of the probate court here to be taken to the Norwich State Hospital. Only Monday, he celebrated his birthday and a party was held at his home and he seemed to enjoy it. He is president of the Community House club at Wequetequock, and always took an active part in the affairs of the village.

Funeral services for William F. Broughton were held at his home on Cannon Square, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. D. C. Stone, pastor of the Second Congregational church, officiated. There was a large delegation from Ruth Chapter, No. 44, O. E. S., Asylum Lodge, No. 7, A. F. & A. M., of Stonington, Palestine Commandery, K. T., of New London, and Palestine Shrine, of Providence, R. I., also from Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, of which Mr. Broughton was a charter member. The Masons took charge at the grave. Burial was in Stonington cemtery.

The football team of Stonington will be unusually well equipped this year, as there is an abundance of material available and Coach Connors should have a good team in the field this year. The schedule, while not complete is as follows: Saturday, Oct. 6, Stonington and Norwich at Norwich; Saturday, Oct. 13, Chapman Tech vs. Stonington at Stonington; Friday, Oct. 19, Plainfield vs. Stonington at Stonington; Saturday, Oct. 27, Stonington vs. Norwich at Stonington; Saturday, Nov. 3, Chapman Tech vs. Stonington, at New London; Monday, Nov. 12, Stonington vs. Westerly, at Westerly; Friday, Nov. 16, Stonington vs. Plainfield at Plainfield; Thursday, Nov. 29, Westerly vs. Stonington at Stonington. A fund for the purchase of a tackling dummy for the team has been made up and the amount contributed insures the team the advantage enjoyed by many of their rivals. The sums were limited to fifty cents, yet $53 has been raised.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Noyes, who formerly resided in the borough, and later have lived in Pawcatuck, will move to East Haven, where Mr. Noyes is superintendent of schools. Mr. Noyes taught here in the high school before leaving the borough.

A party of seventy persons assembled at Red Brook, Saturday evening, to see a large collection of etchings, chiefly by Andreas Zorn, which had been brought from New London by their owner, F. V. Chappell. Mr. Chappell gave an interesting account of what is one of the best collections in this country. Mr. Chappell has 120 Zorns. He also brought to Stonington several other valuable etchings, such as examples by Mantegna and Rembrandt. After his informal talk Mr. and Mrs. Streeter served supper to the guests.

Silk Frocks For Autumn Wear

New Silks Bought Prior to the Present Situation.

$10.00

These were bought before the present situation arose, and we do not doubt that, were we forced to buy the same garments today, the cost to us would make the ten dollar price out of the question.

These are clever frocks, featuring all of the newer style tendencies, navy, brown and black predominating. There are many of the snappy, dressy little frocks for the young women, together with more conservative designs for matrons.

On Our Racks at the Present Minute Ready for Your Selection for Only..... $10.00

MYSTIC

Mozart Gallup, 94, died at his home, 532 Wayne street, Sandusky, Ohio, on Sept. 6. His body was placed in the vault at Oaklawn cemetery, and will be brought to Mystic for burial. He is survived by his widow, Gladys Overmeyer, two children, Frank, of Colorado, and Mary, of Sandusky, a granddaughter, Helen Pyle, and five grandchildren. Mr. Gallup was an uncle of Mrs. Alden Fish, of Mystic.

When the Women's Relief Corps held a meeting in G. A. R. hall, it was shown by the report that there have been 11 calls made on the sick and shut-in members. Mrs. Ellery Burdick, chairman of the committee in charge of the play, The Merry-Go-Round, reported the financial results all that could be desired. The following were appointed on the good of the order committee, for the next three months: Mrs. Leota Wilcox, Mrs. Margaret Eldridge and Mrs. Marie Grancis. A social hour followed the meeting.

Donations to the Japanese relief fund are still coming in and have been reported by the local Red Cross, from this branch: Miss Eleanor Fish $3; Miss Susan Fish, $1; Mrs. Gurdon Allyn $3; Miss Helen F. Wilbur $1; Mrs. Nancy Packer, $2; J. B. Grinnell, $2; St. Mark's church, $17.15; Mrs. Ellen Fish, $1. The total to date is $213.15.

Norman Fuller of West Mystic is suffering with a sprained ankle.

Herbert E. Angell of Scarsdale, N. Y., is visiting in the village.

Wednesday evening at the Methodist church, Rev. W. H. Bath, district superintendent of Norwich, addressed the members at the prayer meeting. Following the meeting the quarterly conference was held.

George N. Lewis, of the village has been called to New York, by the illness of his brother.

Robert Knowlton of Stafford Springs is the guest of relatives here this week.

Mrs. Charles Nye, who has been spending the summer here, has returned to her home in New York.

It's difficult for a truthful man to become an enthusiast.

Absence makes the picture postcards accumulate.

MAGICAL BEAUTIFIERS
FOR WOMEN

Women everywhere are trying all kinds of beautifiers, only to find that their efforts are transitory. The first requisite of beauty is health. Without it the steps lag, eyes are lusterless, dark circles appear beneath them, the complexion becomes sallow, and almost invariably the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to women. There is a very inexpensive remedy for this condition in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for nearly fifty years has been relieving women from some of the worst forms of female ills. Why not let it restore you to health and beauty and the joys of living?

YELLOW TAXI CAB CO., NEW LONDON DEPRIVED OF OFFICE PRIVILEGE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 20.—Harry G. Lyon, 42, died last night at his home, 11 Lincoln avenue, after a lingering illness. Mr. Lyon is survived by his wife and mother. He was employed as time clerk by the New Haven railroad at the Union Station here.

The funeral of John Bloomfield of 34 West Coit street a former employe of the Robert Gair company at Montville, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home. The services were conducted by Rev. Philip M. Kerridge of St. James' Episcopal church. The bearers were Michael Delmore, Edward Thomas, Joseph Miller and Frederick Beebe. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Joseph Silvestara of 34 Shaw street, and Miss Andena Nistianazo of 6 Mitchell court, were married this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church by Rev. William C. Fitzsimmons. Peter Castagna was best man and Miss Jeane Castagna attended the bride. Misses Susie and Jennie Nistianaza, sisters of the bride, were the flower girls.

W. A. Anderson of New London will be presented before Justice of the Peace Thomas F. Morton in the Waterford town court tomorrow evening, on the charge of reckless driving, due to an automobile accident in which Anderson figured last April, when his car was in collision with an automobile owned and operated by Lieutenant Commander J. E. Maher, U. S. N., at that time stationed at the submarine base. It is understood that the action is the result of the persistency in which Lieut. Com. Maher has made complaint against Anderson. The accident occurred on the Fog Plain road, Waterford and Lieut. Com. Maher declared that Anderson was responsible for the collision which resulted in the former's automobile being damaged.

George M. Wilkins, of 38 Hill street, complained to the police this morning that while he was absent from his home yesterday afternoon a thief entered the place and stole $7. It is believed that the crook had knowledge of Wilkins' movements and where the money was secreted.

An automobile in passing through Bank street late last night caused a stone to be forced from beneath the tire with such force that the missle struck one of the windows of the store of Hirsch & Company, smashing the window.

The fine condition of the Norwich turnpike from New London is in marked contrast to the streets of this city, for the roads here are so poor in spots.

Harry Twiss of Alger place, inspector in the employ of the Connecticut company, is in Stamford visiting his brother, Merton Twiss, a former conductor on the Central Vermont railroad, who is now under treatment at a Stamford sanatorium.

Miss Ruth Nichols, a student at the Rhode Island training school for nurses, Providence, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Nichols.

Attorney and Mrs. W. H. Holman of Bangor, Me., are guests of Mr. Holman's brother, A. W. Holman.

Mrs. Charles McCoombs and son Charles returned to Boston today after being guests for several days of Mrs. W. H. Godfrey.

Robert Rowley of School street, Mrs. Michael Parmiero, Westerly, Mrs. Horace Beets and infant son of the United States Coast Guard academy, Mrs. Thomas Malloy, Bank street, Mrs. Thomas Moreno, Niantic, and Mrs. Robert Metteson of Uncasville were patients discharged at Lawrence hospital today.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holdredge of Providence are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William R. Cromwell of Poquonoc.

Benjamin Benvenuti, proprietor of an artificial stone establishment at 62 Hempstead street, complained to the police this evening because of youths causing damage at his place. The boys have made a practice of going to the yard and demolishing quantities of the artificial stone that was to be used in construction work by contractors.

An automobile owned and operated by John J. Kelley of Huntington street was damaged last night when the machine collided with a two-horse team on Logger Hill. Mr. Kelley escaped injury.

Peter Loscano of Broad street was arrested tonight on a charge of fraud. He furnished a surety in his brother Vincenzo on a bond of $500 for his court appearance. It is alleged that Loscano represented himself to Angelina Tudisco as the lawful agent of Mrs. Bridget Ryan of Bank street and as such was authorized to dispose of certain real estate belonging to Mrs Ryan. Acting as such represented agent, Loscano obtained $400 from the Tudisco woman as an option price on Bank street real estate owned by Mrs. Ryan. Loscano was unable to deliver the property to the Tudisco woman and it is further understood that he did not return to her the $400 fee collected.

Mary Dow, the young girl found stranded on the streets last evening, who was trying to get to New Haven from Providence for the purpose of continuing her work as a missionary, left for New Haven this morning, having been provided with a place of shelter last evening by Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield.

The Yellow Taxicab company, which recently obtained permission from the New Haven railroad to establish an office beneath the stairway to the overhead bridge at the union station, is to be compelled to vacate the premises, inasmuch as the city claims to be the owner of the property and that in leasing the stand to the cab company the railroad exceeded its authority. City Manager William A. Holt this afternoon forwarded a communication to the local railroad officials requesting that the stand be removed without delay. The action of City Manager Holt was brought about as the result of operators of other taxicabs at the union station lodging a grievance with him because the cab company was allowed to maintain an office beneath the stairway.

Lodging house thieves who have operated with a great deal of success in New London for a number of months continue to ply their trade for tonight Don Shepard reported to Patrolman Thomas Lyden that Sunday a gold watch was stolen from his room at 76 Golden street. Shepard did not make an earlier report of the thift because he did not suspect the thief until this evening when he was informed that the fellow who was in his room last Sunday was about the streets offering a watch for sale

The police were informed this evening that a New London owned automobile was suspected of being used in trafficking liquor, but little credence is given the report because the registration of the machine, which was supplied to the police shows that the car suspected is one owned by a reputable physician and that only the physician operates the car and does not employ a chauffeur.

A section of sewer has been completed on Montauk avenue on Denison avenue and now work has been commenced on Moore avenue.

Capt. Charles T. Potter, of Norwich, who has been engaged in mission work many years, spoke in New London this evening at the Learned Mission. He is 78 but many a younger man would not be able to follow him in his daily rounds and in his work. Capt. Potter came from Noank originally.

Police Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman Philopena, who have formed the flying squad of the New London police have been away from their newest assignment since the superior court has been in session at Norwich, but now they have been relieved from attendance there as the case on trial is not one in which they were concerned in getting evidence, so they can apply themselves to hunting liquor law violators in this city and vicinity.

A real estate owner pointed out today a reason for the falling off of work in building construction. He said, pointing to a small bungalow that had recently been built and on which no money was spent for embellishment that would be regarded as other than necessary that the land and building cost the owner $8,000. The money invested in the property represented, had it been deposited in a savings bank, $360 a year before any taxes or insurance or wear and tear and the ordinary expenses that come to the average house every year. That, said the experienced man, is more than the average worker can afford to pay for house rent. At that price the real estate man said, there would be fewer homes erected the balance of the year than have been erected in the nine months that have passed. He also pointed out that there was no important construction being done and that the men who had the most money to build with and to alter property they now own, were steering clear of doing work now. He predicted that next spring the change would come and that then wages would be decreased and the cost of material would be lowered.

The Truth About Eczema and Piles

"Thousands and thousands of people," says Peterson of Buffalo, "are learning every week that one 35-cent box of Peterson's Ointment will abolish eczema and banish piles, and the grateful letters I receive every day are worth more to me than money."

"I had eczema for many years on my head and could not get anything to stop the agony. I saw your ad and got one box and I owe you many thanks for the good it has done me. There isn't a blotch on my head now and I couldn't help but thank Peterson, for the cure is great," Miss Mary Hill, 420 Third Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I have had itching piles for 15 years and Peterson's is the only ointment that relieves me, besides the piles seem to have gone." A. B. Ruger, 1127 Washington Ave., Racine, Wis.

Use Peterson's Ointment for old sores, salt rheum, chafing and all skin diseases. Druggists recommend it.

WHAT EVERY FORWARD LOOKING FARMER SHOULD SEE.

(Written Specially for the Bulletin)

In a memorial to the late Dr. Hopkins, famous soil expert of the Illinois university, Ralph Allen of that university's soil advisory committee says flatly:

"I have become convinced that there is not a foot of the ground in Illinois or perhaps elsewhere but that could be made to produce the very largest crops, and made to produce them profitably to the farmer."

As the slangsters phrase it, that is saying a mouthful. I'll leave it to any old farmer of Preston or North Stonington if it isn't. I think I could pick out several feet of ground in those townships which neither of us would, off-hand, consider desirable farming soil. In fact, there are some hundreds if not some thousands of acres scattered over all Eastern Connecticut which would seem quite hopeless propositions to any experienced farmer.

Nevertheless, some of us old hayseeds have lived long enough to have learned caution in saying that this, that or the other thing can't be done. We are chary of asserting impossibilities. The world is full of things that one-time wiseacres said couldn't be made, and is constantly doing things which the same old moss-backs swore couldn't be done.

According to tradition, one dogmatic old Englishman was so cocksure that Stephenson's new-fangled steam locomotive couldn't make five miles an hour that he declared he'd eat it if it did. Later, when it puffed past him at better than twelve miles an hour, he discovered that he'd spoken for a big and highly indigestible mouthful.

Twenty-five years ago, when I found myself being forced into market gardening by various external pressures, I was warned that I'd never make a "go" of it, because most of the soil available to me was gravelly. "And the one only kind of soil which isn't fit for gardening is gravel," I was told. Leachy, you know. Won't hold manure. Burns out in a drouth, etc, etc.

I lived long enough to have some of those prophets of evil and seers of disaster buying garden vegetables of me, because they couldn't raise them on their own loamier lands so early nor of so good quality. This story is not told as a "brag", but simply as an illustration of the possible truth contained in Mr. Allen's blunt assertion that most any ground can be made to produce good and profitable crops.

It can if it is treated intelligently and tended to assiduously. It demands both sorts of handling. The job can't be done if you go at it "by guess and by gosh," nor if you neglect it when it is in need of attention. But when the farmer puts his best intelligence and his most honest effort and his strenuous labor in charge of any old piece of ground, I for one, am inclined to look for interesting results.

There is at least one better reason for looking for such results than is found either in Mr. Allen's brave words, or in my garden trials. That reason is right in the middle of Eastern Connecticut, accessible to almost any farmer who will take the trouble to "go-look-see". It's not on any rich black, deep Illinois prairie, but on a thin-soiled, ledgy, rock-peppered hill in Storrs,—a patch which, as I think I have said before, no old farmer like you and I would have considered fit for a goat pasture.

And yet the genius and grit of one man have, in seven years, transformed that hopeless barren into a garden-spot of almost unequalled fertility and productiveness. Nor has this result been accomplished at the cost of vast sums in the way of fertilising and coddling. Experimental fields at experiment stations are not usually expected to pay. Nor do they. But Prof. Esten of Storrs has actually made his independent fertility field pay its way, and more, too. It has been turned from a deserted waste into a growing gem of greenery, getting richer and richer each year, and yet paying as its has developed.

It's average gross income, last year, was in the neighborhood of $150 an acre. The cost of raising and harvesting the crops is more difficult to get at, since so many varieties are grown, many of them in small plots. But a hastily arrived at estimate makes this cost about $55 an acre. Admitting possibilities of error in this and assuming a cost of as much as $60—and I own up I can't see how it can be made to amount to so much—this leaves a net return of $100 an acre.

One hundred dollars is ten per cent. of one thousand dollars. The investor who can get ten per cent., net, these days, has no kick coming. Capitalizing that independent fertility field, then, on this basis,—that of paying ten per cent. on a thousand dollars, we get that latter figure as the reasonable value per acre of the land which seven years ago, neither you nor I would have given ten dollars an acre for.

I wish every forward-looking farmer in Eastern Connecticut could see that hilltop, as I have now seen it on two occasions. No other man can describe it to you as your own eyes could. Nor does it take a college student to understand it,—its appearance, its former ghastliness, and the why and wherefore of the change. Any farmer who can see the difference between a jungle and a garden, between a desert and a meadow, between two tons of rowen to the acre and a bare spot on the top of the ground,—can get worth while lessons up there.

There is one row of alfalfa plats, seven of them, each one treated in a different way, which would tell the would-be alfalfa grower more at one glance than I could tell in a column. Near by is a comparison in timothy, something we all know about, or think we do. From one plat, whose previous history was that it had small dressings of farm manure for three years, followed by raw rock phosphate and raw ground lime was cut, this past summer, over 14,000 pounds of green timothy to the acre, and the aftermath the first of September, was justifiably gradable at 90 per cent. of a perfect stand. Right beside it was a plat fertilized with 500 pounds to the acre of a 4-8-4 commercial fertilizer, which produced, the same season, 9,441 pounds of green timothy and, next in line, a check plat, wholly untreated to show the natural capacity of the soil, which yielded 3,170 pounds. There was absolutely no trace of aftermath on the untreated plat, September first, and hardly any on that given the 4-8-4 dressing.

The lines of demacation between these variously treated plats were as sharp, almost, as if drawn with a pencil and rule, the only traces of vagueness being in spots where the slope has permitted some of the fertility of one plat to wash down over the edge of the next.

Of course, it isn't wholly raw phosphate and raw lime which has done this. They have helped, but the coordinating factor, the "big push," has come from the action of bacteria-nurturing legumes and the regularly plowed-under stalks and stubble and weeds, which give the needed humus.

By the way, in this connection, here is something Prof. Esten told me which I had not known, and perhaps you hadn't either: Sweet clover is a better bacteria nurse than either soy beans or alfalfa. Where ordinary clover will fix from the air only about 40 pounds of nitrogen, and soy beans and alfalfa about 50 pounds, sweet clover will fix 80 pounds from the same area and under the same conditions.

In a plat of popcorn I saw the answer to those who don't want to waste every other year raising legumes to fertilize the next year's crops. They don't have to. In this plat soy beans were planted with the corn, in the same hill. They don't intesfere at all with the growth of the corn. After the ears are gathered, plow both the beans and the cornstalks under, and next year plant corn right over again, the same way on the same ground. If that isn't easy and cheap manuring, then what is? And there will be no odd and even years, no wasted summers.

Really, however, that dread of alternating fallow years, given over to legume production, is not one to shy at. It doesn't involve loss or mean waste, economically considered. Said Prof. Esten to me:

"Take two acres of ordinary farm land. I will agree to raise—I have raised—larger and more profitable crops on one of the acres, with legumes, lime, phosphate, and plowed-under humus, than the two acres will produce, treated in the ordinary way."

Ask anything better than that? You shake your head and strongly intimate that it's a pretty stiff story to swallow. Well, as I said before, don't take my word for it or Prof. Esten's either, if you're that kind of doubting Thomas. Just "go-look-see" for your own self. Seeing is believing, isn't it? Your own eyes are trustworthy, aren't they?

Here is the point: All over New England farming is looked on as a pretty precarious business. And, if we mean by that "farming as she is farmed" by most people, the popular impression is justified. The abandoned fields, the deserted farms, the vacant and decaying old farm houses which do; every New England landscape are mute but impressive witnesses that New England farming isn't what it once was.

Well, why should it be? Stage-coaching isn't what it once was, either. Nor whale-fishing. Nor flint-making. The railroads have put the coaches out of commission; electric lights beat sperm-oil lamps all hollow; and modern rifles with center-fire cartridges are better than flint-locks. Every one of these improvements is the result of scientific study leading to the practical application of scientific discovery.

Shall farming be the only exception? Because some scientific gent has discovered that we can raise and train armies of bacteria to do for us all that high-priced manures and high-waged hired men ever did—to do it cheaper, do it better, and do more of it, shall we reject the discovery and turn our backs on the proffered advantage because, forsooth, they smell of the laboratory and the test tube and the culture-frame?

Of course we can, if we're that sort. We can also bite off our own noses to spite our own faces, if we so elect.

But is either procedure sensible? Is it consonant with that "hard-headed practicality" of which we boast ourselves?

I would be the last man to preach purely theoretical farming. Nor am I disposed to call all change "progress." I firmly believe that many of the old ways are still and always will be the best ways. It would be a distinct improvement if we should go back to some of them.

But if I'm sinking in deep water I won't refuse to be pulled aboard an electric launch by a "dude" in silk swimming tights, just because he isn't an old-fashioned boatman in a row boat and clad in tarpaulins and a sou'wester hat.

Farming, as done in the stage-coach days of 1823, is played out in the New England of 1923. There's no use of our denying it. The very complaints and repinings of which we are full is proof of the fact.

We want to reinstate it. Of course we do. But we can't reinstate it by just plugging sullenly along the old way. Our own experience shows that. Here come Messrs. The Bacteria, 'steen billion strong, doffing their hats and saying, "Let us work for you. We'll gladly do it for nothing and board ourselves, if you'll just sow a few legumes for us to nest on and dress them with some cheap lime and phosphate."

Are we too proud or too stiff-necked to accept help on such terms?

THE FARMER.

Japanese Monarch Saved

The Emperor of Japan, who with all members of the reigning house, has been saved from death during the earthquakes which threaten to destroy the country. The royal palace has been thrown open to the quake refugees, who are homeless, and every member of the family is working to aid the stricken ones. The Emperor has sent out a proclamation, begging that the populace does not give way to hysteria.

GALES FERRY

Dr. A. Earl Kernahan of Boston spoke in the M. E. church Sunday morning from Mark 1: 14-15, The kingdom of God is at hand; repent ye. At the offertory, Pleasant Are Thy Courts, arranged for female voices, was sung. Dr. Kernahan came from Norwich, where he had spoken in Trinity M. E. church. Dr. Kernahan was greeted by the congregation following the service, as he had conducted special services here during July.

At the Sunday school session at 12, with Supt. C. E. Colver in charge, it was announced that Rally day for the school would be observed Sunday, Sept. 30.

At the Epworth league service Dudley C. Perkins was leader, with the topic Breaking New Trails.

Mrs. Frank A. Aplin of Preston spent the week end at her Gales Ferry residence, accompanied by Mrs. Sills of Chicago, who has been Mrs. Aplin's guest at the Aplin farm in Preston for three weeks. Mrs. Sills left for New York Monday from here.

Relaying the steel rails on the branch of the New Haven railroad through Gales Ferry, from Groton to Norwich, was begun and completed last Sunday. More than 500 men, with freight train supplying the rails, were engaged in the work.

Walter M. Buckingham, paying teller, Thames National bank, Norwich, and Mrs. Buckingham left their home Sunday in their car on a motor trip to Lake Minnewaska, N. Y., to be gone a week.

Recent callers at the home of Noyes B. Allyn were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bell of Windsor Locks, with Mrs. Bell's sister, Miss Emma Larrabee, of Windham, who motored here to Mr. Bell's car.

Rev. Horace B. Sloat of the northern Baptist board of promotion, Hartford, joined his family at their cottage last week and Monday they closed the cottage, returning to Suffield.

Miss Ethel Woodward of Storrs spent the week end at the M. E. parsonage with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Woodward, and entertained Miss Mary Ranch of Niantic.

Guests at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Risdon over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lewis of New York, with E. E. Lewis, Jr., and Charles Risdon, also of that city.

Miss Jennie G. Perkins, clerk in the Thames National bank, Norwich, is having her vacation, part of which will be spent in Philadelphia.

Many a society woman who is a chronic invalid prides herself upon her lovely indisposition.

MARKET WAS DULL.

New York, Sept. 20.—Professional speculators for the decline regained control of today's stock market, bringing about another sharp recession in prices after a strong opening. Owing to the Jewish religious holiday, trading was lighter than usual.

Selling pressure was concentrated in the steel equipment and motor stocks and a few specialties. American Woolen broke more than 5 points to 77 1-8on the circulation of unconfirmed rumors that current earnings were poor, the outlook for spring business unsatisfactory and a reduction in the dividend likely. The oils showed evidence of better support; losses in the active issues being held to a point or so. Further readjustments in crude prices were announced during the day.

While Wall Street seemed to agree with Secretary Mellon that the business situation was economically sound and the banking and credit situation was good, some concern was expressed over his statement expressing the opinion that rail rates on farm products should be vised downward. This was reflected in the liquidation of the rail shares particularly the northwestern carriers which would be the most vitally affected by such a change. The grangers all closed at their lowest prices of the day, the net losses running from small fractions to nearly 2 points. Previously, the rails had offered stubborn resistance to selling pressure.

Heavy offerings of the steel shares apparently were predicated on scattered reports of cuts in steel prices by independent companies and further evidence of lessened production in both raw and finished products. U. S. Steel common broke below 87 for a new low on the movement, closing at 87 1-8 for a net loss of 1 5-8. Heaviness of this issue undoubtedly discouraged bullish operations in other quarters. The independent steels also registered losses of a point or so.

Rubbers also were inclined to give away on reports of additional tire price cuts. U. S. Rubber closed at 37, off 1, but Kelly-Springfield snapped back to 27 for a slight fractional gain on the day after having sold as low as 26 3-8. Heaviness of the motor issues was associated with reports that manufacturers will have to contend next year with an unusually large number of second hand cars that are being pressed for sale.

The meeting of Cosden Oil company directors, scheduled for today, was postponed until Friday. The latest gossip is that the annual rate will be cut from $4 to $2, but no confirmation of this could be obtained from authoritative sources.

Sugar shares continued to respond to higher commodity prices, the gains running as high as 3 points. Resumption of dividends by the Cuban-American company led to reports that similar action was being contemplated in the near future by the Punta Alegre and Manati companies, but these also lacked verification.

Money for stock market purposes was again in plentiful supply, the call rate opening at 4 1-4 but dropping to 3 1-2 before the close. Time money also softened, the relatively high rates here attracting interior funds. The ruling rate for the longer maturities continued at 5 1-2 per cent. but some 30 day loans were arranged as low as 5 1-4. Brokers' loans are now estimated at $1,400,000,000, a shrinkage of $50,000,00 in the last month and $600,000,000 below the high figure of the year.

Foreign exchanges were higher in response to the more favorable political developments in Europe. Demand sterling was up nearly half a cent at $4.54 and German marks jumped from 50 to 90 cents a hundred million.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Wheat scored a material fresh advance in price here today, largely as a result of the fact that the Winnipeg market was strong, notwithstanding big rural deliveries. Chicago closing quotations were unsettled, 3-4 to 1 1-4c net higher, with December 1.03 3-4@7-8 to 103 7-8 and May 109 1-4. Corn finished 7-8 to 3-8c up, oats at 1-8 to 1-4c gain, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 12 cents.

Obstinate resistance which the wheat market here has shown against recent selling pressure, gave bulls an initial advantage that was enhanced by talk of an early settlement of differences between France and Germany and by gossip about Washington plans for farm relief measures. Reports of snow and rain in the Canadian northwest tended also to lift values but the chief focus of attention was the evident upward tendency of Winnipeg quotations, despite the fact that Canadian farmers were delivering about 5,000,000 bushels every 24 hours, a total considerably more than was the case a year ago.

It was explained that so far the hugh deliveries of wheat in Canada had proved to be no burden because the growers were retaining ownership to a large extent by taking storage tickets. In addition, much of the wheat delivered in Canada was said to be to apply on previous sales unfilled bwing to smallness of the Canadian old crop carryover. On the other hand, independent strength of the corn market here also was more or less effective as a stimulus to wheat values.

Wet weather unfavorable for maturing the new corn crop, especially in fields damaged by frost was chiefly responsible for lifting the corn market. Oats were firmer with other grains.

Provisions averaged higher as a result of an upturn in hog values.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Sept. 20.—Easier money rates, which may be only temporary, helped to strengthen today's bond market but the spread between bid and asked prices continued rather wide in a number of popular issues.

French bonds improved moderately in response to the better tone of the reparations news and this also had a beneficial effect on the copper company liens on the theory that a settlement of the Ruhr problem will revive a brisk export demand for copper. U. S. government bonds continued to fluctuate within narrow and irregular limits.

Cuban republic 5 1-2s, which have been under pressure lately as a result of the pro-rating of $10,000,000 worth of unsold bonds among members of the offering syndicate, recovered more than a point on advices that a satisfactory devision of the tariff bill had been made and that its passge was likely. Mexican government 4s broke 2 1-2 to 30 1-2.

Railroad mortgages were mixed. Wheeling & Lake Erie Consolidated 4s gained nearly 2 points while Rock Island refunding 4s touched a new and Rock Island, Arkansas & Louisiana 4 1-2s dropped a point. Rubber and oil company liens were again under pressure because of unsettled trade conditions.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Sept. 20.—Trading in today's curb market was sluggish with price changes irregular. Announcements of additional crude oil cuts made before the market opened failed to bring out any extensive liquidation. A few rallies were staged in this group but these gains were not held when the general list shaded in sympathy with the reaction on "the big board."

Standard Oil of Indiana fluctuated within a radius of 1 point, closing at a slight fractional loss on total transactions of only 12,600 shares. Standard Oils of Kansas and New York, Vacuum, Mutual, Mountain Producers and Gulf of Pennsylvania showed nominal gains while Standard Oil of Kentucky dropped 1 1-4 and the losses in some of the pipe line companies were as much as 2 1-2 points.

Industrials were heavy. Gillette Safety Razor broke 4 points, Durant Motors, 2 1-8, and Midvale Steel, 1.

Announcement of an extra disbursement of 3 per cent to stockholdere of the Nipissing Mines Co., in addition to the regular quraterly dividend of the same amount, brought forth only a feeble rally. Most of the penny stocks lost ground.

METAL MARKET.

New York, Sept. 20.—Copper easy; electrolytic; spot and futures 13 3-8 @13 1-2. Tin easy; spot and futures 41.37. Iron steady; prices unchanged. Lead steady; spot 6.85@7.40. Zinc easy; East St. Louis spot and nearby delivery 6.40. Antimony, spot 7.45@7.55.

MONEY.

New York, Sept. 20.—Call money easy; high 4 1-4; low 3 1-2; ruling rate 4 1-4; closing bid 3 1-2; offered at 3 3-4; last loan 3 1-2; call loans against acceptances 4.

COTTON.

New York, Sept. 20.—Cotton spot quiet; middling 30.50.

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally, or chronically, from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestents, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or two tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals, with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful ant-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and without the slightest pain or discomfort. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

Notice is hereby given that at an adjourned meeting of the Court of Common Council of the City of Norwich held in the Council Chamber Monday evening, Sept. 10th, 1923, the following propositions and reports were submitted by the Committee on Public Works and the last resolution in each contained was adopted:
To the Court of Common Council of the City of Norwich:
The Public Works Committee recommend the passage of the following resolutions:
Resolved, That the grade for the walk on the westerly side of Rose place be, and the same hereby is, established as follows: Beginning at the southwest corner of Main street and Rose place at a level of 19 65-100 feet above mean tide, and 3 feet above the stone underpinning of the Palace Theatre, on Rose place, and running southerly along the westerly line of Rose place as follows:
39 feet falling 3 15-100 feet
76 feet falling 2 feet
Resolved, That the width of the sidewalk on the westerly side of Rose place be, and the same is hereby, established as six feet.
Resolved, That consideration of the foregoing resolutions relative to the establishment of a grade and width of a walk on the westerly side of Rose place be postponed to a meeting of the Court of Common Council to be held at the Council Chamber in said City on the 1st day of October, 1923, at 8 o'clock in the evening, and that notice thereof be given in manner required by law to all persons interested to appear if they see cause and be heard in relation thereto.
Respectfully submitted.
HENRY GEBRATH,
J. E. FITZGERALD,
A. G. LILLIBRIDGE,
Committee on Public Works.
Norwich, Sept. 10, 1923.

To the Court of Common Council of the City of Norwich:
The Public Works Committee recommend the passage of the following resolutions:
Resolved, That the following proprietors of land on the westerly side of Rose place be, and they hereby are, ordered at their own expense to build in front of their premises, sidewalks of cement concrete or granite, to the satisfaction of the Street Commissioner of the City of Norwich, and have said work completed on or before the 1st day of November, 1923, viz.:
Peter Sellas and Theodore J. Constantine.
Resolved, That provided that said sidewalks and curbs on the westerly side of Rose place are not constructed as directed in the foregoing resolution by Nov. 1, 1923, the Street Commissioner is hereby directed to build and construct said sidewalks and curbs in accordance with the intent of the foregoing resolution, the just expense of the work so done by the Street Commissioner to be paid by the respective owners above mentioned neglecting said order.
Resolved, That the consideration and hearing upon the foregoing resolutions relative to the construction of said sidewalks be postponed to a meeting of the Court of Common Council to be held at the Council Chamber in said City on the 1st day of October, 1923, at 8 o'clock in the evening, and that notice thereof be given in the manner required by law to the persons named in the resolution and all others interested to appear, if they see cause, and be heard in relation thereto.
Respectfully submitted.

$500 FINE AND 6 MONTHS JAIL FOR SECOND OFFENSE ON LIQUOR

Sebastian Muscarella of 21 Shaw street, New London, twice Thursday in the superior court here had verdicts of "guilty" passed upon him by the jury before which he has been on trial for violation of the liquor law. As a second offender, Judge Allyn L. Brown fined Muscarella $500 and costs and sentenced him to six months in jail.

This is the first time that the "second offense" clause of the statute on liquor law violation has been brought into application in the present term of the court and the penalty is the heaviest that has been imposed in a liquor case.

When court opened in the morning State Attorney Hadlai A. Hull concluded his argument in the Muscarella case which he had begun Wednesday afternoon. Judge Brown charged the jury and after the twelve men had been out about an hour they returned with a verdict of not guilty of sale or keeping with intent to sell liquor on Aug. 17, but guilty on reputation.

Defense Attorney Fights Hard.

When the jury had reported, through Ashley T. Boon, foreman, the twelve men were excused from the court room while State Attorney Hull introduced new information against Muscarella as a second offender against the prohibition law. This was the record of the New London police court in November, 1921, showing that Muscarella had been convicted there of liquor violation.

Attorney Thomas E. Troland, the counsel for the defendant, told the court that the police court verdict had been appealed to the court of common pleas and the state had failed to show the action of the court in the disposition of the case so that there was no conclusive evidence of a second offense.

Judge Brown took a recess for an hour to consider whether the state would be permitted to reopen the case and introduce the record from the other court.

In the afternoon, after the recess, the state attorney filed an amendment to the first information, alleging in it the second offense charge, and Judge Brown admitted the records of the lower court over the strenuous objection and argument of Attorney Troland for the defendant.

When Muscarella was put to plea on the second offense charge, his attorney directed him to reply, "I have nothing to say." This Muscarella did and Judge Brown then directed him to reply "Not guilty" and elect trial by jury.

After Muscarella had complied with this order of court the trial proceeded with Attorney Troland objecting to the taking of any testimony and asking that an exception be noted, which Judge Brown alloyed. State Attorney Hull called on J. Frank Corey, as assistant clerk of the common pleas court, who produced the court's record showing that Muscarella had been convicted in December, 1921, of violation of the liquor law and had been fined $100 on each of two counts, besides receiving a jail sentence of 30 days which was suspended.

The state attorney also put in an exhibit the New London police court record of Feb. 17, 1923, when Muscarella was found guilty of liquor law violation and took an appeal to the common pleas court. The New London court record showed that Muscarella had settled a $200 fine in March.

This closed the evidence and neither attorney made an argument to the jury but Judge Brown gave them the case after a short charge. They came back with a verdict of guilty in about fifteen minutes.

After hearing a plea for leniency for Muscarella from Attorney Troland, which was opposed by the state attorney, Judge Brown passed the sentence.

NORWICH RADIO CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

At their weekly meeting in the Thayer building Tuesday evening members of the Norwich Radio club elected the following officers for the 1923-1924 season:

President, Percy Cruthers; vice president, Joseph French; secretary, William Wyman; assistant secretary, Clarence Luther; treasurer, L. J. Smith; assistant treasurer, Vincent Walsh; publicity manager, Norman Soules; traffic manager, Ashby J. Fitzgerald; technical committee, L. J. Smith, J. French, M. Scapian (New London); social committee, V. Walsh, C. Twist, G. Letender.

Plans were discussed for the coming year, which is expected by all amateurs to be one of the biggest in radio for all, broadcast listeners and amateurs both. Many big events and tests were planned for this winter at the second national convention of the American Radio Relay league held in Chicago last week.

GROTON-NORWICH RAIL LAYING BIG JOB FOR 500 MEN

The New Haven road officials consider that the relaying of 10 1-2 miles of single track on the Norwich branch from Groton to Norwich Sunday was the longest piece of track laying in a day ever carried through on the system. The work began at sunrise and was finished at 5 p. m. The new rail is 107 pounds to the yard and all men available on the Shore Line division, 500, were on the job. Three heavy construction trains were made use of and all the rails were placed by machinery.

The work necessitated the taking up of the old rails, the replacing of many ties, the spiking of the new irons and the connecting, bolting and bonding of the same.

NORWICH BOY SCOUTS DEMONSTRATE IN COLCHESTER

Ten Boy Scouts and officials made an automobile trip to Colchester Tuesday night and presented the subject of Scouting to a large group of boys and men in the assembly room of Bacon academy. The boys and officials were very cordially received by Mr. Bunyan, Prof. Gregory and Superintendent of Schools Libby and others.

Among those visiting were Scout Executive F. A. Benton, Scout Commissioner Robert W. Otis, Scoutmaster Frederic H. Wyant and a number of assistants and scouts. Mr. Benton stated the objects and principles of the scout movement, its world wide character, its complete program, and the fun to be derived in doing the scout work. It covered the whole program of scout principles, the "good turn daily" and the wonderful scout oath and code of scout laws. In the community where many denominations exist and every boy knows every other boy, the scout feels friendly and works harmoniously with all other scouts.

Robert W. Otis, deputy scout commissioner, spoke of the scout good turns he had recently witnessed and endorsed the movement heartily. An ancestor of Mr. Otis was one of the founders of Bacon academy. F. H. Wyant gave a brief talk and told of the excellent work done by his troop in fighting forest fires last spring and the presence of several of his troop in demonstration of scout activities corroborated his statements that scouts are prepared. The scouts then gave demonstrations of first aid, Morse signaling, semaphore signaling, knot tying, friction fire making and bugling.

Norwich council will be pleased to assist in every possible way in promoting the formation of a scout troop in Colchester.

TAGGED LOBSTER TRAVELS 10 MILES IN 23 DAYS

The effort of the state department of fisheries and game to secure data on the movement of lobsters in Connecticut waters is receiving a good start. During the present season the department began tagging all egg-bearing lobsters which are brought in by fishermen.

Each lobster captured is tagged with a metal tag and is then liberated. When next caught a report is forwarded to the state department giving the place and time of capture.

Recent reports from three tagged lobsters have been received by Mr. Titcomb. Lobster No. 250, released at Millstone Point, August 18, was caught one mile east of Bartlett's Reef lightship on September 5. In nineteen days the lobster traveled four miles in a southeasterly direction.

Lobster No. 282, released one mile south of Hatchett's Point August 15, was caught half a mile west of Race Rock light on September 6. The distance covered in twenty-three days was ten miles in a southeasterly direction.

Lobster No. 335, released one mile east of Bartlett's Reef lightship Aug. 21, was caught west of Race Rock light on September 4. In fifteen days the lobster covered five miles in a southeasterly direction.

By the end of the season Mr. Titcomb expects to have 1,000 lobsters tagged.

THOMAS TRACY DEPUTY FOR NORWICH ELKS LODGE

Official announcement of the appointment by Grand Exalted Ruler James D. McFarland of the grand lodge of Elks of Thomas A. Tracy of Bristol and Frank E. Coe of Torrington as district deputy grand exalted rulers was received here today. The former is appointed deputy for the Connecticut East, which includes the Norwich lodge and the latter for Connecticut West. The names of Past Exalted Rulers Tracy and Coe were recommended for appointment to the deputyships at the Exalted Rulers' association early in the meeting of the Connecticut Past Exsummer.

MOOSUP MAN ELECTED BY TEXTILE FINISHERS

The National Association of Textile Finishers was organized at Warwick, R. I., Tuesday. Officers chosen included: President, James J. Burns, Washington; first vice president, John Lyons, Moosup, Conn.; second vice president, F. P. Charland, Franklin, N. H.; third vice president, Joseph H. ### TWO MEN ON TRIAL ON LIQUOR VIOLATION CHARGE

Peter Mros and Konstanty Piasctk of New London were put on trial in the superior court here late Thursday afternoon before Judge Allyn L. Brown and a jury on two counts alleging violation of the liquor law. Both pleaded not guilty to keeping a place in New London with the reputation of selling liquor and to a sale of liquor on Sept. 8, 1923. The saloon where it is alleged the violation took place is at the corner of John and North Bank streets. The two men are being tried together and are defended by Attorney G. C. Morgan.

Prosecuting Attorney D. J. Cronin of the New London police court was the first witness called for the state. After trying to ask several questions of Attorney Cronin, to all of which Attorney Morgan objected and had his objections sustained by the court, State Attorney Hull withdrew the witness for the present.

Police Officer Howard Sloan testified that he saw a sailor and three civilians talking on Bank street on Sept. 8 and saw one of the civilians go to the saloon at the corner of North Bank and John streets, then come out and go into a grocery store. When the man came out Sloan asked him what he had and the man said it was a pint of whiskey and a bottle of beer. The man took the officer back to the saloon where the man pointed out Piasctk as the one who sold him the liquor. Mros admitted. Officer Sloan said, that he owned the place.

Sloan produced two bottles which he said this man had in his pockets. One was a pint of whiskey and the other near-beer. He testified to a search of the place with other officers with a search warrant and finding two whiskey glasses. They were put in as exhibits. Officer Sloan also produced an empty pint bottle which he said he found in a box in the place where he had seen 26 or 30 bottles a few days before. Corks found in a drawer in the place were laid in as exhibits and two bottles from 100 cases of near-beer that Sloan said were there.

The officer said that what he had done had been under instruction from Mr. Cronin and that the man he followed to the saloon was John B. Turner. He identified Turner in the court room.

Attorney Morgan cross-examined the witness at length and drew out that Sloan could not tell whether the bottle of whiskey was in Turner's pocket before Turner went into the saloon. Sloan said he heard Turner say to the other men before he went to the saloon that he was going to get a pint. The officer said he went upstairs where the other officers were and saw about a dozen washed quart bottles near the stove in the kitchen.

The trial will be continued today (Friday) and it is the desire of the court to get it finished this week.

DEATH FOLLOWS FALL DOWN ELEVATOR SHAFT

Emil Caron, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Caron of Baltic, died shortly after midnight, standard time, Thursday at the Backus hospital from injuries received when he fell down an elevator shaft at the Baltic mill Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

He had been unconscious and in a critical condition since the accident, having been taken to the hospital soon afterward.

THE OLD-TIME BUSTLE REVIVED IN A HANDSOME DRESS MODEL

Designers of dresses have achieved some wonderfully fascinating results this season.

As noted Thursday, skirts are cut a trifle shorter than in the summer. All backs are straight, except that some houses are putting out a novel dress with bustle effect—and a very natty design it is.

One model shown yesterday was in black satin, with tier side of tan georgette with lace edge. On the opposite side was a charming Egyptian beaded pocket, after the type of the old-fashioned reticule. This smart dress would command attention anywhere and is priced $42.50.

Dresses in cocoa shades continue in popularity.

One model of black satin, finished with gold lace combined with flying squirrel, was a most distinguished looking garments, and was tagged $45.

An up to date street dress is exceedingly practical just at this season. Where the models described are to be seen, with others equally modish, will be learned by a study of The Bulletin's advertising columns today.

Before Federal Court

Twenty cases were on the call calendar of the United States district court for presentation before Judge Edwin S. Thomas at the opening of the September term of court at New Haven on Tuesday.

They included E. Blouts of Lisbon is charged with violation of the national prohibition law in possession of liquor, of materials and of manufacturing and Louis Markow of New London, charged with violation of the Mann act.

J., to take up sophomore year work at the Centenary Collegeiate Institute where she is a student in the general course.

Two Cases of Diphtheria.

Two cases of diphtheria were reported last week from Norwich according to the weekly report on communicable diseases issued by the state department of health. Communicable diseases reported from towns in eastern Connecticut follow: Diphtheria—Norwich 2, Typhoid fever—Waterford 1. Scarlet fever—Lebanon 1; Stafford 1.

NORWICH TOWN

Mrs. Charles F. Geer returned recently from a six days' automobile trip to Canada, having been the guest of relatives, going by way of Hartford, through the Berkshire hills, then by way of the beautiful lakes in passing through the larger cities in New York state as far as Lake George. Continuing, the tourists followed the St. Lawrence river for many miles until the Victoria jubilee bridge was reached, over which they crossed into Montreal. This bridge is three miles long. The trip covered about 1,500 miles, over excellent roads all the way, with the exception of two places where it was necessary to make a detour, some days traveling 300 miles. The tourists remained over night in various places along the route, visiting points of special interest wherever they stopped. While passing through New York state, Ausable chasm, one and one-half miles long, was the center of attraction, all having taken the trip through it. Here they inspected the menageries of fur animals, where are pet skunks, seals, foxes, etc.

Of interest was a visit to Glens Falls, where are the large plants that manufacture the paper for the newspapers in New York city.

While at Saratoga Springs they admired the beautiful decorations for the convention of the Mystic Shriners, then in session. During the six days Mrs. Geer was entertained at several dinners, also at theatre parties in a number of places. No tire trouble was experienced throughout the entire trip. The beautiful foliage at this season is changing to gorgeous coloring, the mountains in the distance and the beautiful lakes made the trip most delightful.

INTERNATIONAL PRESSMEN'S UNION TO BREAK N. Y. STRIKE

Has Signed an Agreement With the Publishers and Will Endeavor to Run Presses of Metropolitan Dailies—The Agreement Calls for the Dissolution of the Local Union and the Revocation of Its Charter—Lack of Newspaper Advertising is Seriously Felt in All Lines of Business—Opinion Prevails That Papers Will Not Be Printed Individually Before Monday—Messenger Boy Brutally Assaulted.

New York, Sept. 21—The New York Newspaper Publishers' Association and the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union early tonight signed an agreement under which the International Union will endeavor to run the presses of Metropolitan dailies while the local union, suspended from the International body, remains on strike.

The agreement calls for dissolution of the local union and the revication of its charter. The contract was signed by newspaper owners, President Berry and other officers of the International Union.

It was unofficially announced that the new contract would provide for weekly wage increase of $3 for the pressmen, a 45 hour week for day workers and a 41 hour week for night workers. Mr. Berry, it was understood, would meet the striking men at a mass meeting tonight and instruct them to return to work as members of the International Union, rather than as members of the former local union.

Before the agreement was reached several strikers were reported to have returned to work. Published reports turned to work. Published reports in the abbreviated afternoon papers confidently predicted a "great majority" of the members of the repudiated local union would resume their tasks with the International Union cards. David Simons, president of the local, however, insisted none of the men would return until their demands for a return to the working conditions preceding the so-called Manton award had been made.

Another paper appeared on the streets today under the name, The New York Union, and sold for three cents. Its maiden editorial described it as a "union paper in every sense of the word." It confessed its existence was due to the strike.

While the publishers and union chieftans were discussing proposals for settlement, Albert Sheldon, telegraph company messenger, lay near death in his Brooklyn home after being attacked by 13 men as he was attempting to deliver news dispatches to the Brooklyn Daily Eagle office. Still clutching his messages, the boy staggered into the office shortly after midnight this morning and said the men were waiting for him as he emerged from the Manhattan office of his company. He said they demanded his messages and when he refused to give them up, tripped him near a subway station and set upon him with fists and feet until he was half conscious. No policemen were in sight, he said, and pedestrians hurried on. The boy said he believed the conversation of the men identified them as strikers. Police who were notified later could find no trace of them.

Terms of the contract later were made public by Louis Wiley, business manager of the New York Times. They are as follows:

"The agreement announces the dissolution of the old local pressmen's union and the revocation of its charter.

"The International Union enters directly into relations with the publishers.

"The working hours are reduced from forty-eight hours day and night to forty-one hours night, and forty-five hours day.

"The basic wages are increased $3.00 a week and by reason of the reduction in hours, there is likewise a material increase in the total compensation.

"The other points of relationship are to be settled by conciliation and failing that by arbitration. In the event that the parties cannot agree upon arbitrators, Governor Smith is to nominate them."

Publishers planned to print the night paged combined newspapers tomorrow. The opinion that it would be Monday before the newspapers were printed individually was expressed in a majority of newspaper offices.

The contract, which goes into effect immediately provides for an eight-hour day shift and a night shift of six and one-half hours. The night shift, however, must work eight hours two nights a week. Shifts less than eight hours shall be continuous while men working on the longer shifts will be granted a half hour lunch period at the publishers' expense.

Working hours for the day shift, in the terms of the contract, must be between 7 a. m., and 7 p. m., while those on the night shift must be between 8 p. m. and 5 a. m., except on Saturday nights when the starting time for the night shift is advanced to 9 p. m. Color and rotogravure pressmen will work on three shifts, two of seven hours length and one eight hours.

Time and one-half for overtime within four hours is provided for. Should the men be called for work four hours before their regular time or caused to work an equal time after their quitting time, they will get double time. If called back to work after having received "good night" or "good day," the formal quitting signal, the men shall receive $2 in addition to their regular day's pay and their regular overtime. If a day man is called to work before 7 a. m., he will be paid $1 in addition to his regular day's pay.

The conciliation board provided for in the contract is to consist of six members, three representing the publishers' association of New York, and the other three, the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union of North America. The main functions of this board will be to settle the differences between contracts submitted by the publishers and the international and to draw up a new contract to be effective from September 1, 1926, for one year.

Should they fail to agree in this, the contract provides for the appointment by them of an arbitration board of three disinterested persons. Should the conciliation board fail to agree upon the personnel of the arbitration board within ten days, the governor of New York state is designated as nominator of an arbitration board or of such members of its as have not been appointed.

The contract signed by the publishers of twenty newspapers, is retroactive to the date it bears.

In a letter broadcast, tonight President Berry asked all Webb pressmen in New York and vicinity to enroll under the new terms. Members of the union whose charter was voided today, are invited to reinstate themselves in the parent body by returning to work at once.

STRIKE OF PRESSMEN A SERIOUS BLOW TO BUSINESS

New York, Sept. 21—Continued lack of advertising space in New York's strike-hampered newspapers will be reflected in all branches of finance, commerce and industry, in the opinion of business executives who have observed the effect of the walk out. In competent financial quarters today, the fear was expressed that unemployment might result from long crippling of the daily liaison between merchant and buyer.

Department store heads, even those catering to permanent customers, said the inability to promote sales through the newspaper columns was proving a serious handicap, at the opening of the fall season. And Wall street, always dubious as to the real value of the small amount of space it uses in the dailies, was convinced its clients had learned to depend on newspaper advertising for their information on financial offerings. Several big offerings of bonds which were to be put out this week were postponed because of lack of advertising space.

Stores depending on special sales were most seriously affected. Nearly all the leading department stores began printing circulars for distribution among persons entering their establishments and for their mailing lists. Their executives, however, found the handbills lacked anything like the pulling power of space in the newspapers.

Bernard F. Gimbel, vice president of Gimbel Brothers, Inc., was quoted in published statements as saying he thought the strike would be injurious to both large and small stores.

"We depend upon newspaper advertising for much of our selling power," he added. "It is the newspaper advertising, combined with the standing of the store doing the advertising, which makes the buyer realize his need of some article which otherwise he might have neglected to purchase."

Others were quoted as follows:

Harold W. Bonwit, secretary of Bonwit, Teller and Co.: "I have no doubt that if the strike lasts much longer we will feel a huge effect. Newspaper advertising is doubtless the most valuable advertising in the world, and as the retail stores are deprived of this medium they feel the loss more and more. There has been a slight falling of sales in our store. The discontinuance of full news about events in this country and abroad has a most disturbing effect on the minds of customers, and causes uncertainty and unrest which is reflected in their buying."

Hearn W. Street, one of the executives of Blair and Co., a leading Wall street banking house: "Investment bankers were not certain until the pressmen's strike began that newspaper advertising played a big part in their business. We know now what invaluable service the newspapers render us. It is next to impossible to put over a big bond issue without advertising. Our clients expect advertising, and will not bother to read circulars."

An assemblage of 3,000 members of the old union, greeted this message with hoots and jeers.

"We won't go back," cried the men.

President Simons, of the old union, announced that the message would be distributed tomorrow. He said a final vote would be taken and on the new contract Sunday.

55,000 PAPERS LOADED ON A TRUCK AND BURNED

New York, Sept. 21—A horse-drawn truck loaded with 55,000 copies of the Combined New York Morning Papers, burst into flames tonight while standing in front of the offices of a newspaper distributing agency. Police declared it was their belief that the fire was started by strikers or strike sympathizers.

The flames flared up suddenly, leading to the belief that gasoline had been poured upon the papers. All of the papers were destroyed.

BLOOD TEST TO PREVENT UNHAPPY MARRIAGES

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—Unhappy marriages can be prevented by means of blood tests, Dr. William S. Bainbridge, of New York, today told the American Association of Obstetricians, Gynecologists, and Abdominal Surgeons in convention here.

Dr. O. W. Gruhsit, of Detroit, presented the theory that there were four different kinds of blood. In the discussion that followed, Dr. Bainbridge asserted that by taking blood tests of persons in love, unhappy unions could be forestalled, as only the mating of persons in the same blood group could be recommended.

This would result, he explained, in the marriage of people who had a natural affinity for each other, and who could withstand the trials of life. An effort is being made to cut down the mortality of mothers and infants at childbirth, and to this end is was urged that physicians take po sigraduate courses in maternity work.

Cleveland was chosen as the place for the next convention.

Spain Abolishes Jury System

Madrid, Sept. 21.—King Alfonso today signed a decree abolishing the jury in trials in Spain.

Condition Of Princess Improving

Turin, Sept. 21.—The condition of Princess Mafalda and Princess Giovanna, who are suffering from typhoid fever at Raccogni, was reported today by the attending physicians to be satisfactory, "though the acute stage of the illness still continues."

SUIT FOR DISSOLUTION OF HOUSE OF DAVID COLONY

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 21.—Dissolution of the House of David colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., and appointment of a receiver for the colony's numerous properties are asked in a suit filed in United States district court here today by Mrs. Estella A. Meldrim, for 20 years a member of the cult. Mrs. Meldrim, who is 50 years old, asks enforcement of property claims aggregating $20,000, exclusive of interests and costs.

In the bill of complaint Mrs. Meldrim is made the assignee of Russell H. Hansel, a former member of the colony, who has filed a claim for about $11,000. This is the first time dissolution of the cult has been asked from within its own circles. The bill of complaint also cites "King" Benjamin Purnell, colony leader and self-styled "seventh messenger angel," as being guilty of misconduct.

Mr. Meldrim is the mother of Edith Meldrim, alleged confidante and right hand woman of Benjamin. The daughter is described in the bill as an "officer, executive director, trusted confidante, advisor and intimate of Purnell." She is not made a defendant, however. Estella Meldrim Mills, another daughter, who was expelled from the colony in 1906 because of her open criticism of Purnell's alleged practices, is expected to be a witness for her mother.

BOSTON SOCIETY LEADER MAKES BLACKMAIL CHARGE

Boston, Sept. 21.—Disclosures of an alleged series of attempted extortions of sums ranging up to $200,000 by a gang of which Mrs. Nathaniel Franklin Emmons, Boston society leader and cousin of Bishop William Lawrence, claims to have been the victim, were made here today. Mrs. Emmons appeared in municipal court to press charges of an alleged $10,000 blackmail attempt against Arthur Le Barron, of New York, whom she said had befriended in the course of war welfare work.

According to the charges brought, Le Barron falsely represented himself as the holder of a letter, alleged to have been written by her to a veteran, and demanded $10,000 for its surrender. Today, for the first time, it became known that on September 13 a warrant was obtained and was served on Le Barron by a special officer. The specific charge is attempted larceny.

Mrs. Emmons told of a meeting by appointment with Le Barron at a Boston hotel at which he passed over to her a package supposed to contain letters. Special Officer Frank McNabb, who was present, then placed Le Barron under arrest. The package, about the size of a half a dozen envelopes, was done up in wrapping paper which, when opened, was found to contain blank paper cut to the size of ordinary envelopes.

FALSE BEARINGS GIVEN DESTROYERS BY RADIO

San Diego, Sept. 21.—(By the A. P.)—A telegram alleging the receipt on August 3, of radio compass bearings from Point Arguello, which "would have put us ashore in San Miguel Island, if we had followed them," was read here today before a naval court of inquiry investigating the destroyer disaster in which seven ships were wrecked and 23 enlisted men perished off Point Honda, Calif., September 8.

The telegram was signed "J. R. Stapler", but counsel for Captain Edward H. Watson, chief of the destroyer squadron, who produced it during his cross-examination of Lieutenant Commander John H. Ashley, superintendent of communications of the eleventh naval district, said he "did not know the signer, nor what ship he commanded."

Add San Diego Inquiry ..... .....

The text of the telegram was as follows:

"Have in our possession two sets of radio bearing which had we not disregarded them would have put us ashore on San Miguel Island, August 23. One set received while anchored among rocks on north side of island. Will gladly furnish same with log extract if will be of service to you."

The sender gave his address as 152 Riverside Drive, New York.

DISCUSSION BY LEAGUE OF NATIONS OPIUM COMMISSION

Geneva, Sept. 21.—(By the A. P.)—The charge that great quantities of harful drugs are being manufactured in Switzerland and clandestinely imported to the United States and Canada caused a stir during today's discussion by the League of Nations opium commission which yesterday decided to recommend an international conference for the promotion of the fight against opium.

Dame Edith Lyttelton, England, expressed regret that Switzerland which had not yet ratified the Hague narcotics convention, should be turning out drugs based on opium and morphine and smuggling them by ingenious mean into the United States. Dame Lyttleton added that the Swiss government should act promptly in the premises.

Gustave Ador, former president of Switzerland, quickly protested against "these grave accusations." He insisted that Switzerland was doing everything possible in the situation and hoped to ratify the convention next year.

At the close of the session representative Stephen G. Porter of Pennsylvania, expressed deep satisfaction over what had been accomplished at Geneva on the opium question.

FALLING CORNICE KILLS PEDESTRIAN IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 21.—Dense crowds of luncheon-hour pedestrians hurrying in the rain along lower Broadway at Cortlandt street today, were thrown into consternation when part of an iron cornice of a six-story building toppled to the sidewalk, crushing one man to death and injuring another.

The piece of cornice weighed about 25 pounds and fragments scattered in all directions.

The man killed was Logan Phillips, a civilian army engineer, of Bay shore. His skull was crushed. Max Grossman, of Brooklyn, was knocked to the sidewalk and bruised.

New Blackmail Story In W[illegible] Murder Case

Testimony of Threats of Disgrace Against the Elder Ward by Blackmail Gang.

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The climax of a day of surprises in the trial of Walter S. Ward, charged with the murder of Clarence Peters, came when charges of a blackmail plot against George S. Ward, wealthy baker, father of the defendant, were suddenly introduced as evidence by Deputy Attorney-General O'Neil.

The charges were in the shape of a complaint signed by James J. Cunningham, who was reported to have told Sheriff Werner he knew the details of the Ward blackmail story. Threats of moral disgrace were made against the elder Ward by the blackmail gang and Walter S. Ward transmitted the threats to his father, who did not act on them, the complaint said. The charges came after Sheriff Werner had testified the Wards had made no complaint of blackmail to him.

Much of the day's testimony centered about the revolver, said by Ward to have been in Peters hand when he shot. The state apparently attempted to show that the pistol, in reality was one which had been given to Ward by Chief of Police Cody of New Rochelle as a Christmas present.

Ward's story of the shooting as told to Sheriff Werner recited on the witness stand by the sheriff, who said he believed Ward had told him he had paid $40,000 in blackmail to the gang.

At one point in today's proceedings, defense counsel Campbell strenuously objected to the methods of the state in examining witnesses and claimed the defense was not getting a fair trial.

Mr. Campbell interjected his protest while Mr. O'Neill was examining Raymond Vail of Thompsonville, a close friend of Ward, who testified that shortly after the slaying Ward told him he was "fortunate to be alive," that he had fired at Peters in self-defense, shooting hurriedly with his left hand and that he believed he had "dropped" two men.

When Vail said he didn't remember whether Ward told him a bullet shattered the windshield of his car, Mr. O'Neill exclaimed, "You don't remember! Do you remember you told the grand jury that Ward had told you a bullet shattered the windshield?"

The witness said he did remember on being reminded and at this point Mr. Campbell interrupted.

"I think it is about time that your honor admonished the attorney general," he said. "We are not getting a fair trial."

After the defense counsel's motion that Vail's testmony be stricken from the record was denied, Mr. Campbell obtained admission from the witness that he had been "lectured for more than three hours in a backroom of the courthouse."

"They told me they had a statement from my father that I had discussed the shooting with Ward," Vail said. "I told them I knew nothing about the Ward case. Two days ago they took me to the same room and questioned me for 20 minutes, trying to make me remember what I had said Ward told me. I read so much about the case in the newspapers that my memory of what he did tell me is very much confused."

Police Chief Cody was recalled to the stand and questioned about his testimony yesterday that a revolver identified by Ward as one with which Peters threatened to kill him "looked very much like one I gave Ward as a Christmas present." Cody said he had taken the pistol from a safe, that he had never seen it before and had no opportunity to become familiar with it. He testified that before he took the stand, an attorney for the state had asked tim if he could not make his identification of the revolver more positive.

Sheriff Werner testified today that Ward's attorney, Mr. Campbell, had recited to him one night in his home in the presence of Ward and others, Ward's story of the shooting, in which he claimed self-defense. The story as retold by Werner, was to the effect that Ward had met the alleged blackmailers in an automobile on the night of the slaying, that Peters had entered his coupe, levelled a revolver at him and forced him to drive to the spot where Peters' body was later found. Ward said he reached for his revolver while Peters was opening the door of the coupe and shot after Peters had fired at him and missed, the bullet passing through the open window of the car.

Several witnesses introduced by the state testified they had seen Ward's coupe with a broken rear window.

Before adjournment to Monday, defense counsel Campbell asked the state to indicate when the first defense witness could be called but Mr. O'Neill refused to answer.

Breaking the Shackles of Time

Clocks are as much a matter of course as suspenders or sausages. But it took energy and initiative to get the first clock on the kitchen shelf and start it going. The Yankee pack peddler was sole distributor and transporter. His lean, lanky, loose-jointed legs set the limits for most distribution problems of those days.

Modern transportation with progressive sales methods—and advertising—have broken the shackles of time. They make a quick job of what used to take years. Through advertising many an article has been introduced simultaneously in stores all over the country.

The Bulletin does a two-fold service. It not only brings you news of the world, but also news of what to buy, where to buy and how to buy.

The advertisements are news columns of merchants and manufacturers who have important stories to tell you.

Prohibition Confab Middle of October

President Coolidge to Talk With Governor on Enforcement and Other Laws.

Washington, Sept. 21.—President Coolidge has virtually decided to hold the proposed conference of governors on enforcement of prohibition and other laws in Washington, about the middle of October.

The governors are to be invited here after their regular annual meeting at West Baden, Ind., on October 15. The President has been in communication with a number of the state executives and some of them advised him that the time suggested would suit their convenience.

No additional light was thrown on the scope of the conference, which originally was designed mainly to discuss cooperation between federal and state authorities in enforcing prohibition. The program was extended recently to include immigration and possibly other questions.

RALLY FOR SUPPORT OF THE 18TH AMENDMENT

Washington, Sept 21.—A call for a rally of the dry forces of the nation in support of the eighteenth amendment was sent forth tonight by the Federal Council of Churches. A "good citizenship and patriotism conference" was announced to be held in Washington, October 14, 15 and 16, "to spur on those who believe in prohibition but have lost active interest."

The call was signed by 756 men and women, including business men, college and university heads, clergymen, members of congress, mayors, heads of religious associations and leaders of womens organizations. Heading the list were the names of William Jennings Bryan, former Governor Carl E. Milliken, of Maine, and Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes.

Among others who signed the call, were:

President M. N. McCracken, Vassar College; Bishop William F. McDowell, of the Methodist Episcopal church, Anna A. Gordon, President National Womens Christian Temperance union; Rabbi Stephen Wise, New York City; Dr. John R. Mott, General Secretary, Young Men's Christian Association, President Mary E. Wooley, Mt. Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass.; Bishop William Burke, of the Methodist Episcopal church; Representative Burton L. French, Idaho.

Bishop Charles Bayard Mitchell, Methodist Episcopal church; Dean Shailer Mathews, University of California; Bishop William F. Anderson, Methodist Episcopal church; Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army; and President John A. Cousens, Tufts College, Mass.

FOUR DEATHS FROM EAST HARTFORD AUTO ACCIDENT

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 21.—Four men were killed, two of them outright, and three seriously injured at 6:30 this morning, when the car in which they were driving toward Springfield crashed into a trolley pole just east of the Connecticut River bridge on the Boulevard in East Hartford and was reduced to a mass of twisted wreckage. A fourth man, John Leary, of 22 Williams street, Hartford, fractured several bones when he fell off the dry bridge to the rocks 40 feet below in an attempt to extricate the injured men from the wrecked automobile. Two of the men were hurled off the causeway into the meadowland below and iron rails ripped off by the force of the impact; along with several bits of wreckage from the car were tossed below also.

A registration card on the footboard of the car showed Steve C. Paolini of Bedford, Indiana, to be the owner of the car, and it is thought that he was the driver as well; he was in such condition at Hartford hospital this morning that the authorities were unable to question him. If it is found that Paolini was driving the car, he will be arrested, according to the East Hartford police.

HUGE WHISKEY RING UNEARTHED IN CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Sensational developments are expected to follow the arrest of three men and a woman by federal prohibition agents and agents of the department of justice today, and the seizure of 19 barrels of whiskey alleged to have New York. Government agents believe they have unearthed a whiskey ring whose operations extend into several states. Government officials, it is said, have been working on the case for two years, since a distillery in Loretto, Ky., was robbed.

Prohibition agents, raided the apartment of Robert J. Lawrence, real estate broker, late last night and arrested Lawrence, his wife and Lawrence Worden, manager of a hotel. A quantity of whiskey, alleged to have been found in the flat.

RIOT CHARGE AGAINST THE KLAN DRAGON OF OKLAHOMA

N. C. Jewett is Accused of Implication in Flogging of F. R. Merrimen a Year Ago—Charge Based on Finding of Military Court Sitting at Oklahoma City—Governor Walton Declares a Special Session of the House, Without His Call, Would be Illegal—States There Will be No Meeting.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 21 (By the A. P.)—Military courts in Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Shawnee dug into the flogging cases and Ku Klux Klan activities today while Governor J. C. Walton laid plans for combatting the impeachment movement against him.

Tonight the governor, asserting that the called meeting of the legislature would be an "unlawful klan ceremony" because 68 members of the lower house are klansmen, declared there would be "no meeting."

"The klan is whipped," he said.

During the day, Governor Walton gave out an opinion written by Paul Nesbitt, state highway commissioner and a former speaker of the house, which held that the legislators have no legal right to assemble except at the executive's call.

The claim that 85 of the 107 representatives would be present Wednesday, was made today by Representative W. I. Cunningham, of Sapulpa.

N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the klan in Oklahoma, faces charges of rioting as the result of information filed against him tonight. He is charged with implication in the flogging of E. R. Merriman a year ago.

A total of 116 whippings had been uncovered during the military court investigation at Tulsa, officers of the court said tonight. Two additional floggings were revealed today, it was stated.

With the indictment of six Tulsa county citizens today by the Wagoner county grand jury on charges of participation in the flogging of Ben Wagner, a Wagoner county farmer, number under indictment in this case grew to 16.

Military authorities today invaded Pottawatamie county and arrested three men charged with implication in the flogging of L. C. Sowers, an insurance man at Shawnee. The county and military authorities convoked a joint court of inquiry, which it was announced would continue to function until the situation in Pottawatamie county is "cleaned up."

Work of the military court in Oklahoma City grew to such proportions that three separate courts were formed to hear testimony.

GOV. WALTON SAYS THERE WILL BE NO MEETING

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 21. (By the A. P.)—The called meeting of the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature here next Wednesday will be an attempt at an "unlawful klan assembly" because 68 members of the house also are members of the Ku Klux Klan, Governor J. C. Walton declared here tonight in stating that he would oppose the session. "There will be no meeting of the legislature," said the governor.

The executive's statement was made to newspaper correspondents, and he announced that he probably would issue a lengthy statement tomorrow.

"The main agitators of this movement are klansmen, aided by the klan press," Governor Walton declared.

Declaring that most of the newspapers of the state have refused to print all but a part of his statements and evidence made public in connection with his fight on the Ku Klux Klan, the executive said he is contemplating the establishment of a newspaper of his own in order to get all the facts before the people.

TESTIMONY OF JEWETT'S IMPLICATION, IN FLOGGING

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 21 (By the A. P.)—Charges of riot were filed here tonight against N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma Realm of the Ku Klux Klan.

Implication in the flogging of F. R. Merrimen, who, it is alleged, was whipped a year ago, was charged.

The information against the grand dragon was filed in justice court by County Attorney J. K. Wright on the basis of evidence gathered by the military court sitting here.

Dr. A. A. Maupin, a witness called before the military court, testified that Jewett had stated to him that he (Jewett) was the one who applied the lash to Merriman. Dr. Maupin testified that he was a former member of the klan.

County Attorney Wright, who filed the charge, admitted to the court that he paid the membership fee in the klan.

Jewett, Dr. Maupin charged, warned klansmen at a meeting here some months ago that there had been too much talk about the klan activities. The grand dragon, Maupin declared, told the klansmen that "the persons who had been doing things around Oklahoma City were liable for both McAlester and Leavenworth penitentiaries."

Dr. Maupin charged that Jewett had stated to him regarding the Merriman whipping:

"I will have you know that I am the man who laid that on. I led the party. I knew what I was doing. I am the fellow who held the whip and put it on his back end made him confess."

Merriman had been charged by Jewett with maintaining an intimacy with a married woman, Dr. Maupin testified.

The flogging of Merriman, it is alleged, took place March 7, 1922.

Jewett later was arrested. He was released immediately on bond of $1,000.

TWO ROYAL WEDDINGS IN LONDON THIS AUTUMN

London, Sept. 21.—Two royal weddings will feature Londons autumn season—the "little season" as it is called, cing sandwiched between the older and conventional summer season and the equally well established winter season of rain and fog during which most of the social lights visit the Riviera and other sunspots of southern Europe.

The royal brides will be Princess Maud, niece of King George, who marries Lord Carnegie on November 12, and Lady Louise Mountbatten, who becomes the wife of the Crown Prince of Sweden on November 3 in the chapel of St. James palace. The King of Sweden will attend and with the Crown Prince will be entertained by King George and Queen Mary at Buckingham Palace several days before the ceremony.

Most of the members of the royal family will return to London earlier than is the usual custom, for the numerous entertainments during Princess Maud's wedding week.

The King will be kept busy throughout October and November with the affairs of the Imperial conference. Early in October he welcomes the overseas delegates at a big banquet at Buckingham Palace.

A notable addition to the list of London hostesses for this autumn will be the Duchess of York, who was unable to make her debut as shostess while at the lodge in Richmond because she was suffering from whooping cough.

THREE MINERS KILLED IN WEST VIRGINIA MINE

FOUL WORK IN WRECK OF STATE OF MAINE EXPRESS

Hartford, Sept. 21.—The "unauthorized removal—by some persons with mechanical knowledge"—of parts of the controlling mechanism was responsible for the wreck of the State of Maine Express at Burnside on the night of June 6, it was announced today by the public utilities commission, following an executive investigation, General Manager C. L. Bardo of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, declared that it was evidently the work of one or more of the striking railway shopmen or sympathizers.

Two locomotives, three baggage and mail cars, one coach and the first pair of wheels on the head sleeper were derailed as the result of stealthy work accomplished apparently near the Hartford railroad station within a space of the minutes before the big express train pulled out of the station for Boston. Hundreds of lives were jeopardized and it was considered remarkable in view of the manner in which the cars were thrown about that no one was seriously injured.

State's Attorney Alcorn declared tonight that he would leave no stone unturned to bring to justice the person or persons who committed the crime. A copy of the public utilities commission's report will be put in his hands tomorrow. Railroad detectives have made every endeavor to pin the responsibility on the guilty ones, but have not succeeded to date. Whether they have any promising clues could not be ascertained tonight.

TWO PHYSICIANS AND A DEAD MAN INDICTED

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 21.—Two physicians and a dead man have been indicted here, charged with defrauding insurance companies of $50,000.

Dr. Aaron L. Simon and Dr. Morris Korshet, of Passaic, were arraigned on the indictments today and released in $5,000 bail each.

The two physicians, it is set forth in the indictments returned by the Passaic county grand jury, falsely attested to the good health of Dr. Simon's brother-in-law, Jacob Bloomfield, also of Passaic, a few months before he died, allegedly of heart and kidney disease. His death certificate signed by Dr. Simon, gave a fractured skull as the cause of death. County Physician Armstrong, examining the body after it had been exhumed at the request of the insurance companies, said he could find no evidence of a fractured skull.

Bloomfield, though dead, was indicted also, because it is said, he was a party to the fraud.

RHODE ISLAND HAS A WOMAN CONSTABLE

Providence, R. I., Sept. 21.—The first woman constable in Rhode Island with power to serve a civil process is Mrs. Bertha L. Crowley, of Riverside, elected by the East Providence town council and commissioned today. For several years Mrs. Crowley has collected bills for a Providence concern, and she declares she can augment her income considerably with constable's power, although she does not "want any of the tough work."

Frink of Andover in connection with the accident on the Columbia road near the Willimantic river bridge Wednesday evening, in which a Liberty touring car was practically demolished, has disclosed the fact that the injured man is Joseph Cannell of Warehouse Point. Cannell, who is the owner of the machine, is now in a Springfield, Mass., hospital, suffering from injuries to his head and leg. Following the accident Cannell and his companion in the car came to this city and then went to Hartford in one of the Hartford-Willimantic Blue Line jitneys. A warrant has been sworn out for Cannell's arrest and it will be served on him when he is released from the hospital. The charge is reckless driving and his case will be heard before the Columbia town court.

The house committee at the Card Home for the Aged has with regret received the resignation of Mrs. Jennie Bradshaw, who has been matron since July 1920. Miss Harriet Walker, first assistant matron at the home for two years, has been promoted to matron.

The Odell M. Chapman Continental Fife and Drum Corps of this city is to take part in the parade and field day of St. Francis T. A. B. Fife and Drum Corps in Naugatuck today (Saturday) in observance of the 30th anniversary of the latter organization. Drum corps from all over the state are to take part. The local members left by autobus for Naugatuck last night.

The Willing Workers, a circle of the Sorority of the Methodist church, met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Elizabeth Hanson, 84 High street. There were ten members present. Mrs. Mary Dimock was a guest. Luncheon was served by the hostess. The next meeting in two weeks will be with Mrs. James N. Bentley.

The sewing circle of the Baptist church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Morris W. Golden in South Windham, Wednesday afternoon with twelve members present. Mrs. Golden served lunch to her guests.

Rivers and streams in Windham county are very low and many wells and springs have gone dry. Farmers as a result have bene forced to haul water, in many instances for a long distance. The water in the Willimantic and Natchaug rivers is very low and in places the bottom is visible. Superintendent Willard N. Bowen reported Friday the water in the pumping station pond was two feet below normal and that the steam pumps have been in operation for the past four weeks, forcing water to the supply reservoir on Hosmer mountain. The rains of Thursday night and Friday were the first since Wednesday evening, Aug. 29.

Two automobile parties returned Thursday evening after a delightful week's outing. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson A. Daniels, Judge and Mrs. Otto B. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Lincoln motored to Atlantic City, to attend the Shriners' annual pilgrimage, stopping the first night at Asbury Park and remaining in Atlantic City over Sunday. One night was spent at Stroudsburg, near Delaware Water Gap and another at Hudson. They visited Albany and Pittsfield and came home by way of the Mohawk Trail. Mr. Daniels and party stopped over at Springfield for the Eastern States Exposition. About nine hundred miles were covered with weather conditions ideal.

Henley Flood, ten-year-old son of E. M. Flood, East Hampton liveryman, narrowly escaped death Thursday afternoon about 5 o'clock when a pony which he was riding up a hill near the home of Herbert Goff, in Skinnerville, was instantly killed when struck by a large touring car. The boy saved his life by leaping from the pony's back. In jumping, however, he dislocated his left ankle and sprained the right one. The car was owned and driven by Jack Dresser of Haddam. His wife was with him. As the automobile struck the animal it overturned and Mr. and Mrs. Dresser were thrown out. Dresser was badly bruised and his wrist was sprained. Mrs. Dresser escaped uninjured. The former was attended by Dr. John Milburn and later by Dr. E. P. Fitch who sent him to Middlesex hospital for an X-ray examination. Dresser had no operator's license at the time of the crash and the state police ordered First Selectman Ralph G. Sellew to clear away the wreckage and to have Dresser arrested on a charge of reckless driving and operating a motor vehicle without a license.

A telegram received by Mrs. Josephine Powell, 353 Windham road, from Kalispell, Montana, contains the information of the death of her daughter, Miss Josephine Morrison at the Sisters of Mercy hospital there, Thursday afternoon. Miss Morrison was born in Willington, but had lived in this city for several years. She was a graduate of Willimantic State Normal and Training School, class of 1869. For a time after her graduation she was identified with W. C. T. U. work throughout the state in connection with the state headquarters. Twenty years ago she went west and later became secretary to Judge G. H. Grubb of Montana, one of the state's most able jurists, continuing up to the time of her death. Miss Morrison had been in ill health for over a year. Burial will be in Kalispell.

Miss Mabel Kanphear of South Chaplin, who has been visiting Mrs. Mary Lincoln, 228 South street, will sail Oct. 2 from New York for Tampa, Fla., for an indefinite stay.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

SOUSA GIVES HONOR TO YOUNG AMERICAN COMPOSER

Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa, the famous bandmaster and composer, has found and will honor another young musician. It will be remembered that Mr. Sousa, always quick to recognize new and talented musicians and composers, was the first to discover the late Maude Powell. The latest of his happy discoveries is a young composer, Alexander Steinert, Jr., for whom Mr. Sousa predicts big things.

Mr. Steinert, son of Alexander Steinert, the well known New England music dealer, is a graduate of Harvard, class of 1921. He was a member of and wrote the music for the Hasty Pudding club, and his compositions have been played at many of the social and musical events in New England.

When Mr. Steinert's compositions were brought to Mr. Sousa's attention, through a mutual friend, Mr. Sousa was so impressed with the quality and charm of the music that when Sousa's band begins its New England tour, which opened at Boston on September 16, "Rameses," a most delightful composition by this young composer was featured in the programme, and will be in Mr. Sousa's repertoire for the remainder of the season.

Sousa's band will give its Norwich concert on Tuesday evening, Sept. 25, at the armory. Tickets are on sale at Cranston's.

First German Lutheran Church.

The new books for the Sunday school are here and will be used this Sunday for the first time. There will be a common rehearsal of the Norwich and Taftville Maennerchor at the home of the Maennerchor in Taftville next Wednesday evening. The rehearsal on Friday night will be omitted this week. Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock rehearsal of the church choir and Bible class. Saturday morning at 9 German school and religious instruction. Saturday afternoon at 3 confirmation in the basement of the church.

Next Week at United Congregational Church.

A most important meeting of the Sodalitas will be held in the Junior Department rooms of the church school, at half past seven, on Monday evening. Every member is urged to be present.

The executive council will meet in the pastor's study at 7.45 Wednesday evening.

Mid-week worship Thursday evening at 7.45.

A corn roast will be held at Happyland Casino on Friday evening for all young people of the parish who are fifteen or older. Cars will leave the Otis library at five o'clock and at six o'clock, daylight time. In order that transportation may be adequate all who can attend are asked to notify Miss Pullen not later than Thursday evening. Every boy and girl, young man and woman who come within the age limit is most cordially invited and urged to be present.

Moving Pictures at Y. M. C. A. Sunday.

The second part of the impressive moving pictures on The Life of Moses will be shown at the Norwich Young Men's Christian Association Sunday, September 23rd, at 4 o'clock. Both men and women and children accompanied by adults are invited. Seldom does the public have the opportunity of seeing moving pictures of these wonderful Bible characters, the study of which is always inspiring. Perhaps no character in the whole realm of Bible history is as great in certain ways as this character, and the centuries have passed since he wrought out the great plan of God for his life, his example and teachings are today as impressive and helpful as ever, and we still are greatly indebteded to Moses for his faithfulness, his ability and his great wisdom.

In addition to the picture tomorrow, a brief talk will be given by a layman and Hugh Kinder will render vocal solos.

Strand, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

A superior programme of B. F. Keith vaudeville and picture will be presented at the Strand theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Keith vaudeville is as follows: Sylva, Brann & Co., in a novelty offering. Gallagher and Shaw present Shean and Phillips in The Younger Edition. Blair and Pennington in "Furious Foolishness," and the great minstrel comedian, Billy Beard, "The Party From the South."

No less than thirty-two thousand writers, among them the foremost photoplay creators of the land are in competition for your entertainment next week. We are proud to offer on our screen "Broken Chains," by Winifred Kimball, the $10,000 prize winner of the competition sponsored by Gildwyn and the Chicago Daily News, the greatest nationwide scenario contest ever undertaken. "Broken Chains" was selected by a group of prominent screen folk as the best of the thousands of original stories submitted.

In the hands of Allen Holubar, one of the most famous directors of action pictures of the entire industry, "Broken Chains" has been made into a brilliant, punchful drama of fighting men and beautiful women, beginning with a hold-up in a wealthy Long Island home and winding a thrilling course among the lumber camps of a lawless western mountainside. The final battle between a boy who was called a coward and a brute of the hills will linger long in the memory of picturegoers as the most exciting thing of its kind ever flashed on the screen.

Colleen Moore, appealing as ever; gorgeous Claire Windsor, handsome Malcolm McGregor and Ernest Torrence, the most villainous villain of them all are among the all-star players who make "Broken Chains" a vivid and colorful motion picture. If you like stories fast, furious, absorbing—do not fail to see this prize-winner.

Breed Theatre.

All the artistry, perfection of detail and lavishness of production which featured the creation of Cosmopolitan Productions' epoch-making photoplay, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," were employed in the making of "Enemies of Women," a Cosmopolitan picturization of Vicente Blasco Ibanez's latest and, as many consider, his greatest romance. This marvelous picture distributed by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan, will be the offering at the Breed theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

No stone was left unturned to make of "Enemies of Women" one of the most beautiful pictures ever made. It was for this reason that Cosmopolitan upset all traditions by sending an entire company to Europe on location, something never before done in the history of pictures. The company spent six weeks in Monte Carlo, Nice and Paris, where the author located his story.

The trip abroad brought the company into direct contact with Ibanez, and his assistance in the direction of many of the scenes taken abroad is considered invaluable. So enthusiastic did Ibanez become over the plans of production, that he arranged to have scenes taken in the Casino at Monte Carlo and on the terrace of the Garden, the first in seven years that world famous gaming resort had been filmed. Ibanez also obtained permission to take scenes of the Prince of Monaco's palace, and pointed out the most picturesque spots of the Riviera.

In picturizing this famous story as a super special, Cosmopolitan assembled a brilliant cast, directed by Alan Crosland. Featured are Lionel Barrymore, considered by many as America's leading character actor, and Alma Rubens, of "Humoresque" fame. These two famous players are supported by such prominent stars as Pedro de Cordoba, William ("Buster") Collier, Jr., Gareth Hughes, Paul Panzer, W. H. Thompson, Gladys Hulette and Mario Majeroni.

Topics of the Day and an Educational comedy make up the remainder of the bill.

Today's bill consists of "Toll of the Sea," Ruth Roland in "Haunted Valley," the Pathe News and a Sunshine comedy. Continuous show today from 1.30 to 10.15.

Doughnuts

4 cups John Alden Flour,
2 teaspoons salt,
5 teaspoons baking powder,
½ teaspoon nutmeg,
¼ teaspoon cinnamon,
1 cup sugar,
2 tablespoons shortening,
2 eggs,
1 cup sweet milk.

(If sour milk is used add ½ teaspoon soda and use only 3 teaspoons of baking powder. Sift the soda with the other dry ingredients.)

All measurements are level.

Sift the John Alden Flour once before measuring.

Cream the shortening and sugar together, add the beaten egg and then the milk alternately with the dry ingredients which have been mixed and sifted. Roll out lightly on a board to about ½ inch thickness. Cut with a doughnut cutter, fry in deep fat (374°F.) The fat should be hot enough to make the doughnuts rise instantly to the top.

CLOUD-DIGGER PREDICTS WINTER WILL BE A HUMMER

Herewith is presented the semi-annual long distance weather forecast of the Packerville Cloud Digger, whose prediction made in March for the six months period was near to uncanny in its approach to accuracy, as those who have preserved it will recall:—

"This is my 70th semi-annual and 35th annual prediction of the weather for six months ahead, something I believe has never been equalled by any weather prophet in this or any other land.

To start with the chill of mid-summer will be balanced nicely by soft balmy days in October and far into November, but don't for a moment believe that you should allow your coal bin to be empty or your wood pile low. In spite of what people usually call "and even-up" of wetaher, the winter of 1923-24, will not be an "even-up" or mild winter, but will be a hummer.

The condition of the earth and its relation to the sister planets, coupled with the enormous amount of electricity being used both on, under and above our planet will make itself felt by earth disturbances of an unusual nature.

The quake period has not passed, the volcanic eruptions are not over and 1923-24 fall and winter period will experience many earth tremors, some of a very serious nature, mostly on the Pacific coast.

The winter will strike in suddenly in December. There will be no "green Christmas" this year, and while no one can tell whether the storms are to be rain or snow, I look for at least 30 snow storms between the opening of winter and the spring period.

November this year should be one of great interest to star-gazers and students of the heavens.

If the nights are clear, many meteorites and some quite large meteors should be seen in November.

Early in December, the Aurora Borealis will add to the interest of the students of the heavens, and quickly following the first appearance of those heavenly demonstrations will be a period of very cold weather. Ice can be harvested in December or any time after that.

The opening days of January will be mild and pleasant, followed from the 8th to 11th by a bad storm, if snow a very deep one. These storms will, like those a year ago quickly follow each other the entire winter, except an open period about the middle of February. This will last several days followed by the worst storm of the winter.

About March first, I look for high tides, heavy gales and a storm causing much trouble. This however, will not be the break-up of winter for the last of the winter period up to March 20, will be good solid winter weather, the streams still covered with ice.

Several unusually warm days suddenly appearing among the very cold ones in our next winter season will cause much sickness, unless great care is taken in dress, and coughs, colds and influenza must be guarded against especially in those warm periods.

After 35 years of continually applying the same rules to climatic and other disturbances, I find that nothing in nature is unusual, nothing in nature is without a solid well-formed plan and a little observance on the part of a student, especially of the tides, winds and planetary changes will make almost any one a weather prophet that even a modern scientific weather bureau has to acknowledge worthy of notice. Natural evolution of the earth and its sister planets is being greatly interfered with by the unnatural robbing of the earth of its treasures and sudden violent upheavals are simply its one way of collecting toll.

The removal of coal, oil and natural gas alone is only one of the many ways the fast growing world has of rushing us on to an inevitable end.

No system of continual removing without putting back can continue indefinitely. Not only is this true of the world's people robbing the earth's internal sections, but the continual destruction of great forests all over the world must be stopped, or the dark end will be much nearer.

Some of the horrible earthquakes are in a measure due to a natural move to replace in an unnatural way what man has taken from the bowels of our planet.

One scientific glance at our moon should be enough to convince the student what is to be the end of all animal and vegetable life on the earth.

It may be what we call "ages" it is true, before our dear old planet becomes a chilly home for us to live upon, but we are hastening the natural evolution by leaps and bounds.

March 21 next, if I am still in the ring, I will figure out what kind of weather I expect for the ensuing six months and challenge any one who gives my prediction a careful perusal to point out many mistakes.

PUTNAM

One more Putnam man went to jail Friday for a period of 15 days after pleading nolo contendre before Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin in the superior court here. Mr. Miller, jointly mentioned in a bench warrant issued some time since for his two brothers, Louis and Eugene, was on a vacation trip in Canada at the time the warrant was served and the other recent liquor cases disposed of, but on his arrival in Putnam he came forward to meet the charges against him and was dealt with after the same manner employed in disposing of the cases at Williamntic last Monday. He was taken to jail Friday afternoon. In addition to the jail sentence, a fine of $100 and costs was imposed by the court. In addressing the court relative to the matter, State Attorney Charles E. Searls said that there was no reason why any special distinction should be made in this case, and his recommendation was that a penalty similar to those applied in the other cases be imposed, which recommendation was followed by the court. Following the disposal of the Miller case, the criminal side of the court recessed and the civil side was opened for matters on the short calendar list, for the trial of uncontested divorces and for the hearing of naturalization cases.

Judge Marvin made the announcement that the coming week will be given over to trial of cases to court and that Tuesday of the following week the jury will be in attendance to hear cases on the jury list.

The first case assigned for Tuesday next is that of Arthur King et al., appeal from probate. Assigned as the second case for Tuesday is that of Bessie L. Dow vs. Burt K. Dow, a Willimantic contested divorce case.

Assigned as the first case for Wednesday next is that of Joseph H. Elliott vs. John F. Grosvenor et al., and for next Friday, following the short calendar session, the case of Robert W. Hueston vs. Hedwig C. M. Heuston is assigned.

Jury cases assigned for the week after next are as follows: Tuesday, Oct. 2, Annie E. McGregor vs. Caroline B. Fisher; first for Wednesday, Oct. 3, Viola J. Kerouack vs. William Gaffney, a town of Plainfield case; second for Wednesday, Oct. 3, Gertrude A. Wardell vs. the town of Killingly.

Only two of the uncontested divorce cases listed for a hearing during the day came before the court, the others being continued for a week. Amanda Lajeunesse, alias Amanda Young, of Stafford Springs, was granted a divorce from her husband, Phileas Joseph Young, of Mechanicsville. She charged desertion, adultery and cruelty. The couple married at Webster Feb. 21, 1898, and five children were born, three of these children surviving. Of the three living children two daughters are married and the third, a minor, 16 years of age, makes her home with her father. Desertion is alleged to have occurred in June, 1910, and since then the couple have lived apart.

Mrs. Lajeunesse told in detail of the ill treatment she suffered at the hands of her husband, of great wrongs he committed against her, and of how she had worked to support herself and children after he had deserted her. Her testimony was supported by that of her sister, Mrs. Oliver Kraus, of Rockville, also Mrs. Harriett Toohill of Stafford Springs and Mrs. Louise Bourgeois of Mechanicsville.

The second divorce of the day was granted to Aaron S. Vial of South Killingly from Mary Agnes Merrill Vial, now resident at Gardner, Mass. Their marriage took place at Danielson on the eve of a Christmas period—Dec. 4, 1917—and they lived together at South Killingly on a farm with the groom's parents, until Sept. 1, 1918, when Mrs. Vial, according to the testimony of her husband given in court, left to visit her home in Massachusetts, and never has returned. About three weeks after her departure a child was born to her at Fitchburg, Mass., the father testifying that he has since seen the child once.

Efforts made at reconciliation by the husband failed, he testified, his wife declining to return to their home. A letter read to the court at the opening of the hearing of the case indicated that Mrs. Vial was not fond of farm life and that she regarded herself as being too heavily burdened with domestic duties and much in the capacity of a servant at the Vial home, although the husband testified that she did no more than ordinary household duties at his parents' home, where they lived. Witnesses in Mr. Vial's behalf were M. D. Whittaker, a neighbor, Frank Corey of North Sterling and Mrs. Edward Adams, a sister of Mr. Vial. The decree was granted on the ground of desertion.

A recess followed before hearing a long list of naturalization cases, this occupying the attention of the court for the remainder of the day's sitting. Court adjourned until Tuesday morning, when trial of cases to court will begin.

Publication Friday that prisoners from this city and Willimantic are being made to get along without seeing visitors was read with avidity here. However, today (Saturday) is the regular visiting day at the jail, and relatives of those with a real reason for wanting to see the prisoners may get in. There is not likely to be any further rush of friends to Brooklyn.

Anne Wood Elderkin chapter, D. A. R., of Willimantic, has voted to accept the invitation of Elizabeth Porter Putnam chapter, D. A. R., of this city, to join in the pilgrimage to Hampton Saturday, Oct. 6. At Hampton an address is to be made by a speaker thoroughly familiar with Hampton and its landmarks.

Hundreds of bushels of splendid apples grown in neighboring county towns will be taken en bloc this fall by commission men who will come into the orchards with their own staffs of pickers and equipment and clean out the fruit for shipment to big city markets. Other quantities of apples hereabouts will be picked, graded and boxed for sale by the growers.

An offering for Japanese relief is to be made at the Methodist church at the service Sunday.

Chandler Morse, graduated from Putnam High school the past June, has entered Amherst college, of which his father, Attorney Ernest C. Morse, is a graduate.

The visit of Chief Justice George Wheeler of this state to Putnam for a conference with Windham county judges, justices and prosecuting attorneys is scheduled for Friday of next week, not Friday of this week, as printed yesterday morning.

When the Ashford Baptist convention convenes at Spring Hill church next Tuesday, Rev. J. C. Stoddard of this city, Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., of Norwich, and E. Scott Farley of Sufield will be the speakers.

WESTERLY

Friday's session of the Third district court was held in the court room on Union street, when Clerk M. Walter Flynn read the following docket:

New writs, Oliver O. Robar vs. Joseph Steadman. Motion made for bill in surety. Continued two weeks.

John F. Davis vs. Louis LaFountain. Continued one week.

Philip Goldberg vs. Antonio Antoch. Continued one week.

T. D. Picard vs. F. O. Barber. Continued two weeks.

Michael Juliano vs. Frank Iacano & Co. Nisi docket.

Addie G. Stillman vs. I. B. Crandall. Edward M. Burke for the plaintiff announced the case as settled. The following stipulation was entered by Samuel H. Davis for the defendant: "It is agreed that the following entry be made: Judgment for the plaintiff for possession of the store and basement described in her declaration; provided execution shall not issue until the Washington Trust Co. vacates the store now temporarily occupied by it in the Rhode Island Hotel building on Broad street in Westerly, Rhode Island."

Michael Shinico, 18, was charged by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown, with operating an automobile in the absence of and without the consent of the owner. The owner in this case is the father of the young man. A plea of guilty was entered. Chief Brown stated that Wednesday the father missed the automobile and obtaining a jitney found it at the North Stonington Grange fair with the young man in it. The defendant admitted taking the automobile without his father's consent. Judge Turano bound the young man over to the November session of the superior court, asking surety for his appearance in the sum of $1000, which was secured.

The case of the state, Thomas E. Brown, chief of police, complainant, vs. Salvatore Yacapati, was taken up, charging the defendant July 28th with passing an electric car near the Munro Greenhouses on Beach street, while the car was discharging passengers. S. H. Davis appeared for Yacanati while John Ferguson, town solicitor, represented the state. Guy Page, special policeman for Atlantic Beach, testified that leaving Westerly at 7.45 on the Atlantic Beach electric car, he saw the autotruck driven by defendant coming down the Peleg Clark hill when four passengers were alighting from the trolley car. He stepped off the car and signaled the auto driver to stop, directing the electric cars to proceed and served a summons on the defendant to appear in court. William F. Donahue, conductor of Atlantic Beach car, testified that four passengers got off, two being children, and identified the truck driven. Arthur Pearce, employed by the Shore Line was on the second, or Watch Hill car, and saw the truck when stopped near the rear end of the electric car for Atlantic Beach. Ralph Kinney, on the Watch Hill car following the Atlantic Beach car, saw the policeman stop the auto which passed the electric car. Henry J. McCarroll testified that he alighted from the car with his sister and 9-year-old boy and that he held the boy for the truck to pass, his sister crossing in front of the the truck, their destination being 68 Margin street, which was reached by going down Clark street. The state resting, Attorney Davis called the defendant, Salvatore Yacanati, who testified that "the guy Page" was the policeman who stopped him but stated that there were three cars on the hill and that all were in motion. Samuel Alice and Samuel Cherinizia, passengers in the truck, were called and testified that the electric cars were moving when the truck passed them and that "this guy Page" stepped from moving electric car. Page was again placed on the stand and testified that the truck passed the cars while still. Judge Turano said that he would find the defendant guilty and fined him $10 and costs, which was paid.

JEWETT CITY

The second game in the series between the Outdoor Boys and Congressman Roux's All Stars is to be played Sunday. By winning last Sunday's game, 11 to 8, the Outdoor Boys took the lead in the series and are out to cop Sunday's game. They won last Sunday's game after fighting an uphill battle for seven innings. In the seventh, with the score 7 to 3 against them, three men on bases, as the result of two hits and a pass, Manager Dwyer came up and crossed the opposing team by crashing out a screaming three-bagger, instead of laying down a bunt, as was expected. "Skimmilk" Raney and Supt. Toomey in left and center fields gave Spider McNicol sensational suport spearing many hard hit drives. The real sensation of the game was the playing of Young Sweet at first base. A brilliant future in baseball is predicted for this young man. Sweet substituted for Zeb Hiscox, who was unable to play owing to a loss of red currents on the city power line. It keeping him busy all day picking them up as they fell off. The two teams will line up Sunday as follows:

All Stars: Flop Flop Blanchard c, Spider McNicol p, Sweet or Zeb Hiscox 1b, Push-em-up Baldy LeClaire 2b, Congressman Rioux ss, Aprica LeClaire 3b, Skim-milk Raney lf, Supt. Toomey cf, Big Shiek Boucher rf.

Manager Hawkins Dwery will pick from the following men: Belisle Harrington, Cake Eater Farley, Naseline LeClaire, Santa Claus Benjamin, Flo Zeigfield Thompson, Harrington Belisle, Textile Paul, Speedboat Wolf, Stumbling Marshall, Weazel Symington, Creampuff LeClaire and Sir Lonsdale LeClaire. Many of the fans will be disappointed because their favorite Sweet Heart Raney will be unable to play this week. Overwork has incapacitated him.

It will be time soon to decide whether the town will appropriate money for the district nurse another year. A few facts about her work will show what she has accomplished for the health of the town and the expense therefor. She is in the town's employ—not the Red Cross, as some suppose. The local Red Cross chapter voted five hundred dollars for her work and the Metropolitan Insurance company pays for visits to their policy holders. The town voted $2,000. In nine months $1,026.01 has been expended by the town, $454.15 by the Metropolitan Co., $500 Red Cross, and $91.20 was received by the nurse from cases outside the Metropolitan cases; 1,373 calls have been made, 794 of which were Metropolitan and 579 other calls. The total expenditure is $2,073.36. This includes the purchasing of a car and equipment with which to start the nursing. Another year, the expense for the town would be much less. The taxes of the town were not raised to meet the expense and never need be. When the district nursing was started, the nursing committee arranged certain rules by which the nurse should be governed. One of these is that the charge of forty cents will be made for the first hour or fraction of an hour. If any patient is not able to pay the charges, they are expected to pay something, if possible. This money does not go into the nurse's pocket as a fee—it is turned over to the town, to go toward her salary. For obstetrical calls the charge is two dollars and after-calls forty cents. In this way the expense to the town would be lessened, and the patient receives trained care for a small fee. It has been demonstrated several times, the value of a nurse already for a call, when it has not been possible to obtain one to take care of medical and surgical cases. It gives a feeling of safety, to be equipped to meet any emergency.

Chester Dudkowski, treasurer of the Japanese Relief fund being raised by the local American Red Cross chapter has received $590.41, to date. Voluntown, Newent, Pachaug have sent in their contributions, as well as some of the churches and mills. The money has been collected through the mills and churches mostly.

THE EXPECTED RESULT.

The mining of anthracite has been resumed to a partial extent. All the miners haven't gone back but eventually will. Coal production is being accomplished at an increased cost and though Governor Pinchot expressed so much confidence in his ability to have that increase absorbed along the line before it got to the consumer there isn't any evidence of it.

Coal producers in the state of Governor Pinchot are prompt with the announcement that the price of coal at the mines has been advanced. It was figured by the governor that the advance in wages to the miners would mean an increase of 60 cents a ton in the cost of production. The operators insisted that this was too low, and now they reiterate that by boosting the price from 30 cents to $1 a ton, regardless of that proportion of the increased cost of production which they were expected to absorb. This of course is all done in Pennsylvania, and from which the Pennsylvania tax on anthracite will get a boost. It is not action that is taken by the middlemen, the transportation lines or by the retailers.

Retailers in Boston anticipated this jump by adding 50 cents to the price of coal recently and hope to absorb the other 20 cents by cutting the cost of deliveries if sufficient coal can be obtained to do this within the next month or so. But even with the confidence of the governor Pennsylvania that coal need not cost the consumer any more it doesn't appear that he is going to escape that increase to any considerable extent.

What the outcome may be of efforts that are underway to cut transportation costs and high brokerage fees is problematical. It involves work that cannot be accomplished in a minute just because a settlement has been arranged which is dependent upon other action in order to give the proper protection to the consumer. One thing is certain, and that is that the price of coal at the mines has risen and there is no reason to believe that the public is surprised. It has had too much experience to expect otherwise.

PARKING RESTRICTIONS.

Within the past few years the parking problem has loomed big in many cities. Whatever it may have been in the past, or whatever steps have been taken to regulate the situation now it can be realized that what suffices today will not meet the conditions tomorrow.

There has been a rapid growth in the number of automobiles. People who walked to their work or went on the electrics are now going in automobiles. This means that the cars must be left somewhere, and what is more natural than for those with machines to think that they have a right to leave them in front of their place of business or where they are employed. Such a view would not encounter objection were it not for the fact that there are so many machines that the filling of the streets with parked cars leaves insufficient room for the ordinary traffic, while it likewise deprives others of a chance to drive their cars up to the curbstone even for a brief time to do an errand.

It is the large number of cars and the desire of too many to do the same thing in the restricted and much used highways that makes regulation necessary and cries out for the enforcement of the parking rules. In the city of Washington notice has just been given that the regulations which forbid cars standing at the curb longer than 30 minutes on some streets or two hours on others are going to be enforced. Inability to take care of the traffic and give all an opportunity makes it necessary.

The situation there is no different than it is elsewhere. Cities have encountered much opposition in endeavoring to check the parking in order to accommodate traffic. Parking is by no means a simple problem. It grows greater every day, and with the number of machines increasing at the rate reached in the past year even more radical restrictions than those now imposed can be anticipated. The day of permitting cars to stand for any considerable period on narrow and much used streets is rapidly passing.

SCHOOL FACILITIES.

From the larger cities there comes a common cry of inadequate provisions for the school children. In some of them the fault may be due to one thing and in others to something else, but the fact stands out in a glaring manner that thousands of the children are able to get only part time schooling because there has not been made proper provision for their education.

This part time schooling means that because of improper facilities thousands of children who go to school in the morning must remain at home during the afternoon that others may have their seats and school rooms.

Shortsighted policies, failure to sense the requirements, friction among the various committees which have to do with schools and school construction can all be pointed to as responsible for this situation, and no matter what the size of the city it means a rank injustice to the coming generation and sad indictment of those who must shoulder the responsibility.

Figuring on the number of school children from one year to another can be done so that the school accommodations can be brought much nearer to the point of providing for all. Should the situation prevail for only one year or part of a year nothing would be thought of it, but when it continues from one to another with no progress being made in catching up with requirements in some cities, and only partially meeting the demands in others, it reveals a serious situation in view of our laws for compulsory education and only enough equipment to take care of those who are eager to comply.

If there was as much eagerness to put into the erection and equipping of school buildings the large sums that are wasted in connection with much municipal work there would be no shortage of school accommodations. Clearly it is a matter about which there should be no question. Each child is entitled to full educational facilities and it is for the public interest that they should be provided.

PROTECTING OURSELVES.

Conditions surrounding immigration have been subjected to attacks from different angles. We are told that our facilities for handling them are inadequate, there are those who want the bars let down and there are those who want them put up. Federal authorities have been studying the problem along different lines and making recommendations in keeping with such conditions as they found.

Assistant Secretary Wadsworth of the treasury department comes forth with the latest suggestions. He would place more emphasis upon the physical examination of the immigrants and include other than those who patiently require a physical survey. He would have Ellis island accommodations enlarged to carry on this work and he would hold steamship lines responsible for bringing aliens to these shores who cannot pass the requirements.

It is coming to be more and more realized that our institutions maintained at public expense are being filled up with defectives that have come from other shores. Some of these are deported but the aim should be to stop them from coming here. If it is the physical examination that Secretary Wadsworth urges that will accomplish it it would be an excellent method of prevention. That with the holding of steamship lines responsible for bringing those who cannot pass the physical requirements, and who the companies must know cannot, would doubtless have a beneficial effect. The suggestion may well get careful consideration when the many advocated changes in the immigration laws are being passed upon. We need to show some interest in protecting ourselves.

STRENGTHENS BONDS BETWEEN NATIONS.

Actions speak louder than words, and Japan has had an opportunity to note it well in connection with the aid which has been given to it by this country.

However much some have endeavored to stir up enmity between these two countries having interests in the Pacific it has been reiterated quite as often that no feeling of unfriendliness prevailed on the part of this country. When the Washington conference was at work it was disclosed that this country was not suspecting Japan when it agreed to certain features of the Pacific pact by which certain rights to fortify were cast aside in the interest of peace. It was felt by some that we have made too great sacrifices in the interest of peace.

Time of course will tell the story as to that, but in the meantime our attitude of friendship and our attitude of good will to Japan has been openly displayed in another manner which cannot go unnoticed by that nation. That it will not is indicated by the expressions of gratitude that have already come from Japan concerning the relief that has been extended by the United States during its great disaster. In quick time more than $8,000,000 was made available for use of the stricken people of that country and our naval and marine forces were giving all aid within their power. The aid was sent when it would accomplish the most good and was willingly given to help a neighbor in distress.

Great has been the destruction in Japan but in serving humanity there has been greatly strengthened the relationship between the nations. Whatever words might have indicated in the past has been overshadowed by the actions of the present.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It was a delightful rain but not enough of it.

Some of our warships are being scrapped that were not listed for such disposition.

No one is kicking over the changes in the price of gasoline as long as it keeps going down.

Down in Atlanta there is a blind auto driver. From the way they drive many autoists who profess to see are blind.

The man on the corner says: It is always well to be so careful that if you get hurt it will be the other fellow's fault.

Much rain is needed before the reservoirs, ponds and brooks will fill and they must fill before cold weather can set in in earnest.

Has each and everyone of us got to go through the experiences of a bad fire before practicing the policy of prevention?

It is well for those entitled to become voters to remember that today is the last day for appearance before the registration board. Go early, but be sure and go.

In the recent settlement between the miners and the operators the public was further neglected by failure to insist that what it gets must be coal and not rock.

Each time there is a boost in the price of coal it will be rattled with what glee President Lewis of the miners set out to trounce the operators.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

Curiosity not only goes to absurdity, but oftentimes to rank injustice. There are no private secrets that it respects; no private sanctity that it does not invade. It ruthlessly tramples down individual rights and especially those of our public men, and the more exalted the office is the greater is the liberty taken with it. The little things that plain John Smith does curiosity is not interested in, but the same things done by the president of the United States become headliners of the first importance simply because they gratify a morbid public curiosity. When the president takes a walk—sometimes before breakfast and sometimes after—it is said that he puts one foot before the other. And when the president retires, as he usually does, every night for the purpose of resting, it is reported on good authority that he always takes off his clothes, however late it is, which is more than can be said of some congressmen.

There is no binding force in the world that is equal to the power of love, or the performance of deeds that are actuated by the spirit of kindness. Since writing about the cementing of this country to Japan in her great hour of need by America's great work of relief in such a disinterested way, reports still come from the Orient that the national heart of the little island empire has been touched with gratitude as never before. Compare that feeling with that which exists today, and which will probably exist for many years to come, between Germany and France. From a purely business standpoint would it not have been a better investment for Germany if she had poured into the national treasury of France in 1914 a sum equal to the amount demanded in the reparation bill? There is a money value in good will when it involves international relations. The sooner the principle of the Golden Rule gets into the world's diplomacy the nearer will we come to universal peace.

Is there not a mystery about the sea from every point of contact? Let it be readily granted that we are not groping about quite as blindly as they did before the age of modern science. We may not look at the impact of the heavy breakers on a rocky shore, as was once done, as the expression of the fury of some offended deity, yet can we quite separate it from the potency of the Divine Will? That is, if we accept the efficiency of secondary causes, and science warrants us in so doing, is there not some great First Cause back of secondary cause, and that First Cause is God. We sometimes question if science does not go too far in disconnecting phenomena from the agency of God. Science says that God creates immutable laws that are never suspended to get man out of some perplexity. Is that a point on which we can dogmatize? Is not a being who is great enough to make law great enough to suspend it, if he chooses?

Again we are in the period of seasonal changes. Not so very long ago we were discoursing eloquently (?) about the swelling bud and the opening petal, but now it is the ripening fruit and the deepening red of vegetation. This day the noise of bumble bees, the next the cricket's song (pardon, if you please, the unhallowed paraphrase). As one looks back over the summer he can easily count on the fingers of one hand the number of sleepless nights occasioned by hot, muggy weather. I wonder if we are correspondingly thankful as we look back over this almost incomparably livable summer. We growl like a bear with a sore paw when there comes a night in which the humidity makes us restless. "Wasn't it a terrible night?" "I never saw anything like it. I didn't get a wink of sleep." And thus on and on as though we were standing in the penumbra haze of the tomb. But what do we say in these superb weather? "Isn't it rather cool for the season?"

What a charm it is on a crisp September evening to sit by an open grate fire and simply muse—not wrestle with pulsating, red-blooded ideas but simply drift idly with every thin impression that comes floating into what, by a singular misnomer, is sometimes called the human intellect. Nothing disturbs your reverie. You only hear, now and then, a passing train over the tracks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. Instead of disturbing you, it sounds like music in your ears, for it gives evidence that possibly in time this road will declare a dividend for its common stockholders. I mean, of course, the holders of its common stock. Although you are the father of a family on this night you have all the instincts of an unmarried man. If your wife has gone out to see a neighbor and you are a wicked man you are smoking. You are reading a pocket edition of Ik Marvel's "The Reveries of a Bachelor." And at the present moment it is better than trying to settle the coal strike.

The above is an approach to what is now regarded as an important physiological law relating to the science of rest—and science it surely is. All teachers of physical culture are having much to say in these days about deadstill exercises, that is, the complete cessation, for the time being, of all physical and mental activity. Now all this brings out a side of life that was formerly neglected almost entirely. We have been taught all our lives the necessity of reducing our activity or labor to a science, but it is not until recently that we have been taught that inactivity, or cessation of labor ought to be treated scientifically. Resting is a great deal more than stopping to work with mind and body. The great negatives of life ought to be considered just as carefully as the great positives. It is a big thing to know just when and how to work, it is just as big to know when and how to stop. It is a big thing to know when and how to speak, it is just as big to know when and how to keep still. The grace of God is seen just as much in the latter as in the former. For a great length of time the positives were at the bat, and it is only a part of the game that they should have some share in the outfielding work, and let the negatives have an inning.

In the bulletin that is published monthly by the health department of the state one gets an interesting summary of the diseases that are most fatal to human life. Now the diseases that are most dreaded are not those that claim the greatest number of victims, for the simple reason that they are under more rigid control. For instance, small pox is a dread disease, and one that was the most fatal in this country before the advent of the white man, but today where small pox takes off one, whooping cough, generally regarded as a mild disease, takes off ten, simply because it is more prevalent. Tuberculosis is still getting in its deadly work, but it no longer occupies the high place it did in its work of mortality. Comparatively speaking, cancer, the most terrible of diseases, is mercifully infrequent. But the greatest enemy to physical humanity is diseases of the nervous system; they claim a toll nearly equal to all others combined. And strongly enough they are amenable to treatment, except when they get into the insanity state. There is no disease that may be so obedient to the will power. When they behave themselves, they are man's greatest friend; but when they go on a rampage, they are his greatest enemy.

THE WHAT AND WHY OF AN EARTHQUAKE.

Exactly what is an earthquake and what causes it?

These two questions very naturally pop into the minds of millions of persons when a catastrophe such as that which recently occurred in Japan overtakes some great city and causes thousands of deaths.

A bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society answers these questions:

"Superficially the name itself tells the story. It is no more nor less than a quaking of the earth or a part of it; and theoretically any vibration at all fills the bill, from the tremor caused by a heavy truck passing along the street or a blast in a nearby quarry to the most violent convulsion that slides hills from their bases and opens yawning chasms in the earth.

Earth Waves Hold Secret

"But going beyond the superficial, there is more that needs to be said even by way of a bare definition of an earthquake. The quake in so far as man experiences it is the coming to the surface of waves in the earth. These waves cannot be compared simply to the up-an-down waves of rippled water nor to the back-and-forth waves in the air that make sound. Even the simplest wave motion is none to easy to understand; and the waves in the varying earth materials that make themselves known to man as earthquakes are probably the most complex waves that exist. They are at once motions 'up-and-down' like sea waves; crosswise like the waves in a flapping flag; back-and-forth like sound waves or the motion in a long coiled spring suspended with a weight bobbing at its end; and in addition may have twists about imaginary pivot lines in all of the three dimensions.

"The earth waves originate in some region down in the earth and start out in every direction. The waves from a pebble dropped into a pond form growing circles on the surface of the water. But the waves in the earth being in a solid, attempt to form spheres that constantly grow outward. Soon however, because of the difference in the rigidity of different rock materials, the form is not a sphere at all but a very irregular curved solid instead, more nearly that of a potato, perhaps.

Two Kinds of Waves

"The two principal types of earth waves, those that travel like the pulsations in a bobbing spring, straight out; and those that travel like ripples and the waves in a flag, with a sidewise motion, move at different speeds. The pulsing waves are the swifter, and of course the place where they make themselves felt first and most strongly is the surface area straight above their starting point. The pulsing waves around the epicenter alternately push up the surface of the earth and everything on it, and let them fall back. This is done very rapidly and though the actual rise and fall may be only a fraction of an inch on rocky surfaces or a very few inches on soft soil, the violence may be like that from innumerable tremendous blows, and sufficient to shake down buildings.

"The 'sidewise' waves follow along almost immediately after the first pulsing waves, and the two, with perhaps 'twisting waves' as well, then operate together. The ground in the epicentral area, therefore, gets innumerable thrusts and falls and at the same time is jerked sidewise and back for tiny distances in every direction.

"At points some distance from the epicenter the pulsing waves strike the surface at a slant and so accentuate the effects of the 'sidewise' waves and create new surface undulations. The shaking at the epicenter, too, throws the earth's surface there into undulatory waves like ripples on a pond, and these also travel outward in widening circles. These surface waves are those of greatest motion but least speed. They register the heaviest vibrations on the seismographs of the world.

How the Waves Start

"The second important question in regard to an earthquake is: What starts the waves?

"No one has ever seen an earth quake wave start outward from its center, and it is safe enough to say that no one ever will. But science has built certain hypotheses about the matter that seem to account satisfactorily for the happenings, and which are accepted pretty generally.

"Hold a dry stick as big as your thumb in your hands and bend it until it breaks. At the snap waves will travel to your hands and usually give you a quite painful sensation.

"Hold an iron bar by one end and strike the other sharply with a hammer. Again the vibrations carried to your hand may be violent enough to produce a stinging pain.

"And if you should strike a small explosive cap with the end of a long rod grasped by the other end, the explosion would probably bring the same painful tingle to your fingers.

Breaks Probably Most Important

"It is generally believed that earthquake waves flow from a point where one of the three forces illustrated is suddenly released—a break, a blow or an explosion. Breaks are credited with the responsibility for most earthquakes. It is believed that because of slow contraction or shrinking which may result from the cooling of the outer portion of the earth or because of pressure from deposited silt, strains are set up below the surface like those in the bending stick.

Eventually the strain reaches the breaking point and there is a snapping of the rocks which sends violent waves to the surface, causing earthquakes.

"The blow type of earthquake is probably less important. Such a blow might result from the falling in of a great cavern, but probably would cause only a local shiver. A more important cause of a blow might be a slipping of one mass of rock over another with a collision at the end of the slide. Such a blow often follows a break, the two acting together.

Volcanic Explosions Play Part

"Earthquakes in active volcanic regions may often result from explosion of gases far beneath the surface; but it is quite possible that even in the neighborhood of volcanoes the majority of the quakes may arise from sudden breaks in the rocks.

"That the earth's 'crust' is subject to squeezing and pinching is evident from mountain ranges, which are the portion of the crust that is 'pinched up' as one can pinch up a ridge of skin on his arm. If mountains were ever trust up at all rapidly the earthquakes at that time must have been terrible. Even now there are certain mountains that though millions of years old, are still geologically 'young' and are slowly rising. The mountains of Japan fall into this class, and it is their 'growing pains,' so to speak, that cause the almost daily earthquakes in the Japanese archipelago. Now and then the strains accumulate over a considerable period and the break or slide and collision which finally occurs is violent enough to shake down hills, open wide cracks and destroy cities."

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Dr. Charles A. Beard, who has been called to Japan to help in the reconstruction of the city of Tokio, is a former American university professor, a writer on history and government and a recognized authority on municipal government. For ten years he was professor of politics in Columbia University. He has been conspicuous for some years as an interpreter of the political evolution of national history, in the light of its economic and social development, and as such has written several remarkable books. He did much in counseling the leaders of the Progressive party during its brief meteoric career under the guidance of Mr. Roosevelt. Dr. Beard is an Indian, whose studies at De Pauw University, at Cornell University and at Oxford University prepared him for his professional career.

1920—Grand jury in Chicago began an investigation of world's series baseball games.

1922—Protestant Episcopal Church Convention changed canon law so that communicants are forbidden to marry divorced persons other than plaintiffs in infidelity divorces.

Stories That Recall Others

One Good "No" in the Lot.

Standing under an awning while it rained, two young men were discussing their blessings.

"I'll tell you," one began, that was sure a luck day for me when I didn't get them marriage licenses."

The other stared.

"Yes, here I am now with no money, no clothes, no job, no grub," he continued, "and just one 'no' thing to be thankful for and that is, that I ain't got no wife to go with them other nos."

Listen to This.

A party of four had been spending their vacation at a lake, fishing much of the time. Bill and Walt were in the north part of the lake one day when the former noticed a peculiar movement of the anchor rope at different times, but thought nothing of it until they started to pull up the anchor to go ashore to get some bait, for which emergency they had brought along a spade.

The rope and anchor then began to swing around in the water and looking down Bill saw a big pickerel fastened on the rope. By use of the spade he quieted the struggles of the fish and brought it into the boat. It was found that when the anchor, a small sized window weight, had been let down the fish had evidently made a strike for it and it passed through his mouth and came out one of his gills, so it could not get loose. The fish weighed 13 1-2 pounds according to the story and it is substantiated by all the others in the party.

If a man owes anything to himself he is likely to settle promptly.

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

A PRECIOUS LEGACY

One of the most beautiful legacies that Christ left to His disciples was the wonderful prayer, commonly called "The Lord's Prayer". It is so short that a little child can learn it; and so comprehensive that every phase of human need and aspiration and every longing of the weak and sinful for forgiveness and strength may be found between the tender "Our Father" and the limitless "Forever".

The early martyrs used this prayer in many a prison cell. It rose like incense where small bodies of men and women prayed in dark recesses of the catacombs. Missionaries in eastern jungles, converts, in heather lands, soldiers on the eve of battle, and mothers bending over their children—all have found that it voiced their deepest heart-yearning.

When Christ gave this prayer to His disciples it was, as it were, an unused pearl, today every one of its petitions is freighted with nineteen centuries of answered prayer. Let us show the children its beauty and lead them to see how fully it voices the needs of the youth of today. Let us teach them to pray, not merely to "say" the Lord's Prayer. Familiarity often diminishes the significance of well-known words, but when they have reached our hearts, then their value is increased a hundred fold. "Only the Lord's prayer are the words that one hears sometimes from those who greatly value extemporaneous prayer. It would seem that such persons remembered only the familiarity of the words and forgot the source of the Lord's prayer. Some are gifted in framing the expression of the desires of their hearts, while others pray earnestly in halting sentences, but always and everywhere the Lord's prayer should be first in our hearts and on our lips, with the assurance that no words of our own selection can ever exceed its depth, its sweetness, and its suitableness to all occasions of human need.

The Lord's prayer combines many prayers in one. It expresses a child's trust in the Fatherhood of God. It includes a petition that God's name may be kept holy in the hearts of men. It breaths a prayer for missions and one for submission to God's will. It voices a request for the supply of daily needs, a cry for forgiveness for others and for help in forgiving others. It embodies a plea for deliverance in temptation and closes with words of sublime faith. Christ gives this prayer anew to every child of God, when its wonderful, all-embracing petitions are first uttered with an understanding heart.

COULD HARDLY DO HER WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Eat, Sleep and Feel Better Every Way

Chicago, Ill.—"I was weak and rundown and in such a nervous condition that I could hardly do my work. I was tired all the time, and dizzy, and could not sleep and had no appetite. I tried different medicines for years, but they did not help me. Then I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for other women and gave it a trial. I began to eat better and could sleep, and consider it a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to my friends and will never be without it."—Mrs. M. Ohlsen, 3640 S. Marshfield Ave., Chicago, Ill.

It is such letters as these that testify to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This woman speaks from the fullness of her heart. She describes as correctly as she can her condition, first the symptoms that bothered her the most, and later the disappearance of those symptoms. It is a sincere expression of gratitude.

For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

LODGE NOTES

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS

The Daughters of Veterans held their meeting Tuesday with a good attendance. After sister Atterbury installed Lillian J. Brewster as patriotic instructor for the balance of the year the tent voted to run a rummage sale Saturday Sept. 29th at the Buckingham and a whist on Friday evening Oct. 5th, also at the Buckingham. All members are expected to keep these dates in mind and help in what ever way they can. The meeting closed with salute to the flag.

FOREIGN WAR VETERANS

If the contemplated memorial to Benjamin Franklin in Washington is built, "should not Philadelphia unselfishly permit Franklin's ashes to be made the basis of this national shrine?" is suggested in resolutions made public by the Americanization Committee and National Council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The movement for this Franklin tribute at the Nation's Capital was launched last December by the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York. The Associated Advertising club of the World, the 1923 Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Y. F. W., and many other organizations, have likewise recommended that Franklin's birthday, January 17th, be annually celebrated, though without any public holiday.

October is the 200th anniversary month of Franklin's epoch-making pilgrimage, as a runaway printer's apprentice of 17, from Boston to New York and Philadelphia.

JUNIOR AMERICAN MECHANICS

The largest gathering of members of the Jr. O. U. A. M. in the history of the order in Rhode Island took place in Pawtucket on Wednesday evening, Sept. 19th. It is estimated that over 1,000 members were in the line of march from the railroad station to the hall. Very stirring addresses were made by National Councilor Joseph D. Tumieon of N. Y. National Vice Councilor Thomas H. Walters of Philadelphia, National Secretary Joseph L. Wilweth of Virginia and National Conductor H. E. Humes of Rhode Island. Among those present from Connecticut were National Representative J. W. Wellington of Sprague, Councilor H. E. Eddins of Buckingham Council, Norwich, Rep. to State Council F. G. Peiper of Norwich, Ralph Chapman, Norwich and E. Shepard of New London.

GROTTO

Nemrod Grotto's summer social activities will come to a close next Monday night, when at Hilltop Casino the final open air event will be known as Nemrod's Fun Night. With this last event is assured a night of fun, frolic and jollity that will cap the climax of the many successful gatherings held during the altogether too short months of summer and all joys will not be confined to a mere Fox trot or waltz. Many joy making devices will have their debut at this evening of fun, such as have not heretofore been.

The entertainment committee of the Grotto, will, directly following this event center their activities toward the helping of Nemrod Patrol and band in staging a theatrical show early this fall and promoting the semi-annual ceremonial of the order on Nov. 9th.

ODD LADIES, M. U.

Loyal Victory lodge, No. 4, met on Thursday evening in Steiner's Hall with Noble Grand Gertrude Alquist in the chair. Plans for a minstrel next month are being made. Hugh H. Osgood lodge has invited the Ladies lodge to join them at church parade on the second Sunday in October (St. Andrew's church Greeneville). The Ladies lodge is expecting a large attendance.

MACCABEES

New members were initiated this week at the regular meeting of the W. B. A., of Maccabees on Wednesday evening.

There are thirty-five cottages still occupied at Willimantic campground.

RED SQUIRREL ENEMY OF ALL BIRD LIFE

It is hard to believe that the handsome, agile, graceful red squirrel which adds such a picturesque note to our lawns and parks is an inveterate destroyer of the eggs and young of useful birds and spends much of his time in searching out nests among the trees. Such, however, are his habits and naturalists and sportsmen class him as one of the most vicious of all game destroying animals. In many places war has been declared on him by sportsmen who are particularly interested in ridding their neighborhood of "varmin", as the birds and animals are called which prey on useful species. A great mass of evidence has been collected against the red squirrel such as to make it necessary to keep down his number if insectivorous birds are to be allowed to flourish and help out in their useful work.

The late John Burroughs wrote of the red squirrel: "Nearly all of the birds look upon it as their enemy and attack and annoy it when it appears near their breeding haunts. Thus I have seen the pewee, the cuckoo, the robin and the wood thrush pursuing it with angry voices and gestures. If you wish the birds to breed and thrive in your orchards and groves, kill every red squirrel that infests the place."

Dr. C. Hart Merriam, who for many years was chief of the Biological Survey, Washington, D. C., and who ranks as one of the foremost authorities in the United States on birds and mammals, writes: "The propensity to suck the eggs and destroy the young of our smaller birds is the worst trait of the red squirrel and is in itself sufficient reason for its extermination, at least about the habitations of men. I have myself known him to rob the nests of the red-eyed vireo, chipping sparrow, robin, wilson's thrush and ruffed grouse, and doubt not that thousands of eggs are annually sacrificed in the Adirondack region alone, to gratify his appetite.

The Connecticut state board of fisheries and game is advocating war on the red squirrel.

WEDDINGS.

Blinn—Johnson.

At 1.30 o'clock Friday afternoon, Rev. Albert P. Blinn, pastor of the Norwich Spiritual Academy, and Mrs. Lillian J. Johnson, of No. 120 Broadway, were united in marriage at the home of Mrs. Joseph Henderson at No. 120 Broadway, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, pastor of the United Congregational church.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride and groom left for a motor trip through western Massachusetts and New Hampshire. They will return in October when Rev. Mr. Blinn will begin his 19th year as pastor of the Spiritual Academy.

The bride has been employed at the office of John H. Ford for many years. Both Mr. and Mrs. Blinn are well known and have many warm friends who extend them best wishes in their future life.

CENTRAL VILLAGE MASON FOUND BADLY BATTERED

Edward Baker, a mason by trade, was found in his house at Central Village Friday by neighbors with his face badly swollen and cut, one eye closed and his upper lip cut. The man had evidently been drinking and could not tell how he received his injuries. Sheriff Tillinghast and Selectman Bessette were notified and Dr. J. L. Gardner was called to attend to the man's injuries. It was necessary to sew up his lip.

Baker lost considerable blood before he was found. The Central Village authorities are investigating the case. It is understood that Baker believes he was hit by an automobile.

CHARGED WITH HAVING RECEIVED STOLEN BONDS

New York, Sept. 21.—Robert A. Franks, Jr., son of the first vice-president and treasurer of the Carnegie foundation, was arrested today charged with having received bonds stolen in Cincinnati in November, 1922.

His arrest followed that of William McAvoy and Hugh and John Macewan, who were secretly indicted last Tuesday charged with having sold the bonds. Franks refused to make any statement.

The three indicted men were said to have tried to sell $20,000 worth of the loot from a $100,000 bond robbery of the Southern and Western Life Insurance Company, of Cincinnati through E H. Rollins and Son, New York.

FORD CHEMICAL ENGINE TO PROTECT MOUNT VERNON

Washington, Sept. 21.—In its mad rush of turning out one or two a minute the force of the Ford Motor company recently stopped long enough to make a chemical fire engine to protect Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington.

The apparatus arrived today, a gift of Mr. Ford. He recently visited the shrine and was so impressed with the fire danger that he telegraphed his factory to make and engine and ship it post-haste.

HEAVY THEFTS OF WHISKEY FROM BONDED WAREHOUSES

St. Louis, Sept. 21.—(By the A. # BODY OF WILLIAM W. WILSON FOUND ON SHORE OF TWO TREE ISLAND

The body of William Wallace Wilson, aged 15, son of Mrs. Edith B. Wilson of 36 Thirteenth street, was found about noon Friday on Two Tree Island, off Pleasure Beach, Waterford, only a short distance from where the overturned canoe was found in which the boy had started on a fishing trip September 10th, with Robert Montgomery, Jr., 17-year-old son of Mr and Mrs. Robert Montgomery of 29 Colt street. No trace of the body of young Montgomery has yet been found. Two Tree island is about three miles from where the boys were last seen fishing off Millstone Point.

About noon Friday, John Rieger of Pleasure Beach, known about the state as a semi-professional ball player, started out on a fishing trip from the beach resort. In passing Two Tree Island Rieger saw an object on the edge of the island and investigating found that it was the body of a youth. Rieger notified Medical Examiner George M. Minor of Waterford. After an examination the medical examiner gave permission for the removal of the body to the undertaking rooms of Robert B. Byles in New London.

Identification of the body was made by Clifford E. Wilson of this city, a brother of the boy, who recognized a ring which the boy wore on his left hand, the ring bearing an old English "W". The boy's name was also stenciled on a sweat-shirt which he wore. The body was brought to Norwich by Undertaker Byles of New London and was taken in charge by Undertakers Cummings & Ring.

The two boys started from Crescent Beach on the morning of September 10th in the Montgomery boy's canoe on a fishing trip. When they did not return at nightfall a search was started for them, but no trace of them or of the canoe was found until the following day, when the overturned canoe was found by searchers in the vicinity of the Edward H. Hammond estate off Goshen Point. Ever since the boys disappeared a search has been maintained for their bodies.

The boys, when they started out from Crescent Beach, were fully clothed, but the Wilson boy's body when found was clad only in a sweat shirt. It is thought that the canoe probably became overturned in rough water or while they were fishing. Fishermen who saw the boys fishing in the canoe off Millstone Point said that both were fully clothed at that time. Both boys were good swimmers and the finding of the body of young Wilson, clothed only in a shirt, leads to the supposition that they probably discarded their clothes by hanging onto the canoe while they were in the water. They may then have tried to work towards shore and push the canoe with them until they became exhausted from their efforts or separated from the canoe. Without its support or too weak to continue their efforts longer even by floating with it, they lost their lives.

William Wallace Wilson was the son of Mrs. Edith B. Wilson and the late William E. Wilson and was born in Norwich in November 1907. He attended the Greeneville Congregational church and was a graduate of the Greeneville Grammar school. Last year he attended the preparatory school at Worcester Academy and was to have entered Worcester Academy this fall.

He is survived by his mother, one brother, Clifford E. Wilson and two sisters, Miss Gladys V. Wilson, a nurse, and Mrs. George Morrow of Norwich.

JAPANESE RELIEF FUND IS NOW $3,434.37

Further contributions this week to Norwich Chapter of the Red Cross for the Japanese relief fund have sent the total to $3,434.37, which puts the total well over the $2,000 quota which was assigned to the Norwich chapter. Contributions may still be sent to treasurer F. W. Lester at 43 Broadway.

The following are the latest contributors:

The A. C. Swan Co.; The Max Gordon & Son Corp.; American Woolen Co., employees Thamesville Plant; Gales Ferry Auxiliary; Mrs. L. M. Young; Fitchville Branch; Elizabeth street school; Sprague Branch, Baltic; Mr. and Mrs. George V. Shedd; Bozrah Congregational Church; Bozrah Congregational Sunday School; Ladies Missionary Society, Bozrah; Women's Relief Corps; Mrs. James I. Hewitt; Falls School; Grosvenor Ely; Miss Lucille S. Stetson; Norwich State Hospital.

ESCAPED AT CRANSTON, CAUGHT AT CENTRAL VILLAGE

Calvin Caswell, 19, who escaped about a week ago from the Howard reform school at Cranston, R. I., was found Friday at the home of his brother-in-law, Homer Blanchette at Central Village, where he was located by Sheriff Tillinghast and Officer Hill of the reform school.

While the sheriff went to get handcuffs leaving Caswell in charge of Blanchette, Caswell put up a fight, broke away from Blanchette and escaped into the woods. When he was recaptured and searched a set of leather putlees, which he had stolen from the Blanchette house was found under his clothes. He was taken back to Rhode Island late Friday afternoon.

It is claimed that after his escape from the reform school, he broke into a place in Rhode Island and stole a suit of clothes and an eight-inch dagger.

UNFAVORABLE TO JITNEY NORWICH TO NEW LONDON

Hartford Sept. 21.—The public utilities commission today held a hearing on a petition from Michele Baldelli, who now runs jitney lines between New London and the submarine base, and between the base and Norwich on the east side of the Thames river, for permission to increase the service between New London and Norwich.

At the conclusion of the hearing the commission held that the need for through service between the two cities had not been established, but that it would consider and publish a finding on the proposal for additional service between the submarine base and Norwich.

Railroads and trolley lines opposed the petition.

AWAITING DOCTOR'S REPORT ON MRS. EDNA MANWARING

State Attorney Hadlai I. Hull is awaiting a report from Dr. C. C. Glidersleeve of this city upon the condition of Mrs. Edna Weaver Manwaring, whose case is assigned for trial here next Tuesday in the superior court on the charge of violation of the liquor law at the Oswegatchie house, Waterford, of which she is proprietor. Mrs. Manwaring has recently had an operation for throat trouble. She is to be defended upon her trial by Attorneys Arthur M. Brown and Thomas E. Troland and it is anticipated that the case will be bitterly contested.

ATTACHED POULTRY AT NORTH STONINGTON FAIR

Some of the prize poultry displayed at the North Stonington fair by Capt. John Fish of Mystic had an attachment placed on it Thursday afternoon at the fair grounds by Deputy Sheriff William H. Casey who served the papers on a claim for $100 made by William H. Partelow.

The arrival of the deputy sheriff made a ripple of excitement at the fair grounds, where he took into possession enough of the poultry to cover the claim. Captain Fish helped him crate them up and accompanied the sheriff back to Mystic with the birds.

JOSEPH T. MITCHELL WAS 81 YEARS OLD FRIDAY

Joseph T. Mitchell, a former vice commander of Sedgwick post, No. 1, G. A. R., passed his 81st birthday on Friday. Mr. Mitchell, who resides with his daughter, Mrs. E. Porter Rogers of No. 56 Pratt street, was at home to his many friends during the day. The celebration, which was of a quiet nature, proved a most enjoyable one.

Gift for Student Nurse.

The Bulletin's Ledyard correspondent writes:

In honor of Miss Dorothy Doolittle, who entered the Backus hospital nurses' training class Monday last, a large number of friends gathered at the grange hall Friday evening, Sept. 14, to show their good will and express best wishes to her. Miss Doolittle was presented a fountain pen and gratefully acknowledged the gift. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

CAPT. GIBBONS' BODY FOUND AT HUDSON BAY

How the body of Capt. Arthur O. Gibbons, formerly of this city, was found two years ago under a fisherman's dory on the shore of Coaster's Island, Hudson Bay, has just been related at a meeting of the New Bedford Whaleman's club by Capt. George C. Cleveland, who is paying his first visit to civilization in a dozen years.

Capt. Gibbons was in command of the schooner A. T. Gifford which sailed from Cape Fullerton in September, 1915, and was never heard of again.

Capt. Cleveland's story is that two years ago while cruising in Hudson Bay he visited Coaster's Island, formerly a part of Southampton Island. There he found an overturned fisherman's dory, and beneath it two skeletons, one that of an exceedingly small man, and the other that of a medium-sized man.

As Captain Gibbons was the smallest man in the Gifford's crew of 15, Captain Cleveland became almost sure the skeleton was that of the lost skipper. When he found beside the skeleton a revolver, which he identified as one owned and carried by Captain Gibbons, his worst fears became confirmed.

Captain Cleveland learned that at the time the schooner was scheduled to pass through Hudson Straits, Eskimoes had seen a vessel burning at the water's edge. He believes that Captain Gibbons and a companion started out in the dory to reach the nearest port of the Hudson's Bay Co.

Reaching Coaster's Island winter set in, and the men were forced to camp 70 miles from their goal. They lived on small game, rabbits and birds, and died beneath their dory sometime in the winter of 1915-1916. The bones of many small animals near the dory would seem to bear out Captain Cleveland's theory. Evidently the other 13 members of the crew perished in the same manner as did those whose skeletons were beneath the dory.

Capt. Gibbon's mother married John J. Murray of this city, residing at 23 McKinley avenue for a number of years. About a year ago they moved to Springfield.

ATTORNEYS WRESTLE WITH KNOWLEDGE OF SCRIPTURE

Two well known New London attorneys in the superior court here this week tried to make scripture and law travel hand in hand but rather disclosed things as for historical dates and language of the Bible are concerned.

An attorney for one of the accused in a liquor case said in his argument, "The state attorney seems to have found a new commandment, the eleventh one, thou shalt not drink. But, gentlemen of the jury, I want you to recall that Jesus on Mt. Sinai laid down only ten commandments."

The next day another attorney matched this by declaring that "the wicked flee no matter who is pursuing," which was something of a variation on the well known scripture quotation of the "wicked flee when no man pursueth."

DENIES CONTINUANCE IN CARNEY LIQUOR CASE

Judge Allyn L. Brown in the superior court here Friday afternoon denied the motion of attorney G. C. Morgan for a continuance in thecase of J. S. Carney, proprietor of the Pequot casino at New London, whose case is assigned for trial next Wednesday on the charge of violation of the liquor law.

Attorney Morgan argued for the continuance on the ground that Carney's health made it improbable that he would be able to be in court next week, but Judge Brown told the attorney that he had information that Carney was not confined to the house by his illness and the judge directed that Carney be in court on the assignment date, when his case will be taken up unless other court business intervenes.

ELECTED OFFICERS FOR POQUETANUCK ASSOCIATION

The September meeting of the Poquetanuck Parent-Teachers' association was held at the Poquetanuck school house Wednesday evening with the following officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Appleton Main; vice president, Mrs. Hurry Beckwith; secretary, Mrs. Naomi Gallup; treasurer, Rev. Thomas Ockford; programme committee, Mrs. George Mansfield and Mrs. Charles Harkness; refreshment committee, Mrs. Fish.

It was voted to purchase dishes to be used for serving refreshments at the monthly meetings. At the close of the meeting Miss Marian Geer gave a humorous reading which was greatly enjoyed.

Young Trout for Distribution.

Twenty cans of young trout were received here Thursday and another shipment Friday for distribution in streams in this vicinity. They were received by Secretary W. W. Ives of the Norwich Fish and Game association, who was assisted in planting them in half a dozen different brooks by Pearl Caulkins, Elmer H. Pierson and Joseph L. Oat. The fish were sent by the state fish and game commission.

NEW EVANGELISM METHOD AT TRINITY METHODIST

Rev. A. Earl Kernahan, who as a chaplain in the Second Machine Gun Battalion and later as headquarters chaplain, had unusual opportunity to get acquainted with the personal religious problems of the enlisted man, is now at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church to present the new method of evangelism upon which he has launched out. His unique method has already caught the attention of the leaders of New England churches.

This method has come to be known as visitation evangelism. Dr. Kernahan contends that it is Christ's method; that Jesus never held a series of mass evangelism services for the purpose of winning his outstanding workers. And he gives an array of occasions of personal interviews that Jesus had with men whom he won to discipleship by the interview method.

The unusual features of this method now being introduced into this city in Trinity Methodist church is first—that no evening evangelistic services are held (except those in which instruction of workers and interchange of ideas is given) and second in that all religious appeals are made by teams of laymen in the homes of their friends. The method appeals especially to the judgment of modern business men as it is actually their own method in salesmanship applied to the most important things in life. Its frankness, simplicity, directness, modesty and good taste are qualities which commend it to the critics of mass evangelism. It is free from the charge of false emotionalism and therefore the persons won to discipleship through the method are much more intelligent in their conception of a modern Christian's responsibility.

But the most arresting thing about the method is the undreamed of success in the numbers of persons won and in the percentage of satisfying interviews held. The success suggests the fact that all men are basically and instinctively religious and are willing even to face any religious presentation fairly made.

Another of Dr. Kernahan's contentions for this method is that it adapts itself to all kinds of churches—those which have used the conventional mass evangelism method being almost instantly converted to this method because of its sanity and success; and those who have opposed mass evangelism, finding that this method avoids the features they object to and having the qualities for which they contend.

Statistics of the individual meetings held by Dr. Kernahan are pointed to as giving support to his contentions. He has just closed a week of activity in a small church at Thompsonville, Conn., where five teams of laymen won a total of thirty-eight persons in sixty interviews. In an eight days' campaign in Austin church, Chicago, 407 persons were won out of a list of about 700 persons interviewed. In a week's campaign in an Atlantic, Mass., church twenty-two teams of laymen won 149 out of 180 prospects. And these phenomenal results are obtained at about this percentage wherever the method has been used.

Four Fundamental Appeals.

As it is always interesting to know what the universal religious appeals are Dr. Kernahan has set down the four appeals which he regards as the outstanding ones which Christianity normally makes to men as follows:

First: The appeal of conscience. Everyone is born with a basic religious instinctive nature. Jesus Christ so fits into human personality that He makes His own appeal. The appeal of the life God would have the prospect live, the appeal of what his conscience and best judgment tells him he ought to do, or the appeal of right and duty, are appeals which are very effective.

Our second most effective appeal is that of the Christian home. Many parents will do things for the sake of their children that they would not do for their own sake. A United Brethren minister at South Bend reported at a workers' meeting that he was visiting with a police sergeant about the Christian life and Christian home. The police sergeant was doing much of the talking. Before the minister was ready to make his appeal to win the man, the sergeant had talked himself into the decision, so pointing to his 4 year old boy playing on the floor, he remarked: "That boy is the reason why my wife and I ought to be Christians and members of your church." We all recognize that it was a sufficient reason.

The third outstanding appeal is that of service. This is the best type of an appeal for a modern man who has a vision of community service. It is also the best appeal in winning youth. To illustrate its strength in winning young men, all I need do is suggest how our boys by the millions responded to the heroic sacrificial appeal for service for their country, so that, if necessary, millions of them were willing to die upon the battlefields of France. In dealing with red-blooded youth, we never need be afraid of making a strong appeal for Christian manhood, Christian service for society or service for Christ and his church.

The fourth appeal is that of being saved or getting to heaven. This appeal is not usually successful in winning the modern man or in winning youth. It was, however, the outstanding evangelistic appeal of our preaching of yesterday, but in my judgment it is the poorest of the four appeals for today and the appeal from which we secure the least response. If anyone is elderly, about to die, or has had a certain historical background of religious training, then they might respond to this appeal. Or if the prospect has recently been saddened by a saintly mother passing on to glory or a child that is now safe in the care of a loving Heavenly Father, these experiences sometimes tender the heart and make possible reaching the prospect.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Robert E. Clark.

FINAL GAMES OF TAFTVILLE SERIES TO BE PLAYED TODAY AND SUNDAY

The Taftville A. A. and the J. B. Martin Co., baseball teams struggle today and tomorrow for the baseball supremacy of Taftville in two conflicts one at the Providence street grounds this afternoon and the other at the J. B. Martin diamond on Sunday. Both games will be for blood and the betting on the game today is at even money.

In today's struggle at the Providence street grounds Davis of the Submarine Base will be on the mound for Taftville while Fisher, who has been pitching for the Martin team during the latter part of the season, will be in the box for the Velvetmen. Fisher has turned in some good games for the Martin team although he was poorly supported in the first game with Taftville a week ago. Davis, who has been pitching exceptional ball this season, needs no introduction to local fans and Taftville is pinning their hopes on him to win today's game.

The lineups for todays game will be:

Taftville—Davis p; Belair c; Cardle 1b; Burns 2; Liberty ss; Dugas 3b; Jarvis lf; M. Dugas cf; Jim Murphy rf.

J. B. Martin—Fisher p; Welch c; J. Joubert 1b; Mogin 2b; F. Gley 3b; Decelles ss; W. Gley lf; E. Murphy cf; A. Joubert rf.

The Game Sunday

Although Taftville took the first game of the series and may possibly win todays game a third encounter will take place on Sunday. However, the Velvetmen are confident that Sunday's game will be the deciding conflict of the series as they are confident of winning today.

For Sunday the J. B. Martin team will use Mike Morin in the box. Mike severed connections with the Taftville A. A. a few weeks ago and is anxious to get a chance to pitch against his former teammates. He is certain that he can hold the up-village boys in check as he knows their weaknesses to perfection. The remainder of the lineup will be the same as for Saturday's game with the exception of second base which will be taken care of by Lemieux.

Taftville will have "Lefty" Harold, former Annapolis pitcher in the box and the rest of the lineup will be the same as Saturday. Harold is a pitcher that has made an exceptionally good record in semi-pro baseball and could have gone high had he desired.

With this the only game in this section of the state this Sunday a record breaking crowd is expected.

The J. B. Martin team closes its season a week from today in the final game of the Riverview series at the State hospital diamond.

GIANTS NEED 5 VICTORIES TO CLINCH PENNANT

New York, Sept. 21—The New York Giants today advanced a stride nearer the 1923 national league pennant and their third successive championship by trouncing Pittsburgh, one of their two principal rivals, in two games, while the Cincinnati Reds were winning but one from Brooklyn.

The world's champions now have a lead of four and a half games over the Reds, who are in second place, and eight games over the Pirates.

The Giants need to win but four of their remaining eight games to make the winning of the pennant a mathematical certainty, even should the Reds capture all of their remaining eight contests. In that eventuality the Giants would be at the top by one half game with the final sanding as follows:

| | W. | L. | PC |
|---|---|---|---|
| Giants | 95 | 58 | .621 |
| Reds | 95 | 59 | .617 |

Pittsburgh, though virtually eliminated from the race today, still has a mathematical chance. However, the Giants need win but three of their remaining games to finish ahead of the Pirates, even if the latter win all of their remaining eleven games.

COLLEGE GRIDIRON SEASON GETS UNDERWAY TODAY

New York, Sept. 21—The 1923 gridiron season will get under way tomorrow in many parts of the country but few of the better known elevens will be seen in action. A scattered dozen or more games are scheduled but most of th leading colleges are polishing up their machines in preparation for the season's inaugural on Saturday of next week.

Among the eastern games slated for tomorrow are three between up-state New York aggregations. Colgate, looming as one of the most dangerous eastern combinations of the year, will swing into action against Alfred at Hamilton; Clarkson opposes Union at Schenectady; and Hamilton plays St. Stephens at Clinton. The army's scheduled contest with the third army corps eleven at West Point has been cancelled.

HEAVY TRACK SLOWS UP RACING AT COLUMBUS

Columbus, O., Sept. 21.—Favorites found the going rather rough this afternoon when Grand Circuit racing was resumed on a heavy track after a three-day lay-off because of rain.

Tommy Murphy drove winners in the first two events, but only one was a favorite. Rose Scott, favored in the Capital City $3,000 stake for 2.05 trotters, easily showed her supremacy and won as she pleased in straight heats. Taurida was made the favorite in the M. and M. $5,000 stake for 2.14 trotters but the best she could do was to finish second in each of the last two heats, while Mrs. Yerkes of the Murphy stable was a straight heat winner.

Frisco June, first choice in the 2.04 pace, failed to win a single heat, honors going to Logan Hedgewood and Peter Etawah, the two second choices. Logan Hedgewood won the first two heats, while the third went to Peter Etawah.

The fourth race, for 2.15 trotters, furnished another surprise. Mary Anne, the strong favorite, was outtrotted in the stretch by Zaquilla in each heat.

PINELLI'S TRIPLE WINS FOR REDS IN 11TH INNING

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 21—With two men out in the last half of the eleventh inning today, Smith walked Hargrave, who scared a moment later on Pinelli's long triple to left center, giving Cincinnati the first game of the Brooklyn series, 4 to 3. Decatur pitched well after the third inning, but was taken out for a pinch hitter in the eleventh and Smith is charged with the loss of the game. The batting of Olson, who got four hits and a sacrifice out of five times up and the sensational fielding of Caveney were the leading features. The score:

RED SOX WIN AND LOSE WITH TIGERS

Boston, Sept. 21—Boston defeated Detroit 4 to 3 in the first game today, and the visitors won the second game, of the double header, 15 to 6. Boone's triple in the third inning of the first game scored two runs and he later scored. In the seventh inning of the same game with the bases full and two out he collided with Reichle but caught and held Blue's drive to right center. He had to be carried off the field and was taken to a hospital for examination, a broken leg being feared. Later it was reported that an X ray photograph showed no fracture. Cobb's all around work was the feature of the second game. The score:

CONNORS TO ASSIST JONES AT YALE

Boston, Sept. 21.—George S. Connors, track coach and trainer at Phillips Exeter academy for 22 years, today accepted an invitation to serve as first assistant to Coach Jones of the Yale football team. This became known here when Jones passed through this city on his way back to New Haven after a conference at Exeter, N. H.

Connors will retain his position on the Exeter faculty, being granted a year's furlough to go to Yale. It is understood that in addition to training the football men he may also coach the track team. Connors assisted Jones when the latter was head coach at Exeter ten years ago.

MISS COLLETT MEETS MRS. GAVIN IN CANADIAN FINALS TODAY

Montreal, Sept. 21.—Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, R. I., today eliminated Miss Alexa Stirling of New York in the semi-final of the Canadian women's golf championship, 3 and 2.

Miss Collett's opponent in the final round will be Mrs. W. A. Gavin of England, the defending champion, who defeated Mrs. Hope Gibson 2 and 1 in the other semi-final match.

The final round will be played tomorrow.

SWEETSER TO OPPOSE MARSTON IN NATIONAL AMATEUR FINALS TODAY

Flossmoor, Sept. 21—(By the A. P.)—Jess Sweetser, of New York, got a step nearer the goal today in his defense of the amateur golf championship by defeating Bob Gardner, of Chicago, twice holder of the title, 3 and 2, in the semi-finals. The champion played one stroke better than perfect golf in the morning round, and was even with par for the eleven holes played in the second round, while Gardner, slipping at times with various clubs, took 81 for the first round and was two over par when he lost at the 29th hole.

Seldom was the champion poorer from the tee than Gardner, and he was much more deadly with his irons and his putter. The former champion flubbed two drives, shanked, two mashies and missed one 3 foot putt, while he failed a number of times to get down from five to eight feet. At one hole Sweetser pitched to within four inches of the cup and on the 27th where Gardner laid him a stymie, the champion jumped it with a mashie-niblick and holed out a par four.

Max Marston of Philadelphia will be Sweetser's opponent in the final round as the result of his victory 3 and 2 over Francis Ouimet, of Boston. While Marston did not shoot remarkable golf, taking 81 for the first round and being only a trifle better on the second, Ouimet could not get his game in working order and finally slipped on the last few holes letting Marston get advantage that his game of today could not overcome.

Ouimet was not crisp with his approach shots, often falling wide and short, and he missed numerous chances to get home medium length putts. While Marston was not playing any better than Ouimet at any place, he was steadier, at points where Ouimet slipped and he even had a break of luck on the short 13th hole where a wide pitch sailed by his gallery and bounced onto the green instead of getting into trouble. This was the first time that Marston had ever reached the finals in a national championship, although he once reached the semi-final.

GIANTS GET FIRMER GRIP ON FIRST PLACE

Pittsburgh, Sept. 21—The New York Giants strengthened their hold on first place by taking both games of a double header from the Pirates today, 3 to 4 and 6 to 1.

The Giants knocked both Meadows and Stone from the box in the first game and continued their heavy hitting in the second, sending Cooper to the showers. Carey drove a homer over the left field wall in the ninth inning of the first game, scoring Maranville ahead of him.

Hazen Cuyler, repurchased by the Pirates from the Nashville club of the Southern association, reported today and played left field in both games.

FOURTH GAME OF MOOSUP-STERLING SERIES

If the weather man is favorable Henry Loughran, manager of the Moosup town team will stage one of the fastest baseball attractions at Moosup on Sunday, when his team will clash with Sterling in the fourth game of "the little world's series." The series started off in a mild way each manager using home talent but as the second and third games were played new faces appeared in each lineup until now the lineups for Sunday include some of the fastest college and professional ball players in New England.

Moosup has two victories to its credit and Sterling has one, shut out last Sunday in which a former big league battery performed. With Sterling playing big leaguers in the lineup Manager Loughran has stepped out and secured several stars for his team. He will work either "Ownie" Carroll premier college pitcher of last season or Harry Mullowney of Boston college against the Sterling boys. On the receiving end he will have either Ryan of Holy Cross or Phillips of Boston College. The rest of his lineup will be Frechette 1b; McAuliffe of Colby 2b; Nap Liberty ss; Sunny Foley of Boston College 3b; Chet Darling of Boston College or St. Angelo of last year's Eastern League champs lf; Jarvis cf; Sid Hynes of Boston College rf.

The Sterling battery will be "Al" Perriotti, formerly of the Boston Braves, pitcher, and Carrigan of the Boston Twilight League catch. Coullard of the Blue Ridge league will play first but the remainder of the lineup is in doubt although it is said at least three big leaguers will be in the lineup.

Hilltops Want Games

The Hilltops of New London, a fast football eleven would like to arrange games with any team in Norwich or vicinity averaging 130 or 135. Last season the Hilltops won the championship in their division in New London but could not arrange a game with any team in Norwich. I hope they do not possess the yellow streak this year as they did last year. For games write Edward Collins, 2 Starr St., New London, Conn.

HARVARD STARTS CUTTING OF FOOTBALL SQUAD

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 21—The cut in the Harvard 'varsity football squad, announced today, left 65 men to the first team roster. R. Keith Kane, 1921 captain, arrived today to take charge of the ten tackles retained. Secret practice will begin Monday with the first scrimmage probably coming at the end of the week.

Of the eleven quarterbacks on the first squad, nine weigh less than 150 pounds. Eight guards were held for further trial, seven of whom weigh more than 190, four of them tipping the scales at more than 220.

HAGEN AND KIRKWOOD AT BROOKLAWN SUNDAY

Bridgeport, Sept. 21.—George Sparling, Brooklawn pro., and Bobby Andrews, professional of the New Haven Country club, will oppose Walter Hagen, former British and United States open champion, and Joe Kirkwood, Australian open champion, in an 18-hole golf match at the Brooklawn Country club here Sunday afternoon.

Accepts Young Coulon's Challenge

Young DeForrest of Danielson, who has been spending two weeks at Fort Eustis, Va., where he has been in training, accepts the challenge of Young Coulon of Norwich anytime a bout can be arranged. He would also like to challenge any other boy at 112 pounds as he is out for the flyweight title of Eastern Connecticut.

PLAINFIELD

Miss Esther Palmer Wilson has returned to Simmons College, leaving the first of the week, Dr. and Mrs. William E. Wilson accompanying their daughter to Boston.

Mrs. Susan Lester of Providence is visiting her niece, Mrs. Elmer E. Bennett.

Several cards were received from Hermon B. Chapman en route by automobile for Windom, Minnesota, written while passing over the Lincoln highway. But a card has been received from Mr. Chapman by his brother-in-law, E. L. French of Jewett City, that Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Chapman had arrived at Windom on Friday evening, the 14th, having averaged on the journey from 175 to 190 miles a day. From Cleveland they crossed Lake Erie by boat.

Miss Helen Brown left Tuesday for Connecticut Agricultural College where she will take the course in domestic science.

William Krauss and George Krauss have been in Virginia for two weeks with the military band of the 102d Connecticut Field Artillery. Members of their families have received word that they are greatly enjoying themselves at the yearly camp.

Mrs. Charles Crostley has returned to Providence, after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Moffitt. Mr. Crostley spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Moffitt.

Marden Prentiss has returned from Windsor where he has been with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ira W. Hemphill. Next week he will re-enter Brown university.

The Boy Scouts, Troop 1, held their first meeting of the season in the vestry of the Congregational church on Wednesday evening, in charge of the new scoutmaster, Richard J. Hetherston.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Mathewson, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Mathewson, Milton Windsor and Miss Vivian Clerlanc have been attending the exposition at Springfield.

NOANK

People in this vicinity were glad to see the rain of Friday, as gardens have been drying up and the lawns have been parched. One man lost a large number of chickens because of the rose bugs which dropped from the trees, due, it is claimed, to so much dry weather.

The property on Brook street known as the Brown house has been sold to William Spader, of Philadelphia, who will make his home here; his household effects have already arrived.

The fishing craft have been run in to the repair shops here for the winter; many are used throughout the winter months, but those that are to be put up, are being looked over.

The meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society scheduled for this week, has been postponed a week to be held with Mrs. Lizzie Potter. The change was because of the all-day session of the Women's Home Missionary society of the Stonington Union held at the local church on Thursday.

Friday afternoon the Eastern Star Sewing society was entertained by Mrs. Truman Jewell of West Mystic.

The truth that anyone who can afford a car costing in the neighborhood of $1200, can much better afford a Packard Single-Six at $2485, is becoming impressed upon the public mind more and more every day.

The final accounting is emphatically in Packard's favor. The Single-Six does cost more to buy it but it costs no more to keep. And the fact that it stands up so much longer, more than offsets the higher first cost.

MYSTIC

Cortland C. Potter has received his appointment as postmaster for Mystic and as soon as the change can be made, he will assume his new duties. Mr. Potter has served the people of Mystic in this office before until a change in politics placed George H. Foley, who has been serving so well for the past eight years.

A banquet is to be given at the Methodist church Tuesday evening when the $6,000 campaign for the remodeling of the church will open. Rev. Myron Genter of New London will speak. The services for the Methodist people for next Sunday will take place in Odd Fellows' hall and will continue there until the church is completed.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reynolds, have returned from an automobile trip of ten days through the White Mountains.

COLCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee and children of Newark, N. J., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Raudenbush.

Mrs. Ruth Stedman of Los Angeles, Cal., formerly of this place, is visiting friends in town for a few weeks.

Yom Kippur, or Feast of the Passover, was celebrated in town beginning Wednesday evening at sunset and ended Thursday at sunset. All Jewish business places were closed during the holiday. Services were held in the synagogue on Lebanon avenue.

Mr. Goodman, representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was in town Wednesday conferring with A. T. Van Cleve, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, about inducing the different chambers to co-operate with the U. S. chamber in getting better legislation affecting the business men, also to simplify the income tax laws.

A number who went to Hamburg Wednesday to attend the annual grange fair report the display of cattle excellent.

Frank Knight was in Hartford Wednesday.

Prof. C. C. Helmold of Willimantic, musical instructor in the borough schools, was in town Tuesday and Wednesday forming the classes for instruction in violin and mandolin, also in orchestral work.

The registrars of voters were in session Thursday at the town clerk's office correcting the voting lists for the October election.

Charles Daniels of Stonington was the guest of John Higgins Wednesday.

LEONARD BRIDGE

Theodore Bland is still busily engaged in building cottages at Point of Woods beach.

William G. Thomas entertained his nephew, John L. Browning, and family of Norwich last Sunday.

Otto A. Nettleton of Lebanon and Mrs. David Walsh were in Hebron and Colchester Friday. In Hebron they were callers at Edward A. Smith's and at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Emma Park.

Miss Annie Gillett and Mrs. E. Ray Manning of Lebanon were hostessed at the Lebanon war office Saturday afternoon. Each Saturday afternoon the war office is open to the public between 2 and 5 o'clock and two members of the D. A. R. are present to welcome visitors. Twenty-seven visitors, including motor parties from Storrs, Norwich and New London, called during the afternoon.

ROCKVILLE

Rev. and Mrs. Paul S. Burdick returned home last week from their vacation spent at Waterford, Conn.

Kingston fair was the greatest attraction to people of this vicinity last week.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

Jack and the Giant

As soon as the castle was quiet, Little Jack Rabbit tiptoed across the room and opened the door with the key which the raven had given him in the last story. Then, carefully opening the door, he crept down the stairs. But, oh dear me, there in the great hall slept the robbers, some on couches and others on the floor.

Slipping off his boots and holding them in his paw, he hopped softly over to the great door and wasn't it lucky?

It was star! Squeezing through he found the raven waiting for him.

"Come, put on this little coat. It will make you invisible," whispered the bird to the astonished bunny boy as he led him toward a big black horse.

"Jump into the saddle, My brave bunny man.

Away from the robbers.

Ride, fast as you can."

Away went the black horse as swiftly

THE BRITISH WARSHIP VALERIAN TO ANCHOR IN NEW LONDON HARBOR

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 21.—William King, of Broad street, employed by Mondelci & Mondelci, was painfully injured this afternoon when he fell from a house upon which he was at work, on Belden street. He sustained a fractured bone of the right foot and a possible fracture of the hip. An X-ray picture of the leg will be taken at Home hospital. King, with other carpenters, was at work on the second story and lost his balance, falling from the staging to the ground, 20 feet.

An automobile owned by William Coyle, of West street, employed as parcel post carried at the local post office, was damaged this forenoon when in collision with a machine, owned and driven by Ernest J. Murphy of East Lyme. According to Coyle, Murphy did not extend his hand as a warning that the machine was to leave the curbing and as a result Coyle's automobile crashed against it from the rear. Murphy was arrested by Traffic Patrolman William Carcoran, charged with violation of the automobile laws.

Harold Pinney, son of Captain of Police and Mrs. Charles A. Pinney, left for Boston this afternoon to resume his studies at Harvard law school.

Carlton Shankel, 17, was arrested here this afternoon by Motorcycle Officer John Cavanaugh at the request of the authorities of the Massachusetts penal institution at West Roxbury, Mass., where it is alleged the youth is at liberty through a violation of his parole. Acting upon the supposition that Shankel would call for mail at the general delivery window at the post office, the officer stationed himself there and shortly after 12 o'clock Shankel appeared at the window, called for mail and was arrested. Shankel admitted his identity. An officer from the institution was to come to New London late this afternoon or early tomorrow and take charge of the prisoner.

Miss Helen M. Lathrop of Norwich, a guest at the Crocker House for a year and a half, is visiting relatives in Worcester, Mass.

Mrs. A. E. Ware of Bonham road, Groton, and Mrs. Samuel Brown of High street, have returned to their respective homes, having attended the annual convention of Daughters of Scotia at New Haven. Mrs. Ware was a delegate from Lady Strathcona lodge.

Mrs. Edward Hennessey of Franklin street, and her niece, Miss Dorothy O'Hearn, a student nurse at the New Haven hospital, are spending a few days in New York.

Mrs. Robert A. McKim and daughters, Mrs. G. Kenneth Morgan and Miss Caroline McKim, returned to New York today, having spent the greater part of the summer at the McKim residence, Glenwood avenue.

An attempt was made last night or early this morning to burglarize the floral establishment of George E. Fisher, 98 State street. The attempted burglary was discovered this morning about 6.30 o'clock when Patrolman Howard Sloan, discovering a quantity of putty removed from a rear window which would have permitted the thief to enter that part of the store where the safe is kept. No trace of the thief could be found.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ord of New York have concluded a two weeks' visit with their son, Milton D. Ord.

Ed Hickey, who developed a leaning toward detective work when he was a member of the force of men the department of justice at Washington had in New London, is distinguishing himself as a detector for Hartford county. He led a detail of officers on Friday night on Connecticut boulevard and caught a gang of booze transporters that were later held in $10,000 bail each by a judge of the superior court at Hartford.

Peter Lossacano is to answer to a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses, in the police court next Monday. It is alleged that Losacano represented that he was the authorized agent of Mrs. Bridget Ryan and that he took $400 as a binder of an option to sell real estate to Mrs. Angelina Tudisco. What his defense will be isn't known, but he will be represented by an attorney and will have a defense.

The rain of Friday was a great help to wells and cisterns in the section about New London, and the brooks were dry. Latimer's brook in Chesterfield was so dry that people walked across it and in Montville the same conditions prevailed.

J. Vinton Dart, a brother of M. Wilson Dart, former mayor of New London, is seriously ill at his summer home in Thomaston, Conn. Vinton Dart was engineer of the city of Providence a long time, but retired from that work some years ago.

United States Senator F. B. Brandegee did not have an opportunity of spending his recess from congress in New London, his home town, as he anticipated for he had only two weeks here when he was called back to Washington by his duties as a senator. There was committee work that necessitated his presence there. Congress will convene in December and the senator may get back here for a few weeks before that time.

Eastern Star chapter of New London held a meeting this evening in Masonic temple, the membership representing residents from all the sections about New London.

Loren T. Davis will come to trial in the police court here as soon as he arrives from Syracuse where he is held for an officer from New London on a charge of kidnapping his two-year-old son who was in the custody of the mother, by award of the courts in divorce proceedings. Davis was sought on a warrant from New London and apprehended upon it.

The death of Stephen Mead Lee of this city, in an explosion in Washington where he was in the government's employ, is sincerely regretted. He was named for him grandfather, who for many years resided on Granite street. The Meads came here from the south after the war of the rebellion.

The police are experiencing difficulty with autoists who persist in backing from Bank street into the side streets, Golden and Pearl, in order to turn and go up Bank street. The operation of cars in this way is found to block traffic on Bank street, a virtually congested highway.

Patrolman Timothy T. Sullivan is still confined to his home on Montauk avenue with a severe attack of asthma.

At the annual meeting of the New London League of Women Voters held in the rooms of the Women's club yesterday afternoon, Miss Edna L. Tyler was elected president; vice president, Mrs. J. Beveridge Lee; recording secretary, Mrs. Henry Pendleton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frederick Weld; treasurer, Miss Madeline Hirsch.

Howard Beckwith of Blinman street and Alexander Sherman of Pequot avenue, were patients discharged today at Home Memorial hospital.

Headquarters battery and Battery A, 192nd Field Artillery, are scheduled to return to New London tomorrow morning from Camp Eustis, Va.

Fred J. Burke of Hartford, who sustained a fractured skull nearly a month ago when the automobile in which he was riding with Dr. Willford Robinson and James Bennett of Hartford, bound from New London to Niantic, crashed against a tar tank wagon at the foot of Durfee Hill, was able to leave Lawrence hospital today and return home. Dr. Robinson and Mr. Bennett were discharged from the institution a fortnight ago.

WHEN LIFE WAS GAY IN LA BELLE FRANCE

AND COOKING WAS DIFFICULT

France in the Middle Ages—and visions of troubadours and fêtes, of lilting tunes and dancing feet.

It was a brave time, with every lad a gallant knight and every lass a lady fair, and life a careless song!

We think of fragrant gardens and enchanted groves; of stately chateaus and crowded market places. It was a vivid, colorful time with romance and adventure riding gloriously over the land.

But flowers droop and fade when autumn comes, and castle walls are not proof against the icy finger of Winter. The French chansons and the twinkling feet would have been silenced and halted without life-giving heat.

The reverse side of the gay French life of the Middle Ages is not so pleasant. Their efforts to capture and bring inside the glow of the Summer sun strike us as pathetic.

Instead of a mid-summer revel on the country-side, think of a mid-winter evening in a home. These same maids and youths who danced on the green are huddled close to an inadequate stove. Those bending trees and prodigal gardens outside are covered with snow, and now food must be cooked in that same imperfect range.

There it stands in the middle of the room, giving off, reluctantly, a little warmth and taxing the ingenuity of those wonderful old time French chefs.

The stove of these blithe days was only a short step removed from the brazier of Rome. In the Eternal City the brazier was simply a stand with a metal top on which charcoal was burned. Unpleasant and unhealthy gases escaped from the charcoal, as the brazier was carried from room to room, striving desperately to warm the atmosphere.

The French rechand was modeled after the Roman warming pan. Here it had a fire box, into which the charcoal or fuel was put and lighted. At the bottom were openings for drafts and on top were arrangements for cooking.

But there was no pipe to carry off the smoke and the sparkling eyes of the girls were often dimmed by the fumes and steam.

These days of romance are gone, and with them the inadequate stoves. The days of science and invention supplanted the rechaud with the Sterling Gas Range, a plumed knight of the modern kitchen.

Cooking is no longer drudgery. The Sterling, built scientifically by men and women who know, has turned it into delight—a speedy, clean process which releases the housewife from the kitchen in a minimum of time. The Sterling is the armored knight which comes to the kitchen of every prudent housewife and by its magic power snatches her from the witch, Slavery, and sends her out to the garden and groves.

And it is economical. This Sterling Gas Range with its roomy cooking and oven space, with its "Instant Lighter" which lights any top burner by simply pressing a button, with its automatic oven temperature regulator which keeps the oven at any heat you desire regardless of fluctuations and gas pressure.

Yes, it is truly a plumed knight which frees the modern housewife from kitchen drudgery, shortens kitchen hours and helps her stay young and happy. Furthermore, any Sterling Dealer will offer such easy terms of payment that this wonderful range will practically pay for itself by the savings it effects.

THE SOCIAL CORNER

IF YOU WOULD PLEASE OTHERS, FORGET YOURSELF.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY.

Faith and Works.

This poem carries the lesson that we must not leave everything to Providence, but must add our own efficient efforts in order to deserve the Divine reward:

A good old deacon planted
And looked to heaven for rain.
He went to church on Sunday
And prayed with might and main;
But all throughout the week-days
He'd sit and watch the sky
And say, "that field and medder
Wus a-gittin' mighty dry!"

Another man, his neighbor,
A different sort was he,
And, though regular at service,
As a farmer well could be,
Prayed not in tones of thunder,
But sat with mien quite meek—
But he started in on Monday
And worked the whole darn week.

The water from a nearby stream
He sought with might and main
To bring to use, while others
Were praying to heaven for rain.
And when the time of harvest came,
All wondered at the yield
He gathered in the midst of drought
From meadow and from field.

Well, still the good old deacon
Prayed on without a stop,
But the man who built the ditches
Was the one who raised the crop!

In An Ancient Wood.

I stood within a winding woodland aisle,
With trees like pillars wrought with wondrous wile;
Vines wreathed them, draped with curious droop and turn,
And deep their bases sank amid the fern.

From pale flower censers, slowly swinging there,
A fragrance filled the cool, illumined air;
Wandering through arches deep, mysterious, dim,
Tones echoed sweet as song of seraphim;

Low, penetrating, harmonies unordered, new,
With choruses triumphant breaking through
They filled my heart as waters fill the sea,
And from life's galling bonds my soul rose free.

In this unconsecrated grove, alone,
I found a temple unto man unknown,
With roof and buttress, column, architrave
Nobler than human skill e'er planned or gave,
Filled with elusive fragrance of the leaf
And wood flower, whose frail life is sweet as brief;
I heard the birds, to whom alone is given
To sing on earth the harmonies of heaven;
Thus, near to nature, like our earlier race,
I last the greed of gold and love of place;
A higher level my glad spirit found—
Then knew I that I stood on holy ground.

CANNING CORN.

Dear Members of the Corner: I thought I would write a few lines and the first thing I want to do is to thank the editor for the yellow slip which came as a great surprise to me. I think the editor must have a lot of patience to look the letters all over and see what is worth printing. I only wish I could write more interesting letters but try to do the best I can. I think I must have been about as pleased as the editor was to see the Corner filling up. Let's keep on and see how full we can make it. If only a short letter it helps to fill.

I went to the Norwich fair last Tuesday, Sept. 4. It was very warm that day. I thought the fair very good and quite a few went from this place. I have been busy getting my things ready for the Brooklyn fair, which was this week.

We are having some lovely days now. Hope they will keep on.

The way I can corn is to cut it from the cob and put one teaspoon of salt in the bottom of a quart jar and fill it up with corn, shake down a few times, put on the rubber and top and spring down once. Put this in a kettle of cold water and boil for three hours and seal. Keep water well up on the corn. I never lost a can last year. Be sure and use new rubbers.

When things don't go to suit you and the world seems upside down,
Don't spend your time in fretting, but drive away that frown.
'Tis oft the most perplexing, but 'tis the wisest plan
To bear all trials bravely and smile
whene'er you can.

Best wishes to all.

MAKING FALL CHANGES.

Dear Corner Sisters: Does this letter find you busy with your housecleaning or redecorating? Almost every housekeeper makes a few changes in her home as this season comes around.

It is surprising what a difference even the simplest changes make in our homes. Unconsciously our eyes weary of the familiar hangings or of a certain arrangement of furnishings. We welcome fresh surroundings.

Of course I do not mean that our ornaments and furniture should be discarded for new; for our possessions become dear to us, a part of ourselves. I simply mean that they should be differently arranged from time to time and given a new background.

I believe that the housekeeper should change the color schemes of her living room every five years. The other rooms of the house do not matter as much—unless we except the dining room; but the living room is the gathering place of the family and is used more than any other room. It should never be allowed to become monotonous and uninviting.

"But how can I change it when I can't afford to buy new cretonnes?" responded a housekeeper friend of mine to whom I had expounded this theory.

I made with her a tour of inspection, going first to the third floor of her pretty little home.

"There!" I said, triumphantly, as I reached the bedroom door. "Why not hang those cretonnes overdrapes at the living room windows and put the living rooms ones up here?"

Her bedroom color scheme was pink and gray (pink wallpaper, rag rugs, brass guimps and pink shade on gray and gray cretonne overdrapes in a leaf pattern.).

She took my advice using old blue and gray in the living room. The former bedroom drapperies were most dignified downstairs. The brown ones which had been in the living room looked equally well up in her room with the pink things.

And just as this woman changed her things about with no added expense, so many another housekeeper can make effective changes if she but thinks them out. Sometimes such a change means re-covering the droplight with a different colored silk and buying a piece of pottery or a new candlestick to marry out the new color harmony; but these little expenditures are well justified. For the living room of all rooms should be kept attractive.

MANY PLEASANT AUTO TRIPS.

Dear Sisters: I think it is about time I came in with my bit for the Social Corner page as I have been very delinquent of late. After receiving so many nice cards on my birthday, besides some very nice presents from some of the sisters, I felt I must write and thank them. Many thanks, Tiddly Winks, Necia, Blue Bell, Olga, Hope, Scottie. I think no matter how young or old we are we all love a birthday and to be remembered by those we love.

I have been to several of the picnics this summer and enjoyed each one and now today we have just been to Aunty No. 1's and we, as usual, had a wonderful day and an excellent dinner and enjoyed every moment we spent there, besides going and coming in my machine with my jolly crowd. Didn't know as I would find room to ride after Necia and her corn got in. If anyone wants to save money just buy some of Aunty No. 1's corn, as one ear is more than one can eat.

I must try and mention some of the pleasant trips we took this summer in our machine and usually Blue Bell and her family in their machine were with us. Several times we went to old "Fort Ned" where the men enjoyed themselves fishing, also to Ocean beach, Atlantic beach, Wyassop pond, Nantucket beach out of Boston, and Mt. Tom, which is in Holyoke, Mass., besides just taking rides such as to Hartford, Providence and lots of other places, so that we have certainly enjoyed ourselves this summer. It will soon be time to meet again in the Buckingham and I do love those jolly good times.

Must ring off and go to grange meeting.

CHOCOLATE.

WOOD FIRES.

Dear Sisters: No one can blame us if we are all wrought up over the coal question. It is a serious matter if we cannot get coal so some of us think. But it is time to get over that idea. What we need is more wood fires! We have so refined living, separated it from what we call crudeness, that we have taken much of the real heart out of life. Who can grow enthusiastic over a steam radiator, or dream about a pipeless heater? Who can call to being whimsical fancies huddled around a register, or hear the music of the woods in a thumping steam pipe?

Fire in the past was the living symbol of the home and hospitality. Whole columes have been written about the hearth fires of the household. Few of us who have not inherited a love for the snapping, cracking wood fire, about which to gather when chill days come. How we love to lounge around the fireplace, listening to its mysterious sizzling, seeing its changing, ruddy hues, smelling the vage aromatic scents of the forest. It brings a sense of homey comfort and satisfaction that nothing else seems to bring. We linger and watch with fascination as the flames flicker and die away to gray ashes—ashes that still hold in their midst the power of revival.

We need more wood fires—fires which are the symbol of heart warmth and home happiness, fires which shall weld the family into renewed harmony of purpose and deeper love for each other. One could wrangle about the health, possibly, but it doesn't seem probable, does it?

Happy homes are the best safeguards against the disintegrating forces in the world of today. And not only a safeguard but an inspiration to do our best that we be worthy of them. It's not only in wartime that we need to "keep the home fires burning."

USING BEACH PLUMS.

Dear Corner Members. I wonder if many of the members make use of beach plums. A friend of mine had been displaying some tempting jell and jam made from them so when a roadside with low trees literally filled with them was passed this week we filled everything available. The ripe plums are needed for the jam but those partially ripe make exquisite jell with a taste a bit different from anything else, though resembling currant jelly.

The following recipe I got from a fine housekeeper and I think it is about the best nut bread recipe I have every come across. Perhaps you may have a call for same sometime. You need not hesitate to recommend same. It takes: Two cups brown sugar, two eggs, two cups milk, four cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, four teaspoons salt, one and one-half cups chopped nuts. Bake 30 minutes in a slow oven. Make two loaves.

From the same good cook, here is one for brown bread: Butter size of an egg, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup molasses, two and one-half cups thick sour milk, two cups graham flour, two cups wheat flour, two teaspoons soda,a little salt. Bake in a moderate oven.

NOMA.

WINTER RELISHES.

Dear Corner Folks: Having tried a Spanish sauce that we like I am sending it to help out any of the members who want something of the kind to fill out their winter relishes.

Spanish Sauce: Twelve cucumbers, two quarts green tomatoes, one head of cabbage, twelve onions, twelve peppers, red and green.

Wash thoroughly and put through chopper, cover with one-half cup salt and let stand one hour, drain and mix with five cents worth of mustard seed, one tablespoon celery seed, four tablespoons dry mustard, one teaspoon tumeric powder, two tablespoons flour, two pounds brown sugar. Cover with vinegar and let simmer one-half hour.

I think this quantity of sugar makes it entirely too sweet and so does every one who has tasted it. I would suggest cutting the amount of sugar more than half, two cups of sugar ought to be enough and more added if liked.

Mustard Pickles: Chop one quart cucumbers, one quart green tomatoes, chopped fine, one quart small white onions whole, one quart Lima beans, one quart corn and one large head cauliflower, two green peppers, two red peppers, one quart small cucumbers. Mix and sprinkle with salt, pour over four quarts boiling water, let stand over night. In morning, drain off water and cook till tender, onions, beans, cauliflower, carrots. Add tomatoes, peppers, small pickles, cucumbers (any other vegetable can be added if desired). For dressing, take one-half cup flour, three teaspoons of ground mustard, one teaspoon tumeric mixed with cold vinegar. Take one quart of sugar, two quarts of vinegar. Bring to a boil. Then add paste and cook till thick. Pour over pickles and heat through; can as fruit. This makes about six quarts.

Best wishes to the Corner writers.

PUSSY WILLOW.

ENJOYS FELLOWSHIP OF CORNER MEMBERS.

Dear Sisters of the Corner: How many times during the year I have said I must write and do my bit, especially when I see the Corner so lacking in letters. With so many members it ought not to be so. Isn't it easy to preach?

Aunty No. 1: You are surely an ideal hostess. We all had a fine time. Betty Brown's Bug got me. I was taken sick Wednesday night with a temperature 104 and that summer affair, called grippe (rightly named) kept me in bed four days, the doctor coming three times. Better now, thank you!

We say we would do this or that if we only had time, but when we are laid aside we have plenty of time to think and I thought of the Corner and how much I do enjoy the fellowship of those whom I have met from month to month. How cordial their greetings, and I feel that they are sincere. I hoped to have the sisters at my home but circumstances would not permit this year. Hope I can say "Come next time."

How quickly the summer has gone. The woodbine, the first to turn red, with its clusters of green berries, tells me autumn is very near.

Betsy Trotwood: I missed you at Camp. Grace told me an event was soon to come off at your house. Very pleasant occasions, yet a bit of sadness also.

Betsy: I saw a picture of our old principal the other day, Mr. D——, and true to life. The boys received the floggings but the girls never. Hope to see you soon.

We will surely miss Stillwater. So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom.

Strawberry: Are your fingers flying? I must stop before the editor (who must be long suffering) holds up his hands in protest.

Yours with remembrance to everyone in the Social Corner.

SNOWFLAKE.

CARE OF THE FEET.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Some of the old tried and true methods of preserving the comfortable use of our feet might be of real value. We start life all right as to feet and the whole trouble lies in our failure to preserve the good and useful condition in which they were delivered to us. Unless there are deformities which are outside our present thought who ever heard of a child boy or girl, with tired, aching, burning corn—and bunion-laden feet? Who, alas, passes within hailing distance even of middle life without sighing over too-intimate knowledge of near all of these afflictions? It is upon our own shoulders that 99 per cent plus of the responsibility lies. How many times have we all heard the excuse entitled: Being on my feet all day! Feet were made for that purpose and when a pair of feet will not carry the owner of as long as is required of them there is something wrong with the feet. That something should be sought and altered before we begin to complain; but usually the fault is in the shoes worn either at the present time or in the past. Occasionally it is in the hosiery; almost always the care of the feet might be improved. The minute that injurious shoes are mentioned the average person thinks of narrow toes and high heels. These are both foolish if carried to extreme but people in general are not injured by either of these faults (perhaps because shoe-toes coming to a point and heels three inches in the air look ridiculous and stump the wearer at once) as much as they are by short shoes, heelless shoes and worn-over heels on old shoes. You have heard before that the American Indians did not wear heels but they could outwalk and outrun any of us in their moccasin-shod feet. If not in the long reckoning you and your children will find that heelless shoes ("sneakers") are injurious. Had you insisted upon sneakers with low heels which can be found, if the others are persistently refused, your arches might have remained normal and some of the mysterious backaches would never have inflicted themselves upon you. Corns are due to pressure. Pressure produces a hardening of the layers of the skin to protect the underlying tissues which is the function and duty of the skin. Remove the pressure, soften and pare off the already hardened practically dead surface and in time the corn will remove itself. Shoes too short for the foot force out the big-toe joint.

PAULA.

WINDOW BOX PLAN FOR ALL SEASONS.

Dear Sisters and Editor: Many home makers believe there are only two seasons of the year when they can have bounteously filled window boxes at their sills. They know the charm of early pink English daisies and pansies, and perhaps follow these with jonquils, daffodils and narcissus. When these spring blossoms fade they replace them with the summer's red or pink geraniums, petunias, ageratum and trailing vines.

But there is a window box plan for every season of the year, autumn and winter as well as spring and summer. Now is the time to take out geraniums, which have perhaps grown rather rusty looking, anyway, and to fill your boxes with the gorgeous little dwarf French marigolds, which will stay until the heavy frosts. These hardy marigolds will bear transplanting while in full bloom, and if you haven't any in your own garden you can get them for a few cents each at any large nursery. They come in all the shades of yellow, orange, reddish brown and beautiful mahogany of velvet texture. Some of them are variegated, with delicate stripings and spottings. Set them as close together as they will go, and you will have a box full of autumnal coloring that will delight your heart.

When at last the frost takes off these little annuals, fill up the boxes with small evergreens—about three little formal ones, with two branching, feathery ones between. They will stay green during the winter, even if they do not survive the very bitter cold. The roots are so exposed in a box that they rarely live, though their foliage remains bright until spring. Branches of hemlock, without roots, if stuck into boxes of earth, will look green throughout the winter. The same is true of pine tips and small cedars. The first warm breath of spring turns them yellow, but meanwhile you have had boxes of evergreens at your windows all winter.

DORIS.

HELPS AND PRIZE WINNING PIE CRUST.

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner. When cleaning aluminum use silver sand to remove discoloration after which wash in hot, soapy water.

Vinegar gives a splendid polish for the window. Apply with a soft cloth, dry with another and polish with chamois.

To remove iodine stains, rub the spot with fels naptha soap, rub in cold water and let come to a boil.

Dust talcum powder in shoe if tight. It will ease the foot.

Gasoline and corn meal will clean a garment as well as any dry cleaner. Lay garment on the table and scrub with soft brush or cloth.

Vinegar will exterminate ants when all else fails.

Save your old white kid gloves to mend your corset when the steel breaks throukh.

To destroy ants' nests near plants stick match into the ground sulphur end down.

Rabbit cookies for children can be made with any kind of a good sugar cookie recipe by putting chocolate eyes and tails. Have a rabbit cookie cutter.

If your white sink becomes stained use kerosene for removing it.

Try using a coarse chopper for your vegetables when making soup.

Frosting will not run off cake if flowered on top.

Cut flowers may be kept fresh by sticking stems in potato.

To remove tar from rugs or clothing cover spots with a piece of cotton dipped in chloroform.

Take your worn tapestry carpet, paint the underside twice with paint filling and twice with mahogany paint then varnish. Mine lasted fifteen years.

If you find you are not sure your eggs are good try placing them in a pint of water into which you have put two ounces of salt.

If pans and kettles are greased on the bottom before placing next to the fire they will be much easier cleaned.

When pressing men's clothes use percaline (black) and wring out of warm water.

Wall paper such as is used to paper nursery walls and has funny little people for design, gives children a great amount of pleasure and keeps them quiet.

When hanging out table cloths, if the hems are folded together and are pinned on the line instead of the body of the cloth, there is less danger of their getting whipped out by the wind; also less work on ironing day.

I like rubber matting to lay down for the ice man and to have in front of the sink.

Put a ruffle on the bottom of your apron to save grease spots

There is little danger of mayonnaise curdling if the salt, pepper, mustard and lemon juice or vinegar is added to the beaten egg yolks before the oil.

Pie Crust: If you want a good, flaky pie crust use cold milk in place of water. You will find it immense.

I have had three prizes for this recipe: Three cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one tablespoon of sugar, one teaspoon salt. Sift three times and then work in one cup lard until it is fine like meal. Wet up with not quite one half cup of cold milk. It is a fine recipe.

THE PICNIC WITH AUNTY NO. 1.

Dear Editor and Sisters: I wish to thank all who helped to make our picnic a success on the twelfth. I was pleased to see so many present. I want to express my sincere thanks through the Corner page for the gift that was so cheerfully given as a surprise to me, for I never gave such a thing a thought. I have always given these gatherings because I love to have the sisters meet with me and enjoy themselves. I enjoy it all myself, too. Uncle said he guessed he would have to spend his spare time this winter making seats, so I guess he is looking forward to another year. I guess he enjoyed taking the pretty young ladies to ride. As usual some of the sisters left some of their belongings behind them. I find a blue, white lined pie plate, a pan, a couple of forks and a brown sweater tied up in grey paper.

Wild Flower: I have your things here. Some times I think that sweater looks like you.

Please let me know where these things belong and I will gladly see to it.

Best wishes from

AUNTY NO. 1.

WHAT HOUSEWIVES LIKE TO KNOW.

Dear Editor and Corner Members: When mixing bread, place it in the glass bread dishes you are to bake the bread in. It is much less trouble, and when you wish to mould it over you take up each loaf and just mould it over in your hand. It saves time, board and bread dish.

When washing corduroy, never wring it from one water to another, as this works ruin to the look of such garments.

If any garment has traces of iron mould, do not let it be put in the water with other clothes. Cut open a lemon, rub salt in each half and, placing one piece on each side the iron-molded spot, rub briskly together until spot disappears, which it will do.

Yellow, dingy lace curtains are most speedily restored to their former purity of color if boiled in strong soapsuds, half milk and half water.

When the cane seats of your chairs become stretched, take a teaspoon of washing soda and dissolve it in a quart of boiling water. Dip a cloth in this solution and wipe the underside of the seats. Leave the chair turned upside down to dry. This treatment is absolutely sure to shrink the cane to its original size.

To clean varnished woodwork, take paraffin oil and denatured alcohol and a small portion of resin.

If the woodwork is very much gummed around the sink, etc., take one quart of hot water to which one teaspoon of ammonia has been added. Then wipe dry. A bit of soap can be used.

I found when you want to eliminate the odor of tobacco smoke from the house, put a lump of ammonia crystals in a jar and add a few drops of lavender; pour over this a few tablespoons of boiling water. This gives a faint, pleasant odor.

Dry your orange peel and grind to a coarse powder. You can use this to flavor puddings. Lemon peel can be used the same way.

Old stains can be removed. First wet with cold water and then apply first permanganate and rinse with clear warm water and then apply oxalic acid.

A rug made from overalls is nice as it does not need coloring.

Dip your knife in hot water when you want to slice hard boiled eggs.

To remove onion odor from the hands, wash in a little cold water to which mustard has been added.

To decide when jelly is done, dip a silver knife in the boiling juice and place it on the ice; if the jelly wrinkles as you push it along the knife, it is done.

After making any ingredient where your yolks are left, beat them together with a teaspoon of flavoring, a small piece of butter and enough confectioner's sugar to make a frosting. It requires a lot of beating but is very yellow and rich

An oyster is the best bait there is for a rat trap

ETHELYN.

PICNIC AT ALFARA'S SEPT. 26.

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: As the season for out of door picnics is nearing the end I will have one Wednesday, the 26th of September, and would like to have all come that can. Go to Willimantic and take the Willimantic and Danielson bus down by the foot bridge and get off at Sunshine farm. The fair is 20 cents. All come and bring something to eat as usual, and plate, folk, spoon and cup and all come for a good time.

ALFARA.

POINTS WORTH KNOWING.

Dear Corneritis: Did you ever try ing meat over a dish of boiling water? The gravy is much nicer.

Half a lemon dipped in salt will clean copper boilers and brass utensils.

Put your peaches, apples, tomatoes in boiling water and let stand three minutes and the peel can be removed at once.

When baking and my oven gets too hot, I set in a pan of cold water.

If you want an extra polish on your shoes, do the same as the professional bootblacks do, put about two drops of paraffin oil to the blacking and you will get an extra fine polish.

Clean your refrigerator in the fall with three-quarters lukewarm water and one-quarter borax.

If you have a number come in and haven't potatoes enough for dinner and have rice cooked, add a cup of cooked rice.

If you want to get all the strings off of your beans, plunge them in boiling water for three minutes and drain, and every vestige of strings can be easily removed.

Clean your Panama hat with ether or alcohol. Then rub with cornmeal.

If you want hot tea or hot water in the night, fill your thermos bottle with the hot water before retiring and you will have it.

Heat knife when cutting warm bread.

To save your silk stockings and make them last longer, wash the feet with cold water and a little soap, wring them out well, and they will be dry in the morning.

If you wish to brighten your tea kettle, saturate a cloth with kerosene and rub kettle well.

Two pairs of discarded stockings run together by hand after opening them flat, makes an excellent polishing cloth.

Fine ashes melted with turpentine will clean steel.

A discarded kimona worn thin makes an excellent covering for a man's best suit.

FINE TIME AT THE PICNICS.

Dear Social Corner Friends: My second vacation was spent in my dear old home town, seeing old friends that I knew and loved 30 years ago.

I spent Sept. 12 at Aunty No. 1's picnic and had a nice time. I had expected to see Stillwater there but on the car saw by The Bulletin that she had passed on so Thursday the 13th I went to her funeral. I met Student there and we both felt that we had lost a dear friend. I knew her first 30 years ago and found her always a dear friend. I feel sorry for the family that is left especially the dear husband.

When 18 of us went to Norwich 30 years ago to join Hope Rebekah lodge Charles Spaulding stayed out in the ante room with us while we waited to see a lodge in session and receive the degree. It was some evening. Some thought we had one secret word, some two and I guess some thought not any. We got through all right. The goat was very gentle that night so no one was hurt. We joined and took a demit the same night. Then later Hope Rebekah lodge came to Central Village and instituted Sarah Rebekah lodge. I was the first noble grand and when Sarah Rebekah lodge gave up its charter I do not know. I came away in 1905. It was all right then but no one seems to know when Sarah ceased to be.

Today we have been up to Sis Hopkins' for a picnic. There were about 50 and we had a nice time. It was in honor of Lavender's birthday. She was 75 on September 12 but as Aunty No. 1 had her picnic that day Sis had her picnic the 20th. We had a nice dinner with clam chowder by the hostess and ice cream from Lavender's daughter. A poem was read, several different articles and some wonderful stories were told.

We expect to go to Alfara's next Wednesday the 26th for a picnic. Hope we will have as nice a time as today. With best wishes for the Corner,

MARKET WAS IRREGULAR.

New York, Sept. 21.—Considerable irregularity developed in today's stock market session with the averages showing little change on the day. Professional speculators for the decline apparently attempted to depress the general list into new low ground on the theory that the breaking of the previous resistance levels would bring out considerable liquidation, but good support was encountered and the bears contented themselves with uncovering isolated weak spots.

Some of the eastern rails and most of the low priced oils made good recovery from recent heaviness, the strength of these issues leading to short covering in other sections of the list in the late dealings. The stronger tone of the oil stocks was gratifying to operators on the long side in view of the additional cuts in crude prices and the omission of the Cosden dividend, which was not officially voted until after the market closed. The action that the directors would take was generally known, however, earlier in the day.

Rumors of early dividend action by the directors of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad led to a good demand for that stock which closed 3 points higher at 51, and brought about sympathetic strength in some of the other carrier issues. These stocks also were helped by unofficial reports that the Washington administration favors a recasting of freight schedules so that some rates will be reduced and others advanced rather than merely a reduction in the tariffs on agricultural products.

Intermittent heaviness of the steel shares was based on reports of reduced mill operations, but they showed good recuperative power towards the close. American Woolen dropped to 76 1-4, another new low for the year, and then rallied to 77 5-8 on publication of a statement by President Wood that no reduction in the dividend was contemplated and that the industry was in splendid shape.

Sugars continued to benefit by the higher commodity prices, Cuba Cane preferred and Punta Alegre each gaining more than a point. American lost nearly 2 points on a small turnover. Coppers held fairly steady on speculative expectations that the Japanese disaster and the settlement of the reparations question are likely to bring an increased export demand for the red a mtal.

Call money opened at 4 per cent, but stiffened to 5 before the close. Time money was firm at 5 1-4 to 5 1-2 per cent., depending upon maturity. Commercial paper is fairly active with no change in rates.

The feature of the foreign exchange market was the strength of the allied continental exchanges. French francs were run up 11 points to 6.00 cents and Belgian francs jumped 16 points to 5.10 cents. Remand sterling held fairly steady around $4.54 1-4. German marks dropped 15 points to 75 cents a hundred million.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Reports that Argentina was under-selling Canada had a bearish effect today on the wheat market here. Closing prices were weak, 1-2 to 1 1-8c net lower, with December $1.02 3-4 to $1.02 3-4@7-8c, and May $1.08 1-4 to $1.08 3-8c. Corn finished at a range varying from 3-4c decline to 1c advance. Oats at 1-8c off to 1-8c up, and provisions 7c lower to a gain of 5 cents.

With Liverpool quotations lower than had been looked for the wheat market here showed a downward tendency at the opening, but later took a decided upturn, aided by early firmness of prices at Winnipeg. After December delivery here had risen to about 3c over Monday's low point, however, offerings increased. Buying power seemed to fade away, and the market receded, influenced largely by gossip that cheap offers of new Argentine wheat were responsible for the low prices current at Liverpool and for a late break in Winnipeg. Besides, European demand for United States and Canadian wheat was said to be slow, and country marketings in Canada much larger than a year ago.

Chicago wheat proces cosed nearly the day's lowest level. In some degree, the late weakness appeared to be due to lessened optimism as to likelihood of any immediate help being given to agricultural interests through proposed plans at Washington. It was generally assumed that any definite relief programme was yet more or less remote.

Corn and oats followed wheat except that September corn advanced owing to scantiness of readily available supplies. September corn reached within less than 1c of the best price of the season. Provisions were governed mainly by changes in the hog market.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Sept. 21.—Trading in today's bond market was sluggish with no definite price trend apparent. U. S. government bonds gave the best exhibition of group strength but the net gains were small.

French governmental and municipal liens made further progress in the early part of the session but the municipals sold off later, Lyons 6s losing a point on the day and Marseilles 6s and Bordeaux 6 each 1-2. Prague 7 1-2s gained a point while Brazillian Central Railway 7s dropped 1 3-8 on a small turn over.

Southern Railway Consolidated 5s, which jumped 2 points were the feature of the railroad group. Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4 1-2s improved fractionally in sympathy with higher stock prices. Erie prior lien 4s, New Haven 4s of 195' and the convertible 6s each lost about a point on the day.

CURB MARKET

New York, Sept. 21.—Revival of bullish interests in the oil shares was the feature of today's curb market. Despite further cuts in crude prices, most of the active issues moved to higher ground under the leadership of Standard Oil of Indiana which closed 1 1-4 higher at 53 3-8 on a turn over of more than 30,000 shares. Vacuum and Gulf of Pennsylvania each jumped 2 1-4 while Pennsylvania-Mexico Fuel showed a net gain of 4 points.

Coal stocks improved in sympathy with the higher anthracite prices. McRory Stores established a new high for the year at 68 but dropped back to 67 later. Listed and traded in on a when issued basis, 350,000 shares of Kresge 7 per cent. preferred ($100 par) and 200,000 no par common were the center of interest in the afternoon, the common ranging from 32 1-4 to 33 3-4. Durant Motors dropped more than 4 points to 27 but rallied a point before the close.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS DESPATCHES

The Bulletin

Norwich, Saturday, Sept. 22, 1923.

THE WEATHER,

Conditions.

The weather chart of Friday night showed a belt of relatively low but rising pressure along the Atlantic coast, high pressure over the upper Mississippi valley and the region of the Great Lakes, low pressure over the northern plains states and the Rocky mountain and plateau regions, and high and rising pressure over the western Canadian provinces. This pressure distribution has been attended by unsettled weather and showers on the Atlantic coast.

The weather was somewhat warmer in New England.

The outlook is for generally fair weather Saturday and Sunday in the Washington forecast district, except that it will be unsettled with probably showers on the immediate Atlantic coast Saturday. The temperature will be somewhat lower Saturday in the Atlantic states.

Winds.

North of Sandy Hook: Moderate south, becoming north; weather overcast and showery Saturday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Moderate to south, shifting to north, showers, followed by clearing weather Saturday.

Forecast.

For New England and Eastern New York: Partly cloudy and cooler Saturday, preceded by showers on the coast in early morning; Sunday fair.

Observations in Norwich.

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Friday:

| | Ther. | Bar. |
|---|---|---|
| 7 a. m. | 64 | 29.90 |
| 12 m. | 74 | 29.90 |
| 6 p. m. | 70 | 29.90 |

Highest 74, lowest 64.

Comparisons.

Predictions for Friday: Showers.

Friday's weather: Rain early morning, followed by showers in afternoon; continued warm; southwest wind.

TAFTVILLE

Mrs. Thomas of Providence, R. I., a former resident of this village, who has not been here for 35 years, made several calls on friends Thursday, accompanied by Mrs. William Webster of Baltic.

Joseph Benoit of Hunter's avenue has been a recent visitor in Willimantic.

Troop 3, Boy Scouts, met Friday evening in the recreation rooms of the Taftville Congregational church.

Francois Beique of Hunter's avenue is having his store remodeled.

Poirier Brothers are having some minor repairs made to their business block on Merchants' avenue.

William Miller of South Second avenue has resigned his position with the No. 4 weaving department of the Ponemah mills.

William Whitehead of Norwich was a visitor in town Friday evening.

SUFFERED FIVE YEARS FROM KIDNEYS

"I suffered with kidney trouble for five years or more. I could not sleep at night and I was always tired after coming home from work, and my back ached," writes John R. Gordon, Danville, Ill. "I secured some Foley Kidney Pills and after a few treatments I felt better and could work with more ease, became stronger and could sleep better. For quick relief from backache, rheumatic pains, and kidney and bladder trouble, use Foley Kidney Pills. Lee & Osgood Co.

TWO MORE GO TO JAIL FROM COURT AFTER LIQUOR CASE CONVICTION

Two more New London men were sent to jail from the superior court here Friday after their conviction of violation of the liquor law, their trial having occupied the last three days of this week.

Peter Mros, proprietor, and Konstanty Priscik, bartender, at a saloon on the corner of North Bank and John streets, were each found guilty on two counts, reputation and sale, after the jury had been out about 15 minutes. Griswold Morgan was foreman of the jury.

State Attorney Hull immediately moved for sentence, and Attorney G. C. Morgan made a plea for the two men on the ground of their families, as each man is married and has one child.

The state attorney in reply claimed that these men had been persistent violators of the liquor law and that one of them had made considerable money at it and was the owner of real estate, so that his family would not suffer.

Judge Brown sentenced Priscik to 30 days in jail with a $100 fine on each count and Mros 30 days and $200 fine on each count.

The case against the two men was built upon the testimony of New London police officers and that of John Turner, who is an ex-soldier and is now employed in a Montville paper mill. Turner testified that he bought a pint of whiskey in the saloon on Sept. 8, which was the same bottle that the police found in his pocket when they searched him after seeing him come out of the place. He said he had bought there at other times.

Officers who gave testimony as to the reputation of the saloon were William T. Babcock, Frank J. Philopens, George E. Laboue, Thomas J. Lyden and Sergeant Frank T. Howard.

In defense, the two accused men testified that they never sold anything but beer in the place and although they knew Turner they had not sold him any whiskey.

Frank Aronjk, who gave his testimony through Richard J. Dudkowski as interpreter, testified that shortly before the police caught Turner with the bottle he saw Turner getting a bottle of whiskey from a negro on the railroad track.

Rev. Theophilus Horonczuk, pastor of the Polish Independent church, testified that he had been to the Mros place to patronize the baths which were conducted there and the place was of good character as far as he knew.

In rebuttal, State Attorney Hull called Turner back to the stand. He denied that he had been on the railroad track on the night in question or that he bought any whiskey from a black man there. Officer George E. Perkins testified that he had seen Aronjk going into the upstairs part of the house a number of times, contradicting the testimony of Aronjk that he had never been upstairs.

After the arguments by Attorney Morgan for the accused and Attorney Warren Burrows and State Attorney Hull for the state, Judge Brown charged the jury and gave the case into their hands.

REPORTS ON CONVENTION TO AMERICAN LEGION

Committee reports and a report on the state convention held recently in New Britain comprised the principal business transacted at the regular meeting of Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, in the legion rooms Friday evening. Commander John A. Cunningham presided and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the adjutant, W. D. Copp, and were accepted.

Herman A. Bruckner, chairman of the dramatic committee, reported that plans are under way to present a theatrical at a local theatre the day after Armistice day. His report was accepted as one of progress.

Charles W. Cassidy reported for the dance committee on the dance held recently at Hilltop. With all bills paid there remains a fair sized balance which has been added to the post treasury. His report was accepted and the committee discharged with a vote of appreciation.

Commander Cunningham and Charles W. Cassidy, two of the three delegates to the recent state convention, gave reports on the business transacted at the convention.

The commander reported for the committee which had charge of the moving picture The Man Without a Country, presented last week at the Breed theatre. The report showed a good sized balance on hand and the proceeds were added to the post treasury.

The post voted a contribution to the overseas veterans' graves fund which is being raised by the national department of the American Legion.

Given Miscellaneous Shower.

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Ella Krauss Friday evening at her home, 256 Boswell avenue, in honor of her approaching marriage. During the evening games, singing and other amusements were enjoyed, after which her friends presented her many pretty gifts. Dainty refreshments were served.

Will Demonstrate Voting Machine.

For the instruction of voters who want to make further or their first acquaintance with the voting machines which will be in use in the town election in October, there will be a demonstration of the machine given by Supt. Joseph J. Fields in the courthouse corridor today (Saturday) from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., standard time.

THE COLLARLESS OVERBLOUSE IS FAVORED BY FASHION

The overblouse continues to play a very important part in the wardrobe for fall.

The collarless model, with leg o' mutton sleeves, its material heavily embroidered with chenille and with velvet trimmings, always keeping the straight line front, is the leader. While satin is the favored fabric for blouses, georgette continues to be liked.

The short sleeve has given way to the full, flowing sleeve. Handsome overblouses displayed cost from $5 to $15.

Naturally, for sports wear the separate skirt is still in demand. Plaids are strong, and box plaits have taken the place of the knife plaits of the summer.

All the fashionable blends and checks are good for skirts. Eight inches from the floor is the proper length.

Do not miss the opportunity to select an overblouse or smart skirt now while stocks are fullest and best. Where the latest in stylish apparel is to be found The Bulletin's advertisers explain today.

MAKING VOTERS FROM LIST OF TO-BE-MADES

The board of registration will hold its final session today (Saturday) for making new voters from the lists of to-be-mades. The board will sit in the town hall from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., standard time. Being normal men, however, they expect to get hungry about noontime and will take the hour from noon to 1 o'clock for dinner. During the rest of the time they hope to have a large proportion of the 945 men and women who were on the list of to-be-mades come before them and qualify as voters.

Not Able to Sing.

Mrs. Frank H. Merrill of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been spending the summer at Poquyogh, Waterford and who was to have sung at the Central Baptist church here Sunday, will be unable to keep the engagement. For over a week she has been suffering with a severe case of laryngitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill and their daughter Catherine are about to return to Brooklyn.

NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

The principal happening in Norwich fifty years ago this week as shown by the files of The Bulletin of date, was the annual parade of the old volunteer department. A feature of the parade was the showing made by Vigilant Steam Fire Engine company of Paterson, N. J., who not only came in a body but brought their engine along with them. The same week the Chelsea Savings bank held its annual meeting and elected as president for the year 1873-1874, Lorenzo Blackstone. The annual statement of the town accounts of Norwich for the fiscal year ending September 1, 1873, showed a decrease in the general account over the previous year of about $2,000. The selectmen in their report recommended a tax rate of eight mills. Interesting extracts from the files of The Bulletin of September, 1873, follow:

Monday, Sept. 15, 1873—Plaut Bros. have hung out a weather glass, imported from Switzerland by Commissioner Joseph Plaut. It attracts a great deal of attention from passersby and is arranged to indicate all sorts of elementary changes, from delightful weather to earthquakes.

William M. Williams was unexpectedly made the recipient of a fine gold headed cane by his friends last Saturday evening. They gathered about thirty in number in the rooms of a society of which Mr. Williams is a member where he was presented with it, a very neat and appropriate speech being made on the occasion by Col. Tenny.

The Rev. Matteo Prochet, pastor of the Waldensian church in Genoa, Italy, will be in town tomorrow and will preach at 7.30 o'clock in the evening at Broadway church on the religious and social conditions of Italy. Mr. Prochet is president of the Waldesian society for the evangelization of Italy and is a delegate to the Evangelical Alliance from Italy.

Tuesday, Sept. 16, 1873—The members of the various are companies are busy with their preparations for the approaching fire parade. Comparatively few changes will be made in apparatus or uniform. The most noticeable that we know of is the celebration in the Niagara Hose Carriage which is undergoing a thorough renovation; changing among other things the reel from "open" to "close" and the necessary alterations to the carriage which is now in charge of the Norwich company, No. 4.

Our runaway yesterday was accomplished by a cow. If she only had a wagon attached she would have made a tremendous sensation. As it was she scoured through half a dozen streets and made fun for the million. The books of the New London County Agricultural Society are now open for the entries of stock, etc. The entries of horses for trotting and of stock for exhibition must be made on or before the 27th instant.

The house of Mr. Seth Whiting, Bozrahville, was burned to the ground on Sunday morning about 4 o'clock. Loss about $2,500; insurance $200. The fire is supposed to have been incendiary.

Wednesday, Sept. 17, 2873—The New London Baptist association holds its annual meeting today and tomorrow with the High Street Baptist church. The opening exercises begin at 10 o'clock this morning, with letters from the churches and an opening disclosure by the Rev. C. N. Nichols. There will be other discourses this afternoon.

Drygoods had a great and sudden fall last evening at Somers store. The entire shelving at the right of the entrance fell down and furnished business of a very lively nature for all th inmates of the store.

Owing to the absence of several of the ladies on the committee of the woman's reading room committee the meeting appointed for today will take place on Friday in the ladies' room over the Otis library at 3 p. m.

The dancing class which was under the instruction of Prof. J. P. Miller last winter tendered him an informal reception last evening in the shape of a social at Franklin hall, at which nearly all of his old pupils were present. About 40 couples were present. All enjoyed the affair immensely.

The streets were unusually full last evening for a September evening in Norwich.

Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1873.—At the annual meeting of the members of the Chelsea Savings bank the following named were elected officers for the year ensuing: President, Lorenzo Blackstone; vice presidents, David Smith, Henry Bill, Learned Hebard, John T. Wait; directors, Elijah A. Bill, S. T. Holbrook, John P. Barstow, John F. Slater, James A. Hovey, O. J. Lamb, John L. Devotion, Moses Pierce, John W. Stedman; attorney, James A. Hovey; secretary and treasurer, Charles M. Coit.

The steamer Sunshine is to be run by a new timetable on a new route. On and after Monday next she will run from Sag Harbor to New London, touching at Greenport.

Lee P. Dean of this city was on Tuesday admitted to practice in the United States courts by the United States circuit court now in session in Hartford, the same which is to try the great Credit Mobilier suits.

James Lloyd Greene and Joseph Selden of Norwich and Ira Briggs of Voluntown are upon the grand jury of the United States circuit court which convened in Hartford Tuesday. This court is held by Justice Hunt of the United States supreme court and Judge Nathaniel Shipman of the United States district court.

About this time is the height of the pear season. Main street is full of them night and day.

Friday, Sept. 19, 1873.—The annual statement of the town accounts of Norwich for the fiscal year ending Sept. 1, 1873, is now out. It shows a decrease on the general account over last year of about $2,000. There would have been a still larger reduction but for the number of extraordinary expenses, prominent among which are those incurred on account of hte Soldiers' monument and the new town hall and offices. The indebtedness of the town has been decreased $7,000, so that the entire increase "to the good" over last year is $9,000. The selectmen recommend an eight-mill tax in the ensuing year, and give the cheering information that the "collector has settled in full all rate bills in his possession."

The fire parade of the fall of 1873 was fairly inaugurated yesterday by the arrival of the Vigilant Steam Fire Engine company, No. 6, of Paterson, N. J., accompanied by the Paterson band, and unaccompanied—to the disgust of many spectators—by their beautiful engine, which is to arrive from New London this morning. The visitors were received by the chief engineer of this city and staff and delegations from various companies, headed by the Mechanics' band.

Last night the chief engineer entertained the city government, the visiting firemen and the ex-chief engineers and the press. The occasion was one marked by ease and brilliancy of social intercourse, prominent at which much needs be mentioned the sons of Mr. Mitchell of the Pickwick House, Paterson.

Saturday, Sept. 20, 1873.—For once Norwich has had a fire parade which was not an entire success. Long before the hour set for the procession to move that quiet remorseless drizzle wherewith, a rain storm is wont to signify its intention of making an all day's job of it set in. About 11 o'clock the procession moved up Broadway to Willow street, down Willow to Franklin, down Franklin, to Franklin square and East Main street, to Preston bridge and countermarch passing through East Main street and West main street as far as Thames street and countermarched over the former route to Franklin square where the parade was dismissed.

After the parade the visitors, the chief engineer, and ex-chiefs, the foremen of most of the companies and the greater part of the city and town officials, sat down, at the Wauregan Hotel, to a dinner which will go far to impress on the minds of those present the meaning of Wauregan. The visitors were loud in their expressions of satisfaction at the way in which they had been treated and averred that never before had they met with such courteous and bountiful entertaining.

We are indebted to Tubbs band for a fine serenade yesterday afternoon. They drew such a crowd that one of the Paterson officials who saw it at a distance offered to lend Mayor Greene his copy of the riot act and to go for the marines.

POETRY

AS SET WAS HOME.

Shall I go home tonight with empty hands,
When I have striven to battle and attain,
Now from the sky, air, sea or mottled lands,
Bear aught of fowl or fish, or ripening grain?

Can I go home, after this glorious day,
Within whose walls my promised duty lies,
And no small gift upon the Altar lay,
To prove I prize life's opportunities?

Should I go home without the little store,
My efforts through the day might fairly gain,
Although for self I need not gather more,
Though in this world I may for years remain?

Can I go home with empty hands tonight,
When it is best that I have exercise,
That I may still life's mighty battle fight,
And to the highest point of action rise?

Shall I dare let the sun sink in the West,
As I have seen it, many times of yore,
Unless I can feel deep within my breast
I have some better wrought than e'er before?

Not to my home this way would I repair,
But without any vain or idle boast,
Still earn, that I may wild, with studied care,
That which within the home is needed most.

—Thomas F. Porter, in Boston Globe.

THE HERON.

Now that the night has shed its shades
I seek the spot where the heron wades.

Out from the screen of a willow tree
I peer upon him silently.

I dare not stir, I scarce dare breathe,
Lest into the marsh he plunge beneath

The tufted grass and the bending sedge
That make a fringe at the river edge

To see him the cattails tall are glad
And the calamus and the lily pad.

On his plumage there is no fleck,
But a glossy glint on wing and neck.

Daintily, he lifts a foot
And eyes a place where the shallows suit.

I watch him stealthily advance,
Then his bill darts down like a driven lance.

His head springs back, and behold a fish!
For him a delicate breakfast dish.

Satisfied when his feast is done,
He wheels, and casts a look at the sun,

Then he moves away with a stately stride,
But seeming to sense me where I hide,

With fleeter leap than the fleeting hare
He skims for the rushes, and is gone.

I must toil for my morning food,
And maybe this for a man is good;

Yet sometimes, pent in my narrow den,
I wish I could get me a pair of wings like him.

—New York Herald.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"What is that noise I hear?" asked the man.

"Yes, madam," said the owner, "there are ten or those hams hanging up there now!"

"Well, if you are sure they're all the same I'll take three of them," said the young woman.—Kansas City Star.

Hostess—May we serve you to another helping?

Mrs. Malaprop—Why, I believe you may. That food seems very nutritious. It fairly teems with pantomimes.—Christian Register.

ACCIDENTS TO BALLOONS IN GORDON BENNETT CUP RACE

U. S. Navy A-6699 Was Obliged to Throw Out Ballast Among Spectators—The Army S-6 Drifted Into a Belgian Balloon nad Disabled It—A Third American Balloon Was Caught in a Squall and Burst—Swiss Entrant Geneva Was Struck by Lightning—Two Occupants Were Killed—Spanish Balloon Was Burned and Its Pilot Killed.

Brussels, Sept. 23.—(By the A. P.)—The Gordon Bennett cup classic, the annual balloon race for aeronauts of all countries, which started here today in terrific gusts of wind and driving rain, has already cost three lives. Of the seventeen entrants assembled for the race, thirteen so far as is known, are in the air.

One of the balloons, reported to be the Swiss Geneva, was struck by lightning, and Lieutenants Von Grunfingen and Wheren were killed. The Spanish balloon Polar caught fire and its pilot Penaranda was killed and his assistant Gomes injured.

The American contestant, Saint Louis, with which Captain H. E. Honeywell hoped to capture the trophy, was unable to withstand the pressure of the anchor rope when hit by a half gale and burst before the start.

The United States Army S-6 glided into the Belgian Ville De Bruxelles when she was taking off, and damaged the Belgian so badly that she had to be emptied of gas for safety.

The United States navy A-6699, with Lieutenant Lawrence in command, had a narrow escape from colliding with others waiting for the start because of atmospheric conditions, but, hastily dropping her ballast, she soared high enough to get into the air currants and sail away.

Thus two of the American contestants are striving against three French, two Belgian, two Spanish, two Swiss and Two British. The Italian and Polish entries had already been withdrawn.

Seventeen balloons lined up for the Gordon Bennett cup race for lighter-than-air gas bags.

A torrential rain fell as the bags were being filled. At noon conditions were so unfavorable that only the precise texts of the rules governing the race prevented a postponement.

A steady fresh breeze was blowing from the west, between twenty-five and thirty miles an hour, at times veering southwesterly, which would make northern Germany or Scandinavian countries probable landing places. The first alternative created some anxiety among the Belgian and French pilots, who were unable to obtain German visas, and the balloons therefore were liable to seizure by the German authorities. But the pilots were undeterred.

A bright sun was shining as the start was made at four o'clock. The French balloon Picardy, manned by Blenaime and Ravaine, and the Spanish balloon Fernandes Duro, with Magdalena as pilot, were off without accident. Then the United States army S-6 rose just as dark clouds scheened the sun, creating condensation which was the probable cause of the American balloon not reaching a safe height immediately.

Lieutenant Olmstead was in charge, with Lieutenant Choptaw as second pilot, and as the S-6 drifted in the direction of the Belgian Ville De Bruxelles he failed to drop ballast quickly enough. The second bag had not been emptied when his basket drove heavily into the Belgian six yards above the ground. It appeared that the American craft was bound to pierce the Belgian gas bag, which seemed about to explode.

Fortunately the S-6 slid along the Ville De Bruxelles, simply tearing away part of the covering net, then, after dropping more ballast, sailed off, followed by yells from the thousands of spectators to stop.

Many of the balloons experienced great difficulty owing to rain and wind. The United States Navy A-6699 was very slow to rise, Lieutenant Lawrence evidently being extremely reluctant to part with his ballast. It is generally agreed that none of the competitors has a more complete or more scientific equipment than Lieutenant Lawrence, who is considered favorably for the cup. The navy balloon is the only one carrying pigeons.

The A-6699 was hardly in the air when a heavy wind struck the American balloon Saint Louis, manned by Honeywell and Captain Cullough. Its somewhat friable envelope, unable to resist the tension of the rope held by Belgian soldiers, gave way, and the balloon had flattened like a pancake. Honeywell, who was considered a dangerous competitor, took things like a philosopher. "Bad luck," he said, "and nobody's fault! That squall put an end to the old Saint Louis, which I expected to abandon without regret somewhere in the North, for it meant the sacrifice of the balloon, if such sacrifice meant the gain of a mile."

To add to the general excitement, thick clouds which had been creeping over the hills suddenly opened and the rain teemed down. The three remaining balloons were almost invisible and great crowds of spectators made a hasty departure through ankle-deep mud.

The probable direction taken by the first fourteen balloons was northeast. It is probable that some of them will land in Denmark.

TO MAKE INQUIRY INTO CHECK COLLECTION PLAN

Washington, Sept. 23.—Direct inquiry as to what the future policy will be with respect to continuation of the par check collection plan within the reserve system was made of the federal reserve board in a letter made public here today from L. R. Adams, secretary of the National and State bankers' Protective association. Mr. Adams, one of the authors of the so-called Chicherone-Adams par clearance plan, rejected last week by the board's advisory council, asserted that banking institutions throughout the country deserved to know whether they were at liberty to charge exchange since the supreme court had ruled against a compulsory par clearance arrangement.

"If it is the board's duty to see that policies properly promulgated under the federal reserve act are carried out," the letter said, "is it not equally the board's duty to immediately abandon a previous policy that has been declared by the supreme court to be beyond the purview of the law and to see that all federal reserve banks and their agencies cease efforts to enforce such a policy? How, when and to what extent does the federal reserve board now purpose to recognize and abide by the limitations placed upon its power to establish par clearance, which the supreme court says the law placed upon it?"

Mr. Adams' letter maintained that he board ought to inform the banks 'we were mistaken; we misconstrued the law and mistakenly stated its requirements to you." Many banks would establish an exchange immediately, Mr. Adams asserted, if they knew their status under the law as interpreted by the highest court.

MAN SHOT WHILE WAITING IN NORTH STATION, BOSTON

Boston, Sept. 23.—Hundreds of persons dodged behind pillars, rushed into corners, and fled panic-stricken through the doors of the North station today when Dominic Iannella shot L. Ribeiro as he stood in the train sheds waiting for a friend, and then fired an ineffectual fusilade at police officers who attempted to arrest him. Ribeiro was taken to a hospital where his condition was said to be grave. Iannella was captured and later identified by the wounded man as his assailant, according to the police.

Iannella told the police that he shot Ribeiro, a Portuguese National whose home is in Hudson, Mass., because he thought he was one of a gang who had been following him. The police believe he was temporarily demented.

After the shooting the fugitive ran into an office in the station and barricaded himself. Reinforcements of police broke down the door and the man was disarmed and arrested, charged with intent to kill.

SEVERAL DEATHS FROM HURRICANE IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Sept. 23.—Several persons were killed and about fifty injured during a hurricane which struck Acapulco, Saturday. Considerable damage was done to property.

No reports have been received regarding the effects of the storm at [illegible]

NO WORD FROM MISSING GEOLOGICAL SURVEY PARTY

Kingman, Ariz., Sept. 22.—No word has been received from the United States Geological Survey party which started down the Grand Canyon several weeks ago, since they left Separ, three weeks ago to negotiate the most dangerous part of their journey consisting of one hundred miles of canyons and gorges to a point on the river at Diamond Creek where they had planned to receive additional supplies. This in itself is not alarming as they did not expect to reach Diamond Creek until the latter part of the month. Apprehension was caused by the fact that the river rose twenty nine feet in four days last week and they had no means of receiving the warning of the rise and also that a boat came floating down the river bottom side up.

This apprehension was received somewhat however by the news that United States government boat similar to the ones they are using and to the one sighted at Ketherine, Thursday got loose at Grand Canyon Wednesday.

Sheriff W. P. Mahoney, of Mohave county and deputies familiar with the rugged country east of Diamond Creek went to Beach Springs today the nearest railroad point, to confer with Roger W. Birdseye, of the United States government survey and a cousin of the man in charge of the party as to, whether a searching party should be organized to make their way up the river from Diamond Creek to see if they could locate the lost surveying party.

GERMANY TO END PASSIVE RESISTANCE IN RHINELAND

Berlin, Sept. 23.—By the A. P.)—Germany's moral, or weaponless, warfare upon the French and Belgian encroachment of her territory and sovereignty may be said to have come to and end. Officially its termination has not yet been decreed, but, aside from a noisy minority of super-nationalists, competent opinion inside official circles and the sober judgment of political, industrial, financial and labor leaders are no longer under the delusion that the drooping spirits of the people of the Ruhr and the Rhineland can be sufficiently reanimated to make passive anotheer single day.

Human psychology however, is not the sole determining factor in the hopelessly forlorn situation confronting the Stresemann cainet, for the cumulative effects of eight months of economic devastation resulting from the nation's defence of its sovereignty has brought the nation's leaders to realization that further indulgence in passivity would end in disaster.

TWO BROTHERS DROWNED IN MILL POND IN SHERMAN

New Milford, Sept. 23.—Cyrus Chadwick, 46, and his brother, Ernest, aged 30, both of New Milford, were drowned late today in Mill pond in the town of Sherman. The bodies of both men were recovered.

They were fishing from a rowboat and according to information obtained by police officers, on fell into the water and both drowned when the other attempted to rescue his brother.

Both men were married and leave families.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Violent Earth Shocks.

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 23.—(By the A. P.)—Violent shocks were recorded shortly after 8 o'clock last night at Helouan observatory. The disturbances, it was estimated were about 2,500 miles distant.

The Parsons Divorced.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Schuyler L. Parsons, who was Betty Bierne Pierson, has been granted a divorce by the Paris courts Both husband and wife gave their residences as Paris.

Viscount De Chambrun Injured.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Viscount Charles De Chambrun, former counselor of the French embassy in Washington, was injured yesterday in an automobile collision near his residence here. It was stated today that his injuries were slight.

Report on Assassination of Italians.

Paris, Sept. 23.—The report of the inter-allied investigation commission into the assassination of the Italian members of the Greco-Albanian commission, has reached the secretariat of the council of ambassadors. The council will meet on Tuesday to discuss the report.

TO REMOVE THE BODY OF JAMES E. OGLETHORPE

London, Sept. 23—(By the A. P.)—Permission had been granted by English authorities to Oglethorpe University for the removal to the United States of the body of James Edward Oglethorpe, founder of the institution and first governor of Georgia. The bones of Oglethorpe rest in the Church of All Saints in the town of Cranham, not far from the reputed burial place of Pocahontas.

The rector of the church has given notice to all qualified residents of the parish of the intention to remove the bones and if no objection is raised the disinterment will be started soon under direction of Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe University, who came to England for the purpose.

When the disinterment is completed the bones will be conveyed under escort with full honors to New York harbor and there transferred to an American battleship and taken to Savannah, where Oglethorpe landed 191 years ago with 119 other colonists. From Savannah the bones of the famous colonist will be carrieed to Atlanta for a memorial service to be attended by high American, Canadian and British officials.

Explaining the motives for the removal Dr. Jacobs said today:

"James Edward Oglethorpe was the first great Anglo-American, the first anti-slavery advocate and the first prohibitionist in the United States, and the people of Georgia feel that the ashes of their great founder should rest in Georgian soil that his deeds and memory may be a source of inspiration for our youth."

CLAIMS BEFORE MIXED CLAIMS COMMISSION

Washington, Sept. 23 (By the A. P.)—Activities of German agents in Mexico during the World war have been made the basis of a new series of claims laid before the German-American mixed claims commission.

Asserting that specific cases of loss of life and property by American citizens in Mexico can be laid to German instigation, counsel for the claimants have petitioned that suitable compensation be allowed and that the German government be called upon to deliver, in accordance with the peace treaty, all official documents in its possession bearing upon operations of the former emperor's representatives in Mexico between 1914 and 1918.

The first test case probably will be that of Mrs. Nella Gregory of McGhee, Ark., widow of Charles R. Watson, an American mining engineer. Watson, while employed by the Cusi Mining company, with headquarters in Chihuahua, was slain Jan. 10, 1916, "by armed Mexicans," according to the brief filed in his widow's behalf. His death was attributed by her counsel "as a consequence of war activities carried on by Germans in Mexico" and particularly "as a result of German propaganda in Mexico directed against the United States."

VISCOUNT MORLEY DIES FROM HEART DISEASE

London, Sept. 23 (By the A. P.).—Viscount Morley of Blackburn, former lord president of the council and secretary of state for India, died tonight at his residence in Wimbledon from heart disease.

He was taken ill only this morning, and his end was peaceful. He was 85 years old.

Lord Morley leaves no heir, and the peerage becomes extinct. The veteran writer and statesman had lived for a long time in almost complete retirement. He parted from the government in 1914 because he could not acquiesce in the war policy, and since that time had taken no very active part in politics.

In 1919, however, he was appointed a member of a special committee to draft treaties for the protection of the Jews, and later made appeal for sanity in dealing with Ireland.

Lord Morley came out of his retirement in December, 1921, to speak in the house of lords on the Irish agreement, and he gave his support to the Irish treaty.

FRENCH TREASURY TO ISSUE 6 PER CENT. BONDS

Paris, Sept. 23.—Nen French treasury bonds bearing six per cen. interest, redeemable in three, six and ten years, will be placed on the market beginning October 1 and ending November 1, according to a decree published in the Journal Offcel today. No maximum or minimum figures of the loan are made public.

The nominal value of the bonds are five hundred francs and five thousand francs. The actual purchase price is placed respectively at 492.50 francs and 4,925 francs. The entire sum on each bond mbust be paid outright before possession may be obtained. The bonds for five hundred francs are payable at par in 1926, at 515 francs in 1929 and at540 francs in 1928. The same proportion of reimbursement will apply to the 5,000 franc bonds.

110 MINERS KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN POLAND

Warsaw, Sept. 23—One hundred and ten miners are believed to have been killed in an explosion yesterday in the main shaft of the Reder coal mines at Dombreva. Fifty bodies already have been recovered.

The explosion was followed by fires, and there is little hope of rescuing alive any of the men who were entombed.

Oklahoma is Quiet Under Martial Law

House Members Threaten to Resort to the Courts for Vindication of Their Rights

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 23.—(By the A. P.)—The rush of events that have followed the extension of martial law a week ago to every county in the state paused today, while Governor J. C. Walton, worn by the exertions of his campaign against the Ku Klux Klan, remained in seclusion at his residence.

Military courts in Oklahoma City and Tulsa were not in session and headquarters of the guard officers were quiet.

Observers of the situation looked for an indication of its solution this week. An attempt to convene the state house of representatives Wednesday without call by the Governor is expected to reveal the immediate course of developments.

The session was called by members with the expressed purpose of investigating certain official acts of Governor Walton. The governor has branded the session as a "Ku Klux Klan demonstration," and has declared the legislators will not be permitted to meet. Whether Governor Walton will back up his threat to jail any who make an attempt remains to be seen.

A statement issued last night by W. D. McBee, representative from Stephens county, a leader in the movement to convene the house, declared that members who will meet do not intend to resort to violence if the Governor uses force to disperse them. He said if they are not permitted to convene they will "resort to the courts for vindication of our rights."

SHERIFF INSTITUTES QUO WARRANTO PROCEEDINGS

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 23.—(By the A. P.)—The president of the military commission yesterday was served with formal notice that County Sheriff R. D. Sanford, will institute quo warranto proceedings in the Oklahoma supreme court to remove the military from the sheriff's office here. The action would be instituted at Oklahoma City, next Thursday, the notice stated.

Service on the contemplated action was accepted by Brigadier General Charles B. McFherren, the ranking officer, now in Tulsa.

The action will be directed against Adjutant General B. H. Markham, General McPherron, Colonel H. L. Head, the military sheriff and Captain H. H. Donoahue.

GOVERNOR WALTON WILL TEST CASE IN FEDERAL COURT

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 23.—(By the A. P.)—A test case in the United States courts of his authority to prohibit the convening of an extraordinary session of the Oklahoma House of Representatives set for Wednesday will be welcomed, Governor J. C. Walton, declared tonight.

"I want to place the issue of the Ku Klux Klan before federal authorities, and an injunction action against me will be the most direct method of bringing this about," he asserted.

Governor Walton said that "The Ku Klux Klan is bound to be an issue in the next national election."

The executive's statement was in reply to a declaration of members of the house that they would resort to court action if he carried out his announced intention to bar the session.

He declined to comment on previous published statements by others that he would be a candidate for United States Senator on an anti-Klan platform.

"I have no announcement to make at this time," he said.

The Governor said that he "believed the Klan was licked," but that he was prepared to go on indefinitely with his campaign against the organization.

He said that if lack of funds prevented the purchase of supplies for troops on duty he would commandeer what was necessary.

A statement replying to critics who have assailed him for suspending the writ of habeas corpus and quoting a federal statute passed in 1871, which he said "outlawed the klan in the United States," was issued by the executive.

"Much has been said about the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus and there are those who declare that during the days of reconstruction following the Civil war, the writ of habeas corpus was never suspended," the governor said. "I fear the memory of some people is failing for there was passed a law by the congress approved April 20, 1871, which was known as the 'Ku Klux Klan Law.' This was directed at the klan and outlawed it in the United States.

"The federal government was having to meet the very same conditions that I have to meet," said Governor Walton, "and met them just as I have had to meet them. * * *

"Now let the newspapers court headed by E. K. Gaylor, (publisher of the Daily Oklahoman), pay its respects to the United States law that made it a high crime for masked and robed organizations to pass along highways.

"Under the above mentioned statute the whipping of an individual by a mob was sufficient grounds for declaring a state of rebellion and suspension of the writ of habeas corpus.

"The Daily Oklahoman and other Oklahoma newspapers have advocated appealing to the federal courts. Under the statute I have just quoted, before one could sit upon a jury in a federal court he had to swear that he was not connected with any organization, named in the acts and that he had no knowledge of any of their conspiracies. If it was proven that he perjured himself in taking such oath, he was subject to severe penalty.

"I submit this so the people of state may know that I am not doing anything that has not been done before to protect the rights and liberties of the people and I have the precedent of the greatest government on earth for my guide."

STORY OF ATROCIOUS BRUTALITY OF MASKED MOB

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 23.—(By the A. P.)—A story of how members of a masked mob at Tulsa, after mercilessly beating a victim, cut off one of his ears and tried to force him to eat it, was made public tonight by Governor J. C. Walton, in the form of testimony given the Tulsa military court by J. H. Smitheerman.

"This is only one of the hundreds of such crimes committed, which the civil authorities of this state refused to prosecute," declared the executive. "I ask the people of the civilized world, in the presence of this testimony, if I was not justified in proclaiming martial law in the city of Tulsa."

Revolt in Bulgaria Gaining Strength

Peasant Army of 100,000 Strong is Reported to be Marching on Sofia.

Paris, Sept. 23.—A despatch to the Haya Agency from Sofia says the present insurrection in Bulgaria is spreading and gathering strength. One hundred thousand peasants, a majority of whom are armed and fairly well organized, are marching on Sofia in an attempt to overthrow the government.

The despatch adds that the cabinet sat throughout Saturday night. It was presided over by King Boris. Two regiments have been despatched against the oncoming peasants, who are reported to have halted in the face of rifle fire.

Bulgar towns along the Jugoslav frontier are showing special activity. Although it is asserted in Sofia that the movement is purely agrarian, the communists have taken a hand in the controversy and are directing a general strike which is to become effective Monday.

BULGARIAN CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES DISSOLVED

Paris Sept. 23.—A Havas despatch from Sofia, dated Saturday, says the Bulgarian chamber of deputies was dissolved by royal decree.

The despatch adds that the date of the elections had not been fixed but, under the constitution, these would take place within two months of the dissolution of the chamber.

BULGARIAN GOV'T SAYS COMMUNISTS WERE DISPERSED

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 23 (By the A. P.).—The Bulgarian official agency today, after denying reports from Belgrade concerning the Serbo-Bulgarian situation, made public the following summary of the situation:

"Order never has been disturbed since the present government obtained power. The communists on Sept. 20 attempted to proclaim soviet-ism in certain districts in southern Bulgaria. Three hundred communists attacked the barracks in Stara Zagora Thursday afternoon, but were dispersed, leaving five dead and ten wounded. About two hundred assaulted Tchirpan. The attack failed, the assailants retiring. They removed rails from the railroad line, derailing passenger trains, but there were no casualties.

"Gendarmerie pursuing these communists killed or wounded thirty men. Three hundred communists attacked the sub-prefecture and city hall at Nova Zagora and proclaimed a soviet republic which lasted fifteen hours. The garrison at Yanboli sent troops which dislodged the revolutionists. During the pursuit the communists lost thirty-four men killed. A majority of the others were made prisoner. Many submitted voluntarily and delivered up their arms. The government troops lost two men killed and eight wounded."

POINCARE SAYS GERMANY DOES NOT LACK CAPACITY

Toul, Sept. 23.—(By the A. P.)In unveiling a war monument at Toul today Premier Poincare asserted that during the period from 1871 to 1914 there was no real peace and normal relations between France and Germany were impossible. France now has determined that Germany shall not revive such a precarious peace, must rid herself of old imperialistic habits, realize the wrong she has done and sincerely resolve to repair it.

"Germany naturally is one of the richest countries in the world," said the Premier; "the war has not seriously affected her prosperity. The present crisis suspends her capacity for payment, without diminishing it for the future. What Germany lacks is not capacity to pay, but the sincere desire to pay.

"France is spending millions daily on Germany's account and cannot continue thinous advances nor interrupt the work of reconstruction. She has already paid more than one hundred billion in Germany's stead, and Germany would have grown definitely accustomed to this unjust and paradoxical state of affairs had we not awakened in her a sentiment of defeat. She started the war without provocation, she lost it, and it only remains for her to pay. So long as she delays we will stay where we are."

GENERAL BUSINESS OUTLOOK CONTINUES GOOD

New York, Sept. 23 (By the A. P.).—Although speculative sentiment was somewhat depressed last week, little change was apparent in the general business outlook. Stocks themselves steadied considerably and, aside from oil shares, gave little evidence of extensive liquidation. This market remained narrow and professional.

Cotton meanwhile rallied sharply. Heavy rains in Texas and Oklahoma were partly responsible for this advance, which carried the spot price well above 30 cents a pound. Trade buying, partly for foreign interest, was, however, also in evidence, while short covering on a large scale contributed to the gain. Considerable attention was paid to reports that stocks of cotton in Liverpool have been allowed to sink to an unusually low figure Private estimates now talk of a crop of 10,500,000 bales or less.

A large part of the willingness of foreign spinners to increase their stocks of cotton was attributed to the better atmosphere which now surrounds the reparations negotiations.

MEXICAN BULL FIGHTER INJURED IN BULL RING

Madrid, Sept. 23.—Luis Freg, the famous Mexican bullfighter, was gravely injured today by a bull in the ring here. The surgeons in attendance express doubt as to whether they will be able to save Freg's life.

Freg was to have fought against six bulls during the afternoon. The first animal however, horned him in the chest. Neveththeless Freg was able to continue the fight and finally despatched the bull. Then he collapsed and was taken to a hospital, where it was declared his condition was grave.

TO PROVIDE PRESSMEN FOR NEWSPAPERS OF NEW YORK

International Union is to Conscript Workers From Other Cities—Strikers Stampeded from Hall as President Berry of the International Was Telling of Agreement Reached With the Publishers—New York Union Has Failed to Pay $2 a Month for 444 Members for the Past Five Years—Dishonest Report Made to the International—Outlawed Men Vote to Continue Their Strike.

New York, Sept. 23.—Conscription of newspaper pressmen from other cities to operate the presses of New York's strike-hampered dailies, even at the cost of suspending publication of other papers, was threatened today by George L. Berry, president of the Pressmen's International Union. Berry announced his program in an address to a virtually empty hall, after striking pressmen had stampeded a meeting called to permit him to explain the new agreement signed with publishers by the International, Friday.

Mr. Berry said his purpose in making the speech to the handful of pressmen, newspapermen, detectives and ushers in Town Hall after virtually all of the 400 strikers had left was to have the address printed and distributed among the striking members of Local Union No. 25, which was declared dissolved after officials of the International had characterized the strike as illegal. A stenographer transcribed his words.

The strikers stampeded after one of their number suggested David Simons, head of the outlawed local, should call the session to order. Officials of the International were on the stage. Mr. Berry asserted he could not permit an official of a union not recognized by the International to take the platform.

There was an uproar. Simons rose from the audience and shouted:

"Boys, we will not listen to a strike-breaker. Let's go." Most of those who seemed hesitant were rounded up by leaders of the strikers, who announced they could hold a meeting in another section of the city.

Mr. Berry accused the strikers of refusing to return to work after a committee of their leaders had acknowledged unanimously that the International's agreement with the publishers, which provided that the men might resume work under cards issued by the International, was 95 per cent. of what they wanted and provided ample arbitrary machinery to get the other 5 per cent.

He said he had intended to tell the strikers, had they remained, that their union's "administration" had failed, for five or ten years, to report to the International the names of 444 members, for whom $2 a month should have been paid into the International's treasury. He explained that the International had agreed to pay the dues of men who entered the service in the war, adding that recent investigation by officials had disclosed the local's "administration" had reported the names of 111 such members to the International who, in reality, never had joined the colors.

"We intend to end this strike!" Mr. Berry shouted. "There will be no more temporizing or compromising. If they don't return to work they will lose their $600 death benefit, their pension and the advantages of the Pressmen's Home. We won't have in our organization men who are so weak and irresponsible that they can be stampeded into such a near riot as you just witnessed by a few reds who are trying to introduce the soviet system into the pressrooms of the country.

"From this moment on we will furnish a man for every vacancy in the newspaper offices of New York. We have not brought men into New York up to this time, but from now on we will bring all the pressmen needed from the United States and Canada. We will stop newspapers in other cities, if necessary, to return the New York City newspapers to normal. That is the position of the board of directors of the International Union."

Mr. Berry went into details on what he termed the unprecedented advantages of the new contract, adding there was no reason for the "unwarranted" action of the men in leaving their places Monday night and forcing the paper to print abbreviated editions since.

Thomas Mullins, former union pressman for an afternoon paper was sentenced to five days in the workhouse in Tombs court today on a charge of compelling a newswagon driver to throw 200 papers from his delivery wagon early this morning.

"Later, at a meeting of the pressmen who deserted Mr. Berry's meeting, a unanimous vote to continue the strike until the publishers "do business with the representatives of the men who work in their press rooms" was passed, according to Simons.

"The men are not going to allow an outsider to come into New York city and tell them how they shall work," he said.

Mr. Simons added that he referred to Mr. Berry. Asked on what basis a settlement with his union could be effected by the publishers, Mr. Simons said:

"If the publishers will submit to the membership their proposition we will submit it to the men in a fair manner, as we feel we have the right of American citizens to say whether a thing is acceptable and we will not allow an outsider to come in and say what we shall do."

Mr. Simons denied the charges made by Mr. Berry that the local union had defrauded the international of a large amount of its per capita tax. He said the best refutation of the charge was the fact that the local was in good standing with the international up to the time of the strike.

The Paperhandlers' union, Local No. 1, at a meeting tonight voted 119 to 70 to continue work. Some of the members of the local struck last week in sympathy with the pressmen. It was announced at international headquarters that no cards would be issued to pressmen until tomorrow.

Mr. Berry stated tonight that a number of telegrams to which his signature had been forged, had been sent to international pressmen's offices in various cities stating that no pressmen were needed to fill the places of strikers of the local union.

"The field is now open to pressmen from other cities," he said. "The point of compromise has been passed. These forged telegrams show to what lengths members of the outlaw union will go."

HOLD UP IN A GAMBLING HOUSE IN HAYDENVILLE, MASS.

Randolph, Mass., Sept. 23. — Five armed men early today held up a gambling house in Haydenville, near here, wounding two alleged gamblers and escaping in an automobile with more than $8,000 in cash and jewelry.

The men approached the building which was encircled by parked automobiles, and, thrusting sawed-off shot guns and revolvers through window boardings, fired a volley into the ceiling. They then rushed the room. Two men attempted to escape and were shot. John Devine, of Braintree, was taken to a hospital in a critical condition with an abdominal wound. Lester McCucker, also of Braintree, was wounded in the heel.

The scene of the hold up was an old frame house on the Braintree-Randolph road. The windows were boarded up, and it was through the cracks and chinks about the place that the raiders discharged their weapons.

The robbery took place early this morning when a game of dice was at its height, according to the police. Only two men attempted to escape when the bandits rushed into the room. It was said that Devine was attempting to escape to the cellar when he was wounded. Another of the party attempted to argue with one of the robbers and a revolver was shoved into his mouth. Several teeth were dislodged.

After lining their victims up along the walls the robbers took all their valuables and then fled in their automobile. When the gathering ventured outside they were unable to pursue the bandits as all the ignition wires to their automobiles had been cut and gasoline tanks had been drained.

CONFESSED TO THE MURDER OF LOUIS DE BIASE

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 23.—Domenico Guerrise, 22, former bed-mate of the victim, this afternoon confessed to slaying of Louis De Biase, 41, of Danbury, in Bethel, on August 9, last, to state police Sergeant Vitelli, of this city, and state policeman John C. Kelly, of Ridgefield, at the county jail here.

Implicating his father-in-law, Angelo Comardo, and Sam Longo, who, with Guerrise, has been detained by the state police since August 17 last, Guerrise revealed that De Biase had plotted with him to murder Comardo, and that in turn, Comardo, Longo and he had lain a plan to slay De Biase.

Buried by the man's 14 year old son, Tony, on the day on which the body of De Biase was found laying under his small motor truck on the Newtown-Danbury highway in Bethel, the gun was recovered several days ago by State Policeman Kelley with the aid of De Biase's 13 year old daughter, Catherine, and Mrs. Mary Dinto, whose husband, Antonio, was held for several weeks in connection with the crime.

B. & M. ENGINEER FATALLY INJURED IN FREIGHT WRECK

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Sept. 23. — A freight train on the Boston and Maine railroad was derailed in the station yard here today and the engineer, William H. Keating, of Barton, was fatally injured. The cause of the wreck has not been learned.

Six cars of merchandise and freight were piled up beside the track.

The engineer was trapped when the engine turned on one side. He was badly scalded and burned before he was extricated and died several hours later.

Traffic was not delayed.

FOUND 300 BOTTLES OF WHISKEY IN AUTOMOBILE

Rutland, Vt., Sept. 23. — Leroy Waugh of Medford, Mass., is under arrest here tonight and the police are searching for Mrs. Vivian Rand, of Malden, Mass., as a result of an automobile accident at Castleton last night. Waugh was taken to a hospital, by the police who subsequently found 300 bottles of whiskey in the automobile which was on its way south from Canada. The police say the woman owned both the liquor and the automobile and that she has not been seen since the accident.

Walking into the saloon conducted by Anselme Bernier, 836 Main street, with a view to ordering the dismantling of the bar, County Investigator William E. Jackson and Federal Prohibition Enforcement Officer William J. Congdon caught the bartender, Arthur P. LaFleur, coming from the cellar with a glass filled with liquid. LaFleur quickly dipped the contents of the glass into a pail of water behind the bar. The officers immediately set about searching the place. After twenty-five minutes a loose board was found in a partition and when it was removed a full pint of whiskey and a partly filled pint bottle were disclosed. Officer Jackson placed Bernier and LaFleur under arrest and they were taken to the police station where they were charged with possession of intoxicating liquor with intent to sell. Deputy Judge Curtis Dean was summoned and at the request of Officer Jackson, acting for States Attorney Searls, bonds of $2,-500 in each case were asked for. The bonds for Bernier were furnished by Clement Hurteau, while Arthur Squires went bondsman for LaFleur. The men will be brought before the police court Wednesday morning and in the meantime a bench warrant will be issued to bring both Bernier and LaFleur before the superior court.

All the bars in Windham county will be dismantled after this week, by order of the superior court, it was announced Saturday by Officer Jackson, who said that the edict would be issued at the session of the court this week.

In connection with the general clean-up of liquor violators in this city and Putnam on bench warrants issued by States Attorney Charles E. Searls, Salvini L. Cardinal of 113 Main street was arrested Saturday morning by County Investigator William E. Jackson on the charge of violation of the liquor law. Cardinal was released on bonds of $1,000, furnished for his appearance in the superior court at Putnam Tuesday morning. The warrant was dated as having been issued Tuesday, Sept. 11, but was not served until Saturday due to the fact that Cardinal was visiting relatives in Canada and did not return to Willimantic until Friday evening.

The funeral of Helena Marie Holden was held Saturday morning from her late home in South Windham. Requiem high mass at St. Joseph's church, this city, was sung at 9 o'clock by Rev. Charles M. Kelly. The hymns were sung by Mrs. Henry J. Mathieu during the service. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. The bearers were six schoolmates—Charles, Harold and Eugene Healy, Charles and Joseph Smith and George Woodward. Kilbourne Brothers were in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Susan C. Clark, 73, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Chapel, of Hampton, about 8 o'clock Friday afternoon. Mrs. Clark was born in Old Lyme, June 19, 1850, a daughter of Ezra and Elizabeth Richardson Champion. She was the widow of Robert E. Clark and is survived by one son, Robert E. Clark of Chaplin; a daughter, Mrs. Edward Chapel of Hampton and seven grandchildren.

While coming down a driveway from the rear of the R. G. Remington Agency, Main street, Max Mandel, a baker of this city, gave the car too much gas and after screening down the alley, it crashed into a large side door used as an automobile entrance to the Remington place. The machine was a Ford sedan, the property of Isadore (Jake) Heller of upper Main street. The door was smashed through the car was damaged. Mandel agreed to settle.

Nathan Spink of Clark's Corners was fined $25 on the charge of reckless driving and $100 and costs for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, by Justice of the Peace Charles B. Russ in the Chaplin town court Saturday forenoon. Grand Juror Frank M. Landon prosecuted. The total assessment was $146.05 and was paid.

The fines resulted from a collision Friday evening between Spink's car and a Ford machine driven by its owner, Daniel Angelor of Hartford, on the highway between North Windham and Clark's Corner at a point opposite the old Martin farm in the town of Chaplin. Angelor was returning from Cape Cod with his wife and child and upon seeing the Spink car speeding around a curve, pulled into the gutter but was struck head-on. The Ford sustained a badly damaged front end and a broken axle. The Spink machine, which carried four men, all employed on the road construction job at Clark's Corners, was but slightly damaged. After the accident the party resumed their journey back to the camp from this city.

Angelo telephoned to the state police barracks at Danielson and notified Chief A. S. Fields. Officers Stevens and Williams were dispatched to investigate. It was charged that the four man were intoxicated. Spink pleaded guilty to both charges.

At Chaplin and South Chaplin the bridge which spans the Natchaug river, is approached at both ends by dangerous curves and it is impossible for an automobile driver to round these and gain access to the span at a high rate of speed. Nevertheless, it has been tried several times and the result is that since September 5 four machines have been wrecked in that location. Friday night, three young men in a Ford car were in a hurry to get to the dance in Pheonixville and went off the road at the south end of the bridge. The car turned over twice and landed on its side. The occupants escaped without injury and the only damage to the machine was a broken top. The trio lost no time in putting the Ford back on its four wheels, starting the engine and resuming the trip. The young men were on their way so quickly that their names were not learned.

James Carey, Michael Welch, Daniel Brennan and Andrew Johnson, all of this city, will appear in police court this (Monday) morning to answer to the charge of intoxication. The quartette was placed under arrest in the lower village at 12.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Captain Thomas Grady and Motorcycle Officer Grant Bombria.

"A Ford roadster driven by its owner, William Segar of Andover, was badly smashed, about 10.45 o'clock on Sunday morning, at the junction of Main and Bank streets when Segar, who was coming east on the main thoroughfare, attempted to cross to the left of the road and enter Bank street while a large Marmon machine was approaching. Segar cut in ahead of the Marmon which bore the New York registry number 736-877, and the two cars crashed. The front end of the Ford was demolished. The only damage done to the New York machine was a broken shackle on the bumper. Motorcycle Grant Bombria investigated the accident and Segar admitted his guilt for the collision. He agreed to settle with the New York party.

Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton received twenty-five hundred pink sample ballots Saturday, from the secretary of state, bearing the names of the candidates for the annual town election to be held Monday, Oct. 1. The ballot has five columns: republican, democratic, blank and the other two for "Yes" and "No" votes concerning appropriations in compliance with the constitutional amendment.

At the quarterly meeting of the Clerks' Protective association, held in the chamber of commerce rooms, it was planned to hold a social. President Alfred Noel presided at the session.

The Congregational Church Thimble club, of which Mrs. Robert H. Fenton is leader, met at her home on Church street and sewed carpet rags for rugs for the new headquarters of the welfare bureau on Meadow street.

Two delicious peaches, whose combined weight was an even pound, were picked last week from a tree in the yard of Mrs. E. S. Lincoln, 111 South street.

Rev. J. C. Stoddard, Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., of Norwich and E. Scott Barlow of Sumield will be the speakers at the Ashford Baptist convention at Spring Hill church Tuesday.

Service buttons have been issued by the Southern New England Telephone company to two employes of the local exchange, Arthur W. Chenoweth, 20 years and Anna U. Lee, 15 years.

All roads leading to Manchester have been spanned with bannered archways announcing the celebration of that town's centennial, Oct. 1, 6 and 7.

A delegation of 12 members from Canton Windham motored to New Haven Sunday afternoon to attend the degree exemplification and banquet held under the auspices of Canton Sassacus in the evening. Lieutenant Colonel F. H. Williams headed the local delegation.

Mrs. H. C. Murray has returned, after a stay in Portland, Maine.

The family of Frank A. Phillips spent the week-end at their summer home at Giant's Neck.

Mrs. Angelina Avery has returned from a visit with her cousin, Mrs. E. B. Scott, of Norwich.

JEWETT CITY

Jewett City had a representation of 16 Masons and members of the O. E. S. at Wallingford Saturday at the Grand Master's day celebration. The trip over the new road via Colchester, Middletown and Meriden, 116 miles, was made by automobiles. Those from Jewett City who enjoyed the trip and the more than usually attractive exercises were, Most Worshipful Master Arthur M. Brown, Grand Master of Masons in Connecticut; Worshipful Master Norman B. Parkhurst, of Mt. Vernon lodge, No. 76; Mrs. Arthur M. Brown, Mrs. George H. Prior, Mrs. William O. Soule, Mrs. James Blair, Mrs. Frank O. Durfey, Thomas E. Lee, Walter Fields, William McCluggage, Worshipful Geo. H. Prior, Fred S. Campbell, William O. Soule, Olin F. Miller, Everett H. Hincex. Mr. Brown in his address took occasion to point out the many facts concerning the wonderful work being done by the great Wallingford institution. He assured M. W. Fred A. Verplanck, president of the Masonic Charity Foundation of Masons of Connecticut, that when the call came, as it inevitably must, for an increase in capital to build a proposed addition and hospital, whatever it might be, the lodges of the state would respond with a will and produce the coin. His remarks were in part along the line of the ever growing spirit of friendship, which is the fundamental principle and underlying basis of all successes, fraternal or otherwise. The master recalled a sermon he had once heard, from the thought, Love Me and Tell Me So. He said that it left with him a lasting impression.

"If this occasion with its addresses and exercises has enabled any one of us to get a little better glimpse of the divine plan, and helped even in the smallest measure to a clear understanding of the better order of things, then the day has been well spent and the labor not in vain."

Few addresses for impressive force and logical common sense, could surpass that delivered by Worthy Brother Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, from Norwich, grand chaplain of Connecticut. He held closely to the friendship theme which had been brought to attention earlier in the program. In defining the word Friend, the speaker used the narrative of the good bishop who had parted two street gamins clinched in a bloody fight. The bishop asked the more sanguine of the two, after the lad's declaration "that he was fighting for a friend" if he knew the real meaning of the word friend—whereupon the reply came promptly, Yes sir, A friend is a feller that likes yer, even tough he knows yer.

G. A. Barber, a Jewett City Mason, a resident of the home, and one of the oldest members of Mt. Vernon here, was able to be out after ten days' illness, and enjoy the cordial greetings from his friends from the home town.

The rainfall has been very welcome in this locality. Official autumn began at 9.04 Sunday forenoon, and its coming found many radical differences in Griswold, as compared with one year ago. Not for more than ten ten years has the water in the big ponds and reservoirs in this section been at such low water stage as was measured Saturday. The younger generation who are entirely unfamiliar with the topography of the old Quinebaug river banks, can now discern something of its lay-out by noting the line of stumps that mark the eastern border of the old channel. The few larger stumps to be seen out in the middle of the pond, 1,000 feet above the dam, mark the once well known Chub rock. At this point, among many chestnuts and other trees of lesser importance, stood two massive oaks, one a white oak and the other a black. When the dam was built it was one of the marvellously constructed Maine log dams. The great timbers and tree boles were shipped here by the train load from away up in Somerset and Aroostook counties. When the big gang of lumber jacks arrived to begin the building, a very few of the local logs were considered fit to enter the construction, among them were the two great Chub rock oaks, whose stumps, defying decay, are bared for the first time in 15 years. The original Aspinook dam was reinforced a few years ago by an entirely new modern dam of solid granite, which was flung across the stream, closely abutting the face of the log structure. The double dam, whose back fixing is somewhat visible today, has no peer in strength, being built to stand many times the pressure that the Quinebaug can ever put upon it, even at the times of the torrent of winter floods. Pachaug and Beach ponds are well below normal low water marks for Oct. 1st. The Jewett City reservoir at Stone Hill, is the lowest for 15 years, yets its water supply is unimpaired. Measurements in cubic yards, stand to prove that draughts much larger than the borough's requirements, could be supplied for months.

The rainfall in the last three days has been well over an inch.

The carnival which has been doing business here for the past week, literally floated out of town early Sunday morning. The giant Ferris wheel, and the latest Genay whip were lashed to the main deck of one of the barges which loaded her down by the head, and she wouldn't mind her helm. One of the men, soaked to the skin, 'lowed as how he wouldn't do a thing to a surgle of good stuff. The observant citizen was overheard to remark, "No, I guess he wouldn't." Another, more hard than the rest, was asleep on a tarpaulin on top of one of the teams, not minding the pouring rain, shifting position a bit when the water got deep enough to run down his throat.

Much inconvenience is caused the R. F. D. carrier and the patrons of the route, because it does not seem to be understood that a two cent stamp is necessary on all first class R. F. D. mail. Nearly every day some business houses receive local letters with only a one cent stamp for postage. The carrier is obliged to hunt up the family to get the other cent before he can leave the letter. And it is the case all along the route. No matter if the letter to a R. F. D. patron is mailed at the Jewett City or Pachaug or Glasgo post office, it must have two cents postage paid for it, just the same as if addressed to another town.

Ernest French was in Brooklyn, Conn., for three days, where he was superintendent of the main building and the agricultural implements exhibit at Brooklyn fair.

POETRY FOR THE WIDEAWAKES

Sleepy Head.

When I was young and sleep was sweet
(O I was such a sleepy head
And hated to get out of bed),
Night seemed a shadow on the night—
And each new morning sun or rain
A sad, sweet voice would rise to me
Up the old stairs in softest strain,
"It's time to get up, John, O John!"

And I would answer and forget,
(For I was such a sleepy head
And hated to get out of bed),
But just when I had dozed again
And all the room was still as snow,
Up the long stairs would come to me
The sure steps that I dreaded so—
"It's time to get up, John, O John!"

Then I would wake and stretch and turn
(O I was such a sleepy head
And hated to get out of bed),
And curl up for one last short nap,
When Mother's feet a path would trace
Up the long stairs to my small room
And lay her hand upon my face
And say, "Get up, O John, O John!"

Now I am old and wake at five,
(No longer I a sleepy head,
With much I cannot stay in bed),
Night lingers so I long for dawn,
But O, to know youth's sleep again,
Wake with her hand upon my head
O hear her voice in softest strain—
"It's time to get up, John, O John!"
—Joan Richard Moreland, in Boston Transcript.

Little Brown Dog.

For a Little Brown Dog, who "sees" me down
The hill to the car when I go to town,
And carries my bag with an air of pride
As he trots sedately by my side,
And waits to see that I'm as all right,
And watches the car till it's out of sight—

I Thank Thee!

For the way he tears down the hill to meet
That car at night on his mad little feet—
The car that will bring me, he knows, from town—
And the joyous greeting, as I step down,
A greeting the passengers hear, and see,
Every one of them envying me,

I Thank Thee!

For the great true heart that is in his eyes,
Tender, and patient, and brave, and wise,
That makes him know when I'm sick, or sad,
And, knowing, love me the more—dear lad—
With a love unquestioned, high and pure—
For all of that, Little Dog of Mine,

I Thank Thee!
—Minnie Leona Upton in New York Times.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDEAWAKES.

All about us today we see the steam engines, the locomotives and the steamboats. A tremendous amount of work is done and an enormous amount of goods is moved by the engines which are driven by steam. We see them so frequently we think nothing about them. We do not realize that it was only 116 years ago this month that it was demonstrated by Robert Fulton that boats could be driven by steam engines.

Fulton had to make three trials before he succeeded. His first was in France on the river Seine, but the engine broke through the frail framework of the boat and went to the bottom. Later he built a stronger boat but the paddlewheels were so large the boat made but little speed. The people laughed at it. He came back to this country and built the Clermont which was called "Fulton's Folly." Not 30 persons in the big city of New York believed in the success of his steamboat according to Fulton, but the Clermont on September 10, 1807, moved away from its dock and up the Hudson, reaching Albany in 32 hours.

It was a very slow trip but he had demonstrated that a boat could be driven by steam and from that time great developments have taken place. The steamboats of today, the great ocean greyhounds and the big warships are the outgrowth of Fulton's idea. It revolutionized water transportation.

Fulton was convinced that he was right and he stuck to it. Perseverance and determination were two of his big qualities. And they are two qualities that will always help us, too, if we try to cultivate them and use them, as he did, no matter what may happen or how many disappointments we may have to overcome.

WINNERS OF PRIZE BOOKS.

2—Dorothy M. Tenney of Storrs, The Camp Fire Girls in the Woods.

3—Amy Brown of Ledyard, The Girl Scout Rivals.

4—Alice Copeland of Willimantic, The Camp Fire Girls on the March.

5—Lorraine Gladue of Taftville, The Auto Boys' Adventure.

6—Mary S. Boglisch of Hanks Hill, Little Jack Rabbit and Prof. Crow.

7—Jeanette Dupont of Taftville, Jasper Jay.

LETTERS OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

George Frechette of Willimantic: Thank you, Uncle Jed, for the nice book you sent me. I have read it once and am going to read it again.

Edna Grant of Montville: I am very much pleased with my prize book and wish to thank you for it. One of my friends thinks it the best book she ever read.

Frances Grassmeyer of Norwich: Please accept thanks for the prize book. It is the kind of a story I like and am finding it very interesting.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES.

A Brave Man.

Dear Uncle Jed: Far away in fair Japan, an old man dwelt with his numerous family. His great thatched farmhouse stood near the edge of a small plateau overlooking a bay and the sea beyond. On the slopes below the plateau were rice fields. These brought him wealth and furnished work for all the peasants of the region round about.

Below the rice fields lay a little village following the curves of the shore. In the village, lanterns and banners showed the harvest feast was in progress. The sea, the village, the green slopes, the level plateau, the lofty mountain, made a beautiful picture for the old man to see as he sat at his door with his little grandson, Tada.

Suddenly he felt something queer, a long, low, spongy motion. It was an earthquake! He looked at the sea. It had grown suddenly dark. It was running away from the land. Quick, very quick. Light me a torch," he cried to his grandson. The child obeyed at once. Hurrying to the fields, the old man thrust the lighted torch into the grain. Instantly the flames burst forth. The little boy in terror ran after his grandfather crying, "Grandfather! Why! Oh, why!" But the grandfather did not answer.

Presently the people saw the flames and came swarming up the hill like ants, every man, woman and child came. "Grandfather is mad! I am afraid of him!" cried the boy. "Look!" shouted the old man pointing to the sea. "See if I am mad." At the edge of the horizon they saw a long, dim line. It was as if the sea lifted itself to the sky. Then it came rushing toward the shore with a roar so terrible that every face turned pale. It drew back still roaring and tearing away rocks, trees, houses, and everything. Then the waves went back. On the plateau no one spoke for a time. All looked and looked and looked at the scene below. The village was not, the fields were not, nothing remained only on the plateau, the people were safe and sound. And there was the old man who saved their lives.

How I Spent Labor Day.

Dear Uncle Jed: I would like so much to have your little Wide-Awakes know how I spent Labor Day. After eating breakfast and washing and putting away the dishes nicely, I helped mother put up the lunch. We started for Hazardville, Conn., where we saw the tobacco fields. The tobacco was just in the barn and looked very interesting. Then we took our lunch and went around and saw many interesting things. While we were having lunch we heard fine music from the hall which was near us. There were solos being sung by many. Then we went on the merry-go-round and watched people dancing. On our way to Springfield we saw many fields of tobacco. The fields were covered with netting and men were in the fields loading tobacco on the racks to take to the barns. We stayed at Hazardville a while and then from there went to Holyoke and went to Mt. Tom. We had to pay a small amount and went to a building which had places where you could put in a penny, turn the crank and see the movies. What a grand time I did have! I enjoyed every moment of Labor day. At last we started for our home in Storrs. I hope all the Wide-Awakes had as good a time on their Labor day as I did.

Narcissus.

Dear Uncle Jed: Once upon a time there was a boy named Narcissus who roamed through the woods looking for game. He had no one for a companion, but his bow and arrow.

One day Narcissus came to a very clear pool. He stooped to take a drink and in the pool he saw a beautiful image. He bent down lower, and the image came higher. He touched the water but that only made a ripple and the image disappeared.

He stayed at the pool and admiring himself never left it for food.

He grew thinner and paler until he died.

The wood nymphs came with garlands of flowers to bury him, but nothing was in the place where he had laid except a beautiful flower centered with gold nodding to its image in the pool.

Brave Tryco.

Dear Uncle Jed: Tryco was a big brown collie. He lived with his master on the banks of a river. Arthur was a little boy Tryco played with from a neighboring farms. The two would play every day without fail. It was a mid-spring day and Arthur did not appear. Tryco was very impatient. He kept walking up and down listening for the trot of little feet. Then he thought he heard cries. At once he recognized the voice of his little charge. Tryco was a brave dog and he knew what his duties were. So he ran with great speed toward the river.

Alas! there was poor little Arthur being carried swiftly toward the dangerous falls. Tryco dashed right out into the water and swam toward the boy. It seemed as though the race with death was almost over when, to Tryco's dismay, a large wave swept them apart. At last he grabbed Arthur's waist. Very carefully he swam with him to the shore. Some men were on the shore, cheering, but not one of them dared to go out in such dangerous waters. When Tryco reached shore the men grabbed the boy quickly. They ran to the nearest farm and tried to restore the boy to life once more.

Tryco saved his little charge from a watery grave. For this golden deed Tryco was awarded a gold medal which his master kept safely for him.

Alice and the Indians.

Dear Uncle Jed: Once there was a little girl named Alice and an old mother. The two were walking through the woods when Alice saw some pretty flowers. So she stopped and picked them. Her mother did not see her stop till she got one-half mile away. Then she started talking to Alice and she did not answer, so she looked back and did not see Alice. She started back to look for her but could not find her.

Meanwhile Alice ran and she ran the opposite way of her mother. At last she heard the galloping of some horses, so she was going to hide, but the horses came up too quickly and there were four Indians. They picked her up and carried her to their home but she was not satisfied. She wanted to go home, but they would not take her home. That night when she understood she laid her clothes so she could get them quickly when she needed them.

When the Indians were all asleep she got up and dressed quickly. Then she ran away again. The next day another Indian found her and brought her home safely. She was glad to see her home and mother again.

Grandma's Spectacles.

Dear Uncle Jed: Grandma offered a prize the other day to us children. She called us to her and said: "Children, I have lost my spectacles; I have hunted everywhere, high and low, far and near, and cannot find them. Now, to the one who finds them I will give a prize." We all started off together. Fred said he would look under all the sofas and chairs, while I chose the mantels and closets. I thought maybe I would find them by asking questions. So I began with cook and asked everybody in the house, but no one had seen grandma's glasses. We all went back to grandma with the sad news that we could not find them. Little Bessie, who was sitting on grandma's lap, exclaimed, "I see, I see dear grandma's specs on top of grandma's head."

So, of course, grandma gave Bessie the prize.

Mae's Promise.

Dear Uncle Jed: Once there lived a girl named Mae. She lived with her mother in a cottage by the woods. Mae's father had been killed by lightning. They were very poor. Mae's mother had to go out and work for her living. She could do any kind of work except chopping wood and a few other kinds of work. One day Mae's mother went to work; she told Mae to stay in the house so she would not get lost. Mae said she would stay in the house. When her mother left she went out doors to take a walk. She walked and walked and finally she stopped. She found herself on the other side of the woods. She didn't know the way home—what should she do? She thought her mother would soon be back and not find her home. What would she think, for Mae had promised her mother she would stay home? When the mother came home she found Mae not home. Mae was still wondering what to do. Mae's mother went and sent some men to look for her. After some time they found her out in the woods. They took her home. Her mother was glad to see her darling again, so was Mae glad to see her mother. Mae never again broke her promise.

Trying to Catch a Rat.

Dear Uncle Jed: Once I saw a rat coming out of a veranda. There were crumbs of bread near there, and he ate them all. When I saw that I hammered a stick in the ground about six inches high. I went and got some bread and I put it on top of the stick. I went away and the rat came out again and ate it. Then I set a trap with a piece of meat. The rat came out and went around the trap, but he did not seem to mind it. Then it went back under the veranda and I did not see it again.

My Trip to Scotland.

Dear Uncle Jed: One morning I got up early and about nine o'clock some neighbors of mine took me to Scotland to go huckle berrying. It was a very hot day and a great deal hotter in the huckleberry lot. The two that I went with picked eight quarts together before we ate our lunch and I picked three quarts. After we ate our lunch they picked eight and a half and I picked two. When we went back in the lot we stayed till after three o'clock. Just as we were coming out of the huckleberry lot we met Mr. Phillips just coming to get us. When we were coming home we had so many huckleberries we could not ride comfortably.

A Real Birthday.

Dear Uncle Jed; Once there lived a little girl named Mildred. She was very good, and her parents decided to make her happy. So one night while she was sleeping they went to the stores and bought some nice presents for Mildred, for the next day was her birthday, and she was to be 7 years old. Then they sent invitations to all of her little friends, and she had a real party. There were about twenty children present, and each one brought a gift. They spent the day by playing games and different other things. This is how Mildred spent her seventh birthday.

My Trip Over to Coventry Lake.

Dear Uncle Jed: I thought I would tell you all about my trip over to Coventry Lake. After dinner my friends and I took a car and went over to Coventry lake. We saw many birds sitting up on wires on our way over. We watched the people row in canoes on the lake. My friend and I enjoyed the car ride over the hills very much. By the time we reached home it was time to go to bed. Hope all the little Wide-Awakes will have a chance to go rowing over the lake as we had.

My Trip to Ellsworth, N. Y.

Dear Uncle Jed: I would like to write and have the Wide-Awakes know all about my trip to Ellsworth, N. Y. My little friend Violette and I took the boat at New London. We first saw the lighthouse, and how the colors did sparkle on the water! We took the day line up the Hudson to Kingston. Violetta and I enjoyed our trip to Ellsworth and saw many interesting places. When we reached home we were ready for a rest. I am in the fourth grade.

THE LITTLE JACK RABBIT PICTURE FOR COLORING

"Be careful," whispered Mrs. Swallow from her tiny nest under the front porch, as Uncle Lucky hopped out of his little white house to see the Old Brown Horse.

The tiny sparrow's bright eyes had spied Old Man Weasel as he hid under the woodpile, but I guess the dear, old gentleman rabbit didn't hear her, for without looking about, he hopped up and shook hands with the Old Brown Horse.

"How are all the folks?" asked Uncle Lucky, kindly, "anybody get the measles?"

"Not yet," answered the friendly old horse. "The automobile has a flat tire."

"Ho, ha!" laughed dear Uncle Lucky, "but you should worry!"

"I must get back before supper," said the old Brown Horse. "Maybe I'll be hitched up to the buggy. I come in very handy when something breaks down" and then he began to sing in a moanful way:

"I used to pull the children
In the buggy to the town
And over hill and through the dale
My feet went up and down.

Oh, how the children sang with joy
As o'er the road I ran,
But, that was in the Long Ago
And I was but a boy.

It's seldom now I take them out
Or hear their merry, happy shout."

"Don't feel sad," said dear Uncle Lucky, "your master is kind and lets you feed on the meadow grass—you don't have to pull an old cart like many an old horse!"

"That's true," replied the Old Brown Horse, a smile spreading over his face, "maybe I'm a little lonely for the children. They were so bright and happy."

But, oh dear me, and oh dear you, just then Old Man Weasel ran out from under the woodpile.

"Help, help!" shouted the old gentleman bunny as that wicked animal ran at him, "help, help, give me a club!"

"I'll look out for you," said the Old Brown Horse, and throwing out his left hind leg, he hit Old Man Weasel a whack, sending that old sneak over the white picket fence like a baseball from the bat of Babe Ruth.

"That's a home run for him," laughed the Old Brown Horse, watching Old Man Weasel as he flew high in the air, "when he comes down he'll be pretty near home. Maybe he'll land in the kitchen and surprise his wife."

"Dearest me!" sighed poor, frightened Uncle Lucky, "you did me a good turn."

"Don't mention it," answered the Old Brown Horse, "glad to get a whack at that old thief. Maybe he'll stay home for a while after this."

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Announcement at all the masses at St. James' church Sunday of the death Saturday morning at Holyoke of Rev. John P. Guinet, M. S., a former pastor here, was received with sorrow by the congregation. Father Guinet had been seriously ill for a number of weeks and while there was apprehension over the outcome his death nevertheless is felt as a real loss here, for during the eight years of his pastorate in Danielson—from May, 1898, to November, 1906—he accomplished a remarkable amount of spiritual achievement and left the present edifice as a monument to his labors for the upbuilding of the parish. The church, of which the cornerstone was laid in 1900, was completed and dedicated during his administration.

Father Guinet was a native of France and came to this country as a young priest after being ordained in Switzerland. Within the Missionary Order of LaSalette, of which he was a member, his unusual capacity for achievement and his executive ability and spiritual force were recognized and he was elevated to be provincial, in which office he served for a number of years. He has been at Holyoke since 1921.

This (Monday) morning St. James' parish will pay an impressive tribute to his memory when parishioners and all the pupils of St. James' school will assemble at the church to attend a solemn high mass of requiem. At Holyoke his funeral mass will be celebrated Tuesday morning. Burial is to be in the plot of the Order of LaSalette at St. Benedict's cemetery, Hartford, where the headquarters of LaSalette order in the United States is located.

An historical fact of which few hereabouts have been aware, although of surpassing local interest, is that the bell hanging in the belfry of the Unitarian church at Brooklyn is a Paul Revere bell.

This is brought to light through communications which recently have appeared in a column in a Boston newspaper.

The communication of special local interest follows:

"Where besides in Groveland and Georgetown (Mass.) is there a bell cast by Paul Revere which was rung at the time of President Harding's death and funeral?"

Such was the substance of an inquiry from a reader, printed recently. One of the replies is as follows:

"One in the Unitarian church and one in the Methodist church at Plymouth, Mass.

"I believe you will find a Paul Revere bell in the Uniatrian church at Brooklyn, Conn.; also you will learn that General Israel Putnam was sexton of that church and rang the bell before he went to Boston. Across the street from the old church is the spot where he lived and where he left his plow to go to war.

"There is also a Paul Revere bell in the belfry of the city hall at Bath, Me., that is used every day. It was cast by Paul Revere in 1805. There is a bronze marker on the building that gives the history of the bell.

"There is another on St. James' church, Massachusetts avenue, Boston. Find a history of this bell was published in the church calendar last winter."

Inquiries Sunday of Brooklyn people familiar with the history of the Unitarian church there brought forth the information that the church was established in 1771, and that the present church building is the original one in which a bell cast by Paul Revere was hung. It is assumed that the bell never has been changed and is one of those cast by Paul Revere, an outstanding patriotic figure in Colonial history.

Reference to the bell has brought mention from Mrs. S. I. Frink of Brooklyn of another interesting fact about this old church. At the east entrance a cross is cut in the door and exactly at the noon hour the shadow of the sun falls across the arms of the cross, and it was by this means, in the old days, that the noon hour and the time for ringing the bell was definitely fixed.

In an accident that no one was a witness of, though a number of men were about, Arthur Lesperance, 35, of Goodyear, lost his life Saturday at noon at a point on the river between Dayville (and Attawaugan where a force of men is engaged in doing work for the Assawaga Woolen company of Dayville.

Lesperance, employed as a laborer, was engaged in shoveling near a steam shovel when he was last seen uninjured. In some manner which no one can account for, he got into the range of the steam shovel nad was jammed beneath a part of it, with his neck broken when he was discovered. He lived only a few minutes after the accident. Dr. George M. Burroughs, medical examiner, viewed the body and gave permission for its removal, Undertaker L. E. Kennedy taking it in charge.

Lesperance was a native of Taunton and had lived for years in New Bedford before coming to Goodyear several years ago. About two months ago he was united in marriage with Miss Ida Marchand of Goodyear. She survives him and he also leaves his mother, resident in New Bedford, and two sisters, Mrs. Odilon Gamache and Mrs. Edward Bedo, both of Goodyear. Only recently Mr. Lesperance became a member of the Foresters of America.

Forced off the wet and slippery highway by a machine that came up Stearns hill, on the new route to Providence, at racing speed Saturday night, Frank Bennett, with his Ford sedan, plunged through the fence bordering the highway, down an embankment into a field on the Ezra Burgess place, where the car turned over flat on its side. Mr. Bennett escaped without injury and, strange as it may seem, the only damage sustained by the car was a slightly bent right front fender. The machine was righted Sunday forenoon and towed out of the field into the highway.

Mr. Bennett, who was riding alone when the accident happened, said he had started out from his home on Carter street for Providence, where he is employed, but after getting a short distance beyond where the accident happened, decided that the driving conditions were not to his liking, so he turned about to come home and was on his way down Stearns hill when the accident happened. The car that was the cause of the accident sped on.

Just after midnight Saturday another car was wrecked on Dark Lantern hill. This machine went off the macadam road into a gutter and lost its wheels, a fender and windshield.

The Providence route, becoming notorious for the number of accidents that happen upon it, particularly at week ends, is no more hazardous than a number of other routes hereabouts, but it is a splendid highway and drivers not acquainted with it are apt to get into trouble, especially speeding, as many of them do. At the present rate of destruction it would appear that not more than 100 feet of state road fence will be left standing between Danielson and the Rhode Island line by spring. Sections of it are being knocked over every week, almost daily, in fact. Even careful drivers have some fear of the road because of the wild drivers they are apt to meet on it, as was the case with Mr. Bennett, who was proceeding carefully when he was practically forced through the fence.

Dinky little papers of the composite type with which readers here of New York publications have become familiar during the past week were offered Sunday as a substitute for the regular bulky Sunday editions, and at the same price—10 cents per copy. There were no photogravure or other special sections nor more than a sprinkling of features that are of such general interest in the Sunday papers. The editions of Sunday frankly were not worth 10 cents, but the dealers had no instructions, as far as could be learned, for selling at other than the regular price. As it was, only about 20 per cent. of the usual number of papers came through to some dealers, and none had a full quota.

More contributions for Japanese relief were received Saturday by the Danielson Trust company, which is continuing to act as an agency by which relief funds may be forwarded through proper channels. Salvation Army workers made Saturday a Tag day in Danielson in the interest of Japanese relief and collected a considerable sum in the business section.

What many regarded as the line storm brought a considerable amount of rain to this territory Saturday night and during Sunday and was effective in at least partly relieving the long drawn out dry spell. Water was running over the dam across the Quinebaug river Sunday afternoon, a pleasant sight to those who have been watching the river drop week by week since midsummer.

Miss Kathleen Burns of Hartford, just returned from a three months' stay abroad and visits in nine countries, was a visitor here Sunday with relatives and staying with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll B. Allen.

Henry Flagg, musical director of the Treble Clef club, and a number of the members of that organization were at Providence Sunday evening to hear the concert by Sousa's band.

Members of the Service battery, after 15 days' absence for field duty at Camp Eustis, Va., returned here Saturday. The boys said they enjoyed the experience, but lost little time in changing from khaki to civies and getting out and in touch with things hereabouts again.

Foliage is rapidly taking on the glory of its autumn hues and the countryside will be a real delight to the eye within the next few days.

PUTNAM

Another large real estate deal was consumated in Putnam Friday evening when a bond for a deed was signed between the L. A. W. Acceptance Corporation of Putnam, Louis Wolf, president and Edward Radding and B. Dexter Aldrich, of Providence, owners of the property in the north end of the city which they purchased from the Nightingale-Morse Mills, Incorporated a few months ago. Under the agreement the Putnam corporation will take over within thirty days such of the mill property as the deed includes.

The Providence men bought from the Nightingale-Morse Mills, Incorporated, the property remaining for sale of one of its mills to the Adams Manufacturing Company of North Scituate, R. I., to be occupied by the Adams Company as a manufacturing plant. At the time of the sale to the Providence men it was announced by the purchasers that unless the plant and mill village could be sold as a whole within thirty days the property would be divided up and sold in parcels to suit purchasers.

It had been known for some days that there was a deal under way to dispose of the property but nothing definite could be ascertained until the matter was practically closed by the signing of the papers Friday.

In the sale to the L. A. W. Acceptance Corporation there is included 127 lots and about 50 houses. These are located on Main street, in Powhattan Village, on Providence street, and in the Morse village on Mill and church streets. Several houses and lots had previously been sold but this sale was less than five thousand dollars. It is understood that this deal involved close to $150,000.

The only remaining property now in the hands of the Providence men are the two mills the Powhattan mill on Providence street at the head of Main street, and the Morse mills on Church street, and the land contigious to these mills.

What effect the sale of the mill villages without factories themselves will have on the business interests of the city is at present problimetical. It was hoped by business men of Putnam that the plant as an entity might be sold to some manufacturing concern that would put the mills in operation. Whether the mill property without the mill tenements will be as attractive to a manufacturing concerp looking for a location seems doubtful. It does not seem possible, however, that such a mill property can long remain idle and business interests of Putnam demand that these mills be operated as soon as possible. There being closed has already made its effect felt in the city's mercantile business.

Clerks in Putnam stores want the summer Thursday half holiday continued throughout the year, with the exception of the month of December, when holiday trade is at its height. This is no new desire on the part of the clerks as it has been advocated by them before. A petition signed by clerks has been presented to Warren S. Ames, chairman of the Merchants' committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Ames will call a meeting of the committee to meet the clerks at an early date.

When the matter has been under discussion before, it has been found that the proprictors of mercantile establishments were not a unit either for or against the yearly half holiday. One faction is of the opinion that the clerks are not making an unreasonable demand and feels that once the public is apprised of the fact that no stores will be opened Thursday afternoons for 11 months in the year they, the buying public public, will adjust themselves to such a situation.

Another faction feels that the half day closing except during June, July, August and September, as has been the custom, for some years, would be resented by the buyers of this city and of the surrounding towns for which it is a shopping center. This, coupled with the fact that the loss of a half a day of business throughout the year means a financial loss to them, is the argument advanced against granting the clerks' request by this faction.

According to a witness, there was four feet more in the Quinebaug river one night last week than on any other night for a number of weeks. But the feet were human feet and topped with two pairs of legs holding up two well formed bodies and wellshaped heads. What the heads contained one may judge for one's self after reading how the four feet happened in the winding stream near what is known as the "Twenty Foot," just off Main street.

There had been no conflagrations, no murders, no invasion of the K. K. K., and not even a dog fight to enliven the routine of life in this little city. There was a feeling of ennui among the loungers of a South Main street club. All subjects of worldly affairs had been discussed and rediscussed among the smoke clouds. It was too early to go home and yet too late to expect anything exciting to break.

One dare devil club member sprung something when he said that he dared any of the other members to follow him and offered to stake a dollar, good legal tender of the U. S. A., that he could make good if any dared to follow.

The Jack came forward with four bits and the atmosphere of legality became electrified with the excitment of an adventure that only a fight of gun men or a double homicide would cause in a metropolitan town.

The man who made the proposition started down the street, through the subway and north on Main street until the river bank was reached. Turning a sharp angle the dare devil proceeded down the steep embankment and walked into the Quinebaug, cold and oily, up to his waist. Looking back he saw his opponent approaching, overcoat-tails held high and he was just preparing to plunge into the stream and swim to the opposite bank when he heard faintly in the rear, "Give the fool the dollar! I'm through."

For some days the events of the "big night" in club circles was kept under a bushel but one friend told another in secrecy and this friend told another until the while club knew of the affair.

While the dollar won by the club's hero did no more than pay for pressing the suit he wet, he is the hero of the hour and feels well repaid in sustaining his reputation.

The Parent-Teachers' Association served a supper to its members in Odd Fellows' hall Friday evening. A business session followed at which plans for the season's work were discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker Newhall of New York are occupying a cottage off the shore of Roseland lake for a week.

The Will and Way of Christian Achievement was the subject of Rev. Simeon E. Cozads sermon at the Congregational church, Sunday morning.

It is said that new orders have been received at the plant of the Manhassett Manufacturing Company, manufacturing cotton tire duck, and parts of the mill are running until nine o'clock in the evening.

In Thompson, at the marriage of Miss Barbara Haddon Weaver, and George Hyslop Bathgate of Flanders, at the Congregational church, Saturday afternoon, October 6th, at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon, Rev. Frank H. Bigelow of Christ church, Pomfret, and Rev. Stephen Livingston of the Thompson church will officiate.

Miss Weaver will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Ream, as matron of honor, her nice, Mary Lou Ream, will be a flower girl and her small nephew, Marshall Ream will act as page. Miss Weaver's engagement was announced in the spring.

Mrs. John D. Converse, formerly matron of Windham County Temporary Home, died Saturday morning at her home in Oakland, R. I. Word of her death reached Putnam Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Converse lived in Thompson and Putnam many years. After they resigned as superintendent and matron respectively of the Children's Home, they lived for a while on Woodstock avenue. Later they moved to Oakland, where Mr. Converse died several years ago.

Three men, part of a picnic party in Woodstock, started to Putnam Saturday afternoon to get a baseball bat. When near the bridge at Harrisville the car in which they were riding skidded and tipped over, throwing them out. None of them was seriously injured and a passing motorist picked them up and brought them to Putnam without learning their names.

Tomorrow (Tuesday) is Bundle Day for the Japanese earthquake sufferers. People are asked to examine their wardrobes and to gather together such things as they no longer need. This appeal is being made and the Salvation Army, with headquarters on Pomfret street, is headquarters for the reception of articles donated. Packages may be left also at 236 Main street. Bundles containing blankets, underwear for men, women and children, suits, dresses, shoes, stockings, sheetings, needles, thread, tape, buttons, pins, face towels, soap and like articles are desired.

Attorney Howard C. Bradford and family and Miss Marjorie Bradford motored to Springfield Saturday to attend the Eastern States Exposition.

Although the campaign to raise funds for the Nurses' Home at the Day Kimball hospital has ended, donations continue to be made and are always acceptable. Among the contributors the past week were: Women's committee for the fund, $7.19; sale of extra articles from the street fair, $1.20; Franklin R. and Jeanette C. Johnson, Brookline, Mass., $10; L'Apres Midi club of East Woodstock, an additional gift of $5o; Mrs. Mary Andrews, Putnam, $2; W. C. T. U. booth at street fair, $6.35; completing union's $50 unit; Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Elliott, Thompson, $100; Mrs. George W. Gilpatric, $5; Sheriff Chas. A. Gates, Willimantic, $5.

While the rain helped a little, much more is needed to replenish the wells and small streams. Some farmers are obliged to go a considerable distance to procure water for home consumption and for stock.

Charles Sheldon, employed at the Marcy Tool Works, is at St. Vincent's hospital, Worcester, where he recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Duvert, wife of Representative Hector Duvert, is recovering from an operation which she underwent recently at Day Kimball hospital.

The delivery truck of K. Brzuch skidded on the slippery roadway on Mechanic street, Saturday afternoon, and both wheels on the left side were dished. The load of meat and vegetables was scattered over the roadway. The driver received a cut on the head.

At the quarterly meeting of Putnam lodge of Masons, Woodstock, was held Saturday afternoon and evening. This is probably the only lodge in the state that holds daylight sessions.

NIANTIC

The funeral services for Alice A. Arnold, 67, were held Monday afternoon at Hebron and burial was in the family plot at that place. Burial was beside her husband, Henry R. Arnold, who died about six years ago. Mrs. Arnold was born at Colchester. She was a resident of Niantic for many years. She had been in poor health for about a year and the past few months had been a sufferer from heart trouble. She died Saturday at the home of a sister, Mrs. W. H. Wyman, in Florence, Mass., where she had been visiting since Sept. 1st. During the past season, and for nearly five years, she had been employed in the home of John A. DeWolf in Lyme. She sold her property in Niantic about five years ago to George Peabody and moved to Lyme to make her home. Those who survive her are a brother, George Carpenter of Glastonbury, and three sisters, Mrs. K. V. Schabee of Springfield, Mass., Mrs. W. H. Wyman and Mrs. Hattie V. Havens of Florence, Mass. During Mrs. Arnold's residence in Niantic she had a large circle of friends, all of whom regret to learn of her death.

Mrs. N. E. Whiting and Mrs. William Clegg motored to Ocean Beach Thursday.

WESTERLY

The attention of the Westerly highway and health departments is being directed to conditions existing on Railroad avenue near the junction of Canal street, before cold weather sets in to make the matter of remedying affairs more difficult. The catch basin at the corner of the Alba Inn property is not large enough or else its outlet becomes clogged with refuse, so that when a rainstorm like Saturday's occurs the surface water not only fills the gutter at that point but backs out across the highway, flowing across Canal street to the gutter on the opposite side of the street. Especially unpleasant is traffic rendered for passengers coming or going to the Westerly station of the New Haven railroad and even automobile traffic approaching the station on Canal street is forced to pass close to the silent policeman to avoid the water on the right, which at some places is a foot or eighteen inches deep. Such conditions existed Saturday and Sunday. As this is one of the jitney stands established by the town council it would seem as if the occupants would feel that their business is interfered with and make a formal complaint. At dry periods also the gutter in front of the Chester block has the odor, appearance and resembles an open sewer. Some time ago a drain was laid in the gutter and from the odors which issue from the pocket culvert it would appear that the outlet end had a direct connection with the one for the care of the surface water. At times dirty sewage water lies on the surface of the sidewalk on Railroad avenue at some distance above the point where the catch basin is. A victualising license is granted by the Westerly town council to a public eating house located between these places and conditions can be called anything but sanitary.

The annual fair of the Alert Hook and Ladder company opened in the Westerly town hall Saturday evening. Preceding the opening of the fair there was a street parade of all the local fire companies and officials. The parade was made up of the Westerly and Pawcatuck fire police, the George C. Moore Company band, Alert Hook and Ladled Co., Board of Engineers, The R. I. Steam Fire Engine Co. No. 1, Cyclone Steamer Co. No. 2, Watch Hill Hose and Engine Co., St. Michael's Boy Scout Band, Pawcatuck Fire District officers and the P. S. Barber Hose Co. The procession moved through Broad to West Broad, countermarching to West Broad, Broad, and High streets, countermareching to High and Broad streets, to the Westerly town hall where dancing and novelties were enjoyed by the throng assembled. The parade was finished before the rainstorm of Saturday night began. The committee on the fair comprises George McKenzie, Everett Clark, Henry J. McCarrell, James Tefft, Herbert Hoadley, George Burdick and James Donovan.

Saturday morning, when the truck of Grover C. King, bringing the merry-go-round from the North Stonington grange fair grounds attempted to cross Pawcatuck river bridge with a Groton-Stonington electric car standing on one side of the bridge and an automobile on the other there was not sufficient room for the loaded truck to pass. The overhanging load came in contact with the electric car with such force as to break some of the windows, shifting the load and resulting in a complete blockade of the highway. Some ten or fifteen minutes was required to place part of the load by the curb line, to permit the truck proceeding across the bridge. Automobiles became stalled in long lines on either side of the structure and indicated how advantageous a wider bridge would be. The merry-go-round having done service at Kingston and North Stonington fairs was loaded on an express baggage car at the Westerly station, and was taken on the 6.14 train Saturday night to Guilford.

Vincent C. Whipple, son of Wesley O. Whipple, of the Potter Hill road, Varietyville, was the driver of a Ford touring car, accompanied by Miss Winifred Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson of Westerly, in Mystic Friday evening which struck Randall Brooks, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks of Mystic. The boy with his parents had attended a supper at the Methodist church. In company with other boys the lad mounted a bicycle left near the church, and disregarding directions to return given him by his companions, who called his attention to there being no lights on the bicycle. The boy is said to have been riding the unlighted bicycle on the left hand side of Willow street where the collision occurred, the bicycle not being seen by Mr. Whipple until too late. Stopping his automobile at once, Mr. Whipple found the lad in an unconscious condition. Dr. W. H. Gray directed the lad's removal to the church steps to await the arrival of the ambulance from the New London hospital. At the hospital the Broks boy was found to be suffering from a concussion of the brain and he continued in an unconscious condition until late Saturday night.

Tuesday morning in Stonington town court room, Borough hall, at 9 o'clock, Cerres LaPetin, 70 Pleasant street; Salvatore Paldum, Joseph Barcellate, both of 76 1-2 Pierce street; and Frank Stellita, 76 Pierce street, all of Westerly, who are under bonds, aggregating $15,000, will be presented before Judge William A. Wilcox charged with carrying concealed weapons and the illegal transportation of liquor. A Reo truck is also held, which is alleged to have used by the men when they were taken near the Watch Hill wharf, Stonington, a week ago Sunday morning.

Westerly tribesmen of Asir sanctorum, Order of Humility and Perfection, Providence, besides many automobile parties of sheiks and tribesmen which passed through Westerly were present in Mystic, Saturday evening in attendance at the class initiation held at Odd Fellows' building and Willow Point Casino, West Mystic.

990TH AUCTION SALE
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27th, 1923
At 12 O'Clock, Noon, On the Premises
THE GRASSMERE FARM
First farm on road leading west from main Danielson-Putnam road at Elmville, Town of Killingly, near
DANIELSON, CONNECTICUT

A good farm of 235 acres with ample and convenient buildings, well located on high ground, about 1½ miles from the center of Danielson and about ¾ of a mile from the main highway and the Putnam-Danielson electric car line. The farm is suitably divided into tillage, pasture and woodland, and borders for about a mile on the Five-Mile River.

Attractive house of ten large rooms with piazzas, two bath rooms, hot and cold water, steam heat, good cellar. Shade trees about house. Good young orchard of about 40 trees. Large and well-built (painted and clapboarded) barn with two wings each about 35 by 70 feet, will accommodate 40 head of stock; good basement under all; two silos, ice-house, work shop, large piggery, large cornerib, 100 foot hen-house and small cottage. Water for house and barn is pumped by windmill from supply near house to large reservoir on hill, giving high pressure; also 3 wells on place and the river bordering one side.

Fine views. Would make a very pleasant place for a summer home and is a good practical farm.

The Worcester-New London branch of the N. Y., N. H. & H. Railroad bisects the property for about a mile through the lower land near the river only a few hundred feet from the main highway, and one or more manufacturing sites could be sold off the farm here giving both water and railroad privileges without interfering in the least with the remainder of the farm.

After the sale of the real estate will be sold the farming tools including new ensilage cutter, new Aspinwall potato-planter, Ontario sheder, Deering mower, Deere 2-row corn planter, horse rake, plows, cultivators and harrows, one and two-horse wagons, De Laval separator, etc. Also pair of good farm horses and harness.

To be sold to the highest bidders without limit or reserve.

TEACHING LOCAL HISTORY.

Half way to North Stonington from Norwich, one day recently, a Massachusetts auto driver stopped a car going the same direction that he was and inquired if he was on the right road to North Stonington. After being informed that he was, he stated that he had stopped at three houses on the road and inquired if he was on the right road and at none of the places did the person asked know.

That might be characteristic of many roads and places. Those who seek directions to streets in cities, to localities outside of cities, to historical points and the like, all have similar experiences.

The answer of "Don't know" is one that is perhaps more frequently encountered when it comes to seeking information concerning the early history of a community, dates and circumstances surrounding settlement, than it is in connection with the innumerable new streets that are being opened from time to time. For that reason much commendation must be given to the plan which has been started in the schools of Edinburg, O., for an intensive course in the history of Johnson county in which that place is located.

It is true that preparations are underway for the celebration of the sentennial of Johnson county, and that furnishes the reason for getting the school children posted on the county history at this time, but the idea is one that might well be made one of the requirements of the history classes. Home history may not be important for general educational purposes, but it is nevertheless of sufficient importance that those who are living there, temporarily or permanently, should be instructed therein, and provided with the salient facts in connection therewith.

The school authorities of Edinburg are engaged in good work. The pupils will get facts which many of them might never obtain in any other way, and the idea is one that might well be adopted by schools in other towns and cities especially where communities have records of early settlement and development of which there is reason to be proud. Few communities lack local history worth talking and learning about.

HOMELESS, NEGLECTED CHILDREN.

Perhaps the work of the child welfare bureau of this state can be no better told than by the activity it is engaged in from day to day. Child welfare is of the utmost importance and it is especially so when orphaned and homeless children are involved. The important requisite of such is a home, not anything in the way of a shelter or a place to sleep, but a home where they will get consideration and treatment as a member of the family, opportunities to develop and improve, to get a schooling and above all that good parental supervision that should play such an important part in the life of every child.

Homes vary and the ideal home is not always easy to find. The good home may not be able to open its doors wider. There may not be the desire to increase the family circle if financial obstacles did not stand in the way. It is because of this responsibility in looking after the interests of the children and getting them homes, along with the many trying experiences in connection therewith, that the bureau of child welfare is put to a test.

That there is more than an occasional responsibility in that direction is shown by the fact that the bureau had 39 cases before it during that month, practically one a day. It was fortunate to be able to place 26 of these in private homes, while a half dozen were sent to county homes. Determining the fitness of homes in which children are placed, even though they are in not a few instances the homes of relatives, is not an easy job. There are instances where the placing of the children is only temporary because there are homes where conditions improve sufficient to warrant the return of the children, and where possible the aim is to prevent the breaking up of homes.

But looking after the children, whether they are homeless or neglected is a duty of first importance regardless of the responsibilities attached. It is protection and prevention work in behalf of many of the coming citizens, and upon the home influence much depends.

WORTH LOOKING INTO.

The investigation into the loss of the United States destroyers on the California coast has not been concluded. What seems like important testimony has already been obtained, but it is necessary of course to await the competition of the inquiry and the judgment of those who have the full facts before them.

Because this followed the seismic disturbance that caused so much havoc in Japan and the abnormal tides that were experienced elsewhere strong support was given to the idea that such may have been responsible for this naval disaster, except that it would have affected the vessels as they were strung out in a line instead of piling them up on the rocks in a cluster. The failure to respect bearings given by wireless, unless it can be shown that they were incorrect seems to have an important bearing upon the affair.

But the currents along the Pacific coast have in the past figured prominently in the great losses that have been experienced there. Whether it will be necessary to go into that matter in this inquiry will be disclosed later, but when the coast survey claimed in its report of two years ago that for the score of years previous the loss of more than a hundred vessels, involving hundreds of lives and millions in property, was due to a large extent to the lack of knowledge of the effects of currents along the coast it reveals a situation that may well come in for special attention even though it may have no bearing upon this particular disaster.

If there is a failure on the part of the navigators to understand the waters in which they are operating it is time for the proper protection of life and property that this situation was changed. Even though the loss of the destroyers may not be due to that it nevertheless serves to lend emphasis to that situation.

ROAD EXAMINATIONS.

Now and then there will be encountered a state policeman who is inspecting. He might want to know if you have your license, car registration, proper lights and brakes that will hold. There are times when some delay is occasioned by such inspections, when those stopped do not like the interruption of that trip and some seem a little bit piqued to think that anyone should dare to suppose that they were not complying with the law.

Happily for the most part there is a desire to liveup to the regulations, to obey the law as to equipment and to respect the rules of the road, but it is because all are not so disposed that such examinations are made necessary. It is one of the ways of enforcing the law but it is also one of the means of providing greater protection for the highways and for the occupants of many machines, for there are the machines which are being operated with dangerous lights, the drivers who neglect to have their brakes put in proper shape to render the service expected of them, those who drive when their license has been revoked, those who drive with last year's license and those who have no license and never took one out.

Such examinations are made from time to time because of the effect which such inspections have upon the users of the highway and therefore upon greater safety. Whatever annoyance there is is quickly dispelled by the right understanding and offset by the increased protection obtained. Many times it is information to those who suppose they are complying with the law.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If it was a line storm it will have to be admitted that it was rather mild.

Already the cider mills are said to be overburdened with prospective business.

The man on the corner says: Jupiter Pluvius knows how to put a stop to so many auto accidents.

The last week of daylight saving this year and one hates to part with it as he does the straw hat.

Anyone mean enough to give away the identity of Baron Rentiew would gossip about his neighbors.

There would be no very great howl should there be a flare back of summer for the next few weeks.

The flies you have missed this summer are now reminding you that they didn't intend to slight you.

The new stories and the views of stricken Japan do not permit the distress in that country to be forgotten.

Every cold wave and each report about snow and frost quickly directs the thoughts to the "stacks of wheats" that never fail to follow.

Right after the resumption of hard coal mining notice was given that the price of coal at the mines was advanced 70 cents a ton. Step right up and do your part.

Is the greatly increased efforts to check liquor selling due to an aroused public sentiment for law observance, or is it resentment over the raking in of such huge profits?

Liberty is a great thing but that woman who was fined $200 for smoking on a New York ferryboat which carried a "no smoking" sign must now realize that it has restrictions.

With the great big sums derived from the roped areas there will be no howl on the part of the public for a slashing of the tax which the receivers of the big incomes hate to pay.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Do not soak fresh fish in water before cooking. This treatment only ruins the flavor and makes the flesh soft.

To keep the whites of eggs from falling after they have been whipped try adding, while whipping, a pinch of cream of tartar. This is usually most effective.

When frying anything place a piece of bread in the frying pan and this will prevent the grease from splashing over the stove.

If soup has been made too salty add a few slices of raw potato and cook five minutes longer. The potato will absorb the salt.

Cracks in stoves can be cemented with a paste made of equal parts of salt and hardwood ashes mixed with water.

Left-over apple sauce can be made into dessert for the children's supper. To each cup add the well-beaten white of one egg. Then whip sauce and egg together and chill.

Don't put away cooked food in the kitchen closet. It will taint the air and will itself be tainted.

Tie a bit of absorbent cotton to a coarse crochet hook and use the swab thus formed to clean the drains of bowls and bath tubs.

Small bouquets of gaily colored flowers are used to top candle sticks instead of the usual candles. They are lacquered and therefore quite durable.

Always introduce a silver spoon between fruit and jar before sealing in order that the air bubbles may rise to the top and break.

Instead of using whole canned tomatoes for soups, etc., buy the canned pulp which is much less expensive.
